Walker Witness Lie Is Charged

By LARRY MOWELL

A Venceremos member who has advocated killing police perjured herself in defense of an ex-convict on trial in Marin Superior Court on a charge of beating a Sausalito policeman, the prosecutor charged yesterday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman made the charge against Sandra Kahn, wife of a Stanford University professor, with the jury out of the courtroom, then persuaded Judge Henry J. Broderick to jail the defendant, 27-year-old Tommie Lee Walker, in lieu of higher bail.

"I believe the defense has put on a witness who has perjured herself. I think we can prove it in this case," Herman told te judge.

Mrs. Kahn, a surprise defense witness Tuesday, testified she and her daughter were looking at houseboats Sept. 28 when he saw Officer Robert Klein hit Walker with his club before Walker beat the officer.

After her testimony, Mrs. Kahn disappeared, despite a court order to keep in touch with the public defender's office in case she were needed further. Defense and prosecution investigators have been unable to find her.

Walker, who has three convictions for beating guards while in prison, is charged with felony assault on Klein and a hitchhiker, John Randolph, 27, of Mill Valley in the 3000 block of Bridgeway.

His defense has been that Randolph kicked him and Klein hit him in the hand with a club before he fought back in each instance, but if the jury doesn't believe that, he faces an almost certain return to prison because of his three prior convictions.

Mrs. Kahn testified she did not know Walker before the incident and, when asked what groups she belonged to, did not mention Venceremos, a Maoist organization advocating violent revolution, Herman said.

The prosecutor promised to call an undercover agent who infiltrated the group to testify not only that she attended meetings, but during one said a man who killed a San Francisco policeman and wounded another last year "had his hatred in the right place. He just should have been more careful. He should have been a sniper up on a roof."

Herman said he will also show that Mrs. Kahn has known Walker since 1971. A letter from her seized at Folsom Prison Wednesday read, "When I got back here, I met a good friend of yours, Tommie Walker," Herman said. The letter to inmate Ray Carringer was dated September, 1971, he said.

Four letters were taken from Carringer's cell by guards. The inmate is a mutual friend of Walker and Mrs. Kahn, Herman said. She was reportedly visiting him when his cell was searched, Herman said.

Herman's claims led Broderick to raise the bail for Walker, who was free in lieu of $2,000 to $10,000. Walker remained in jail this morning awaiting reopening of his trial at 2 p.m. today.

Deputy Public Defender Edward Briggs Jr. objected to the bail. He argued that Walker had made all court appearances and said "There is no likelihood he won't make the rest, but the judge replied, "Up to today, he had a hole card. Today he doesn't have it anymore."

Walker may have thought the doubt raised by Mrs. Bahn's testimony would win him acquittal, he said. "My thoughts led me to the conclusion that it might be a good time to get out of town," the judge said.

With the bail question out of the way, Herman sought a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Kahn, but the judge declined, at least until he has heard testimony.

The judge then recalled the jury and told them "There may be something of newsworthy nature in what happened out of your presence today." He again ordered them to ignore any publicity given the eight-dy-old trial.

U.S. Dollar Continues To Take Severe Beating On World Marts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The U.S. dollar was dumped on world money markets in record numbers today amid fears that the value of the weakened American currency would drop with forced revaluation upward of such strong currencies as the German mark and the Japanese yen.

In West Germany, the Central Bank intervened to buy $1.7 billion in the first 2-½ hours of trading, equaling the record set yesterday in a full day of frantic selling.

The Bank of Japan also stepped into the market and bought $240 million to preserve the official exchange rate.

Germany, which has purchased $6 billion in just over a week, and Japan, are buying dollars in order to keep the official exchange rate intact. If they do not buy, their own currencies, the mark and the yen, will rise in relative value, making their exports more expensive to buy and thus hurting their overseas markets.

Currency dealers in Frankfurt said the dollar was pinned to the floor from opening hour, forcing the Central Bank to buy all that were offered at a price of 3.15 marks each.

"It appears everyone assumes something might happen over the weekend which would justify selling dollars on a large scale now," a market source in Brussels said.

The dollar opened in Brussels at 43.40 francs, its lowest rate in six months, and weakened still further during the morning.

Nervous dealers in London drove the price of the dollar down there, too, while gold rose.

In Paris, the dollar fell on the free part of France's two tiered market, opening at 4.9925 francs, down from Monday's closing of 5.0010.

Much of the hectic selling was spurred by fears from speculators, banks and businesses owning or controlling dollars that official support for the dollar might end today.

Release Of First Prisoners Sunday

142 Americans Due To Receive Freedom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — North Vietnam will release about 115 American prisoners of war in Hanoi and the Viet Cong will free 27 other POWs in South Vietnam Sunday night, the Defense Department said today.

Some of them could be back in the United States by the middle of next week.

A Pentagon spokesman said word of the impending release of the estimated 142 prisoners, which apparently would represent about one-fourth of all those listed as American POWs in Indochina, was relayed to U.S. officials today at a meeting of the four-party Joint Military Commission in Saigon.

The spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said some of those to be freed in North Vietnam would be sick or wounded. Once the POWs are released, they will be flown aboard Air Force ambulance planes to Clark Air Base in the Philippines, he said.

"Probably the minimum time in which a person can transit the (POW) reception center at Clark and be back in the United States is about three or four days," Friedheim said, meaning some men could be on home soil by about Thursday.

The release will include 27 captives held in South Vietnam, Friedheim said, and one-fourth of those held in North Vietnam. He said this would mean approximately 115 should be released in the North.

Friedheim said Viet Cong officials at the four-party commission had cleared a U.S. survey team to go to Quan Loi, a village about 65 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border, to survey the South Vietnam release site.

He said the North Vietnamese would allow an 18-man reception team to land in Hanoi three hours in advance of the release there to prepare for the handover of the POWs in North Vietnam.

The top U.S. representative on the four-party commission, Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, advised Washington he expected to work out precise details of the release times at a Saturday meeting of the commission, Friedheim said.

But the release could come by midnight Sunday, Washington time, which would be midday Monday in Vietnam.

Friedheim said so far the Communists have not provided the names of those they will set free. But he said the North Vietnamese have said among those freed in Hanoi "will be some sick and wounded."

The Communists have identified 456 U.S. servicemen as prisoners in North Vietnam, 99 servicemen and 32 civilians as POWs in South Vietnam, and seven servicemen and three civilians as captives in Laos.

Friedheim said he did not know whether any of the Laotian captives would be among those freed in the first group in Hanoi.

Asked if any civilians would be among the 27 freed in South Vietnam, Friedheim replied: "I think it is probable there will be some civilians in that group. But we do not know specific names yet."

If the Communists follow provisions of the cease-fire agreement which require women to be among those freed first, the group set free in South Vietnam should also include Monika Schwinn, 30, a West German captured April 27, 1969. She is the only woman listed by the Communists as a surviving POW.

In preparing for the repatriation, the Defense Department has giveN considerable attention to problems the former POWs will face adjusting to freedom, new responsibilities and a fast-paced life. Much

Exchange Of Viet POWs Set

SAIGON (UPI) — Official sources said today the long-awaited release of Vietnam War prisoners will begin Monday (Sunday night EST) despite constant violations of the cease-fire by both sides and a series of incidents including the stoning of North Vietnamese members of the Joint Military Commission (JMC).

Saigon military sources said more than 3,000 Vietnamese would be freed this weekend, some of them after a decade of imprisonment. The sources said Saigon would free 1,000 Communist POWs each at Quan Loi, a rubber plantation center just outside the provincial capital of An Loc, and at Dong Ha, just below the Demilitarized Zone above Quang Tri City.

Seven hundred South Vietnamese POWs and 27 Americans will be freed at Quan Loi. Another 320 South Vietnamese prisoners will be released somewhere in Pleiku province in the Central Highlands, the sources said.

It is not known what means the Communists will use. In the past, without air cover of their own, the trickle of prisoners released over the years have come out on foot, on bicycles, on oxcarts, in jeeps and trucks, or by various combinations of these.

The South Vietnamese military sources said the details of the prisoner exchange had been worked out in a subcommittee of the JMC.

In the meantime heavy fighting continued in Laos with support of the American fighter-bombers and B52s which had been used against targets in North and South Vietnam. No U.S. planes were being used in Cambodia where Phnom Penh dispatches reported govern-

I-J's Dietz Honored For Patrick Series

David Dietz, Independent-Journal reporter and assistant city editor, today received honorable mention in the best series of articles category in the annual California Newspaper Publishers Association competition.

The award, the number two honor, was made at an awards luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, during the CNPA convention.

The prize was for a series of four articles on the William Penn Patrick empire published in the I-J last Aug. 29 to Sept. 1.

In the comprehensive articles, Dietz described Patrick's virtual overnight rise to riches and how his vast empire came into existence.

One of the articles was based on a rare interview Dietz had with the 42-year-old Patrick, who started his empire with the San Rafael-based Holiday Magic cosmetics firm.

Dietz also described the blizzard of suits and countersuits that engulf the Patrick empire, built on what many state officials say is an illegal pyramid principle.

First place for the best series of articles went to the Santa Monica Evening Outlook for its stories on abortion.

Action Rescinded On Consumer Idea

By JEFF GREER

The Marin County Human Rights Commission rescinded its sponsorship of a controversial consumer protection proposal by a 3-2 vote last night. (Another commission story, page 9.)

The decision came at a meeting at which the county counsel's stand on application of the Ralph M. Brown Act to commission meetings was clarified and an earlier permissive opinion by an assistant counsel was overturned.

Chairman Ernest J. Gray declared he did not see how the "overloaded" Human Rights Department staff could operate the pilot program it drafted. But he promised the commission's support to a similar program by any other agency.

Human rights commissioners unanimously approved a resolution endorsing the consumer program at a December dinner meeting. Then, after the human rights executive director, Gerald J. Hood, submitted it to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, three commissioners had second thoughts.

The change of mind came to light after a Jan. 25 commission meeting that had been billed as a session of the commission's three-member executive committee.

Commissioner Joaquin P. Gallardo joined the executive committee — Gray, Rev. J. Barton Sarjeant and June Weden, during discussion of the consumer program.

As a result, questions were raised as to the meeting's propriety under the Brown Act, which governs meetings of public bodies.

Gray reacted to the claim that the four-person meeting constituted a quorum of the seven-member commission by inviting Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. to explain the Brown Act at last night's meeting. The item was not on the prepared agenda.

Last year, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino had declared that the Brown Act's requirement that commission meetings be publicly announced could be circumvented if less than a quorum met and those officials were subsequently joined by one or more others claiming to be present "unofficially."

That opinion was shot down by Silvestri, who warned: "However, when that 'unofficial' member begins to participate in discussions in such e way as to be deliberating, the

President Approves Help For Homes, Businesses

President Nixon yesterday declared Marin County a disaster area and directed the federal Small Business Administration to process low-interest loans to hundreds of troubled homeonwers.

The President's declaration came exactly one month after heavy rains began washing Marin, causing an estimated $2 million damage to private property and $900,000 to public facilities over a week-long period.

According to an SBA spokesman, the agency will set up temporary offices — possibly in Marin — to handle applications for federal loans at 1 per cent interest.

The spokesman said loan repayments could be extended up to 30 years with a "forgiveness" on the first $5,000, meaning no repayment needed if the rest of the loan is repaid on a timely basis.

Besides Marin County, the President's declaration covers Solano and San Luis Obispo Counties, Santa Barbara and South San Francisco.

The declaration, urged by William Mailliard, Marin's representative in Congress, offers aid to some 359 homeowners in hard-hit areas of Marin.

Those areas include low-lying neighborhoods in Novato, where heavy rains combined with high tides to cause extensive flooding and mass evacuations.

Residents of Tamalpais Valley's Marinview subdivision also are eligible for loans to cover damage by mudslides which raised havoc in portions of the community.

Frank E. Kirby, County Emergency Services coordinator, said today the President's action also paves the way for

Auto Hikes Seen

DETROIT (UPI) — Buyers of 1973 model cars can expect to face at least one more round of price increases if they wait very much longer, according to Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend.

Townsend said yesterday a price hike should come "as soon as possible" for the 1973 automobiles, though he refused to say when.

The automakers say they have received no price hikes to cover added costs of labor and materials since Jan. 1, 1972, but they've held back on increasing prices since President Nixon's Phase III economic plan because of administration warnings about "people who get out of line."

Guard On Standby

Kneip emphasized he was "not committing" the guardsmen into the town, built near where Gen. George Armstrong Custer camped years ago.

Custer County Sheriff Ernest Pepin requested all available officers in South Dakota to come to Custer. The city of Sioux Falls sent 20 police officers — all volunteers — to the southwestern South Dakota town of 1,600 in the Black Hills.

Sioux Falls City officials said reserve officers would be employed there until the regulars return.

Arms Impasse

VIENNA (UPI) — The North Atlantic allies stood fast yesterday against a new Soviet attempt to change the Western-sponsored format for talks on mutual cuts in troops and weapons in central Europe.

Allies rejected a Soviet suggestion that would exclude Hungary and the Soviet troops stationed there from the proposed cuts and said they also would resist moves to include Italy in the reduction zone.

Western officials said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations continue to argue in favor of confining troop cuts to central Europe and that those nations in central Europe or with troops stationed there participate as full members in the talks.

A Service Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service says it is tired of being blamed when airlines are slow in delivering mail and will try to negotiate guaranteed, scheduled space on planes.

"We cannot continue to take the blame for the failure and deficiencies of the airlines in the transportation of mail," Postmaster General E. T. Klassen said in a statement yesterday.

Seat Belt Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Faced with growing pressure from Congress, the federal government will issue safety standards shortly which could put seat belts on 20 million children who travel to school by bus.

The standards, to be issued "within the next three weeks," will require manufacturers of new school buses to equip the buses with restraint systems.

The National Highway Transportation Safety Agency will recommend the seat belt as one way to meet the standards.

Stennis Improved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis continued today to show gradual improvement from gunshot wounds and has been moved back into a private room from the intensive care unit of Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The 71-year-old Mississippian still was listed in very serious condition, which the Army facility says is equivalent to critical at civilian hospitals.

E. German Pact

BERLIN (UPI) — Britain extended diplomatic recognition to East Germany today, becoming the first of the three Western allied occupation powers to do so, the East German news service ADN reported.

ADN said Britain and East Germany agreed to take up diplomatic relations at the ambassadorial level effective today.

The United States and France, the other two Western occupation powers, have announced readiness to recognize East Germany but have not yet done so.

Supply Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Heating oil shortages in much of New England and the Middle West this winter may be followed by tight supplies of gasoline this summer, oil executives warn.

Officials of two major oil producers told a government hearing yesterday that the industry has put so much of its refining effort into heating oil that gasoline production has fallen behind schedule.

The oil men testified at a hearing of the Cost-of-Living Council, which is looking into heating oil price increases which 25 oil companies imposed in January just a few days after the President replaced wage-price controls with Phase III voluntary guidelines.

New Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen and security forces battled again yesterday in new Northern Ireland violence that left one policeman dead and brought a government warning of a "ruthless" crackdown against bombers and snipers.

A policeman was shot dead at Donaghmore, 40 miles from Belfast, in one battle and in another, troops fought snipers for two hours across the border dividing north and south.

To Assist Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has decided to let a Ralph Nader-backed consumer group assist in its study of the safety of hundreds of food additives, from cinnamon to garlic.

James Turner, a lawyer for the Consumer Action Group for Improved Food & Drugs, and co-author with Nader of "The Chemical Feast," called the development a "breakthrough."

Senate Picks Six-Member Team For In-Depth Watergate Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six lawyer-senators have been picked to share with a former judge the chore of running the Senate's in-depth investigation of the Watergate bugging and related political espionage last year.

The six men—three Republicans and three Democrats—were named by their party leadership Thursday to a special committee given broad powers to subpoena witnesses and records as it probes the bizarre break-in at Democratic national headquarters in Washington.

The special panel will be chaired by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., a former state supreme court judge before coming to the Senate 18 years ago.

Picked for Ervin's committee were Republicans Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, Edward J. Gurney of Florida and Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, along with Democrats Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico and Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia.

There were no official reasons given for the selection of the six men. But all are lawyers and generally regarded as noncontroversial. As one leading Democrat put it: "We had to be careful and not pick people who would make this thing look like a witchhunt."

It was learned, too, that Republicans carefully avoided asking senators up for reelection in 1974—since the probe will focus on alleged Republican espionage in the last election and reported links to the White House.

But Baker, tapped to be the ranking GOP member on the Ervin committee, told a news conference he was committed to a "full, fair, thorough, nonpolitical, nonpartisan" investigation.

"I want the chips to fall where they will...," he said. "We'll row our own boat."

To Lead Court

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Judge Manfred Lacks of Poland was elected president of the International Court of Justice yesterday. He will replace President Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan, who is to retire. Judge Fouad Ammoun of Lebanon was reelected vice president.

Death Count At Eight From Alameda Holocaust

ALAMEDA (UPI) — A Navy jet fighter experienced radio trouble before it swept into its deadly dive into a three-story apartment house, a Navy investigating officer said today.

The A7 Corsair smashed into the building Wednesday night and turned it into a pile of blazing rubble.

Disaster crews yesterday recovered the bodies of eight persons, including those of three children and apparently that of the pilot, Lt. Robert L. Ward, Lemoore Naval Air Station, Calif. Authorities said that 14 other residents of the apartment were unaccounted for. The search continued today.

The Navy investigator said that the last transmission from Ward came just 10 minutes before the crash, showing that he was experiencing radio trouble.

The officer said that the plane was at 28,000 feet and traveling over 400 miles per hour when it made a slow turn to return to Lemoore near Fresno.

The attack bomber, he said, suddenly went into a dive and "might have broken the sound barrier just before impact." He explained that many area residents reported hearing explosions and these might have been sonic booms.

Ward and another pilot were on a training flight to Sacramento. Navy officials said the two planes were in formation when Ward's craft began losing altitude.

The crash also ruined two other apartment buildings and a house. Residents from these escaped to safety.

Norman Estes, an assistant to the Alameda fire chief, said the aviation gasoline explosion produced such intense heat many bodies probably were incinerated and may never be found.

"It's a crematorium," Estes said.

The largest piece of the 20-ton jet found was a one-foot square of gleaming aluminum. Authorities said the jet crashed into the basement where it exploded in a ball of lethal flame.

A Bath Stops The Traffic

MIAMI SHORES, Fla. (UPI) — A pretty blonde walked into the North Side Car Wash on busy Biscayne Boulevard Thursday, stripped off her clothes and began washing herself under the sudsy spray.

When police arrived, there was a massive traffic jam around the car wash and over 100 people were milling around—some taking pictures—as the woman stood in the suds spray washing herself.

The woman, identified as Joann Almont of Flint, Mich., was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and indecent exposure. Police said Miss Almont's explanation was: "I needed a bath."

Jobs Go Unwanted

SABINA, Ohio (UPI) — The filing deadline for the May 1 city primary election passed this week, with no one, not even incumbents, filing for four council seats, the treasurer's office or a position on the public affairs board.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Auto Hikes Seen

DETROIT (UPI) — Buyers of 1973 model cars can expect to face at least one more round of price increases if they wait very much longer, according to Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend.

Townsend said yesterday a price hike should come "as soon as possible" for the 1973 automobiles, though he refused to say when.

The automakers say they have received no price hikes to cover added costs of labor and materials since Jan. 1, 1972, but they've held back on increasing prices since President Nixon's Phase III economic plan because of administration warnings about "people who get out of line."

County Antipoverty Agency In Jeopardy

Community Action Marin, which has been attempting to pump new life into the county's antipoverty program, may be forced to shut down next month under President Nixon's proposed new budget.

Executive Director Alfred R. Conklin III said today a nationwide campaign will begin soon to urge Congress to restore antipoverty funds not included in Nixon's proposed federal budget of $268 billion for next year.

Meanwhile, officials at the San Francisco Office of Economic Opportunity, parent agency to Community Action Marin, said funding to the local agency will be allocated through March 31 on a monthly basis "for phasing out."

Conklin, who took over the directorship last June after controversy nearly killed the agency (then called the Economic Opportunity Council), said his agency would strive to keep going if federal funding stops.

He said one course of action discussed Wednesday by the agency's board of directors was to seek outside funding from private foundations and groups.

"Everything is up in the air right now," he said, adding the county's Head Start preschool program, one of his agency's programs, may continue to be funded through next year under grants from the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

About a dozen local agencies which Community Action Marin was to help fund this year with $100,000 will not be funded under the president's budget.

The threat to Community Action Marin is a result of President Nixon's move to abolish the federal Office of Economic Opportunity and place some of its functions under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

No provision is made, however, for continuing OEO's community action program — under which the local agency receives funding.

A spokesman for OEO in San Francisco said local antipoverty agencies across the country will have to fend for themselves in the future.

Since such agencies are public nonfprofit corporations, they may be able to get grants from HEW or the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as well as from private sources, he said.

The executive director said his board agreed to join in the nationwide campaign to restore funding by mounting a letter writing campaign to congressmen and urging others to do the same.

There were these other developments in the shaky truce Friday:

— The first North Vietnamese delegates to the JMC arrived at the provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot, in the southern Central Highlands, and were stoned by a waiting crowd. At least one North Vietnamese and a South Vietnamese military policeman providing security for the Communist delegates were injured.

— A Foreign Ministry spokesman said South Vietnam has filed letters of protest with ICCS delegates from Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland complaining of 1,846 cease-fire violations by the Communists between 8 a.m. Jan. 28 and 6 p.m. Tuesday. The letters asked the ICCS to "use its prestige to stop immediately all acts of violation. . ."

— Sources said the United States has protested to the ICCS about difficulties South Korean troops are having in withdrawing from South Vietnam as a result of Communists "firing on the road, bridges that have been blown up."

— The South Vietnamese command reported 156 truce violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today and another 27 violations in the six hours until noon today. The 24 hour total was the highest since Feb. 2. The command also reported that government troops entered five hamlets and took them their first food in a week.

Lighter Put To $500,000 Worth Of Drugs

The Sonoma County Sheriff's Department this week destroyed more than $500,000 worth of drugs confiscated last year.

Sheriff Donald Striepeke said the drugs burned included 285 pounds of marijuana, 51 grams of heroin, 88 grams of cocaine, 1,741 grams of hashish and 4,924 grams of LSD.

Striepeke said the drugs amounted to about half the amount seized in 1972 and was no longer needed for evidence. He said along with the drugs, narcotics officers recovered $40,000 in stolen property.

Bank Gives In To Pressure On Prime Rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — The First National City Bank said Thursday it would give in to "government pressure" and keep its prime interest rate at 6 per cent.

FNCB had used a floating formula to determine the prime rate, the interest rate charged corporate borrowers with the highest credit ratings.

"This action is the direct result of government pressure, in effect," the bank's spokesman said. "The base rate, which previously was determined by the free market, is now being administered by government authorities."

Judge Orders Deductions From Payrolls

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma Superior Court Judge Lincoln F. Mahan ruled yesterday that the City of Petaluma must provide payroll deductions for employees who belong to the Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees.

The organization argued that Petaluma discriminated against members because dues were routinely deducted for other employee groups. City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer contended that deductions should be a matter for wage and benefit negotiations this spring.

Organization Gen. Mgr George Pavlick said, "It's regrettable that the taxpayers of Petaluma were forced to pay the legal costs of the city's attempt to defend a position that had already been decided by courts over a decade ago."

Mahan's ruling indicated that the city must treat all organizations equally

Planners To Eye Big Development

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a master plan for major development on the Cheda Farms property on the northeast side of South Novato Boulevard, west of the crossroads development, at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

The plan by Allan Associates Inc. calls for 208 townhouses and 204 apartments on 50 acres.

Commissioners also will consider a master plan by Robert Roberts for the Novato Boulevard apartments, 74 units on the south side of Novato Boulevard, opposite Our Lady of Loretto Church.

POWS

information has come from men who escaped or were released previously.

Dr. William N. Miller, a Navy psychologist who specializes in POW problems, has found that the man who adapts to prison camp life "has had to learn behavior that allows him to get by in a prison situation but may not be very acceptable here in our environment."

One common form of adaption, Miller said in a film for POW wives, is for a man to fill the idle hours and block out unpleasant conditions by reliving happy events from his past second-by-second or by planning for the future in extremely meticulous detail.

"So long as they are immersed in that," he said, "there is no misery of the present. But there is a drawback to it. The prisoner is starting to become one of the world's great professional time killers.

"A number of men realize if they can dream up a fantasy world so exciting or so real...there is no misery of the past or hopelessness of the future. Combined with other time-killing activities (this) can make days, or months, or even decades go by at the snap of a finger."

"When a man is told release is imminent — as may be happening for some even now — he tends to disbelieve the news," Miller said.

"Too many false hopes have been dashed for him to believe it is coming," he said. "Therefore he is not prepared for release. He is not prepared for freedom."

Miller said for this reason many men will feel "total bewilderment" at first when they are set free. He said Project Homecoming was designed to "cushion the shock of the release as much as possible."

21-Year-Old Is Booked On Robbery Probe

Robert William Lane, 21, of 8 Stetson Lane, Kentfield, was booked into Marin County Jail at 4:15 p.m. yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of robbery.

Officers said Lane was trapped in his car by clerks from the United Market at 515 Third Street after he allegedly took a wallet and $53 cash from a woman customer in the market. The wallet belongong to Marie Louise Augusto of 18 Frances Street, San Rafael, was found in the glove compartment of his car, police said.

Lane was held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Air 'Cleared' For Ceremony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air pollution nearly forced curtailment of President Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20, District of Columbia officials have disclosed.

A brisk wind two days before the inaugural ceremonies ended the pollution alert, which was on the verge of being changed to a pollution hazard for elderly and ill persons and children.

"In the middle of our crisis," D.C. environmental chief James P. Alexander told a briefing Thursday, "I couldn't help but think it would have been great if it happened, so we could tell the nation: 'This is what air pollution means in this country.' "

Park Board Cuts Fees For Needy

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a plan to allow a 50 per cent reduction in fees to families on county assistance.

The proposal, introduced by Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation, must be approved by the county social services department.

If it is, the recreation department will institute the plan on a six-month trial basis.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

IMPROVEMENTS — Heard reports on tennis court project at Vallecito Junior High in Terra Linda, the Albert Park plan to build two baseball diamonds and the Santa Margarita Valley tennis court resurfacing project.

GLENWOOD — Agreed to pursue a plan for a cooperative project with San Rafael City Schools, Glenwood PTA and other youth service groups to upgrade the Glenwood School play area.

DOGS — Heard a report by Commissioner Norma Wall that many dogs have been running loose in Sun Valley Park. Mrs. Wall urged citizens to report to the parks and recreation department and Humane Society any dogs seen in the area.

SPRING — Heard a report that the spring recreation program will begin during the week of March 26 and continue to June 8.

GAMES — Approved requests by Marin Catholic High School for baseball games at Albert Park on March 22 and 23.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. March 8 at city hall.

governmental agencies — such as the Bolinas Public Utility District — to secure loans for damage repair.

The Bolinas District's water supply system was washed out by the heavy rains and the tiny seaside community has been using an emergency system since.

Kirby urged homeowners in cities to contact their local city halls for further information on the disaster loans or the Small Business Administration office in San Francisco. County government will aid residents of the unincorporated areas of Marin.

The Presidential proclamation ends weeks of governmental redtape which started unreeling last month when the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared a state of local emergency and asked Gov Reagan for assistance.

Reagan declared Marin and San Luis Obispo Counties to be emergency areas and offered state assistance. The governor also made the formal request to president Nixon.

SBA officials were reluctant today to estimate when homeowners and businessmen could expect approval of loan applications.

One official said he hoped it would be within 10 days to a month, depending on when the local assistance office is opened.

Oakland Mayor Is Challenged

OAKLAND (AP) — City Councilman John Sutter is challenging Mayor John Reading on two fronts: the mayor's job and his position on the city election ballot.

Sutter announced Wednesday he is a candidate for mayor. Reading announced earlier he would seek reelection.

Sutter also filed a suit asking the Superior Court to end the city practice of listing incumbents first on the ballot, followed in alphabetical order by challengers.

CONSUMER

Brown Act comes into play and that member should leave to prevent existence of a quorum."

Said Silvestri, "That seems to be a good, commonsense interpretation based on our philosophy of always resolving doubts in favor of public notice. The minute you have four commissioners present, you have a meeting and the Brown Act applies."

Last night's vote on the consumer program found Gray, Gallardo and Sarjeant lined up against the proposal as they had been at the Jan. 25 "committee" meeting.

Mrs. Weden was joined by Commissioner Leland S. Bright in defending the program. Commissioner Lily Whittle did not speak or vote; Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Gray praised Hood and his aides for drafting the consumer proposal, but argued that the department's "duty lies in the area of discrimination. The proposal, even on a pilot basis, involves an overwhelming task" for the staff to add to its other duties. To do so "would be a disservice to the people we're supposed to serve as well as the consumers," Gray added.

"I do not believe the Better Business Bureau is the best place for consumer affairs," Gray added. "It exists to police the business community. It's unfortunate we can't get enough staff."

"Our other programs should have priority," Gallardo said.

Bright countered that "Here's an area the supervisors are interested in. We can do a service to people who believe they're being ripped off" and the consumer plan could dovetail with the department's work against housing and employment discrimination, he said.

Sarjeant objected that the "unanimous" resolution in December represented only five commissioners present at the dinner.

Hood reported that he had already asked postponement of the supervisors discussion of the pilot program, slated for Tuesday. He said he now would ask the county administrator's office to remove the issue from the agenda.

Novato Council To Review Plan

The Novato City Council will consider reclassification of some employees and continue review of the city's 1972 general plan at 7 p.m. Monday at the Novato Library.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has recommended a reclassification plan based on a study by the Marin County Personnel Office. Employees have hired attorney Richard Breiner of San Rafael to represent them before the council.

The council also is scheduled to consider a $400,000 claim filed by Jean Ostlind over city refusal to permit a Taco Bell restaurant at Novato Square.

Board Member Gives Resignation

Waldie Hecht, chairman of the Mill Valley Library Board, resigned from the board last night, citing personal reasons for her leaving. Her resignation will become effective immediately.

Mrs. Hecht has served two terms on the library board and three one-year terms as chairman, being first elected in 1969.

Nixon Flies On New Jet

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Nixon's pilot says the newest presidential airliner "is like a new car — you feel a tightness, and with every motion you get a response."

The pilot, Col. Ralph Albertazzie, said yesterday that older planes like the one just replaced have "a slight looseness to them."

The new presidential plane, the latest model Boeing 707, was placed in official service for the first time yesterday to fly the President from Washington to California. It replaced an earlier model 707.

Aides said when Albertazzie left Washington he placed the aircraft on a computer-aided flight system called "inertial navigation." The craft was automatically guided to the runway at El Toto Marine Air Station, 2,333 miles away, aides explained.

Wife of Justice Files For Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cathleen Douglas, 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has applied for a job as an assistnat U.S. attorney.

Mrs. Douglas, a May graduate of American University Law School, passed the District of Columbia bar examination in December and applied for the job about a month ago.

Executive Asst. U.S. Atty. Henry F. Greene, who interviewed Mrs. Douglas, said of her application:

"We're going to handle it like we handle anyone else, and we don't know what our conclusion will be yet."

County Antipoverty Agency In Jeopardy

Bank Gives In To Pressure On Prime Rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — The First National City Bank said Thursday it would give in to "government pressure" and keep its prime interest rate at 6 per cent.

FNCB had used a floating formula to determine the prime rate, the interest rate charged corporate borrowers with the highest credit ratings.

"This action is the direct result of government pressure, in effect," the bank's spokesman said. "The base rate, which previously was determined by the free market, is now being administered by government authorities."

Judge Orders Deductions From Payrolls

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma Superior Court Judge Lincoln F. Mahan ruled yesterday that the City of Petaluma must provide payroll deductions for employees who belong to the Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees.

The organization argued that Petaluma discriminated against members because dues were routinely deducted for other employee groups. City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer contended that deductions should be a matter for wage and benefit negotiations this spring.

Organization Gen. Mgr George Pavlick said, "It's regrettable that the taxpayers of Petaluma were forced to pay the legal costs of the city's attempt to defend a position that had already been decided by courts over a decade ago."

Mahan's ruling indicated that the city must treat all organizations equally

Planners To Eye Big Development

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a master plan for major development on the Cheda Farms property on the northeast side of South Novato Boulevard, west of the crossroads development, at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

The plan by Allan Associates Inc. calls for 208 townhouses and 204 apartments on 50 acres.

Commissioners also will consider a master plan by Robert Roberts for the Novato Boulevard apartments, 74 units on the south side of Novato Boulevard, opposite Our Lady of Loretto Church.

POWS

information has come from men who escaped or were released previously.

Dr. William N. Miller, a Navy psychologist who specializes in POW problems, has found that the man who adapts to prison camp life "has had to learn behavior that allows him to get by in a prison situation but may not be very acceptable here in our environment."

One common form of adaption, Miller said in a film for POW wives, is for a man to fill the idle hours and block out unpleasant conditions by reliving happy events from his past second-by-second or by planning for the future in extremely meticulous detail.

"So long as they are immersed in that," he said, "there is no misery of the present. But there is a drawback to it. The prisoner is starting to become one of the world's great professional time killers.

"A number of men realize if they can dream up a fantasy world so exciting or so real...there is no misery of the past or hopelessness of the future. Combined with other time-killing activities (this) can make days, or months, or even decades go by at the snap of a finger."

"When a man is told release is imminent — as may be happening for some even now — he tends to disbelieve the news," Miller said.

"Too many false hopes have been dashed for him to believe it is coming," he said. "Therefore he is not prepared for release. He is not prepared for freedom."

Miller said for this reason many men will feel "total bewilderment" at first when they are set free. He said Project Homecoming was designed to "cushion the shock of the release as much as possible."

21-Year-Old Is Booked On Robbery Probe

Robert William Lane, 21, of 8 Stetson Lane, Kentfield, was booked into Marin County Jail at 4:15 p.m. yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of robbery.

Officers said Lane was trapped in his car by clerks from the United Market at 515 Third Street after he allegedly took a wallet and $53 cash from a woman customer in the market. The wallet belongong to Marie Louise Augusto of 18 Frances Street, San Rafael, was found in the glove compartment of his car, police said.

Lane was held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Air 'Cleared' For Ceremony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air pollution nearly forced curtailment of President Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20, District of Columbia officials have disclosed.

A brisk wind two days before the inaugural ceremonies ended the pollution alert, which was on the verge of being changed to a pollution hazard for elderly and ill persons and children.

"In the middle of our crisis," D.C. environmental chief James P. Alexander told a briefing Thursday, "I couldn't help but think it would have been great if it happened, so we could tell the nation: 'This is what air pollution means in this country.' "

Park Board Cuts Fees For Needy

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a plan to allow a 50 per cent reduction in fees to families on county assistance.

The proposal, introduced by Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation, must be approved by the county social services department.

If it is, the recreation department will institute the plan on a six-month trial basis.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

IMPROVEMENTS — Heard reports on tennis court project at Vallecito Junior High in Terra Linda, the Albert Park plan to build two baseball diamonds and the Santa Margarita Valley tennis court resurfacing project.

GLENWOOD — Agreed to pursue a plan for a cooperative project with San Rafael City Schools, Glenwood PTA and other youth service groups to upgrade the Glenwood School play area.

DOGS — Heard a report by Commissioner Norma Wall that many dogs have been running loose in Sun Valley Park. Mrs. Wall urged citizens to report to the parks and recreation department and Humane Society any dogs seen in the area.

SPRING — Heard a report that the spring recreation program will begin during the week of March 26 and continue to June 8.

GAMES — Approved requests by Marin Catholic High School for baseball games at Albert Park on March 22 and 23.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. March 8 at city hall.

governmental agencies — such as the Bolinas Public Utility District — to secure loans for damage repair.

The Bolinas District's water supply system was washed out by the heavy rains and the tiny seaside community has been using an emergency system since.

Kirby urged homeowners in cities to contact their local city halls for further information on the disaster loans or the Small Business Administration office in San Francisco. County government will aid residents of the unincorporated areas of Marin.

The Presidential proclamation ends weeks of governmental redtape which started unreeling last month when the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared a state of local emergency and asked Gov Reagan for assistance.

Reagan declared Marin and San Luis Obispo Counties to be emergency areas and offered state assistance. The governor also made the formal request to president Nixon.

SBA officials were reluctant today to estimate when homeowners and businessmen could expect approval of loan applications.

One official said he hoped it would be within 10 days to a month, depending on when the local assistance office is opened.

Oakland Mayor Is Challenged

OAKLAND (AP) — City Councilman John Sutter is challenging Mayor John Reading on two fronts: the mayor's job and his position on the city election ballot.

Sutter announced Wednesday he is a candidate for mayor. Reading announced earlier he would seek reelection.

Sutter also filed a suit asking the Superior Court to end the city practice of listing incumbents first on the ballot, followed in alphabetical order by challengers.

CONSUMER

Brown Act comes into play and that member should leave to prevent existence of a quorum."

Said Silvestri, "That seems to be a good, commonsense interpretation based on our philosophy of always resolving doubts in favor of public notice. The minute you have four commissioners present, you have a meeting and the Brown Act applies."

Last night's vote on the consumer program found Gray, Gallardo and Sarjeant lined up against the proposal as they had been at the Jan. 25 "committee" meeting.

Mrs. Weden was joined by Commissioner Leland S. Bright in defending the program. Commissioner Lily Whittle did not speak or vote; Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Gray praised Hood and his aides for drafting the consumer proposal, but argued that the department's "duty lies in the area of discrimination. The proposal, even on a pilot basis, involves an overwhelming task" for the staff to add to its other duties. To do so "would be a disservice to the people we're supposed to serve as well as the consumers," Gray added.

"I do not believe the Better Business Bureau is the best place for consumer affairs," Gray added. "It exists to police the business community. It's unfortunate we can't get enough staff."

"Our other programs should have priority," Gallardo said.

Bright countered that "Here's an area the supervisors are interested in. We can do a service to people who believe they're being ripped off" and the consumer plan could dovetail with the department's work against housing and employment discrimination, he said.

Sarjeant objected that the "unanimous" resolution in December represented only five commissioners present at the dinner.

Commissioner Whittle left last night's meeting midway through the discussion without saying a word on the issue.

Hood reported that he had already asked postponement of the supervisors discussion of the pilot program, slated for Tuesday. He said he now would ask the county administrator's office to remove the issue from the agenda.

Novato Council To Review Plan

The Novato City Council will consider reclassification of some employees and continue review of the city's 1972 general plan at 7 p.m. Monday at the Novato Library.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has recommended a reclassification plan based on a study by the Marin County Personnel Office. Employees have hired attorney Richard Breiner of San Rafael to represent them before the council.

The council also is scheduled to consider a $400,000 claim filed by Jean Ostlind over city refusal to permit a Taco Bell restaurant at Novato Square.

Board Member Gives Resignation

Waldie Hecht, chairman of the Mill Valley Library Board, resigned from the board last night, citing personal reasons for her leaving. Her resignation will become effective immediately.

Mrs. Hecht has served two terms on the library board and three one-year terms as chairman, being first elected in 1969.

Nixon Flies On New Jet

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Nixon's pilot says the newest presidential airliner "is like a new car — you feel a tightness, and with every motion you get a response."

The pilot, Col. Ralph Albertazzie, said yesterday that older planes like the one just replaced have "a slight looseness to them."

The new presidential plane, the latest model Boeing 707, was placed in official service for the first time yesterday to fly the President from Washington to California. It replaced an earlier model 707.

Aides said when Albertazzie left Washington he placed the aircraft on a computer-aided flight system called "inertial navigation." The craft was automatically guided to the runway at El Toto Marine Air Station, 2,333 miles away, aides explained.

Wife of Justice Files For Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cathleen Douglas, 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has applied for a job as an assistnat U.S. attorney.

Mrs. Douglas, a May graduate of American University Law School, passed the District of Columbia bar examination in December and applied for the job about a month ago.

Executive Asst. U.S. Atty. Henry F. Greene, who interviewed Mrs. Douglas, said of her application:

"We're going to handle it like we handle anyone else, and we don't know what our conclusion will be yet."

Reagans Tax Freeze Plan Is Attacked By Democrats

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to freeze state taxes — a permanent form of his "squeeze and cut and trim" philosophy — ran into sharp attack from Democrats in the state Legislature today.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who hopes to succeed Reagan as governor, labeled it a "scheme" which could have "catastrophic impact" on criticical state services.

Reagan, who plans to retire as governor in 1974, said he would go directly to the people to get his "revenue control and tax reduction program" written into the state constitution if the legislature turned him down.

"Freedom itself is in danger" unless government's share of the taxpayer's paycheck is reduced, Reagan said.

As expected, Reagan announced yesterday that he was proposing a permanent 10 per cent state income tax cut. He also unveiled a three-point plan for using the state's current $852 million budget surplus. It includes a 20 per cent income tax rebate next year and postponing a sales tax increase from June until January.

His most far-reaching proposal was a complicated long range plan for a gradually lowered ceiling on all state tax levies. The state's total tax take — computed as a percentage of gross personal income — would be frozen at this year's level and then trimmed bit by bit each year.

The goal is to cut state taxes from the current 8½ cents on each dollar Californians earn to about 7 cents over a 15-year period, Reagan said in a televised "report to the people."

Despite the ceiling, the plan would provide enough new money each year to pay for normal growth in state government caused by inflation and population increase, Reagan said.

If nothing is done, he added, the current state income of $9.8 billion will grow to $47 billion in 15 years. His plan would limit revenue growth — and spending — to about $27 billion by 1989-90.

"That amounts to a reduction in your total state taxes of almost 20 per cent over a 15-year period," he said.

GOP lawmakers were receptive but still cautious. The two GOP leaders in the Senate, Fred W. Marler Jr. of Redding and John L. Harmer of Glendale, said, "we must be extremely careful to preserve the ability of government to respond to the needs of the people."

Under Reagan's plan, future governors could launch major new spending programs only if the voters first approved new taxes to pay for them or by eliminating existing programs.

The plan itself also will require approval of the voters. The legislature can put the plan on the ballot by a two-thirds vote but Reagan needs Democratic support to do it.

Failing in the legislature, Reagan would have to collect the signatures of 521,000 eligible voters to put the measure on the ballot at a special statewide election.

The vote could come as early as September, Reagan aides said.

The permanent income tax cut — including the revenue control provisions — would be part of the constitutional amendment.

In addition to the $245 million-a-year permanent income tax cut and revenue ceiling, Reagan's plan for using up a current $852 million state budget surplus includes the following:

A onetime 20 per cent income tax rebate on 1973 earnings, costing an estimated $415 million. That would be a windfall of $40 for a family of four with an income of $15,000 a year.

A delay from this June to next January of a scheduled one cent increase in the state sales tax, from five to six cents on the dollar in most of the state, using up $368 million. This would save the same family $32. This sales tax hike was sought by Reagan last year to increase state support of local schools and reduce property taxes.

Use of the remaining $69 million for construction projects such as shoring up the 103-year-old state Capitol, declared an earthquake hazard by the state architect.

The rebate and sales tax delay requires legislation, but Moretti, who worked closely with Reagan in achieving welfare and tax reform the past two years, split sharply with the governor on his revenue control proposal.

"The governor is now admitting to the people that despite his rhetoric of 'cut, squeeze and trim,' he has failed to reduce the state budget and would now lead us all down the path of mediocrity, inadequacy and even misery," Moretti said.

"This new tax program has all of the disadvantages contained in the recently defeated Watson Tax Initiative and is in direct conflict with the governor's pre-election opposition to the proposal," Moretti said.

He claimed the Reagan plan went "entirely in the opposite direction" of the tax reforms they worked on together last year.

"It will have the effect of maintaining all of the tax advantages currently enjoyed by the privileged few in our society," Moretti added.

Marler and Harmer, the Senate GOP floor leader and caucus chairman, issued a joint statement calling the Reagan plan an "exciting and innovative concept" but, they added, "the subject of revenue control and tax reduction are so complex that extensive legislative hearings should be held to discover areas which might become problems if the plan is adopted."

Said Harmer, "This package of tax proposals will, for the first time, provide the public with muscle power to hold the line on state taxes."

Congress Orders Strike Of Penn Central Delayed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Penn Central trainmen went back to work under congressional order early today, ending for at least 90 days a strike of the nation's largest railroad.

President Nixon signed the back-to-work measure at 6 a.m. EST about 13 hours after Congress rammed through the legislation, according to Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

But even before Nixon put his signature on the bill, union and management began restoring service. Both sides in the dispute predicted that commuter and shipping services in the populous northeast would be near normal this morning.

After Congress approved the order Thursday evening, the bill was flown to the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon went for a 12-day visit.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the trains would begin running again "as soon as the men can report."

Orchid Society President To Talk

Dr. Lawrence L. Vance, president of the American Orchid Society, will speak at a public meeting sponsored by the Marin Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Caroline Livermore Room of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Vance, a member of the board of directors of the Orchid Digest Corporation and department head of the business department at the University of California at Berkeley, will discuss the Seventh World Orchid Congress. He will show slides of prize-winning orchids.

"The governor is now admitting to the people that despite his rhetoric of 'cut, squeeze and trim,' he has failed to reduce the state budget and would now lead us all down the path of mediocrity, inadequacy and even misery," Moretti said.

"This new tax program has all of the disadvantages contained in the recently defeated Watson Tax Initiative and is in direct conflict with the governor's pre-election opposition to the proposal," Moretti said.

He claimed the Reagan plan went "entirely in the opposite direction" of the tax reforms they worked on together last year.

"It will have the effect of maintaining all of the tax advantages currently enjoyed by the privileged few in our society," Moretti added.

Marler and Harmer, the Senate GOP floor leader and caucus chairman, issued a joint statement calling the Reagan plan an "exciting and innovative concept" but, they added, "the subject of revenue control and tax reduction are so complex that extensive legislative hearings should be held to discover areas which might become problems if the plan is adopted."

Said Harmer, "This package of tax proposals will, for the first time, provide the public with muscle power to hold the line on state taxes."

Congress Orders Strike Of Penn Central Delayed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Penn Central trainmen went back to work under congressional order early today, ending for at least 90 days a strike of the nation's largest railroad.

President Nixon signed the back-to-work measure at 6 a.m. EST about 13 hours after Congress rammed through the legislation, according to Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

But even before Nixon put his signature on the bill, union and management began restoring service. Both sides in the dispute predicted that commuter and shipping services in the populous northeast would be near normal this morning.

After Congress approved the order Thursday evening, the bill was flown to the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon went for a 12-day visit.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the trains would begin running again "as soon as the men can report."

Orchid Society President To Talk

Dr. Lawrence L. Vance, president of the American Orchid Society, will speak at a public meeting sponsored by the Marin Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Caroline Livermore Room of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Vance, a member of the board of directors of the Orchid Digest Corporation and department head of the business department at the University of California at Berkeley, will discuss the Seventh World Orchid Congress. He will show slides of prize-winning orchids.

FIREMEN DOUSE NOVATO BLAZE

Firemen spray the attic of a home at 2005 Leese Lane. Flames erupted there shortly after 8 p.m. yesterday. Occupant of the house, Cindy Gramlich, was at home when the fire started near an entrance to the kitchen, but she escaped unharmed. Cause of the blaze is undetermined. Firemen estimated damage at $5,500. (Independent-Journal photo)

Relocation Fuss Could End Happily For Family

One family out of two facing eviction to make way for a city parking lot in San Rafael may be allowed to remain as tenants of the city, it appeared today amid brightening prospects for relocation aid to both families.

San Rafael officials have mentioned the possibility of allowing the George V. Kearnes family of 1313 Fifth Avenue to remain in its rented home as tenants when the city acquires the parcel opposite city hall on May 1, Kearnes said yesterday.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser declined to confirm or deny the report.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, who earlier said he believed the families were not eligible for relocation aid since the city's contract for purchase of the parcel is for uninhabited land, yesterday said a review of the state Uniform Relocation Act appears to throw a different light on the matter. Robbins said, "It would appear that the law would apply if the property was occupied within the last 180 days."

Robbins will issue an opinion on city liability in the matter at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

City Councilman John A. Miskimen said the law "probably extends to the current situation" since the city indirectly forced the eviction of the two families by stipulating the parcel be uninhabited.

Also Councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan has said that the cost of any relocation payments due the two families may be added onto the $145,000 purchase price of the parcel.

Steven B. Sachs, chairman of the San Rafael Town Meeting Association, has claimed that the city's contract for purchase of the parcel from landowner Nicholas Janakes was drawn up so as to preclude any benefits to the two families living in rented homes on the land.

The state relocation act essentially says that if the city acquires a parcel with people living on it, the residents may be eligible for relocation payments under state law, according to Sachs. The law also says that a displaced resident must ask for relocation aid — which amounts to a maximum of $500 in moving expenses and $4,000 in rental assistance over four years — in order to obtain it.

Kearnes says he has asked the city for such aid. The Bertha Floyd family of 1317 Fifth Avenue was unavailable yesterday for comment.

Kearnes, a former San Rafael public works employee unable to work because of a disability, said he is being represented in the matter by Lowell W. Sykes, a Marin Legal Aid Society attorney. "We want whatever aid is coming to us," he said. J. Bielser has mentioned "another arrangement" coupled with possible aid, in lieu of relocating his family, he said.

"I have the feeling the city will become my landlord" following city acquisition of the parcel, Kearnes said.

At issue is a 21,700-square-foot parcel at Fifth Avenue and D Street which the city council two weeks ago announced will be acquired for conversion into a parking lot and possible eventual use as the site of a new public safety facility. Construction of the lot will require demolition of the Floyd residence only, with the Kearnes home being torn down only if fire facilities should be located there.

A New Traffic Pattern For Golden Gate Revealed

Up to two lanes on the San Francisco approach to the Golden Gate Bridge will be closed periodically to provide a buffer between northbound and southbound traffic.

The new system will go into effect Wednesday after the morning rush hour. One center lane will be closed between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.; and two lanes will be closed between 7 p.m. and 4:30 a.m.

The heavy demand of traffic will not permit any lanes to be closed during peak traffic hours, according to the plan announced today by San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras at a meeting of the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

He stressed that most serious accidents on the approach, known as "blood alley," occur in the evening hours.

The system of buffer lanes will not be used on weekends or holidays, however, when several major accidents occurred in the past.

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the bridge district, estimates the cost of the buffer system at $500 to $1,000 per month.

Under a contract between the district and state, 61 per cent of the cost will be paid by the state and the rest by the district.

Plans to widen the approach from six 10-foot to eight 12-foot lanes, with a concrete median barrier, have been stalled for years by San Francisco's "freeway revolt." The state now plans to do the $14 million project in 1977, but legislation has been introduced in Sacramento to do the job in the next fiscal year.

Girl Critical From Accident

A 4-year-old Petaluma girl was critically injured when a car ran over her at 2:45 p.m. yesterday in front of her home.

Kristeen L. Bartow, 1712 Weaverly Drive, underwent emergency surgery at Hillcrest Hospital for internal injuries and was reported in critical condition.

Police said the girl was sitting on the curb playing when a car driven by Arnold H. Volker, 68, of 172 Cleveland Lane, Petaluma, backed over her.

A NEW SYSTEM — The letter "O" wins hands up in this vowel exercise in a Scituate, Mass., classroom. The children in the class are embarking on a new program to read and write.

WORKS OUT FRUSTRATIONS

A Teacher Repackages Alphabet

By KENNETH G. GEHRET
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

SCITUATE, Mass. — Like many teachers through the years, Pleasant Rowland was dissatisfied with the materials available to her. But unlike most who have felt that way, Miss Rowland decided to do something about the situation.

She wrote a preprimer program and had it published.

Before arriving at this solution, the attractive young woman had taught for 5½ years in different parts of the United States. Although she knew her way around kindergarten and first and second grades, the youngest pupils were her favorites. But she felt "frustrated with the textbooks. With Sesame Street and other exposures, the kids were ready for sounds and letters. They could handle a reading program if it was properly prepared."

Her experience indicated that "Somewhere between kindergarten and first grade the alphabet got lost. Nobody really, truly taught it."

So, after dropping out of the classroom for two years of TV reporting, Miss Rowland set down to work out her teaching frustrations on a series of 24 books entitled, "Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen."

With a few exceptions, each book is devoted to a single letter and only one sound is assigned to that letter, to avoid confusing the youngsters at the outset. The author-educator is now working on the rest of the 44 sounds in the alphabet as part of a first-grade program.

"The usual preprimer has words in it," she comments. "That's premature. This series is broken down into digestible, picturable units. Each book retains the previous letters through a controlled vocabulary."

The series is currently used by an estimated 200,000 pupils across the country, including youngsters in the two kindergartens in this coastal town of Scituate.

Prior to the Christmas vacation, these children were busily learning their first vowel, the short "O." "Olive," the teacher said "which letter does that begin with?" And the enthusiastic tots held up individual cards bearing the letter "O" rather than the other one each held, inscribed with "C".

"C" was the first letter learned. Now, the teacher was including some "C" words, to reinforce what was learned earlier.

The class was working as a unit. This is recommended for the first six letters. After that, individualization shows up as children move ahead at their own speed in a way and to the extent the teacher can manage. High-school students are in each room two afternoons a week, expanding the opportunity for individual attention.

Helen O'Connor, reading chairman for the Scituate district, explains that the local schools tried to put together their own program but acknowledges that "you can't expect every teacher to be proficient that way."

"Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen" gets around that problem, Mrs. O'Connor points out, by providing material that strengthens a teacher's instruction.

Jacqueline White, the school principal, was impressed with "Beginning" as a "cohesive program that hit all the elements of interest to us." She also liked the fact that Miss Rowland had been a kindergarten teacher herself.

Mrs. White appraises the program as "setting up a better learning situation" and making possible "learning in a delightful way." Miss Rowland describes her books as a "total language-arts approach; reading, writing, and speaking are integrated."

A NEW SYSTEM — The letter "O" wins hands up in this vowel exercise in a Scituate, Mass., classroom. The children in the class are embarking on a new program to read and write.

WORKS OUT FRUSTRATIONS

A Teacher Repackages Alphabet

By KENNETH G. GEHRET
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

SCITUATE, Mass. — Like many teachers through the years, Pleasant Rowland was dissatisfied with the materials available to her. But unlike most who have felt that way, Miss Rowland decided to do something about the situation.

She wrote a preprimer program and had it published.

Before arriving at this solution, the attractive young woman had taught for 5½ years in different parts of the United States. Although she knew her way around kindergarten and first and second grades, the youngest pupils were her favorites. But she felt "frustrated with the textbooks. With Sesame Street and other exposures, the kids were ready for sounds and letters. They could handle a reading program if it was properly prepared."

Her experience indicated that "Somewhere between kindergarten and first grade the alphabet got lost. Nobody really, truly taught it."

So, after dropping out of the classroom for two years of TV reporting, Miss Rowland set down to work out her teaching frustrations on a series of 24 books entitled, "Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen."

With a few exceptions, each book is devoted to a single letter and only one sound is assigned to that letter, to avoid confusing the youngsters at the outset. The author-educator is now working on the rest of the 44 sounds in the alphabet as part of a first-grade program.

"The usual preprimer has words in it," she comments. "That's premature. This series is broken down into digestible, picturable units. Each book retains the previous letters through a controlled vocabulary."

The series is currently used by an estimated 200,000 pupils across the country, including youngsters in the two kindergartens in this coastal town of Scituate.

Prior to the Christmas vacation, these children were busily learning their first vowel, the short "O." "Olive," the teacher said "which letter does that begin with?" And the enthusiastic tots held up individual cards bearing the letter "O" rather than the other one each held, inscribed with "C".

"C" was the first letter learned. Now, the teacher was including some "C" words, to reinforce what was learned earlier.

The class was working as a unit. This is recommended for the first six letters. After that, individualization shows up as children move ahead at their own speed in a way and to the extent the teacher can manage. High-school students are in each room two afternoons a week, expanding the opportunity for individual attention.

Helen O'Connor, reading chairman for the Scituate district, explains that the local schools tried to put together their own program but acknowledges that "you can't expect every teacher to be proficient that way."

"Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen" gets around that problem, Mrs. O'Connor points out, by providing material that strengthens a teacher's instruction.

Jacqueline White, the school principal, was impressed with "Beginning" as a "cohesive program that hit all the elements of interest to us." She also liked the fact that Miss Rowland had been a kindergarten teacher herself.

Mrs. White appraises the program as "setting up a better learning situation" and making possible "learning in a delightful way." Miss Rowland describes her books as a "total language-arts approach; reading, writing, and speaking are integrated."

Eight More File Papers For School Board Seats

Five more incumbents and three newcomers have filed nomination papers as candidates for school board seats, according to the Marin County Elections Office.

Thomas Neal McNamara seeks reelection to the Dixie School District board; Jane S. Durr to the Fairfax board; Richard C. Sloan to the Lagunitas board; Harold A. Drady to the Nicasio board, and Charles V. Patterson to the Reed board.

In addition, newcomer Marilyn Marioni filed for a Lagunitas seat, Michael D. Sanford for a Bolinas-Stinson seat and Oliver L. Harle for a San Anselmo seat.

Mrs. Durr first was appointed to the Fairfax board in 1967, and in 1969 was elected for a full term which will end June 30.

Mrs. Durr lives at 470 Cascade Drive with her husband, M.H. Durr, and five children.

She is a native of Cincinnati, was graduated from the University of Cincinnati, and worked in biophysics research.

She has been active in Fairfax planning committees and parent-teacher organizations.

Sloan, elected to the Lagunitas board, last year after running unsuccessfully for the board in 1971 and for the Marin Junior College board in 1969, is 38, and a carpenter.

He is a former San Quentin correctional officer and Marin County juvenile probation officer and an Army intelligence officer from 1961 to 1963. He was graduated from the University of California.

Sloan is the father of two preschool age children. He has been active in the Marin Democratic Central Committee, Marin Alternative and various political campaigns.

Nicasio incumbent Drady, 33, is a California Highway Patrol officer. He was elected to a short term on the board in 1971.

Drady and his wife, Katherine, have three children.

He was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo.

Patterson, elected to the Reed board last year, is an attorney with offices in Tiburon, and lives at 20 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, with his wife, Judith, and three children.

Patterson, 41, was grduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and received his law degree at Hastings College.

Patterson first was appointed to the Reed board in January 1969, but ran fourth in a six-way race for three seats in June 1969, then was appointed to the seat last June when one victor, James B. Richwagen, resigned.

McNamara, 42, has served on the Dixie board since 1965.

He is a native of Washington, D.C., received his bachelor's degree from Duke University and a doctorate in law from George Washington University. He served in the Korean War and is a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve.

He is an attorney with Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro in San Francisco. He is also legal adviser to the Marin Foundation of Friends of Arequipa, and is a former secretary of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association.

He and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, and their three children live at 2200 Lucas Valley Road.

Sanford, running for election the first time on the Bolinas-Stinson Beach board, lives at 2000 Panoramic Highway, Stinson Beach, with his wife and two children.

Sanford, 38, is a native of Cambridge, Mass., and was graduated from St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., and received his law degree from the University of California in Berkeley. He is studying for a doctorate in sociology at Berkeley.

He is special counsel for the state's Joint Legislative Committee on Reform of the California Constitution.

San Anselmo candidate Harle, 51, is president of the Wade Thomas School Parents Club, and is a chemist with Chevron Research Co. in Richmond. He, is wife, Nancy, and two chi3dren live at 21 Echo Court.

His school board candidacy is his first try for elective office, although he applied for appointment to the San Anselmo Planning Commission last year.

Born in Port Arthur, Tex., Harle was educated in Texas and received his doctorate in chemistry at the University of California in Berekeley. He served as an electronics technician in the Navy during World War II.

Mrs. Marioni, 37, a first-time candidate for the Lagunitas board, lives in Forest Knolls with her husband, Thomas, who directs a San Francisco art museum and their three children.

She is a classroom volunteer as a parent. She has lived in the district two and one-half years.

She was born in New Jersey and was educated at Columbia University and Fairleigh-Dickinson University in New Jersey.

Mrs. Marioni said she is a candidate because she wants to see the existing wide choice of educational programs continue in the Lagunitas district, and because she's concerned "for the rights of children."

She said she wants open space preserved for the students, seeks a lower teacher-student ratio and would like to see more communication between youngsters in the various programs offered within the district.

History Texts Take Over The Divine Origin Duties

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The struggle over what California school children should be told about man's origin shifted today to history textbooks after the state Board of Education closed the door on attempts to put divine creation theories in science books.

The board narrowly rejected a motion Thursday requiring a "generalized" theory of creation to go along with references to Charles Darwin's theory of evolution in science,texts.

The action reaffirmed the board' earlier decisions to include only a "downgraded" evolution theory in science books and place creationist theories such as the biblical story of Adam and Eve in history texts.

However, Eugene Ragle of Roseville, a leader of the procreation forces, told the board to "gird yourself for a fight" in putting creationist theories in history books.

"It will likely never happen," Ragle declared after the motion to insert a reference to the theory of creation in science books, was rejected.

"Mainly because there is an overbearing disregard by certain vocal elements from requiring creation theories in any sort of textbook," he said.

Later, Ragle told newsmen he already had received letters from social science teachers who said they would organize to oppose putting creation theories in history books.

The board has wrestled for three years with the issue of whether roughly three million students in grades one through eight should be told the biblical story of Adam and Eve or the Darwinian theory in science books.

In December the board decided to use the Darwinian theory but to reduce it from purported fact to simple speculation and leave creationist theories for history books.

The motion Thursday, put before the board by Dr. John R. Ford of San Diego, another procreationist on the 10-member panel, was defeated on a 5-2 vote. It needed six votes to pass.

Ford's motion proposed requiring science books to "provide examples of unresolved questions in science as a means of stimulating inquiry, including a theory of creation." A similar motion was defeated last month by the board.

Member Clay N. Mitchell of South Laguna agreed, declaring the two theories about man's origin "should ride level as equals."

12 Are Rescued From Hotel Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Firemen rescued 12 persons trapped in the upper floors of a transient hotel during a four-alarm fire early today.

Aided by firemen, the occupants climbed down aerial ladders after fire swept through the third and fourth floors of the Casa Loma Hotel at Fell and Fillmore Streets.

At one point flames shot 40 feet into the air.

A strong odor of gasoline indicated the fire was set by an arsonist, Fire Chief Ernest Banchero said.

THE VOLVO 164E BRINGS YOU A SURPRISING NEW OPTION. THE SUN.

Volvo, long famous for its hard top, has finally cut a hole in it. So the sun is now available (for an extra charge) to those who worship it.

To do so, reach up and turn the sunroof's handle. It slides back on metal rails to let in over three square feet of sun. A wind deflector keeps the sunroof from turning into a wind tunnel. And when the sun goes down our sunroof goes up so that it closes flush with the roof. Surprisingly enough, it's the only factory-installed option you pay extra for. Come in and see the Volvo 164E. Preferably before sundown.

Sleepy Hollow Youth Will Get Eagle Pin

A 16-year-old Sleepy Hollow youth, who helped plan and install a sprinkling system for his church as part of his eagle scout project, will receive the highest rank in scouting at court of honor at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Sleepy Hollow Club House.

Craig Marquis, a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 50, has completed requirements for the eagle rank after five years as a boy scout, including service as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader and presently assistant senior patrol leader. He also is a member of Order of the Arrow.

Craig, president of his sophomore class last semester at Drake High School, is active in athletics and was named "most valuable lineman" on the freshman and junior varsity football teams. He also competes in water polo and track.

He helped plan and install a sprinkler system for the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church and planted 25 seedling trees on the church grounds.

His hobbies include swimming, camping, fishing, hunting, oil painting, hiking and in the past year, the building of fiberglass kayaks.

Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Marquis of 30 Van Hooten Court. With his father recently stricken with multiple sclerosis, Craig has had to assume many duties at home while completing his eagle scout requirements.

First Mine Phase Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four U.S. minesweepers have nearly completed the first step in clearing mines from North Vietnam's seven ports, the Pentagon has reported.

The ships are working to clear an anchorage area in the Gulf of Tonkin 40 miles southeast of Haipong to be used by the task force of ships that will sweep the mine fields, Pentagon spokesman Maj. Gen. Daniel James said Wednesday.

He said there have been no detonations and no mines sighted since the sweep began Tuesday.

Heart Fund Goal Set At $75,000

The 1973 Heart Fund Campaign opened this week in Marin County aiming for a goal of $75,000, according to Dr. Paul C. Ogden, president of the Marin County Heart Association.

The month-long campaign will continue through Heart Sunday, Feb. 25, with a door-to-door campaign by about 2,500 volunteers. They also will distribute literature on heart attack warning signs and emergency procedures.

A total of 25 per cent of the money collected in Marin will go toward national research projects, 12.5 per cent will be earmarked for statewide grants and fellowships and the balance will remain in Marin for professional and lay education projects and community services, Ogden said.

Homosexuals Are Labeled A Minority

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night added homosexuals to other "minorities" the commission seeks to protect under its draft "affirmative action" ordinance against hiring discrimination. (Another commission story, page 1.)

The addition was urged by three audience members who identified themselves as members of the gay community — and was adopted by a 4-2 vote after the main body of the ordinance was approved 6-0 by the commissioners.

The commission's two women members opposed the inclusion of "sexual orientation." Commissioner Judy Weden objected that "being black or a woman is a natural thing — you were born that way — but being homosexual isn't natural."

Commissioner Lily Whittle voiced no opinion, but voted with Mrs. Weden. Commissioner Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Richard Gayer and Larry Littlejohn of San Francisco and a third speaker who identified himself as Dorwin B. Jones of Mill Valley charged that most fair employment laws gave no protection to the homosexual or the disabled.

"Employment is the most basic human right; it should be based on ability to do a job rather than sexual orientation," Littlejohn declared. "We're tired of leading a double life," Jones added.

In addition to favoring a ban on hiring discrimination on a basis of "sexual orientation," the commission adopted an explanation that the phrase meant "choice of human adult sexual partners according to gender."

The affirmative action ordinance draft, adopted last night after months of preparation, will be presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for hearing and possible adoption.

Commissioners also recommended that the county ordinance creating the Human Rights Department be amended to add homosexual discrimination to the ills the office is supposed to fight.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

GRIEVANCES — Received a report from Robert L. Hollis, grievance counselor, that he had received 202 complaints during 1972, including 71 over housing and 65 over employment. He gave commissioners a summary of typical cases and their solutions.

POVERTY WAR — Voted 4-0, with commissioner Leland S. Bright abstaining, for a resolution supporting continuing funding of the Marin Community Action program, faced with dismantling because of President Richard M. Nixon's cutoff of the budget for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

BUDGET — Heard from Director Gerald J. Hood that he needed program priority direction from the commission so he can prepare a program budget for 1973-74, an innovation in Marin County government.

Tennis Agreement Meeting Scheduled

The San Anselmo School District board last night agreed to meet with the city council at 8 p.m. Tuesday in city hall to reach accord on joint funding of tennis courts at Red Hill School.

The city asked the meeting after the board rejected an agreement drafted on the matter. The board said the agreement unfairly required the school system to pay for repairs, pay the city half the value of the courts should either side withdraw from the agreement and mentioned unlisted out-of-pocket expenses as well as the $8,000 in matching funding.

A subsequent issue is whether or not the board will use the $8,000 for the courts or funnel the money into something else, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott, who said a majority of the board still wants to proceed.

Elliott said he expects a decision on the matter will be reached in city hall on Tuesday.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

SPECIAL EDUCATION — Saw a slide show on the district's special education program, established six years ago.

PERSONNEL — Employed supervisor Zoltan Kraynic for $2.40 an hour and secretary Bess Niemcewicz for $546 a month. The board accepted the resignation of secretary Valerie Rogers, who is moving.

CONSULTANT — Hired Daniel Pope at no more than $600 for consultant work on the employee annuity program.

MANAGEMENT — Declared eight staff posts to be management positions, as required by state law.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement whereby the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center will pay $400 a month for use of classrooms at Yolansdale School.

NO ACTION — Took no action on proposals regarding teacher assignment and transfer, reducing district staff, liability insurance for district employees or sabbatical leave for two teachers.

EARLY CHILDHOOD — Said the board will discuss early childhood education at the next regular meeting on Feb. 22.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Tuesday in city hall for a joint meeting with the city council.

Musical Thieves Are Broken Up

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (UPI) — It was, police said, truly a band of thieves.

Police annonced Wednesday they have broken up a gang of thieves who formed a samba band with musical instruments they stole.

Bandleader Osmar da Silva Marques, 31, police said, told them he formed the band to play during the annual carnival and allowed only thieves to join it because they could obtain instruments easier.

"It's a shame," police said Marques told them. "We were just starting to get tuned in."

Thief Hides In Bar, Loots Cash Boxes

A burglar who apparently hid inside the 881 Club until after closing time, stole $1,240 in cash from the bar at 881 Fourth Street yesterday, San Rafael police said today.

The thief pried open cash boxes in the bar and card room, then unlocked a rear door to escape, police said.

'High' Gunman Hits Novato Liquor Store

A man who "appeared to be high on something" robbed a Novato liquor store last night and escaped with about $165.

Frank R. Silva told police he was behind the counter of Warden's Liquor store, 878 Grant Avenue, at about 8:20 p.m. when a man entered the store and asked for a fifth of bourbon.

Silva said he put a bottle of liquor into a bag and went to the cash register. He turned, he said, and saw the man was holding a revolver.

"Sorry brother, I need it," the man told him. At the bandit's instruction, Silva put the cash from the register into the same bag as the bourbon.

He described the holdup man, who was sought today, as white, between 25 and 30 years old, about 6 feet, 1 inch tall with a medium-to-thin build. He said the man had medium length curly brown hair and three or four days' growth of beard. He also told police the bandit appeared to be drugged or drunk.

Scored A Scoop

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —The New Orleans Picayune, using Pony Express riders, was the first American newspaper to announce the Mexican War in 1846.

A Military Showdown In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Army troops occupied radio and television stations in the Uruguayan capital today and the Navy blockaded its port in a military showdown over the administration of President Juan Maria Bordaberry.

The Air Force sided with the Army in the revolt, but the Navy apparently remained loyal to Bordaberry.

There were no reports of shooting. Bordaberry, who had spent the night in his office, went to his home early this morning but returned to the presidential palace five hours later.

The Army and Air Force broadcast demands for the dismissal of Bordaberry's newly appointed defense minister, Gen. Antonio Francese, on the stations the Army occupied.

At the port, armed sailors commandeered automobiles and buses and barricaded themselves inside the area, and a naval statement said its commanders supported Bordaberry in the crisis.

The Navy's destroyer Artigas left its anchorage in the port at midmorning and dropped anchor in the bay, facing the city with its guns.

No Joy As Planners Up Sonoma Density

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission last night approved an amended master plan for the Sonoma State College area and satisfied few persons.

County Planning Director George Kovatch said the commission increased density around the campus from the proposed 10-acre minimum to a three-quarter-acre minimum, leaving both open space advocates and landowners unhappy.

Longtime property owners and land developers argued against the 10-acre minimum, saying it removed their right to develop and provided neither compensation nor tax relief.

The open space plan had been promoted by Sonoma State College officials and the Rohnert Park City Council. They argued the original plan would bring over-urbanization to the area unless density was decreased.

A Rohnert Park City Council resolution of intention to buy land or development rights to preserve open space was presented, but carried little weight. Kovatch said the commission doubted the financial ability of the city to buy land without considerable help from the county, state and federal governments.

Kovatch said the approved plan increased density as requested by landowners, but would not assure the right to develop since Rohnert Park has indicated it will not extend utility lines to serve the eastern edge of the city. Poor percolation would not allow individual septic tanks if land were subdivided into three-quarter acre parcels, he claimed.

"I don't think anyone was pleased with the plan — the open space people, land owners and not even the commissions," Lovatch said.

The amended plan will be forwarded to the board of supervisors for further consideration.

'Helper' Attacks Marin Woman

Sheriff's deputies said the woman was in a Mill Valley tavern about 9:30 p.m. when a man left the tavern, taking her purse. Another man, who had been playing pool with the thief earlier, told the woman he would help her find it.

She told officers she got into his car, and he drove her into the hills of Marin City, threatened her with a gun and raped her.

The woman did not report the incident until Wednesday, deputies said.

A Military Showdown In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Army troops occupied radio and television stations in the Uruguayan capital today and the Navy blockaded its port in a military showdown over the administration of President Juan Maria Bordaberry.

The Air Force sided with the Army in the revolt, but the Navy apparently remained loyal to Bordaberry.

There were no reports of shooting. Bordaberry, who had spent the night in his office, went to his home early this morning but returned to the presidential palace five hours later.

The Army and Air Force broadcast demands for the dismissal of Bordaberry's newly appointed defense minister, Gen. Antonio Francese, on the stations the Army occupied.

At the port, armed sailors commandeered automobiles and buses and barricaded themselves inside the area, and a naval statement said its commanders supported Bordaberry in the crisis.

The Navy's destroyer Artigas left its anchorage in the port at midmorning and dropped anchor in the bay, facing the city with its guns.

No Joy As Planners Up Sonoma Density

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission last night approved an amended master plan for the Sonoma State College area and satisfied few persons.

County Planning Director George Kovatch said the commission increased density around the campus from the proposed 10-acre minimum to a three-quarter-acre minimum, leaving both open space advocates and landowners unhappy.

Longtime property owners and land developers argued against the 10-acre minimum, saying it removed their right to develop and provided neither compensation nor tax relief.

The open space plan had been promoted by Sonoma State College officials and the Rohnert Park City Council. They argued the original plan would bring over-urbanization to the area unless density was decreased.

A Rohnert Park City Council resolution of intention to buy land or development rights to preserve open space was presented, but carried little weight. Kovatch said the commission doubted the financial ability of the city to buy land without considerable help from the county, state and federal governments.

Kovatch said the approved plan increased density as requested by landowners, but would not assure the right to develop since Rohnert Park has indicated it will not extend utility lines to serve the eastern edge of the city. Poor percolation would not allow individual septic tanks if land were subdivided into three-quarter acre parcels, he claimed.

"I don't think anyone was pleased with the plan — the open space people, land owners and not even the commissions," Lovatch said.

The amended plan will be forwarded to the board of supervisors for further consideration.

'Helper' Attacks Marin Woman

Sheriff's deputies said the woman was in a Mill Valley tavern about 9:30 p.m. when a man left the tavern, taking her purse. Another man, who had been playing pool with the thief earlier, told the woman he would help her find it.

She told officers she got into his car, and he drove her into the hills of Marin City, threatened her with a gun and raped her.

The woman did not report the incident until Wednesday, deputies said.

'High' Gunman Hits Novato Liquor Store

A man who "appeared to be high on something" robbed a Novato liquor store last night and escaped with about $165.

Frank R. Silva told police he was behind the counter of Warden's Liquor store, 878 Grant Avenue, at about 8:20 p.m. when a man entered the store and asked for a fifth of bourbon.

Silva said he put a bottle of liquor into a bag and went to the cash register. He turned, he said, and saw the man was holding a revolver.

"Sorry brother, I need it," the man told him. At the bandit's instruction, Silva put the cash from the register into the same bag as the bourbon.

He described the holdup man, who was sought today, as white, between 25 and 30 years old, about 6 feet, 1 inch tall with a medium-to-thin build. He said the man had medium length curly brown hair and three or four days' growth of beard. He also told police the bandit appeared to be drugged or drunk.

Musical Thieves Are Broken Up

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (UPI) — It was, police said, truly a band of thieves.

Police annonced Wednesday they have broken up a gang of thieves who formed a samba band with musical instruments they stole.

Bandleader Osmar da Silva Marques, 31, police said, told them he formed the band to play during the annual carnival and allowed only thieves to join it because they could obtain instruments easier.

"It's a shame," police said Marques told them. "We were just starting to get tuned in."

Thief Hides In Bar, Loots Cash Boxes

A burglar who apparently hid inside the 881 Club until after closing time, stole $1,240 in cash from the bar at 881 Fourth Street yesterday, San Rafael police said today.

The thief pried open cash boxes in the bar and card room, then unlocked a rear door to escape, police said.

Larkspur Students Score Well In Tests

The Larkspur School District board was told last night that first, second and third graders in its schools scored higher in state-mandated reading tests than the average Marin County student.

Supt. Milton S. Cohen credited the high scores to the district's practice of "slip sessions" when reading teachers instruct only half a class at a time and to students' intensive use of four libraries.

The Larkspur School District Board Also:

PRINCIPAL — Approved screening procedures for hiring a principal to replace Catherine W. Burch, principal of Neil Cummings School, who retires in June.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Appointed Robert Reynolds, Neil Cummins teacher, as principal of summer session, and set its dates as June 20 to July 20.

STUDY — Approved Craig Curley, seventh grade student at Henry C. Hall School, spending half a day a week at the Audubon Canyon Ranch to pursue his nature study work.

COMMUNITY — Decided to hold a series of "input meetings" at district schools so people can say what they do and don't like about the schools and make suggestions.

Stricter Zoning Approved For East Cotati Avenue

A plan for stricter zoning control on East Cotati Avenue was approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

The commission recommended that East Cotati Avenue from Arthur Street to the railroad tracks be zoned for restricted-commercial use. The designation would permit high density residential development and place strict requirements on commercial uses.

Requirements for businesses would include a 30-foot setback and rear lot parking so the street will not look like a gaudy commercial strip.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said other zones on the street would remain unchanged.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

GARAGE — Approved plans by Patrick Corrigan for an automotive repair garage at 7890 Redwood Highway.

GENERAL PLAN — Set a public hearing for Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. on proposed amendments to the city's general plan.

IMPROVEMENTS —Granted the request of Louise Santero and Lawrence Forno to waive requirements for curbs, gutters and sidewalks until other properties on Old Redwood Highway and Valaparaiso Avenue are developed.

Group Opposes Open Space Tie To General Plan

People for Parks and Open Space, a Marin environmental group, voted last night to oppose the linking of open space acquisition with the county general plan.

A spokesman for the group said that voters last year endorsed Measure A, which provided for a regional open space district, and that any steps to acquire open space should be undertaken through this body as a separate entity, not linked to the general plan.

The organization, however, does support the general plan in all other respects and urges all cities to adopt it as soon as possible, according to Karin Urquhart, secretary.

A general membership meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 22 in the planning commission chambers at the Marin County Civic Center.

County Is Asked To Pay Cat Care

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Kern County is being dunned for $124 by a rural woman for the feeding and care of a cat family.

Mrs. Jack Rummel of Lebec sent in the bill, explaining that she had been carrying for two adult cats and five kittens dumped in her yard last November.

She said she wrote the Humane Society and Animal Control Department in both Bakersfield and Taft, but got no response.

Her request for $2 per day for room and board for the felines was turned over to the county health department by the board of supervisors.

A Sweet Tune For Gamblers

The Gaming Control Board reported Thursday that the state's legal gamblers won $731.1 million during the year—an all-time high and an increase of 15.4 per cent over 1971.

Las Vexs casinos grossed $476.1 million, up 19.2 per cent, while Reno-North Lake Tahoe took in $138.3, up 4.1 per cent, and South Lake Tahoe resorts won $91.3 million, up 13.4 per cent.

Plea Denied To Set Up An Institute

A plan or an institute to accommodate 100 persons was rejected last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

The Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities had requested permission to convert old Sonoma State Collete classrooms on College View Drive into a training center.

Nick Zydycrn said the organization specializes in training people to survive and cope happily with the pressures of life. He said the center operates other branches and accepts wards of the state as well as private clients. He said the organization hoped to renovate the old building and to accommodate 100 students and teachers.

Secretary Sandra Nelson said the commission was not satisfied with explanations of activities at the institute and rejected the use permit applications.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Heard plans by Spivock Co. to rezone 129 acres on Golf Course Drive to permit apartments, single homes, a seven-acre school site and 3.5-acre park site. A hearing on the environmental impact of the plan was set for March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

MEDICAL — Approved plans by Maurice Fredericks for a medical office building on Arlen Drive.

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by Qantas Development Corp. for four-plexes on Country Club Drive.

HEARING — Set a hearing for Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. on plans by Morrison Homes to rezone 288 acres south of East Cotati Avenue to residential and commercial zones.

Gnoss Field Business Boost Eyed

With joint civilian-military use at Hamilton Air Force Base in limbo, Novato Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday looked toward boosting business at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

John A. Trumbull, chairman of the chamber's airport committee, raised the possibility of expanding small plane taxi service at Gnoss.

The service, provided at a customer's convenience, is "competitive" with the cost of San Francisco-Oakland helicopters, which fly from Waldo Point.

Directors asked the airport committee to investigate boosting air taxi service.

Directors also opposed creation of a Marin County consumer agency as proposed by the Marin County Human Rights Commission. They said its services would duplicate existing services.

Oregon Approves Equal Rights Law

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon became the 25th state to ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution Thursday.

The proposed 27th amendment, which needs ratification by 38 states, was approved 50 to 9 by the Oregon House of Representatives. It passed the state Senate 23 to 6 last week.

Sewer Plant Impact Hearing Rules Drawn

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night announced the format for a public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning expansion of the district's Smith Ranch Road sewage plant.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Marin County Board of Supervisors chambers in the Civic Center, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

Board members decided to begin the public hearing with a brief summary of the report, then consider letters from other agencies on the matter, letters from the public, verbal comments from the public and comments from board members, followed by a question-and-answer session, she said.

The report, prepared by district engineer J. Warren Nute, details proposed expansion of the plant to increase its capacity from the present 2.25 million gallons of waste treated each day to about three million. Copies of the report are available at the district plant on Smith Ranch Road and at the Marin County Library in the Civic Centers, she said.

The board last night asked citizens to read the report and submit written comments to district staff before the public hearing, she said.

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board also:

TRUCK — Authorized expenditure of $2,900 for a pickup truck.

RESPONSIBILITIES — Said board members uncertain of their functions may consult the state health and safety code section on sanitary districts to determine their powers and responsibilites.

REAPIRS — Told employees to go ahead with repairs to their cars for damage done by a detour on Smith Ranch Road created by Contempo Mobile Home Park. The board said it will file a claim against the firm to receive reimbursement for employees. Autos traveling the road have become covered with tar and need front wheel alignments, Mrs. O'Kane said.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the civic center.

The Gaming Control Board reported Thursday that the state's legal gamblers won $731.1 million during the year—an all-time high and an increase of 15.4 per cent over 1971.

Las Vexs casinos grossed $476.1 million, up 19.2 per cent, while Reno-North Lake Tahoe took in $138.3, up 4.1 per cent, and South Lake Tahoe resorts won $91.3 million, up 13.4 per cent.

Plea Denied To Set Up An Institute

A plan or an institute to accommodate 100 persons was rejected last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

The Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities had requested permission to convert old Sonoma State Collete classrooms on College View Drive into a training center.

Nick Zydycrn said the organization specializes in training people to survive and cope happily with the pressures of life. He said the center operates other branches and accepts wards of the state as well as private clients. He said the organization hoped to renovate the old building and to accommodate 100 students and teachers.

Secretary Sandra Nelson said the commission was not satisfied with explanations of activities at the institute and rejected the use permit applications.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Heard plans by Spivock Co. to rezone 129 acres on Golf Course Drive to permit apartments, single homes, a seven-acre school site and 3.5-acre park site. A hearing on the environmental impact of the plan was set for March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

MEDICAL — Approved plans by Maurice Fredericks for a medical office building on Arlen Drive.

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by Qantas Development Corp. for four-plexes on Country Club Drive.

HEARING — Set a hearing for Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. on plans by Morrison Homes to rezone 288 acres south of East Cotati Avenue to residential and commercial zones.

Gnoss Field Business Boost Eyed

With joint civilian-military use at Hamilton Air Force Base in limbo, Novato Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday looked toward boosting business at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

The service, provided at a customer's convenience, is "competitive" with the cost of San Francisco-Oakland helicopters, which fly from Waldo Point.

Directors asked the airport committee to investigate boosting air taxi service.

Directors also opposed creation of a Marin County consumer agency as proposed by the Marin County Human Rights Commission. They said its services would duplicate existing services.

Oregon Approves Equal Rights Law

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon became the 25th state to ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution Thursday.

The proposed 27th amendment, which needs ratification by 38 states, was approved 50 to 9 by the Oregon House of Representatives. It passed the state Senate 23 to 6 last week.

Sewer Plant Impact Hearing Rules Drawn

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night announced the format for a public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning expansion of the district's Smith Ranch Road sewage plant.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Marin County Board of Supervisors chambers in the Civic Center, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

Board members decided to begin the public hearing with a brief summary of the report, then consider letters from other agencies on the matter, letters from the public, verbal comments from the public and comments from board members, followed by a question-and-answer session, she said.

The report, prepared by district engineer J. Warren Nute, details proposed expansion of the plant to increase its capacity from the present 2.25 million gallons of waste treated each day to about three million. Copies of the report are available at the district plant on Smith Ranch Road and at the Marin County Library in the Civic Centers, she said.

The board last night asked citizens to read the report and submit written comments to district staff before the public hearing, she said.

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board also:

TRUCK — Authorized expenditure of $2,900 for a pickup truck.

RESPONSIBILITIES — Said board members uncertain of their functions may consult the state health and safety code section on sanitary districts to determine their powers and responsibilites.

REAPIRS — Told employees to go ahead with repairs to their cars for damage done by a detour on Smith Ranch Road created by Contempo Mobile Home Park. The board said it will file a claim against the firm to receive reimbursement for employees. Autos traveling the road have become covered with tar and need front wheel alignments, Mrs. O'Kane said.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the civic center.

Truce Broken, Cong Charges

PARIS (UPI) — Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, accused South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu today of deliberately violating the cease-fire accord and of massing armed forces to attack Communist positions.

"I must announce before world public opinion the violations committed by Thieu since the cease-fire was applied," she said.

"He is presently concentrating forces, airplanes and tanks to attack positions controlled by our Provisional Revolutionary Government.

"His forces are trying to encroach on territory we hold — and they have been opening fire on counter demonstrations celebrating peace."

Madame Binh made the charges while talking to newsmen after signing a convention with Ugandan Ambassador Paul Mubaka on mutual recognition of the Viet Cong and the Uganda Government.

Mme. Binh paused on the sidewalk outside the Ugandan Embassy close to the historic St. Philippe du Roule church in midtown Paris to challenge Thieu about claims he made in Saigon Thursday that the Viet Cong were delaying peace in Vietnam.

"From all one can see it is Thieu's intention not to apply the Paris agreement," she said.

She said the Viet Cong insisted on full compliance with the accord, including the holding of new elections. She criticized Thieu for saying that various difficulties may make it impossible to stage early elections.

"The United States must be held fully responsible for what is going on, since it is responsible for Thieu," she said.

She charged that the Thieu government failed to comply with the cease-fire accords which called for the release of political prisoners into the hands of opposing sides.

"The so-called liberation of prisoners by Saigon without control makes one wonder whether they are being really released. They may risk physical liquidation."

Earlier today, Viet Cong officials said they expected the forthcoming international conference on Vietnam to have "capital importance" in speeding up their political talks with Saigon.

Saigon's negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, said Monday that preparations for high-level talks might be wrapped up by next Wednesday.

But the low-level negotiations have continued while the Viet Cong demand total freedom of movement if the new talks take place in Saigon.

The political meetings, as called for by the peace agreement, will plan general elections for South Vietnam.

The 12-nation conference on Vietnam is scheduled for Feb. 26 in Paris.

Cold, Wet Kill Escaper

A 30-year-old convict died today in San Quentin Prison hospital, apparently from exposure to wet, below-freezing weather after he fled a Mendocino County conservation camp.

Patrick Timothy Martin, a lifer from Los Angeles County, was transferred to San Quentin yesterday from the Garberville Community Hospital because of better facilities at the prison hospital, Lee DeBord, prison information officer, said.

He said Martin had been diagnosed as suffering from pneumonia, frost bite on his feet, legs and hands and extreme exposure and shock.

The convict escaped from the Eel River Conservation Camp Jan. 31, DeBord said, and was found Monday, lying unconscious against a tree stump in mountains near the camp.

An autopsy was to be performed to determine if Martin died as a result of the five days in the out-of-doors.

The felon was sent to state prison in August 1969 after a conviction for first degree robbery. He was serving a five years-to-life sentence.

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved plans for enlarging the Penngrove Fire Station.

The board also granted a variance so construction at the rear of the building can extend to the rear lot line.

Bus Union Asks Power To Strike

Bus drivers of the Golden Gate Bridge District have been asked by their union to empower the union to call a strike if negotiations with the district reach an impasse.

Asked if a strike appeared likely, a district spokesman said "no impasse has been reached."

But William E. Riker, the district's industrial relations advisor, adknowledged to the Independent-Journal that an impasse could be reached late next week, when he is scheduled to meet with the union's negotiating committee.

District drivers rejected a new wage package last month. According to an agreement between the district and Amalgamated Transit Union, a strike would require 48 hours notice.

Riker reported that the union has sent ballots to the 245 drivers, asking them to indicate whether they are willing to give the negotiating committee the power to call a strike. The ballots are due next Wednesday, he said.

Riker said management and the union have been unable to agree on changes in working rules which the district said could cost some $200,000 a year.

Strikes by public employees are illegal under California law but, nevertheless, have occurred.

Conservancy Director Will Leave Post

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Huey D. Johnson, western regional director for the Nature Conservancy, has announced his decision to leave the organization.

Johnson, a resident of Mill Valley, said he will head a newly created urban land conservation organization, the Trust for Public Land.

Formerly a wildlife manager and marketing executive, Johnson has been western regional director for the past nine years.

He said the new organization hopes to find ways to satisfy the need for open space within cities. The trust plans to train professionals in urban land acquisition methods, he said.

Sketches Are Shown Of Greenbrae Plans

A developer who plans to build 270 condominiums on 27 acres next to Marin Catholic High School last night showed sketches of the project to the Greenbrae Property Owners Association annual meeting.

Association secretary Naida Walter reported Goodwin B. Steinberg of San Jose said he intends to preserve as much of the living marsh there as possible. Also planned is a 22-suite medical building.

Mrs. Walter said Russell M. Ridge, College of Marin biology teacher, spoke in opposition to the development, citing lack of preservation of mudflats for growth of water and land life.

Some 60 members decided the association should "take a position of interest" in the development, said Mrs. Walter, keeping "a close watch on its environmental impact and a final density decision."

The association will be represented when the project comes before the Marin County Planning Commission on Feb. 26.

The association switched the monthly board meeting to the second Thursday in each month, at 8 p.m. in the offices of Grubb and Ellis, 575 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae.

Other new officers are: Mildred Coy, corresponding secretary; Naida Wlter, recording secretary; Edward Littman, treasurer; Peter B. Brekhus, assistant treasurer; Samuel Serrano, maintenance and landscaping; Charles L. Gould, architectural review; Steward N. Boxer, membership.

The next board meeting will be on March 8.

Clausen Hits Impounding Of Housing Funds

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-Sixth District, has attacked the Nixon administration for impounding federal housing funds.

In a sharply worded letter to the President, Clausen said no American should be asked to postpone or forego his opportunity or dream of obtaining decent housing — so long as high-ranking government officials continue to have chauffered limousines.

"If anyone added up all the money spent on parties thrown by U.S. embassies abroad, on inaugurals every four years, on salaries we pay for high-sounding titles, on subsidies for not producing anything, and on cost overruns for military hardware, the results would make the nation's housing outlays pale by comparison," the congressman declared.

Candidate Declared Ineligible

One candidate who filed for election to the San Rafael Board of Education April 17 has been disqualified, City Clerk Marion A. Grady announced today.

William J. Campagna, 24, of 206 Marin Street, has been ruled ineligible because his petition of candidacy contained only three valid signatures, she said.

Seven of the 10 signatures on the petition were printed or represented citizens who are not registered voters, she said.

Campagna, an employee of the California Youth Authority who works in the offices of the state department of rehabilitation in San Francisco, was unavailable for comment today.

Campagna's disqualification leaves eight candidates in the race for two seats. The eight are Marie J. Sessi, Clarence W. Koop, Joan Lisetor, Lewis S. Pollock, Suzanne L. Beittel, Gale B. Fisher, student Jeff D. Yarbrough III and incumbent Paul K. McMullen.

Gas Tax Funds

State gas tax revenues can be used to repair local roads damaged by the Golden Gate Bridge district's bus fleet. The Independent-Journal erred Wednesday in saying revenues could only be used on main thoroughfares.

Cranston Asks Ban On Timber Exports

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — In an effort to bring down skyrocketing lumber prices, Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Robert Packwood, R-Ore., Thursday asked President Nixon to ban timber exports to Japan.

In a statement released from Cranston's San Francisco office, the senators noted the cost of a four-bedroom house has gone up $1,200 the past 13 months, including $700 in the past month alone, because of soaring lumber prices.

Cranston said large exports of logs to meet Japan's housing needs "have been a major factor in driving up prices here at home." He noted some 45 million log feet of American timber have been committed to Japan for the first three months of 1973, four times more than the amount purchased during a corresponding period last year.

"Japan is currently consuming more than one third of the total timber production of California and the Pacific Northwest and the pace of their buying is accelerating," said Cranston.

Cranston revealed the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs is investigating "runaway inflation in the lumber industry." Both Cranston and Packwood are members of that committee.

Packwood and Cranston have drafted a bill calling for an extended embargo on the export of U.S. timber. Hearings on the bill begin in April.

Meanwhile, the senators asked the President to impose a six-month embargo on logs and "such lesser period as may be necessary for lumber and plywood" in an effort "to calm the present crisis atmosphere."

They asked that the temporary export embargo apply to processed lumber as well as uncut logs "to avoid a possibly critical shortage in certain types of lumber already in low supply."

Meanwhile, the senators asked the President to impose a six-month embargo on logs and "such lesser period as may be necessary for lumber and plywood" in an effort "to calm the present crisis atmosphere."

They asked that the temporary export embargo apply to processed lumber as well as uncut logs "to avoid a possibly critical shortage in certain types of lumber already in low supply."

Marin Schools Rank High In State Tests

Marin County school districts generally ranked well toward the top statewide in the state testing program during the 1970-71 school year.

The complete district-by-district report, which has been well over a year in the process of tabulation and analysis, was presented to the State Board of Education yesterday afternoon in Sacramento by Wilson C. Riles, state superintendent of public instruction.

School districts were ranked statewide on a scale from 1 (lowest) to 99 (highest) on tests given in reading in first, second, third, sixth and 12th grades and in language, spelling and mathematics in sixth and 12th grades.

Ross School repeated its performance of the previous year by ranking 99 — the highest possible — in three categories. Ross pupils hit the top in second grade reading and in sixth grade reading and mathematics. And Ross was within the top 10 per cent of the state of all tests.

Bolinas-Stinson School District also made the top rating of 99 in third grade reading, as did tiny Laguna School District in sixth grade mathematics. The showing of these two districts on other tests was spotty, however.

Ranking in the top 10 per cent on all tests, besides Ross, were Dixie Elementary School District and San Rafael High School District.

San Rafael Elementary district was within the top 10 per cent in all except second grade readin. where it barely missed, ranking 89. Larkspur School District was in the top 10 per cent in all except first grade reading; and San Anselmo, in all except sixth grade language and mathematics.

Besides ranking 99 in third grade reading, Bolinas-Stinson made the top 10 per cent in sixth grade reading. Kentfield was in the "top 10" in all sixth grade tests; Mill Valley, in third grade reading and all sixth grade tests; Reed, in first, second and sixth grade reading.

Lagunitas ranked within the top 10 per cent in second grade reading; Lincoln, in sixth grade language; Nicasio, in sixth grade reading.

Performance in most Marin districts was very similar to that of the preceding year, but there were a few exceptions.

San Rafael High School District seniors of 1971 ranked ahead of those of the previous year by attaining the top 10 per cent in all tests. In 1970, the district placed in that category only in language.

Tamalpais High School District, which had placed in the top 10 per cent in language and mathematics in 1970, failed to make that ranking in any of the 1971 tests of its seniors.

Sausalito pupils showed notable gains in both first and sixth grades, although performance of the district as a whole remained below the state average.

Bolinas-Stinson presented a confusing picture. In 1969-70, its first graders ranked 42 in reading; its '70-'71 first grade ranked 1 — the very lowest. Second grade reading rank fell from 89 to 13, but that in third grade rose from 87 to 99.

At the sixth grade level, however, Bolinas-Stinson rose from 68 the previous year to 98 in reading, from 34 to 84 in language, from 42 to 49 in spelling, and from 18 to 64 in mathematics.

Rankings of such tiny districts as Laguna, Lincoln and Union are listed "interpret with caution" by the state because of the great effect of one or two especially bright or slow pupils on the class rank.

Here are the rankings of Marin County school districts on the tests, with 99 representing the highest possible, 50 the state median, and 1 the lowest possible:

Bolinas-Stinson — First grade reading 1; second grade reading 13; third grade reading 99; sixth grade: reading 98, language 84, spelling 49, mathematics 64.

Cinnabar Schools Rate High

Cinnabar School District made the best overall showing in the 1970-71 California state testing program of any of the nine elementary school districts in the Southern Sonoma area.

The district-by-district statewide report on the program, well over a year in preparation, was presented to the State Board of Education yesterday.

Two Rock School District was close behind Cinnabar in overall ranking. Lowest of the nine districts was Waugh, a small district with only 79 pupils in the '70-'71 school year.

Cinnabar pupils ranked in the top 10 per cent statewide in sixth grade language and spelling, as did Two Rock pupils in sixth grade language, spelling and mathematics. Dunham and Old Adobe school districts were both within the top 10 per cent in sixth grade mathematics.

Petaluma High School District ranked well above the state median in tests given seniors, but fell short of the top 10 per cent.

Here are the rankings of Southern Sonoma area school districts on the tests, with 99 representing the highest possible, 50 the state median, and 1 the lowest possible:

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

LeTonneau In East Corte Madera Qualifies As A Labor Of Love

They look for and appreciate good food, and generally are willing to pay for it at the going rates, but most American dining outers prefer to eat it at restaurants that are not too stylish.

These are the ones in the great "middle range." They are attractive places, but they avoid snob appeal, and by and large treat everyone with the same consideration. They vary in theme, decor and meal specialties, but one thing they do have in common — an ability to make their patrons comfortable.

This is quite a trick, considering that those same patrons also vary widely in temperament, disposition, tastes and other characteristics. A good restaurateur must be something of a psychologist to do it. Ever notice that the best restaurant men are usually quiet people?

Paradise Drive in East Corte Madera is still off the beaten path for some Marin residents and certainly a lot of out-of-towners. But that doesn't seem to make LeTonneau in the Paradise Shopping Center any less popular as one of the comfortable dineries.

It offers surprisingly good food (mostly continental dishes), for which you can credit chef and co-owner Bernard Epstein, who puts in more hard hours at his job every day than some men do in a week; and surprisingly good bar drinks, for which credit his partners Angelo Camilleri and John Napoli.

I guess you'd call them psychologists in their work. They may not boast any MDs or PhDs after their names, but they qualify in my book.

And the place is really nice inside with its accentuated wine decor. Like I say, when you see evidences of a labor of love, your chances of satisfaction are high.

VALENTINE'S DAY next Wednesday, Feb. 14, is the time set by Ethel Barrie for her famous anniversary South Sea show this year at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate. It marks completion of her ninth year in business here.

As before there will be music, entertainers and some fast moving hula dancers from Hawaii. The affair is always worth attending. The action takes place on a special platform in the dining area (visible from both rooms). First show will be at 7:45 p.m. and the second at 9:30. No advance reservations are taken, so you should arrange to be there in ample time before whatever show you select, as the tables fill rapidly.

DON'T FORGET the Mayflower Inn's grand opening of its new extension at 1533 Fourth Street, San Rafael tomorrow night. You'll be entertained by bagpipers, barber shop quartet, musical comedy and a Dixieland band, which have been programmed by owners Barry Oldham and Ron Patnaude.

ETHEL BARRIE
Celebrates ninth year

DURING ITS FIRST anniversary celebration through Feb. 24, the Fujiyama Restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile is offering a special combination dinner at $6.50. It features several of the house favorites through appetizers, soup, salad, sashimi, tempura and beef or chicken teriyaki.

THE MAIN DINING ROOM at New Joe's No. 2 at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera is now being opened every day for lunches. Look for continued improvements here in the fair weather season, including some attractive sights from the dining room windows across the Edgewater courtyard area.

AT GLEN ELLEN in Sonoma County's Valley of the Moon there are two comparatively new restaurants which should interest you.

One of these is called the Three Nations and is located in the Glen Ellen Hotel at 13756 Arnold Drive. It's operated by George and Hannelore Siebert, who offer middle European cuisine — sauerbraten, bratwurst, Hungarian and Szediner goulash with Bohemian dumplings and similar fare. Lunches and dinners are served daily except Mondays. There are European and California wines and imported and domestic beers, some on tap.

ANOTHER is the Water Wheel Restaurant, located in a 120-year-old building at 14301 Arnold Drive that originally was a flour mill and sawmill. Later it became a distillery and winery. The original grist wheel is still there and so is the still.

Monte and Linda Hooper operate it, closing on Mondays and Tuesdays. There are also some 20 or more shops of artisans and craftsmen in the same building — potters, silversmiths, metalworkers and leaded glass workers, along with antiques and a museum.

Lunches and dinner are served, with prawns, fish, several chicken and beef dishes and other entrees cooked in wines and special sauces. There is a wine bar where Sonoma and Napa Valley wines are served, along with wine cocktails. Banquet facilities are quite large.

EL VERANO INN which opened last fall in Sonoma is temporarily closed for the winter season, during which time some additional remodeling will be done. The inn is expected to reopen by Easter and will then serve lunches, dinners (continental food), picnics and outdoor barbecues. There are also hotel accommodations, a dance hall and a full year-round liquor license.

BERNARD CONNOLLY, who opened Bernard's in Boyes Springs, first as a restaurant, bar and lounge, has now discontinued serving meals. Bar and lounge are open seven days a week.

AND IN THE CITY of Sonoma, the Franciscan at 755 West Napa Street has closed again. This time it appears there will be no reopening — at least at that location, which is said to be destined for conversion into a large shopping center.

IF YOU DO DECIDE to dine up Sonoma way, remember that the Au Relais Restaurant is no longer on Arnold Drive. Harry Marsden moved it to 691 Broadway downtown last March.

He now has a bar and cocktail lounge and a full on sale general liquor license. Lunches are served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and dinners after that to 10 p.m. And he is now open on Mondays. His only day of closing is Tuesday.

THE LITTLE GERMANY RESTAURANT in Petaluma has moved from its location of several years at 148 Kentucky Street, which it occupied jointly with the Petaluma Delicatessen.

Restaurant owner Walter Jeltsch is remodeling at 122 Washington Street and should be ready for an opening before the end of the month. He plans hours from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfasts, lunches and dinners Wednesdays through Sundays. He will also offer take-out food and delicatessen specialties.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Willi Schluter at Petaluma Delicatessen is now serving lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. She has an a la carte menu with hot sausage and other German, home-cooked specialties.

THE CATTLEMAN'S RESTAURANT ORGANIZATION which has places in both Petaluma and Santa Rosa is building still another one on Highway 80 to Sacramento near the Dixon exit. It will be about the same size as the Petaluma restaurant and should be open in another six weeks or so.

PETER CLUTE of San Anselmo, at his Magic Cellar Saloon, 630 Clay Street, San Francisco, is featuring a program honoring Carter the Great, famous magician who made headlines at the turn of the century. It will start at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Highlights of the evening include a recreation of Carter's classic "Maiden of Nuremburg" by the Great Svengari and his company; a showing of the motion picture "Lion's Bride" made by Carter in India and Africa, and the Strutters with their music of the 30s and 40s and tap dancing.

Make advance reservations.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

LeTonneau In East Corte Madera Qualifies As A Labor Of Love

They look for and appreciate good food, and generally are willing to pay for it at the going rates, but most American dining outers prefer to eat it at restaurants that are not too stylish.

These are the ones in the great "middle range." They are attractive places, but they avoid snob appeal, and by and large treat everyone with the same consideration. They vary in theme, decor and meal specialties, but one thing they do have in common — an ability to make their patrons comfortable.

This is quite a trick, considering that those same patrons also vary widely in temperament, disposition, tastes and other characteristics. A good restaurateur must be something of a psychologist to do it. Ever notice that the best restaurant men are usually quiet people?

Paradise Drive in East Corte Madera is still off the beaten path for some Marin residents and certainly a lot of out-of-towners. But that doesn't seem to make LeTonneau in the Paradise Shopping Center any less popular as one of the comfortable dineries.

It offers surprisingly good food (mostly continental dishes), for which you can credit chef and co-owner Bernard Epstein, who puts in more hard hours at his job every day than some men do in a week; and surprisingly good bar drinks, for which credit his partners Angelo Camilleri and John Napoli.

I guess you'd call them psychologists in their work. They may not boast any MDs or PhDs after their names, but they qualify in my book.

And the place is really nice inside with its accentuated wine decor. Like I say, when you see evidences of a labor of love, your chances of satisfaction are high.

VALENTINE'S DAY next Wednesday, Feb. 14, is the time set by Ethel Barrie for her famous anniversary South Sea show this year at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate. It marks completion of her ninth year in business here.

ETHEL BARRIE
Celebrates ninth year

As before there will be music, entertainers and some fast moving hula dancers from Hawaii. The affair is always worth attending. The action takes place on a special platform in the dining area (visible from both rooms). First show will be at 7:45 p.m. and the second at 9:30. No advance reservations are taken, so you should arrange to be there in ample time before whatever show you select, as the tables fill rapidly.

DON'T FORGET the Mayflower Inn's grand opening of its new extension at 1533 Fourth Street, San Rafael tomorrow night. You'll be entertained by bagpipers, barber shop quartet, musical comedy and a Dixieland band, which have been programmed by owners Barry Oldham and Ron Patnaude.

DURING ITS FIRST anniversary celebration through Feb. 24, the Fujiyama Restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile is offering a special combination dinner at $6.50. It features several of the house favorites through appetizers, soup, salad, sashimi, tempura and beef or chicken teriyaki.

THE MAIN DINING ROOM at New Joe's No. 2 at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera is now being opened every day for lunches. Look for continued improvements here in the fair weather season, including some attractive sights from the dining room windows across the Edgewater courtyard area.

AT GLEN ELLEN in Sonoma County's Valley of the Moon there are two comparatively new restaurants which should interest you.

One of these is called the Three Nations and is located in the Glen Ellen Hotel at 13756 Arnold Drive. It's operated by George and Hannelore Siebert, who offer middle European cuisine — sauerbraten, bratwurst, Hungarian and Szediner goulash with Bohemian dumplings and similar fare. Lunches and dinners are served daily except Mondays. There are European and California wines and imported and domestic beers, some on tap.

ANOTHER is the Water Wheel Restaurant, located in a 120-year-old building at 14301 Arnold Drive that originally was a flour mill and sawmill. Later it became a distillery and winery. The original grist wheel is still there and so is the still.

Monte and Linda Hooper operate it, closing on Mondays and Tuesdays. There are also some 20 or more shops of artisans and craftsmen in the same building — potters, silversmiths, metalworkers and leaded glass workers, along with antiques and a museum.

Lunches and dinner are served, with prawns, fish, several chicken and beef dishes and other entrees cooked in wines and special sauces. There is a wine bar where Sonoma and Napa Valley wines are served, along with wine cocktails. Banquet facilities are quite large.

EL VERANO INN which opened last fall in Sonoma is temporarily closed for the winter season, during which time some additional remodeling will be done. The inn is expected to reopen by Easter and will then serve lunches, dinners (continental food), picnics and outdoor barbecues. There are also hotel accommodations, a dance hall and a full year-round liquor license.

BERNARD CONNOLLY, who opened Bernard's in Boyes Springs, first as a restaurant, bar and lounge, has now discontinued serving meals. Bar and lounge are open seven days a week.

AND IN THE CITY of Sonoma, the Franciscan at 755 West Napa Street has closed again. This time it appears there will be no reopening — at least at that location, which is said to be destined for conversion into a large shopping center.

IF YOU DO DECIDE to dine up Sonoma way, remember that the Au Relais Restaurant is no longer on Arnold Drive. Harry Marsden moved it to 691 Broadway downtown last March.

He now has a bar and cocktail lounge and a full on sale general liquor license. Lunches are served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and dinners after that to 10 p.m. And he is now open on Mondays. His only day of closing is Tuesday.

THE LITTLE GERMANY RESTAURANT in Petaluma has moved from its location of several years at 148 Kentucky Street, which it occupied jointly with the Petaluma Delicatessen.

Restaurant owner Walter Jeltsch is remodeling at 122 Washington Street and should be ready for an opening before the end of the month. He plans hours from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfasts, lunches and dinners Wednesdays through Sundays. He will also offer take-out food and delicatessen specialties.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Willi Schluter at Petaluma Delicatessen is now serving lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. She has an a la carte menu with hot sausage and other German, home-cooked specialties.

THE CATTLEMAN'S RESTAURANT ORGANIZATION which has places in both Petaluma and Santa Rosa is building still another one on Highway 80 to Sacramento near the Dixon exit. It will be about the same size as the Petaluma restaurant and should be open in another six weeks or so.

PETER CLUTE of San Anselmo, at his Magic Cellar Saloon, 630 Clay Street, San Francisco, is featuring a program honoring Carter the Great, famous magician who made headlines at the turn of the century. It will start at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Highlights of the evening include a recreation of Carter's classic "Maiden of Nuremburg" by the Great Svengari and his company; a showing of the motion picture "Lion's Bride" made by Carter in India and Africa, and the Strutters with their music of the 30s and 40s and tap dancing.

Make advance reservations.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

You Never Know What You Can Deduct; Major Booklet Available

The Internal Revenue Code allows individuals to take a deduction for ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred (1) for the production and collection of income; (2) for the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of income; or (3) in connection with the determination, collection or refund of any tax.

You never know what you can deduct until you try.

An elementary school teacher was allowed to deduct most of her traveling expenses while traveling in foreign countries on a sabbatical leave.

She visited schools and families, studied teaching techniques and took pictures that she later used in her school.

The trip, which she made alone, was undertaken primarily to improve and maintain her skills in her employment.

Many teachers do manage to deduct all or part of their foreign travel on Sabbatical leave. This is a question of fact in each case and also of bookeeping.

If the teacher thoroughly documents the reasons for taking the trip, what they did, what they spent and they do, in fact, have a tax deductible reason for making the trip, it is usually allowed.

The expense of commuting is not deductible.

If you haul tools, etc., in your car in commuting for your convenience, the cost is nondeductible. However, if you cannot store the tools, etc., at the place you work, or if you work at different locations every day, and also you would not have used your car except for hauling tools, etc., which are too bulky or heavy to be carried otherwise, the expense may be partly deductible.

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fisherman. Costs of these are deductible.

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession; membership dues in professional societies; union dues; small tools and supplies; employment agency fees.

Also physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job; moving expenses for a new job; traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer; entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer; school teachers' sabbatical leave expenses, (sometimes); use of your home in your work; attorneys' and accountants' fees on tax matters.

Also automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer; education expenses; these and many more items are deductible if you know the rules.

Get a copy of the Internal Revenue Service Publication "Your Federal Income Tax 1973 Edition", sold by the Internal Revenue Service for 75 cents. In it you will find answers to most of your questions.

Woman Miner Out Of Work

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (UPI) — A woman engineer who defied a myth that women underground are bad luck and caused a strike by miners tunneling through the Rocky Mountains says she is trading her hardhat for a backpack.

"I've been laid off as of March 1," said Janet Bonnema, 33. "I'm going to backpack through Africa. I went and got my cholera shot and I have to find a raincoat. I'm going to do nothing and everything."

Miss Bonnema said Wednesday she and four co-workers were laid off by the Colorado Highway Department because of President Nixon's budget cuts in federal highway construction funds.

JOLLY JACK'S ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Mr. W.M., Novato: Yes, Valentine's Day is important to women. To them it's a big deal. That's why I strongly suggest you bring your valentine to the Chez Pierre on February 14th — for cocktails, a gourmet dinner, and dancing.

Mr. S.L., Mill Valley: Take your mother-in-law to the bus station; and take your wife to the Chez Pierre.

Mr. T.T., San Rafael: It's your fault. But there may still be time. Try a bottle of fine wine and Chateaubriand for Two at the Chez Pierre. You rascal!

The Internal Revenue Code allows individuals to take a deduction for ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred (1) for the production and collection of income; (2) for the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of income; or (3) in connection with the determination, collection or refund of any tax.

You never know what you can deduct until you try.

An elementary school teacher was allowed to deduct most of her traveling expenses while traveling in foreign countries on a sabbatical leave.

She visited schools and families, studied teaching techniques and took pictures that she later used in her school.

The trip, which she made alone, was undertaken primarily to improve and maintain her skills in her employment.

Many teachers do manage to deduct all or part of their foreign travel on Sabbatical leave. This is a question of fact in each case and also of bookeeping.

If the teacher thoroughly documents the reasons for taking the trip, what they did, what they spent and they do, in fact, have a tax deductible reason for making the trip, it is usually allowed.

The expense of commuting is not deductible.

If you haul tools, etc., in your car in commuting for your convenience, the cost is nondeductible. However, if you cannot store the tools, etc., at the place you work, or if you work at different locations every day, and also you would not have used your car except for hauling tools, etc., which are too bulky or heavy to be carried otherwise, the expense may be partly deductible.

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fisherman. Costs of these are deductible.

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession; membership dues in professional societies; union dues; small tools and supplies; employment agency fees.

Also physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job; moving expenses for a new job; traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer; entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer; school teachers' sabbatical leave expenses, (sometimes); use of your home in your work; attorneys' and accountants' fees on tax matters.

Also automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer; education expenses; these and many more items are deductible if you know the rules.

Woman Miner Out Of Work

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (UPI) — A woman engineer who defied a myth that women underground are bad luck and caused a strike by miners tunneling through the Rocky Mountains says she is trading her hardhat for a backpack.

"I've been laid off as of March 1," said Janet Bonnema, 33. "I'm going to backpack through Africa. I went and got my cholera shot and I have to find a raincoat. I'm going to do nothing and everything."

Miss Bonnema said Wednesday she and four co-workers were laid off by the Colorado Highway Department because of President Nixon's budget cuts in federal highway construction funds.

Mr. W.M., Novato: Yes, Valentine's Day is important to women. To them it's a big deal. That's why I strongly suggest you bring your valentine to the Chez Pierre on February 14th — for cocktails, a gourmet dinner, and dancing.

Mr. S.L., Mill Valley: Take your mother-in-law to the bus station; and take your wife to the Chez Pierre.

Mr. T.T., San Rafael: It's your fault. But there may still be time. Try a bottle of fine wine and Chateaubriand for Two at the Chez Pierre. You rascal!

SERVING MARIN AND SONOMA SINCE 1884

DR. ANN Lodge, a clinician and child psychologist, director of the Infant Development Research Laboratory, conducts tests on three to five day old infants to spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information. The tests then follow up the children's first three years.

FOR RETARDED

Brain Study Offers Hope

By KAREN PETERSON

Based within the Sonoma State Hospital complex in Eldridge, the Brain Behavior Research Center is developing and redeveloping techniques that will not only benefit its recipients but society as a whole.

This team of researchers is concerned with retardation — and specifically, early detection and early intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants.

The five-year-old program, probably the only total program of its kind in the United States, uses a series of tests to detect retardation as well as to give researchers an idea of the potential presence of development and learning capacities of the child.

DR. MARILYN Marcus, director of developmental research at Sonoma State Hospital, said the program is unique and all-encompassing, adding that the work could have long range economic benefits for society as well as provide some important data in areas such as alcoholism and aging. But Dr. Marcus said that the federal government will soon end these possible future strides by cutting off funds.

The center, she said, is composed of "an interdisciplinary team of researchers, physicians, biochemists and physiological and developmental psychologists who apply their skills to the problem of development — and maldevelopment, if it occurs."

Dr. Marcus believes it is time to do something constructive for the mentally handicapped child. They are as different as normals are in their capacity to learn, she said, but there are no tests to assess these capacities. "We can't tell their strong or weak points.

"They can learn some things, but they have to be taught."

Tests for normal children are not designed for retardates, she continued. The idea is to assess on an individual basis and get a comparison of where they are weak and where they are strong, Dr. Marcus said.

"It would then be possible to upgrade the weak areas, and if this were not possible then we could compensate by teaching in the areas where they are already strong," she explained.

The tests at the center spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information, using the normal child as a comparison.

WORKING IN conjunction with Children's Hospital in San Francisco and Dr. Ann Lodge, director of Infant Development Research Laboratory at the hospital, tests are conducted on three to five-day-old infants and followed up for the first three years of the children's lives.

With the mother's permission and the doctor's recommendation, infants with high risk conditions such as possible central nervous system or brain damage, respiratory distress or those born prematurely are exposed to two tests: electrophysiological (brain waves) and developmental —behavioral.

The developmental test provides a profile of the baby's development in such areas as motivation, interest, exploration and motor development. With the aid of the tests, researchers can gauge the stage of development and thus provide a picture of the baby's strengths and weaknesses.

This picture gives researchers an idea of the presence of development, said Dr. Marcus, and a look at early patterns can also mean early intervention if certain serious delays are detected.

Testing the brain's capacity to work with information, appraising or assessing what comes in and how the child responds to such a stimulus, is done through the evoked potentials technique.

A refinement of the electroencephalagram, which can be used with infants, retardates or handicapped youngsters, the evoked response, said Dr. Lodge, shows a great deal of promise for "assessing visual and hearing defects as well as brain competence to assess incoming information."

USING A screen-shielded room to block any electricity other than the brain's from entering, electrodes are pasted to the active part of the brain (auditory on the vertex, visual on the back of the head) and monitored through a computer which isolates and codes the responses to given stimuli.

The stimuli consist of plain red flashes of light, checkered patterns or sounds. For a normal child, there is a different response to the various stimuli; in the retarded, there is considerably less.

The evoked responses also use a self-stimulation method in which the child can make a noise happen by pulling the trigger of a small popgun. The severely retarded child will not show recognition that he caused the stimulus.

The evoked responses can also be used to detect handicaps which are not necessarily related to retardation.

The use of light and sound can detect peripheral sensory loss and hearing and seeing loss, explained Dr. Lodge. This defect can be shown right at birth. Early detection of deafness in an infant can aid in future treatment.

The test can also detect problems in perception that are not related to vision. Diagnosed as having a form of blindness, some children are not able to perceive things appropriately and therefore unable to learn to read or respond to visual information in the environment, the doctor said.

Studying the effects of alcoholism is another factor being explored by the use of the evoked response. The tests are also currently being used in conjunction with pharmacological treatments on retardates. The data from the tests are used to monitor how problems can be alleviated with a changed chemical environment.

The research team also hopes to study the effects of various treatments on children with Downs Syndrome (mongolism).

The mongoloid child, who formerly died of chronic respiratory problems at an early age, has been saved through antibiotics and some are now showing signs of early senility in later life. Through studies, the researchers hope to put this to use in the study of the aging process in normal individuals.

FOR THE future, Dr. Marcus stressed the need for longitudinal research with these techniques that show development from childhood to adulthood.

Dr. Lodge is a clinician and a child psychologist by training, a combination, said Dr. Marcus, that is necessary to isolate and diagnose individuals. A large group is fine for identifying trends, she said, but it is necessary to continue research in order to develop individualized treatment.

To Dr. Marcus and Dr. Lodge, the meaningful task is getting the children out into the community and using environmental stimulation when they are young. Getting them out is not only humane, they said, but will alleviate the horrendous costs of institutionalization.

The new state attitude about returning retarded children to the community has allowed society to start to feel what it really means to be retarded, they said. Their only complaint with this new program is the lack of training centers and assessments of the children. "There have to be back-up facilities to help parents," said Dr. Marcus.

THE BRAIN Behavior Research Center at Sonoma State Hospital is directed by Dr. Marilyn Marcus, who explains that the team there is seeking early detection and intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants. She said that the work could also provide important data in areas such as alcoholism and the aging process.

Sausalitans Helping To Bring Big Sisters Program To Marin

By BETTY FROST

Through the efforts of two young women from Sausalito, the Big Sisters program is coming to Marin County.

Mrs. Thomas Terry and Diane Barber are the co-coordinators for the new Marin County Chapter and have been working for three months to get the groundwork done, which will result in the first matching of Big and Little Sisters this week.

Jan Terry has been active in the Bay Area Big Sisters organization for four years. Since her marriage to Thomas Terry, an attorney, a year ago, she has lived in Sausalito. She is secretary of the Bay Area Big Sisters, which with the activation of the Marin chapter, will have five chapters. The others are located in San Francisco, San Mateo County, Santa Clara County and the East Bay.

Diane Barber who has lived in Sausalito for three years, is a professional social service worker, and is the director of supervisors at Homewood Terrace in San Francisco, an agency providing care for disturbed children. Miss Barber is a member of the board of directors of the Bay Area Big Sisters and brings professional expertise to the formation of the Marin chapter.

The greatest need for the program in the county, as Mrs. Terry sees it, is to bring help to girls in families where the mother is bringing up her children alone. The mother must work to support the family, and has little time and little money for the extras that a Big Sister can provide.

Girls from the ages of 6 to 16 are eligible for the program. Originally the volunteers had to be over 21, however, the organization found many 18 and 19-year-old girls who were mature enough to be accepted.

"Because we want the relationship to go on forever, we put a lot of thought into matching the Big and Little Sisters," Mrs. Terry said.

Referrals for children who would benefit by the program are made by counselors, teachers, or the Marin County Department of Public Social Services. Sometimes requests come from within the family, with concerned grandparents a frequent source.

Big Sisters often hear of the program by word of mouth and they are from all walks of life. Big sisters now serving in the Bay Area include women executives, secretaries, nurses, stewardesses, pottery makers and women with homes and children of their own.

Since it is so important not to disappoint these children, who often live in a world of adults who don't keep promises, the Big Sister must make a commitment of one year, and must see her Little Sister at least twice a month.

A careful screening process is the first step in matching the girls and the adults. The person making the referral gets permission from both the parent and the child for an interview. The Big Sister representative interviews the child and the mother individually at the family residence. The interview is filed until a match with a Big Sister of similar interests is made.

THE POTENTIAL Big Sisters are also processed. First they attend an orientation meeting, then they are interviewed. The screening committee meets to match the Big and Little Sisters on the basis of mutual interests; compatability, location and the age of the child.

Once the match has been made, the Big Sister organization calls the child and the volunteer once every three months to see how they are progressing.

The Big Sisters also attend rap sessions where they share both their happy experiences and their problems. The Bay Area Big Sisters have a professional advisory board composed of physicians, attorneys, psychologists, social workers and business executives. The service of this board are available in case of emergencies.

The program is also covered by insurance, and a note signed by the mother permitting medical treatment if needed is carried by the Big Sister on all excursions.

"We hope to widen the girl's horizons and to offer her a wide experience," Jan Terry said, stressing that the outings for Little Sisters need not be expensive. Some activities, like sewing instruction, and hiking, can offer much to a child at little cost to the Big Sister. The fledgling Marin organization is hoping for help in compiling the recreational resources of the county, according to Mrs. Terry.

Besides the Big Sisters themselves, a supportive organization is also needed, with volunteers who would help with interviewing, typing, mailing, phone committee work, and donations to help defray costs of printing and mailing.

Mrs. Terry will discuss the Big Sister program with Women's Clubs, church groups or Parent-Teachers Associations by appointment.

The Marin Big Sister telephone number, too recent to be listed in the current telephone directory, is 332-0822.

DR. ANN Lodge, a clinician and child psychologist, director of the Infant Development Research Laboratory, conducts tests on three to five day old infants to spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information. The tests then follow up the children's first three years.

FOR RETARDED

Brain Study Offers Hope

By KAREN PETERSON

Based within the Sonoma State Hospital complex in Eldridge, the Brain Behavior Research Center is developing and redeveloping techniques that will not only benefit its recipients but society as a whole.

This team of researchers is concerned with retardation — and specifically, early detection and early intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants.

The five-year-old program, probably the only total program of its kind in the United States, uses a series of tests to detect retardation as well as to give researchers an idea of the potential presence of development and learning capacities of the child.

DR. MARILYN Marcus, director of developmental research at Sonoma State Hospital, said the program is unique and all-encompassing, adding that the work could have long range economic benefits for society as well as provide some important data in areas such as alcoholism and aging. But Dr. Marcus said that the federal government will soon end these possible future strides by cutting off funds.

The center, she said, is composed of "an interdisciplinary team of researchers, physicians, biochemists and physiological and developmental psychologists who apply their skills to the problem of development — and maldevelopment, if it occurs."

Dr. Marcus believes it is time to do something constructive for the mentally handicapped child. They are as different as normals are in their capacity to learn, she said, but there are no tests to assess these capacities. "We can't tell their strong or weak points.

"They can learn some things, but they have to be taught."

Tests for normal children are not designed for retardates, she continued. The idea is to assess on an individual basis and get a comparison of where they are weak and where they are strong, Dr. Marcus said.

"It would then be possible to upgrade the weak areas, and if this were not possible then we could compensate by teaching in the areas where they are already strong," she explained.

The tests at the center spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information, using the normal child as a comparison.

WORKING IN conjunction with Children's Hospital in San Francisco and Dr. Ann Lodge, director of Infant Development Research Laboratory at the hospital, tests are conducted on three to five-day-old infants and followed up for the first three years of the children's lives.

With the mother's permission and the doctor's recommendation, infants with high risk conditions such as possible central nervous system or brain damage, respiratory distress or those born prematurely are exposed to two tests: electrophysiological (brain waves) and developmental —behavioral.

The developmental test provides a profile of the baby's development in such areas as motivation, interest, exploration and motor development. With the aid of the tests, researchers can gauge the stage of development and thus provide a picture of the baby's strengths and weaknesses.

This picture gives researchers an idea of the presence of development, said Dr. Marcus, and a look at early patterns can also mean early intervention if certain serious delays are detected.

Testing the brain's capacity to work with information, appraising or assessing what comes in and how the child responds to such a stimulus, is done through the evoked potentials technique.

A refinement of the electroencephalagram, which can be used with infants, retardates or handicapped youngsters, the evoked response, said Dr. Lodge, shows a great deal of promise for "assessing visual and hearing defects as well as brain competence to assess incoming information."

USING A screen-shielded room to block any electricity other than the brain's from entering, electrodes are pasted to the active part of the brain (auditory on the vertex, visual on the back of the head) and monitored through a computer which isolates and codes the responses to given stimuli.

The stimuli consist of plain red flashes of light, checkered patterns or sounds. For a normal child, there is a different response to the various stimuli; in the retarded, there is considerably less.

The evoked responses also use a self-stimulation method in which the child can make a noise happen by pulling the trigger of a small popgun. The severely retarded child will not show recognition that he caused the stimulus.

The evoked responses can also be used to detect handicaps which are not necessarily related to retardation.

The use of light and sound can detect peripheral sensory loss and hearing and seeing loss, explained Dr. Lodge. This defect can be shown right at birth. Early detection of deafness in an infant can aid in future treatment.

The test can also detect problems in perception that are not related to vision. Diagnosed as having a form of blindness, some children are not able to perceive things appropriately and therefore unable to learn to read or respond to visual information in the environment, the doctor said.

Studying the effects of alcoholism is another factor being explored by the use of the evoked response. The tests are also currently being used in conjunction with pharmacological treatments on retardates. The data from the tests are used to monitor how problems can be alleviated with a changed chemical environment.

The research team also hopes to study the effects of various treatments on children with Downs Syndrome (mongolism).

The mongoloid child, who formerly died of chronic respiratory problems at an early age, has been saved through antibiotics and some are now showing signs of early senility in later life. Through studies, the researchers hope to put this to use in the study of the aging process in normal individuals.

FOR THE future, Dr. Marcus stressed the need for longitudinal research with these techniques that show development from childhood to adulthood.

Dr. Lodge is a clinician and a child psychologist by training, a combination, said Dr. Marcus, that is necessary to isolate and diagnose individuals. A large group is fine for identifying trends, she said, but it is necessary to continue research in order to develop individualized treatment.

To Dr. Marcus and Dr. Lodge, the meaningful task is getting the children out into the community and using environmental stimulation when they are young. Getting them out is not only humane, they said, but will alleviate the horrendous costs of institutionalization.

The new state attitude about returning retarded children to the community has allowed society to start to feel what it really means to be retarded, they said. Their only complaint with this new program is the lack of training centers and assessments of the children. "There have to be back-up facilities to help parents," said Dr. Marcus.

THE BRAIN Behavior Research Center at Sonoma State Hospital is directed by Dr. Marilyn Marcus, who explains that the team there is seeking early detection and intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants. She said that the work could also provide important data in areas such as alcoholism and the aging process.

Sausalitans Helping To Bring Big Sisters Program To Marin

By BETTY FROST

Through the efforts of two young women from Sausalito, the Big Sisters program is coming to Marin County.

Mrs. Thomas Terry and Diane Barber are the co-coordinators for the new Marin County Chapter and have been working for three months to get the groundwork done, which will result in the first matching of Big and Little Sisters this week.

Jan Terry has been active in the Bay Area Big Sisters organization for four years. Since her marriage to Thomas Terry, an attorney, a year ago, she has lived in Sausalito. She is secretary of the Bay Area Big Sisters, which with the activation of the Marin chapter, will have five chapters. The others are located in San Francisco, San Mateo County, Santa Clara County and the East Bay.

Diane Barber who has lived in Sausalito for three years, is a professional social service worker, and is the director of supervisors at Homewood Terrace in San Francisco, an agency providing care for disturbed children. Miss Barber is a member of the board of directors of the Bay Area Big Sisters and brings professional expertise to the formation of the Marin chapter.

The greatest need for the program in the county, as Mrs. Terry sees it, is to bring help to girls in families where the mother is bringing up her children alone. The mother must work to support the family, and has little time and little money for the extras that a Big Sister can provide.

Girls from the ages of 6 to 16 are eligible for the program. Originally the volunteers had to be over 21, however, the organization found many 18 and 19-year-old girls who were mature enough to be accepted.

"Because we want the relationship to go on forever, we put a lot of thought into matching the Big and Little Sisters," Mrs. Terry said.

Referrals for children who would benefit by the program are made by counselors, teachers, or the Marin County Department of Public Social Services. Sometimes requests come from within the family, with concerned grandparents a frequent source.

Big Sisters often hear of the program by word of mouth and they are from all walks of life. Big sisters now serving in the Bay Area include women executives, secretaries, nurses, stewardesses, pottery makers and women with homes and children of their own.

Since it is so important not to disappoint these children, who often live in a world of adults who don't keep promises, the Big Sister must make a commitment of one year, and must see her Little Sister at least twice a month.

A careful screening process is the first step in matching the girls and the adults. The person making the referral gets permission from both the parent and the child for an interview. The Big Sister representative interviews the child and the mother individually at the family residence. The interview is filed until a match with a Big Sister of similar interests is made.

THE POTENTIAL Big Sisters are also processed. First they attend an orientation meeting, then they are interviewed. The screening committee meets to match the Big and Little Sisters on the basis of mutual interests; compatability, location and the age of the child.

Once the match has been made, the Big Sister organization calls the child and the volunteer once every three months to see how they are progressing.

The Bay Area Big Sisters have a professional advisory board composed of physicians, attorneys, psychologists, social workers and business executives. The service of this board are available in case of emergencies.

The program is also covered by insurance, and a note signed by the mother permitting medical treatment if needed is carried by the Big Sister on all excursions.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

60-Year-Old Finds Problems Arise From Living Together

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 60-year-old woman living under false pretenses. Everyone thinks my "husband" and I were married a year ago. We pretended we were but never had the ceremony, because of Social Security payments. I need my "single" money.

I also need this man's companionship. All my legal papers, insurance, etc. are in my name, not his, and when I die, my children will surely know I have been as they say, "living in sin."

Also, we would like to take a short cruise, but how can we ever go through customs, living as man and wife, but with different names? — PAYING THE PENALTY

DEAR PTP:

You'd be surprised how many elders share your problem. The non-marriage isn't just a "youth trip" these days, but reasons change with age. As you say, you and your "husband" can't afford to get married. Also, many older persons avoid ineritance hassles by simply living together.

What to do? First, check with Social Security, pension funds, etc. and determine just how much you'll lose by getting married. It may be less than you think.

Next? Well, you're both over 21 and free to choose the way of life which suits you best. Few people, customs men included, will be overly concerned about your true marital status. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you get many letters from women who are pregnant and distressed, I would like to pass on to you some information:

"Birthright" is a pro-life organization designed to aid the woman who is faced with an unplanned pregnancy. It is non-profit, non-sectarian, and offers help to all women regardless of race, religion, social status or marital status. "Birthright" has offices in every state and in Canada, and can be found by calling Information.

Some of the services "Birthright" offers are medical aid, legal aid, shelter housing, maternity and baby clothes and, most of all, compassionate friendship. — A BIRTHRIGHT DIRECTOR

PERSONAL TO "FRIEND OF THE FAMILY:" You say, "Please print this; maybe it will bring a family back together." More likely it would make the split permanent! If gossipy criticism on a nationwide hook-up is "friendship," deliver me to my enemies! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My in-laws aren't bad — they just refuse to believe we're grown up. After five years of marriage, they're still constantly asking us, "Did you pay your bills?" "Did you fix the car?" Or they're telling us what we should do.

We can't move away, and I can't snap at them, but I dread going to their place because it always means arguments between my husband and me when we get home.

How do I get it across that we can manage our own lives? — WANTS TO LIKE THEM

DEAR WANTS:

Your husband could get the message across to his parents quite easily — if he isn't still locked into "family management." It's mostly a matter of ignoring the questions you consider your business until the elders realize it's none of theirs. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of the Independent-Journal.

Newsletter Carries Tips For Centers

Day Care Newsletter, a new monthly publication of information about children and child care, is available free to persons engaged in the child care business and licensed by the Department of Public Social Services.

In the February edition the newsletter gives advance notice about dates and times of applicable television programs and free and inexpensive lectures and educational opportunities available to area residents. Information about new day care centers, tax deductions and tips on child care are also included.

Copies of the newsletter are also available to the public through the county libraries.

The newsletter is published by the Marin County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee, a subcommittee of the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee.

The committee is composed of providers, agencies and consumers of day care, who are seeking to improve the quality of child care services in Marin County, according to the chairman, Genie Gabel of San Rafael. At its meeting Monday the committee endorsed the establishment of the Redwood High School Child Center as a step in that direction, she said.

The committee has public meetings on the second Monday of each month at Sir Francis Drake High School.

ON BEING BLACK

Fallen Rights Leader Was 'A Good Guy'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

In connection with Black History Week, Feb. 11-17, I asked youngsters in two separate age groups who Martin Luther King Jr. was. In the marvelous jargon of youth, their answers:

From the 5- and 6-year-olds:

Gillian: "He was this black man who said everybody could have a drink of water."

Timothy: The king of England."

Jerry: "He said all the people should be able to sit down on the bus or everybody had to get off."

Sidney: "He went out on a porch and someone was hiding and they shot him. He was a minister — that's like a priest."

Shawn: "My mother said he was a good guy."

Carrie: "He's a man who liked black people."

Merele: "The President?"

Jennifer: "The (name of the) school my cousin goes to."

Damian: "He walked a long way holding hands with lots of people because he wanted everybody to be friends."

FROM THE 10-year-old 5th graders:

Greg: "He was a heavy dude. He really helped black people. He made it so they could sit anywhere on the buses and eat at Woolworth's."

Carolyn: "He was a brave man. My mother said it took a lot of courage to do what he did. He didn't just talk, he was always right there. He died for what he believed in."

Larry: "He didn't believe in shooting and killing people like some of the militants. But then they killed him."

Page: "I saw a movie about him. It was terrible the way they treated the black people... knocking them down with water hoses and putting big dogs on them. I cried because it was a real movie, not just a pretend story on television."

Lisa: "He was a preacher. We don't go to church, but even my father listened to his record and said he was a great man."

Shannon: "He was against white people hating black people, but he was also against black people hating white people. He was against hate. People should never forget him."

David: "He was a black man who believed everyone should be treated just the same. I can't understand why anyone would kill a person for that."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 60-year-old woman living under false pretenses. Everyone thinks my "husband" and I were married a year ago. We pretended we were but never had the ceremony, because of Social Security payments. I need my "single" money.

I also need this man's companionship. All my legal papers, insurance, etc. are in my name, not his, and when I die, my children will surely know I have been as they say, "living in sin."

Also, we would like to take a short cruise, but how can we ever go through customs, living as man and wife, but with different names? — PAYING THE PENALTY

DEAR PTP:

You'd be surprised how many elders share your problem. The non-marriage isn't just a "youth trip" these days, but reasons change with age. As you say, you and your "husband" can't afford to get married. Also, many older persons avoid ineritance hassles by simply living together.

What to do? First, check with Social Security, pension funds, etc. and determine just how much you'll lose by getting married. It may be less than you think.

Next? Well, you're both over 21 and free to choose the way of life which suits you best. Few people, customs men included, will be overly concerned about your true marital status. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you get many letters from women who are pregnant and distressed, I would like to pass on to you some information:

"Birthright" is a pro-life organization designed to aid the woman who is faced with an unplanned pregnancy. It is non-profit, non-sectarian, and offers help to all women regardless of race, religion, social status or marital status. "Birthright" has offices in every state and in Canada, and can be found by calling Information.

Some of the services "Birthright" offers are medical aid, legal aid, shelter housing, maternity and baby clothes and, most of all, compassionate friendship. — A BIRTHRIGHT DIRECTOR

PERSONAL TO "FRIEND OF THE FAMILY:" You say, "Please print this; maybe it will bring a family back together." More likely it would make the split permanent! If gossipy criticism on a nationwide hookup is "friendship," deliver me to my enemies! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My in-laws aren't bad — they just refuse to believe we're grown up. After five years of marriage, they're still constantly asking us, "Did you pay your bills?" "Did you fix the car?" Or they're telling us what we should do.

We can't move away, and I can't snap at them, but I dread going to their place because it always means arguments between my husband and me when we get home.

How do I get it across that we can manage our own lives? — WANTS TO LIKE THEM

DEAR WANTS:

Your husband could get the message across to his parents quite easily — if he isn't still locked into "family management." It's mostly a matter of ignoring the questions you consider your business until the elders realize it's none of theirs. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of the Independent-Journal.

Newsletter Carries Tips For Centers

Day Care Newsletter, a new monthly publication of information about children and child care, is available free to persons engaged in the child care business and licensed by the Department of Public Social Services.

In the February edition the newsletter gives advance notice about dates and times of applicable television programs and free and inexpensive lectures and educational opportunities available to area residents. Information about new day care centers, tax deductions and tips on child care are also included.

Copies of the newsletter are also available to the public through the county libraries.

The newsletter is published by the Marin County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee, a subcommittee of the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee.

The committee is composed of providers, agencies and consumers of day care, who are seeking to improve the quality of child care services in Marin County, according to the chairman, Genie Gabel of San Rafael. At its meeting Monday the committee endorsed the establishment of the Redwood High School Child Center as a step in that direction, she said.

The committee has public meetings on the second Monday of each month at Sir Francis Drake High School.

ON BEING BLACK

Fallen Rights Leader Was 'A Good Guy'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

In connection with Black History Week, Feb. 11-17, I asked youngsters in two separate age groups who Martin Luther King Jr. was. In the marvelous jargon of youth, their answers:

From the 5- and 6-year-olds:

Gillian: "He was this black man who said everybody could have a drink of water."

Timothy: The king of England."

Jerry: "He said all the people should be able to sit down on the bus or everybody had to get off."

Sidney: "He went out on a porch and someone was hiding and they shot him. He was a minister — that's like a priest."

Shawn: "My mother said he was a good guy."

Bradley: "Was he a mountain climber? A black man who climbed to the top of a mountain?"

Cindy: "He got shot lots of times and pretty soon they killed him."

Merele: "The President?"

Jennifer: "The (name of the) school my cousin goes to."

Damian: "He walked a long way holding hands with lots of people because he wanted everybody to be friends."

FROM THE 10-year-old 5th graders:

Greg: "He was a heavy dude. He really helped black people. He made it so they could sit anywhere on the buses and eat at Woolworth's."

Carolyn: "He was a brave man. My mother said it took a lot of courage to do what he did. He didn't just talk, he was always right there. He died for what he believed in."

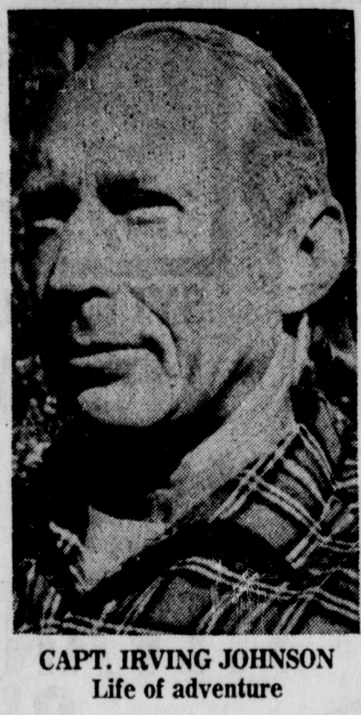
World Voyager To Talk Monday

By DAVID DIETZ

"Having adventure — that's my business and life," said Capt. Irving Johnson with a nod of satisfaction.



CAPT. IRVING JOHNSON
Life of adventure

In 49 years spent largely at sea, the blue-eyed, balding Johnson has led sort of a fasten-your-seat-belt existence — seven trips around the world; harrowing, storm-buffeted rides atop the mast of a square-rigger and, as his biography notes dramatically, "sleepless nights among headhunters and cannibals."

The cannibals didn't get Johnson, nor has the sea managed to tame him. And on Monday night at 8:15 o'clock, the doughty sailor with the large, expressive hands and the colorful stories will appear at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building to narrate his new, 90-minute color film, "Yankee Sails Inland," as part of the Explorama series.

It's the story of the trip of Johnson's 50-foot ketch, Yankee, from the Mediterranean to the Baltic via the inland waterways of France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Denmark. The voyage took three years.

Johnson, who has written eight books on his exploits and contributed to National Geographic Magazine, filmed visits to such cities as Paris, Seville and Arles. Along the way, the Yankee made anxious voyages through darkened inland tunnels, several of them five miles-long.

But the trip pales by comparison with earlier adventures — even before Johnson, now 67, took to the sea as a youth of 17.

Born on a farm in Hadley, Mass., Johnson, a former corn-raising champion, bored with landlubbers' home-spun tales yearned for a life of excitement.

"By God, I said to myself, I'm going to have something more to tell about than that," Johnson remembered yesterday on a visit to the Independent-Journal. And a life at sea, he had concluded, "did seem like more excitement than growing corn."

Johnson, after summers aboard yachts and winters working on steamers, began planning what his biography calls the "sailor's supreme voyage" — a trip around storm-lashed Cape Horn in a square-rigger. Preparing for harrowing moments aloft in the mast, he took to climbing utility poles around his farm and standing on his head on the cross members high above ground.

The bizarre practice sessions drew astonished stares from neighbors and impatient scoldings from his parents. "You should have seen the rumpus!" he exlaimed. "And my mother, oh boy . . ."

Johnson made the cape trip aboard the 345-foot Peking, bound from Hamburg to Chile with a cargo of nitrates. Books of similar journeys, according to Johnson, hadn't prepared him for the experience in he slightest way.

"Dana and Conrad didn't come close to telling me about THIS thing," Johnson said, peering intently as if placing himself back on the deck of the buffeted Peking. "The waves were 40 feet high. It was against the wind around the worst place on earth."

Nevertheless Johnson got aloft and took films of the fury — copies of which are in the British Museum. The movies are considered documentaries of the age of sail.

More was to come. While sailing Sir Thomas Lipton's America's Cup challenger, Shamrock V, back to England in the following year, Johnson and the crew ran flush into a hurricane.

"Boy, that's when I wished I had been home in bed," he said. "You could see the bow move separately from the stern . . . but the reason she survived was that her bottom was one whole piece of wood."

When he married his wife, Electa, in 1932, Johnson thought the excitement was over. But he found her just as perservering and adventurous. "Gee," he said, "what a gal!"

The pair has been sailing the world since, charting five new islands north of New Guinea, climbing unexplored volcanos in the Solomon Islands, avoiding island headhunters and diving for whales and sharks.

"The thing is," he said, rolling his ham-like fists for emphasis, "to make the elements push you around the world. As far as we're concerned, the world is getting bigger. We're learning about more places we've never been."

SAILOR ALOFT — Capt. Irving Johnson practiced for an early Cape Horn voyage in a square-rigger by climbing utility poles near his Massachusetts home and standing on his head. The seafarer's latest film, "Yankee Sails Inland," will be shown in Marin Monday.

"The Best of the Lion's Share" — tapes of performances by rock artists at the club over the last month — will be aired on KTIM FM at 8 p.m. Sunday.

An Excess Number Of City Councilmen

MANILA (UPI) —The Commission on Elections has voided the proclamation of two "excess" councilmen.

Authorities said Datu Guisarao Langoyo and Sultan Radia Tocalo had been proclaimed by the local board of canvassers as the seventh and eighth winning candidates for councilor in Bubong town in the 1971 elections,

Grand Jury Condemns County's Purchasing System In Report

Marin County's Grand Jury has condemned the county's decentralized purchasing system. The jury called it "inefficient and inferior to centralized procurement."

The interim report released yesterday by the jury's County Offices Committee recommended combining all purchasing to reap "an untold variety of benefits to the county and the taxpayer."

County Purchasing Agent Doug Edelen reacted favorably to the suggestion, but said he cannot comply without a second buyer on his staff.

However, Edelen doubted the value of two other jury suggestions: create a file on each purchase and turn over all petty cash accounts to the purchasing department.

It would be inconvenient for departments now running their own petty cash funds to trek to the purchasing department in the basement for cash, he said.

The change in filing practice isn't worth the money it would cost in extra clerical help, Edelen said.

However, the jury report said its suggestions would, among other things, insure better control of spending, increase savings from quantity buying and assure good business relationships.

Some county departments, notably fire and public works, now do much of their own buying, Edelen said.

The report was drafted by Alexander C. Thomas of Sleepy Hollow, a retired analyst and former Navy purchasing officer, according to committee-chairman Rachel P. Conner of Greenbrae.

"We approved it on the fact that Mr. Thomas has some skill in this area," she said. Thomas could not be reached for comment.

THEY'RE DOING FLIPS AND OTHER TRICKS

Who says today's children shun the more vigorous activities and sports? A nationwide surge of interest in tumbling and gymnastics believes such claims. And it's a trend that is being felt strongly in Marin. Indicative of this wave of interest in cartwheels and handsprings are the some 100 youngsters being taught tumbling by Gerrie Kreuzer — at the YWCA, the Lad and Lassie Nursery School, the Marin Learning Center, and at her own Coffrini Sisters Theater School which she operates with her sister Rosemary. Here intermediate student Lenore Coffrini performs a "flip-flop." You'll read about some of the kids who practice long hours on flips and saults in this week's Marin Magazine.

Circus Set Next Month At Auditorium

A circus will be sponsored March 8 and 9 for the benefit of charity by the Marin County Association of Firemen, the association announced yesterday.

Association Spokesman George Kellner said George Matthews Great London Circus will perform at 4 p.m. and at 8 p.m. both days at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at Civic Center. A percentage of the gate will go to the association which will subsequently determine its best charitable use, he said.

A telephone solicitation campaign to sell tickets will be conducted shortly by the association, according to Kellner.

He said precautions are being taken to prevent abuses such as arose in similar phone campaigns by other groups in the past, when those called were left with the impression that one law enforcement agency or another was pressuring for contributions. The teams of callers will be supervised by the association, he said.

Firemen Get Battalion Status

Tiburon's 25 volunteer firemen have been divided into three battalions, each of which will work together and train together, Chief Franklin J. Buscher reported.

Buscher said the reorganization, announced at Wednesday's meeting, will "improve communications in the department and make for a more efficient operation. It will also improve the department's training program because the chance to train together as part of a unit will be more effective, he said.

The chief said he intends to appoint three volunteer lieutenants for each battalion. The department's regular, paid firefighting force is already divided into three units.

Guilty Plea To Drunken Driving

A bus driver, who took a group of tourists on a wild ride to Muir Woods National Monument, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith said he would sentence 43-year-old Dale Blair Sholund of San Francisco on March 16.

They said he was drinking during a luncheon stop in Tiburon.

A driver for the Gray Line Inc. for six months before the incident, he was immediately fired, according to the company.

FAMILY

"North Country" — A documentary view of the modern pioneer on America's last frontier. A magnificent blending of scenery, rare wildlife and courageous people. Outdoor adventure to fascinate the whole family. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"What's Up Doc?" — A kooky girl chasing an eccentric young man and three men chasing their identical suitcases makes this whacky, slapstick farce a diverting comedy for all.

"World's Greatest Athlete" — Disney comedy about a desperate college athletic coach recruiting a many-muscled jungle boy to enter the NCAA track and field competition. Very entertaining.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Big Foot" — A group of weekend trailbike riders in the northwest are attacked by a huge creature and one of the girls is kidnapped. The efforts to rescue her is the main plot of this tale. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers celebrating New Year's Eve is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

"War Between Men and Women" — Comedy based on James Thurber's writings tells of a cartoonist who is anti-women, children and dogs who falls in love and marries a divorcee who has both. Sophisticated frankness with sex at the core of the film, it is still not salacious.

"Young Winston" — Stages in the development of the personal and public life of Churchill are detailed brilliantly bringing history to life in a tremendously exciting fashion.

BORDERLINE
(Most courses say Adults Only)

"Bless the Beasts and Children" — Six misfit boys at a summer camp band together when they are rejected by their peers. Their psychotic supervisor takes them to see penned up buffalo being shot by hunters. The boys release the animals and pay a tragic price for their deed. Foul language, sadism.

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind young man tries the experiment of living on his own for two months in a swinging neighborhood in San Francisco. His encounter with a zany "hippie" type girl and their sexual involvement really has his domineering mother making as many adjustments as he does.

"Fellini's Roma" — An impressionistic view of Rome through film director's eyes shows his fascination with decadence, past and present. Film tends to be over-long with a change midway from subtitles to poor English dubbing. Much cursing and nudity.

"Frenzy" — Hitchcock's latest drama follows the efforts of the law to uncover the person who raped and strangled two women in London. Very suspenseful. Nudity and cursing.

"Getaway" — Fast paced action film about an ex-con who masterminds a bank robbery but is surrounded by folks whose greed is matched only by their cold-bloodedness. Director depicts all violence in explicit detail. Women are presented as so much sexual currency. In this instance crime pays very well.

"Man in the Wilderness" — The survival of an injured fur trapper abandoned in the savage northwest territory in 1820 makes for grim drama. His struggle spurred by his desire for revenge is devastating to observe. Much violence.

"Slaughter House Five" — An unusual satiric production based on Kurt Vonnegert Jr.'s novel tells a story of a man who is not fixed in any time slot and moves easily from present to past to future. His family think he has become unhinged. Nudity and cursing.

ADULTS ONLY

"Across 110th St." — Exploitation film about some black hoods disguised as police who steal $300,000 from a Mafia ring and kill police doing it. The chase of the avenging mob and the police uses guns, cars, steam press, broken glass, castration and a 20-story plunge. Brutal excessive violence, language is raw.

"Avanti" — Title means "come in" in Italian. A young married man flies to Italy to pick up the body of his father killed in an auto accident. The daughter of the dead man's mistress is there for the same reason. The young people decide to continue the same arrangements their parents had made. Nudity, cursing.

"Deliverance" — Four men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense, very extreme, cursing.

"Oh! Calcutta" — Kenneth Tyman's erotic stage review is photographed during an actual performance, has poor visual quality by being shown on large screen.

"Superfly" — Life of a black drug pusher is shown in repulsive detail. Since everyone else in film is even more crooked than the seller of cocaine he is made to appear a "hero" and adds to film's gross immorality.

Circus Set Next Month At Auditorium

A circus will be sponsored March 8 and 9 for the benefit of charity by the Marin County Association of Firemen, the association announced yesterday.

Association Spokesman George Kellner said George Matthews Great London Circus will perform at 4 p.m. and at 8 p.m. both days at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at Civic Center. A percentage of the gate will go to the association which will subsequently determine its best charitable use, he said.

A telephone solicitation campaign to sell tickets will be conducted shortly by the association, according to Kellner.

He said precautions are being taken to prevent abuses such as arose in similar phone campaigns by other groups in the past, when those called were left with the impression that one law enforcement agency or another was pressuring for contributions. The teams of callers will be supervised by the association, he said.

Firemen Get Battalion Status

Tiburon's 25 volunteer firemen have been divided into three battalions, each of which will work together and train together, Chief Franklin J. Buscher reported.

Buscher said the reorganization, announced at Wednesday's meeting, will "improve communications in the department and make for a more efficient operation. It will also improve the department's training program because the chance to train together as part of a unit will be more effective, he said.

The chief said he intends to appoint three volunteer lieutenants for each battalion. The department's regular, paid firefighting force is already divided into three units.

Guilty Plea To Drunken Driving

A bus driver, who took a group of tourists on a wild ride to Muir Woods National Monument, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith said he would sentence 43-year-old Dale Blair Sholund of San Francisco on March 16.

They said he was drinking during a luncheon stop in Tiburon.

A driver for the Gray Line Inc. for six months before the incident, he was immediately fired, according to the company.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"North Country" — A documentary view of the modern pioneer on America's last frontier. A magnificent blending of scenery, rare wildlife and courageous people. Outdoor adventure to fascinate the whole family. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"What's Up Doc?" — A kooky girl chasing an eccentric young man and three men chasing their identical suitcases makes this whacky, slapstick farce a diverting comedy for all.

"World's Greatest Athlete" — Disney comedy about a desperate college athletic coach recruiting a many-muscled jungle boy to enter the NCAA track and field competition. Very entertaining.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Big Foot" — A group of weekend trailbike riders in the northwest are attacked by a huge creature and one of the girls is kidnapped. The efforts to rescue her is the main plot of this tale. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers celebrating New Year's Eve is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

"War Between Men and Women" — Comedy based on James Thurber's writings tells of a cartoonist who is anti-women, children and dogs who falls in love and marries a divorcee who has both. Sophisticated frankness with sex at the core of the film, it is still not salacious.

"Young Winston" — Stages in the development of the personal and public life of Churchill are detailed brilliantly bringing history to life in a tremendously exciting fashion.

BORDERLINE
(Most courses say Adults Only)

"Bless the Beasts and Children" — Six misfit boys at a summer camp band together when they are rejected by their peers. Their psychotic supervisor takes them to see penned up buffalo being shot by hunters. The boys release the animals and pay a tragic price for their deed. Foul language, sadism.

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind young man tries the experiment of living on his own for two months in a swinging neighborhood in San Francisco. His encounter with a zany "hippie" type girl and their sexual involvement really has his domineering mother making as many adjustments as he does.

"Fellini's Roma" — An impressionistic view of Rome through film director's eyes shows his fascination with decadence, past and present. Film tends to be over-long with a change midway from subtitles to poor English dubbing. Much cursing and nudity.

"Frenzy" — Hitchcock's latest drama follows the efforts of the law to uncover the person who raped and strangled two women in London. Very suspenseful. Nudity and cursing.

"Getaway" — Fast paced action film about an ex-con who masterminds a bank robbery but is surrounded by folks whose greed is matched only by their cold-bloodedness. Director depicts all violence in explicit detail. Women are presented as so much sexual currency. In this instance crime pays very well.

"Man in the Wilderness" — The survival of an injured fur trapper abandoned in the savage northwest territory in 1820 makes for grim drama. His struggle spurred by his desire for revenge is devastating to observe. Much violence.

"Slaughter House Five" — An unusual satiric production based on Kurt Vonnegert Jr.'s novel tells a story of a man who is not fixed in any time slot and moves easily from present to past to future. His family think he has become unhinged. Nudity and cursing.

ADULTS ONLY

"Across 110th St." — Exploitation film about some black hoods disguised as police who steal $300,000 from a Mafia ring and kill police doing it. The chase of the avenging mob and the police uses guns, cars, steam press, broken glass, castration and a 20-story plunge. Brutal excessive violence, language is raw.

"Avanti" — Title means "come in" in Italian. A young married man flies to Italy to pick up the body of his father killed in an auto accident. The daughter of the dead man's mistress is there for the same reason. The young people decide to continue the same arrangements their parents had made. Nudity, cursing.

"Deliverance" — Four men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense, very extreme, cursing.

"Oh! Calcutta" — Kenneth Tyman's erotic stage review is photographed during an actual performance, has poor visual quality by being shown on large screen.

"Superfly" — Life of a black drug pusher is shown in repulsive detail. Since everyone else in film is even more crooked than the seller of cocaine he is made to appear a "hero" and adds to film's gross immorality.

Amnesty Advocate Speaks Up

By RICKY ROSENTHAL
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — "My family has been touched by torture in Greece today. In 1967 when the government was overthrown, it was a shock to all of us. . . We found ourselves with a military dictatorship."

Dr. Amelia (Amy) Augustus confessed this in an interview. Since 1971 she has been executive director of the New York section of Amnesty International, a London-based organization which seeks the relief and release of "prisoners of conscience." These people have a history of nonviolence.

Amnesty International has proclaimed 1973 "Anti-Torture Year." Dr. Augustus's office in New York is part of a many-pronged program to bring to public notice what is termed the "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

"This is one of the grotesque aspects of our work," she said here at the United Nations. Her organization has consultative status at the U.N., and she is its representative. Amnesty bases its work on the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Since August 1972 when Amnesty submitted over 300 carefully sifted petitions on behalf of imprisoned Greeks to the Human Rights Division of the United Nations, Amy Augustus has felt afraid. She says that the present Greek government has slipped people into her press launching of the anti-torture campaign here, and they have recorded her remarks and photographed her. She says she has been the victim of hours of phone calls from a woman whom she terms "peculiar," but who might represent the views of the Greek government.

Dr. Augustus is not given to fear easily. She just happens to be a friend of actress Melina Mercouri, a prominent Greek in exile.

Miss Mercouri says: "Amelia is 50 per cent of my work." Miss Mercouri has a history of fierce opposition to the current Greek government. Actress Mercouri was appearing on Broadway in 1967 when the military coup took place. Choosing not to go home, the Greek actress describes her exile as "a very special condition."

GIVES HER VIEWS — Dr. Amelia Augustus, whose base is in New York, discusses the objectives of her organization — Amnesty International — which seeks the release of "prisoners of conscience." She is working on what she believes is an "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

An 18-page list of writers and journalists experiencing various kinds of repression has just crossed Dr. Augustus's desk. This will be highlighted during the year, too. On it, for example, is an Indonesian woman who wrote for a pro-Sukarno newspaper (Sukarno was a former president of Indonesia.) She has been a prisoner in Jakarta since 1965. Prof. Telford Taylor of Columbia Law School now is seeking to go to that country in behalf of Amnesty. This is one method of intervention.

Mrs. Annasoltan Kekilova, a poet in the Soviet Union, is another example. She has been incarcerated in a psychiatric hospital for writing letters of complaint about conditions in a region of the Soviet Union. Amnesty is trying now to mobilize the World Congress of Psychiatrists. They would like a statement condemning such methods of punishing dissent.

Mrs. Sevgo Soysal, wife of a Turkish novelist, is imprisoned allegedly for using harsh words against the armed forces. Amnesty sent observers to her trial in Turkey. All these are "prisoners of conscience."

Active cases in Amnesty files range the world from Bangladesh to Brazil. There are cases in Malawi, Cuba, and Czechoslovakia, which they do not care to publicize.

Dr. Augustus, who once drove and tooled up Jaguars, has easily dispensed with such past opulence. The product of a well-to-do Philadelphia family ("I always go home to vote"), she labels herself "a fourth-grade failure, I flunked out." Attending a progressive school where she "sang, danced, and told jokes, but could not read or write, she was forced to admit her illiteracy to her mother, who switched her school immediately. As the new school taught French from Grade 1, "I became a double catastrophe," she recalled. "I was behind in two languages."

Overcompensation became the hallmark of young Amelia Augustus. Before graduating, she twice failed at the University of Delaware. She subsequently completed two masters' degrees, and a doctorate in international education. Her thesis was on how nations become modern.

Later she became a Fulbright scholar in Greece where she developed English-language curricula.

Her vocabulary today has turned away from teaching toward the guiding of an international citizens' lobby, which is what Amnesty International is.

Amnesty groups worldwide adopt prisoners. They use such old-fashioned methods as the protest letter. They are served by former diplomats and lawyers, who pressure behind the scenes. They write to prisoners and their families.

"Our aim in writing to prisoners," says Dr. Augustus, "is to make someone feel that an individual's action is not only important but crucial, so they don't want to give up."

Enters Plea To Felony Charge

A Stinson Beach resident, caught entering San Quentin Prison with a cube of hashish, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to felony possession of the substance.

Dyan Lee Harries, 26, of Stinson Beach, was ordered to return to court Feb. 20 for a preliminary hearing.

She was arrested Saturday after a search of her purse turned up the contraband. She was at the prison to visit an inmate, according to prison officials.

Amnesty Advocate Speaks Up

By RICKY ROSENTHAL
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — "My family has been touched by torture in Greece today. In 1967 when the government was overthrown, it was a shock to all of us. . . We found ourselves with a military dictatorship."

Dr. Amelia (Amy) Augustus confessed this in an interview. Since 1971 she has been executive director of the New York section of Amnesty International, a London-based organization which seeks the relief and release of "prisoners of conscience." These people have a history of nonviolence.

Amnesty International has proclaimed 1973 "Anti-Torture Year." Dr. Augustus's office in New York is part of a many-pronged program to bring to public notice what is termed the "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

"This is one of the grotesque aspects of our work," she said here at the United Nations. Her organization has consultative status at the U.N., and she is its representative. Amnesty bases its work on the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Since August 1972 when Amnesty submitted over 300 carefully sifted petitions on behalf of imprisoned Greeks to the Human Rights Division of the United Nations, Amy Augustus has felt afraid. She says that the present Greek government has slipped people into her press launching of the anti-torture campaign here, and they have recorded her remarks and photographed her. She says she has been the victim of hours of phone calls from a woman whom she terms "peculiar," but who might represent the views of the Greek government.

Dr. Augustus is not given to fear easily. She just happens to be a friend of actress Melina Mercouri, a prominent Greek in exile.

Miss Mercouri says: "Amelia is 50 per cent of my work." Miss Mercouri has a history of fierce opposition to the current Greek government. Actress Mercouri was appearing on Broadway in 1967 when the military coup took place.

GIVES HER VIEWS — Dr. Amelia Augustus, whose base is in New York, discusses the objectives of her organization — Amnesty International — which seeks the release of "prisoners of conscience." She is working on what she believes is an "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

An 18-page list of writers and journalists experiencing various kinds of repression has just crossed Dr. Augustus's desk. This will be highlighted during the year, too. On it, for example, is an Indonesian woman who wrote for a pro-Sukarno newspaper (Sukarno was a former president of Indonesia.) She has been a prisoner in Jakarta since 1965. Prof. Telford Taylor of Columbia Law School now is seeking to go to that country in behalf of Amnesty. This is one method of intervention.

Mrs. Annasoltan Kekilova, a poet in the Soviet Union, is another example. She has been incarcerated in a psychiatric hospital for writing letters of complaint about conditions in a region of the Soviet Union. Amnesty is trying now to mobilize the World Congress of Psychiatrists. They would like a statement condemning such methods of punishing dissent.

Mrs. Sevgo Soysal, wife of a Turkish novelist, is imprisoned allegedly for using harsh words against the armed forces. Amnesty sent observers to her trial in Turkey. All these are "prisoners of conscience."

Active cases in Amnesty files range the world from Bangladesh to Brazil. There are cases in Malawi, Cuba, and Czéchoslovakia, which they do not care to publicize.

Dr. Augustus, who once drove and tooled up Jaguars, has easily dispensed with such past opulence. The product of a well-to-do Philadelphia family ("I always go home to vote"), she labels herself "a fourth-grade failure, I flunked out." Attending a progressive school where she "sang, danced, and told jokes, but could not read or write, she was forced to admit her illiteracy to her mother, who switched her school immediately. As the new school taught French from Grade 1, "I became a double catastrophe," she recalled. "I was behind in two languages."

Overcompensation became the hallmark of young Amelia Augustus. Before graduating, she twice failed at the University of Delaware. She subsequently completed two masters' degrees, and a doctorate in international education. Her thesis was on how nations become modern.

Later she became a Fulbright scholar in Greece where she developed English-language curricula.

Her vocabulary today has turned away from teaching toward the guiding of an international citizens' lobby, which is what Amnesty International is.

Amnesty groups worldwide adopt prisoners. They use such old-fashioned methods as the protest letter. They are served by former diplomats and lawyers, who pressure behind the scenes. They write to prisoners and their families.

"Our aim in writing to prisoners," says Dr. Augustus, "is to make someone feel that an individual's action is not only important but crucial, so they don't want to give up."

Enters Plea To Felony Charge

A Stinson Beach resident, caught entering San Quentin Prison with a cube of hashish, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to felony possession of the substance.

Dyan Lee Harries, 26, of Stinson Beach, was ordered to return to court Feb. 20 for a preliminary hearing.

She was arrested Saturday after a search of her purse turned up the contraband. She was at the prison to visit an inmate, according to prison officials.

Ross Council Spends Some Federal Money

The Ross Town Council last night authorized the immediate spending of $8,900 of its federal revenue sharing money on projects ranging from a town recreation program to a fire department pickup truck.

On a 5-0 vote, the council ordered spending the money from the $9,847.87 already received. Councilman John H. Chase, who drew up the spending priority list, said the town expects to receive about $2,000 more.

The council budgeted $1,500 for its new parks and recreation program, $3,000 for a completely new fire alarm system for the whole town, $1,000 for a new radio receiver and microphone for the Ross police chief, $1,000 for a new radar unit and $2,400 towards a new fire department pickup truck. Another $1,500 may eventually be spent on new furniture and equipment for a planned town hall expansion project.

Earlier in the meeting, Robert A. Braghetta, chairman of the Ross Recreation Advisory Board, reported that his group would appoint a new director next week to launch the town recreation program. The post will be part time and pay a $5,000 annual salary.

The Ross Town Council Also:

POUND FEES — Introduced an ordinance to raise fees for impounded dogs to conform with county fees.

PERSONNEL — Introduced a personnel ordinance to give the town's three department heads (fire, police and streets) the power to suspend or dismiss employees and give aggrieved employees the right to appeal to the council. Hiring remains subject to council approval.

PARK HAZARDS — Introduced an ordinance forbidding rocket and balloon launching and flying of model airplanes in parks. The ordinance would also outlaw golf, archery and hardball except in designated areas.

HILLSIDE — Approved an application by Ludvik Limberger to build a house between Chestnut and Bridge roads on a slope exceeding 30 per cent.

SUBDIVISION — Voted to allow Mrs. F. M. Burtchaell to divide her property at 111 Redwood Drive into two parcels.

BOULEVARD — Voted unanimously to include Sir Francis Drake Boulevard the program of federal aid for urban road systems. The council had previously refused to do so but reversed itself so that nearby cities will have no trouble getting federal funds for road improvement. The council added the provision to its vote that the town keep complete control over roads in its area.

OFFICE PLANS — Authorized the department of public works to accept bids until March 6 for the building of additions to two offices in the town hall. Bids will be opened March 6 and awarded at the council's March 8 meeting.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Agreed to continue membership on the Marin City-County Planning Council.

Report Contains Many Pictures Of Shareowners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 1972 BankAmerica Corp. annual report contains more than the usual facts and figures. It has an eight-page photo album of some of its shareowners.

In all, 175,678 investors own Bank America's 68,953,305 outstanding shares. The annual report said that except for BankAmerica's family estate plan, nobody—not even an institutional investor — owns more than three-fourths of one per cent of the total outstanding shares.

The majority of the shareholders—69,571 —are women. The men total 42,440 and 49,388 are recorded as joint accounts.

A corporation spokesman said it is believed this marks the first time a major U.S. corporation has given so much attention to the individual share-owner in an annual report.

Taxpayers Slow To File Returns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's income tax payers haven't been in any hurry to file their returns this year although many are due for refunds, the state Franchise Tax Board reports.

A spokesman for the board said Thursday only about seven per cent of the 8.5 million taxpayers have filed returns.

He said the board had expected to receive a 25 per cent response by mid-February since 5.4 million persons are figured to receive refunds under the new payroll withholding system.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George C. Scott and Barbra Streisand were named the favorite male and female movie stars of 1972 yesterday in a poll by Boxoffice Magazine, the film trade publication, of movie critics and theater owners.

Runnersup for the female favorite, in order, were Goldie Hawn, Liza Minelli, Ali MacGraw, Raquel Welch and Jane Fonda. Male runnersup were Clint Eastwood, Paul Newman, Marlon Brando, Steve McQueen, John Wayne and Gene Hackman.

Council Takes First Look At New Ross General Plan

By BECKY LARSEN

The Ross Town Council got its first glimpse last night of the town's new general plan which so far suggests no major change in the future face of Ross.

James M. Campbell, a Palo Alto based planning consultant, presented a progress report and map of three plan elements: Land use, conservation and open space.

He told the council that since Ross is already substantially developed he viewed his job as "protecting what you have rather than providing a guide for future massive development."

Most land uses would remain the same, Campbell said, including such classifications as low, medium and high density residential areas and commercial zones.

However, he did suggest that the town set up a new "limited development" area in the steep forested hills on the town's western boundary which runs from Kentfield to San Anselmo. He said this area might be rezoned to require five acres instead of one per home and said the town might enforce more building restrictions there.

"It's a rough forested area with difficult access," he said. "The slope makes it very vulnerable to damage by grading and cutting. So any development there would have to clear many hurdles nd should be allowed only if these hazards could be overcome."

He also suggested that the town set up two new public service zoning classifications. One would cover publicly owned buildings such as the town hall and public schools. The other would cover privately owned buildings which had quasi-public uses, such as churches and private schools.

Campbell said that to comply with the state requirement for an open space element in the plan he was designating no new town green space but was simply relabeling land already open. These lands include the town common area, Natalie Coffin Greene Park and private green spots such as country clubs and forest preserves.

To provide a required conservation element, he said he was labeling the floodway channel of Corte Madera Creek as an area to be protected from future obstruction.

After the report, Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the council would probably hold a public hearing on the plan in May and then adopt it in June. Campbell still has several other state required elements to add to the plan including: Seismic safety, safety, housing, circulation, scenic and noise elements.

Allen said the council would also try to hold some Saturday public work sessions on the plan in coming months.

Campbell said the town might consider adding Kent Woodlands and Kentfield to the plan, since they lie in the Ross sphere of influence.

The state requires adoption of the plan by June 30.

Breakfast Meet

The Novato City Council and the Novato Sanitary District board will hold a breakfast meeting at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday at Sambo's restaurant, Novato, to discuss coordination between the city and the district.

Redwood Grove To Be Preserve

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 160-acre Owen R. Cheatham Redwood Grove in Humboldt County will be established as a teaching and research preserve.

The move is contained in agreements reached by the Nature Conservancy, University of California and California State University, Humboldt, it was announced Thursday.

The Grove will be leased to UC on a five-year renewable basis for inclusion in its natural land and water reserves system. It will be managed by UC and the state university.

Georgia Pacific Corp. gave the grove to the Nature Conservancy in 1969. It is a pristine stand of 300-foot trees ranging in age from 500 to 1,000 years.

By BECKY LARSEN

The Ross Town Council got its first glimpse last night of the town's new general plan which so far suggests no major change in the future face of Ross.

James M. Campbell, a Palo Alto based planning consultant, presented a progress report and map of three plan elements: Land use, conservation and open space.

He told the council that since Ross is already substantially developed he viewed his job as "protecting what you have rather than providing a guide for future massive development."

Most land uses would remain the same, Campbell said, including such classifications as low, medium and high density residential areas and commercial zones.

However, he did suggest that the town set up a new "limited development" area in the steep forested hills on the town's western boundary which runs from Kentfield to San Anselmo. He said this area might be rezoned to require five acres instead of one per home and said the town might enforce more building restrictions there.

"It's a rough forested area with difficult access," he said. "The slope makes it very vulnerable to damage by grading and cutting. So any development there would have to clear many hurdles nd should be allowed only if these hazards could be overcome."

He also suggested that the town set up two new public service zoning classifications. One would cover publicly owned buildings such as the town hall and public schools. The other would cover privately owned buildings which had quasi-public uses, such as churches and private schools.

Campbell said that to comply with the state requirement for an open space element in the plan he was designating no new town green space but was simply relabeling land already open. These lands include the town common area, Natalie Coffin Greene Park and private green spots such as country clubs and forest preserves.

To provide a required conservation element, he said he was labeling the floodway channel of Corte Madera Creek as an area to be protected from future obstruction.

After the report, Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the council would probably hold a public hearing on the plan in May and then adopt it in June. Campbell still has several other state required elements to add to the plan including: Seismic safety, safety, housing, circulation, scenic and noise elements.

Allen said the council would also try to hold some Saturday public work sessions on the plan in coming months.

Campbell said the town might consider adding Kent Woodlands and Kentfield to the plan, since they lie in the Ross sphere of influence.

The state requires adoption of the plan by June 30.

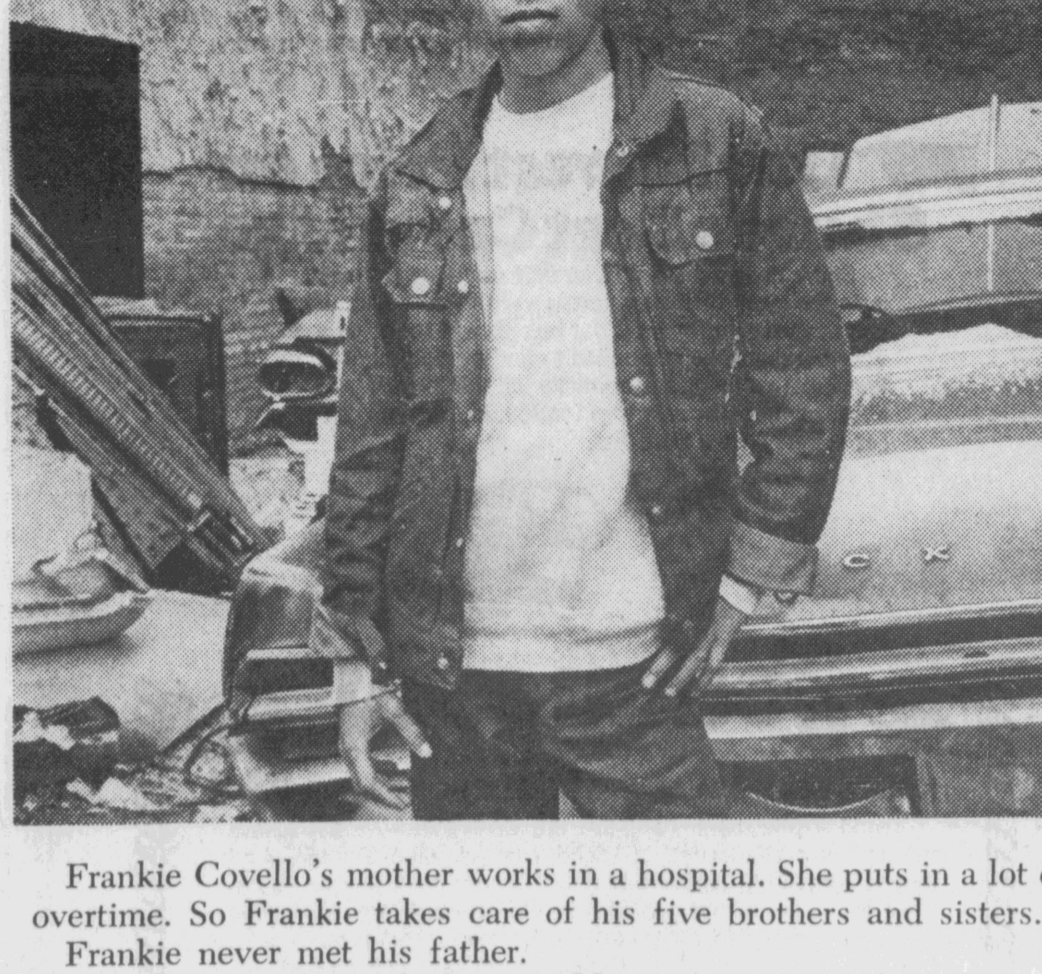
What he needs, money can't buy.



Frankie Covello's mother works in a hospital. She puts in a lot of overtime. So Frankie takes care of his five brothers and sisters.

Frankie never met his father.

Last summer, he and three buddies got arrested for stripping cars. He got off with a probation and a warning. Next time it'll be the state reform school.

Frankie's mother loves him, but he needs someone to talk to. Man to man. Someone who thinks there's more to life than gang fights, pushing drugs or rolling bums.

Someone like you.

We know lots of fatherless kids like Frankie who need you. And we know a lot of other people who need you, too. Buys in veterans' hospitals. Unwed mothers. Old people. Blind people. Patients in mental institutions.

PRESENTING the Pacific Stereo Pick-a-Holiday Combined Super Special February SALE

February has Lincoln's Birthday, a holiday for some people; Washington's Birthday, a premature holiday this year; Valentine's Day; and the day our inventory is counted for tax purposes, which isn't a holiday at all but IS an excellent reason for having all the sales we possibly can in February.

So that's what we're doing. You're the people who have to reduce our inventory for us, and obviously you're not going to cooperate unless we make the merchandise and the prices so overwhelmingly attractive that you have very good reason to buy yourself some new stereo gear right now.

You can see for yourself that we do have a fine array of the very best known stereo components at very low prices. How, you may ask, is it possible to have so many sales? Well, there are some advantages to being big, despite the people who so rudely poke fun at our size. Manufacturers sometimes give us good deals just because we order so MUCH stuff, and then we have more flexibility to give you good deals. And being big, we can organize our distribution more efficiently and keep costs down in lots of ways. (We can even afford to make our stores comfortable places with really good listening rooms.) When you're big, you can have big sales. And what's so bad about that?

But it's hard to offer REALLY low sale prices all the time, so you'll notice that many are good for only one week and some for just one day. In other cases, the sale price is only for a specified quantity, and when they're gone that's it. So when you see something you want coming up, you should plan on grabbing it fast.

This is your last chance to save so much on a Harman-Kardon system, not because their popular 230A receiver is being discontinued, but because starting next month Harman-Kardon receivers will be strictly fair traded. That should be all the more reason to grab this system at its rockbottom $177 price. The 230A is a fine AM/FM stereo receiver rated at 17 RMS watts with both channels driven. It's made in the Harman-Kardon tradition of attractive Black Nocturne styling, and it provides clean wideband sonic transparency. It has provisions for two pairs of speakers, tape monitor facilities, and a loudness switch to compensate for the bass you would otherwise lose at low listening levels. The walnut case is optional.

The BSR automatic record player is a fine value at $49.45, including a base and a Shure M75 magnetic diamond cartridge. The 310 is an extremely reliable performer with a cueing lever that makes it awfully hard to scratch your records.

Quadraflex Model 11's are excellent small shelf speaker systems which perform very well, especially where space is limited. Their six-inch extended range speakers do a remarkable job of smooth sound reproduction. Model 11's make ideal extension speakers if you decide to add bigger ones later. Their regular price is $49.90 a pair.

In effect, you're only paying $17 for the record player, cartridge and speakers in this system. Normally, the cartridge alone would sell for more than that, so you should probably take advantage of our $177 system price while you can. We definitely can't do it again after this month.

Full manufacturers' warranties are included

To purchase these separately, you would pay:

Harman-Kardon 230A	$159.95
BSR 310 with base and cartridge	49.95
Quadraflex 11's (pair)	49.90
TOTAL	$259.80

With the Pioneer T-3500, you can push a button and choose the optimum bias and equalization settings for standard tapes, low-noise/high-output type, or the extra-quiet chromium dioxide kind. The long-life ferrite head with its extra-wide frequency response helps you get the best sound quality from any kind of tape. There's a pair of slide-type linear controls for recording volume and another pair for playback volume. Pushbutton controls make for easy operation. You also get a Memorex chromium dioxide C-60 cassette with every deck. The Pioneer T-3500 was a great value at $199.95; it's almost fantastic at $128.

The Sherwood S7200 AM/FM stereo receiver carries on the long Sherwood tradition of providing a very high quality tuner section, plenty of power and a full range of features for a most reasonable price, $299.95 in this case. FM sensitivity is an excellent 1.8 microvolts, and ceramic filters account in part for the very good selectivity. The 7200's direct-coupled amplifier section puts out 64 RMS watts of power from 20 to 20,000 Hz. Controls include FM muting, a high filter, a front panel tape dubbing jack, tape monitoring and a loudness contour. There's also a front panel switch for four-channel sound if you care to add a quadapter. The walnut case is included.

Dual's 1218 record player is very close to their highly rated 1229 in terms of features and design sophistication. You get fine performance, a variable pitch control, the gentlest imaginable treatment of your records, and a gyroscopically-balanced tonearm that can accommodate the lightest-tracking cartridges available. We include the fine Stanton 500E elliptical cartridge and a base, a combination that sells for $165.90.

The Bose 501 speaker systems sell for $248 a pair, about half the cost of the famous Bose 901 systems. Without faltering a bit, their designer invited comparison of these modestly-priced speakers with anything at all (other than the 901) and further claimed they'd sound better. Judge for yourself, of course. These direct/reflecting two-way systems use a ten-inch bass speaker and two angled 3½-inch treble speakers to create an uncanny sound stage in your listening room.

Yup, we've really got KLH 32 speakers for $29, and there's a good supply in all of our stores right now. But don't delay, because you probably know how popular these fine two-way systems have always been. One reason is their tiny $49.95 apiece normal price, and another is their clean wide range sound. It also has an advanced tuner section that can cope with all the strong signals and complicated reception problems of a metropolitan area. And like all Spectrosonic receivers, the 210-4 was specifically designed for conversion to four-channel sound with a convenient front panel switch for a quadapter. FM muting, a loudness contour, a high filter, and front panel tape dubbing jacks are some of the other convenience features that help to make the 210-4 a fine value at $299.95. Brothers Enter Plea On Narcotics Charges

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two brothers, one a San Rafael man, pleaded guilty this week to charges involving the distribution and sale of heroin in Marin County.

James Wade, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty Monday to one count of selling heroin. His attorney asked dismissal of four other counts of possessing the drug for sale. A ruling will be made on the request when Wade appears March 16 for sentencing in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

His older brother, John Wade, of Daly City, pleaded guilty Wednesday to one count of possessing heroin with intent to sell it.

A motion to dismiss charges against the elder Wade's wife, Marie, will be ruled on March 30, when her husband is scheduled to appear for sentencing. U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams ordered Mrs. Wade's bail returned, according to the U.S. attorney's office.

The charges stemmed from the arrest June 6, 1972, of James Wade in connection with a $5,400 heroin sale to federal agents near the Cow Palace in Daly City.

After the arrest of James Wade, agents raided the Daly City home of John and Marie Wade and seized five ounces of high-grade heroin.

Agents said the older brother was supplying James and another brother, Jerry Ray Wade, 22, of Santa Venetia, with heroin that was sold in Marin County.

Jerry Wade has since been sent to state prison from Marin Superior Court in connection with heroin and bad check charges.

Special Fairfax Project Receives Federal Assistance

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Fairfax Cooperative Project, in which three Marin school districts and one parochial school participate for special assistance in reading and mathematics, was approved for $65,731 in federal funds yesterday by the California State Board of Education.

The funding covers the period from last July 1 to next Aug. 31.

The project is operated by the Fairfax School District, with Mill Valley and Lagunitas School Districts and St. Rita's Parochial School also participating.

The state board also approved continued funding in the amount of $67,516 for an intensive reading and mathematics demonstration project at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato Unified School District. This project grew out of a reading clinic started at the school four years ago.

Also approved for Novato was a $5,000 "start-up grant" for a new project in accelerated learning for handicapped students. According to Novato Asst. Supt. Paul Mobley, the project is to acquire special materials for use of slow learners and pay teachers who will give them special assistance in the regular classrooms. Three teachers, to work with 50 students, are planned for its first year.

Parts Purchasers Accused Of Theft

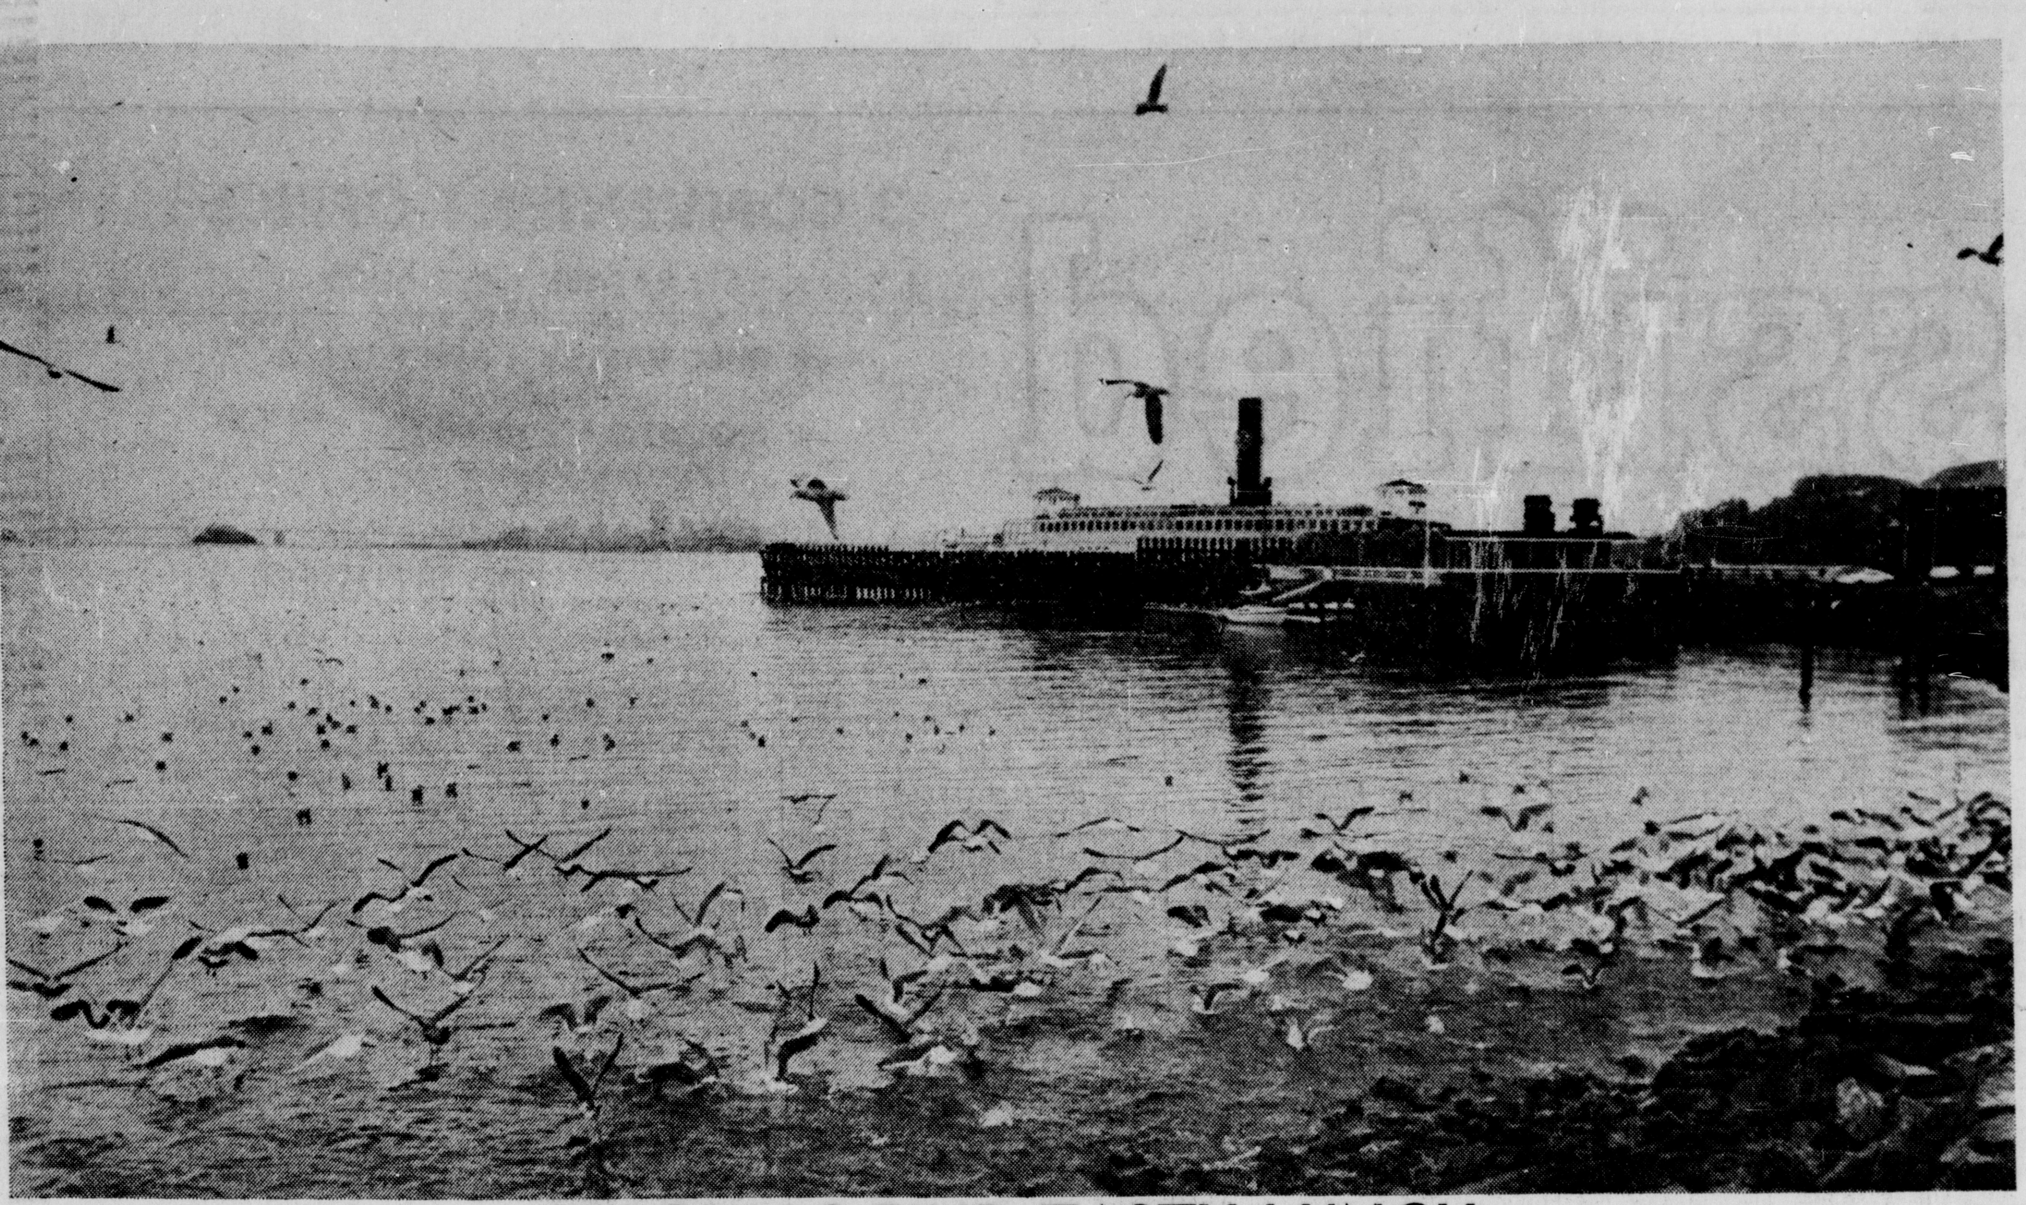
Two young men who had come to buy some Volkswagen parts stole a shotgun, a rifle and ammunition from his garage on Monday, Robert D. McClanahan of 40 Rich Lane, Larkspur, told police.

McClanahan said one of the men distracted his attention while the other grabbed the weapons from a rack at the garage rear, then fled in their car.

Leeches Used To Fix Black Eyes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — John Bradley keeps leeches at his barber shop here, but nobody's giving him a black eye about it. In fact, many of his customers come to have black eyes repaired.

Bradley uses the bloodsucking little critters to drain the swollen membrane around bruised eyes, a service that has waned over the years. The 2 ½ to 3-inch long leeches are affixed to the customer's eye to draw out the swollen blood.



SEAGULLS FIND TASTY LUNCH

The menu for the day apparently was fresh herring eggs as dozens of seagulls gathered yesterday along the rocky shore of Sausalito under cloudy skies. Deposit of the herring eggs on rocks and pilings provided an occasion for the gulls to enjoy an especially tasty lunch. In the background can be seen the Sausalito Yacht Club and the former ferry Berkeley, now the Trade Fair.

BOLINAS, BLACK POINT

Little Lots A Plague To Planners

By JEFF GREER

(Second of two articles)

Bolinas and Black Point would seem to have little in common — except that they are both in Marin County and both on the water. But both face a planning nightmare.

Bolinas on the west and Black Point on the far northeast of Marin are cursed with a hangover from turn-of-the-century speculators' days. The Bolinas Mesa and Black Point are covered with literally hundreds of lots only 20 or 25 feet wide and 100 feet deep, prettily drawn on a land salesman's map as fronting on grid-patterned, nonexistent streets.

Hundreds of persons bought the individual lots between 1900 and the Depression of the 1930s. Most never were built on — but the postage stamp lots sit there like ogres thwarting the efforts of community residents who want to plan their neighborhoods.

Bolinas and Black Point are but two of more than a dozen unincorporated areas where citizens are more or less actively engaged in "backyard planning," with the blessing of county officials. Each area has its own problems, some unique, some in common with other areas.

Strawberry residents are worried about rows of apartment houses blotting out the open hillsides; Indian Valley neighbors want to save their bucolic "horse heaven" atmosphere; Tamalpais Valley homeowners are concerned about open space, heavy traffic on their roads and the upper Richardson Bay marshlands being hidden by commercial buildings.

Thumbnail sketches of the more prominent neighborhood planning campaigns follow:

STRAWBERRY — The community's new master plan is the most nearly completed of any in Marin. Strawberry residents in May approved plans prepared by J. Martin Rosse of Strawberry and the proposals now are being reviewed by county planning officials for integration into the future Countywide General Plan.

Rosse explained that the 5,700 Strawberry residents live in about 2,300 dwellings — half of them apartments. The community wants no more multiple residential projects, and wants all remaining land rezoned either to open space or single family residential with a density of three homes per acre, he said.

The area has gone through repeated annexation crises between neighboring Tiburon and Mill Valley, with another hearing expected this month before the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission to decide whether Strawberry lies within the "sphere of influence" of one city or another.

PARADISE — The county has asked residents of the unincorporated area north of the Tiburon Ridge to prepare a master plan dovetailing with the Strawberry plan, Rosse reported. Polly Smith, a resident of the area adjoining Corte Madera and a member of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, is helping organize the local planning effort.

Rosse noted that there have been proposals to develop up to 3,000 homes in the Paradise area.

The Strawberry area Community Council is to meet Feb. 12 and Feb. 26 to review proposals for a local planning panel. It would recommend what action the official county planning commission should take on rezonings and proposed future developments, Rosse said.

TAMALPAIS VALLEY — A copy of the area master plan prepared by the Tam Task Force has gone to all 3,200 homes in Tamalpais, Tennessee and Homestead valleys. The board of supervisors now is considering Supervisor Michael Wornum's proposal that a Tam Valley community review board be set up to recommend on future rezonings and developments. Such matters are now handled by the county zoning administrator countywide.

The master plan for Tam area housing and population growth, open space and recreation, traffic and transit and industrial and commercial development was prepared after task force members trekked door-to-door with a detailed questionnaire to learn the neighborhood opinions, according to Joan Panek. It still awaits official county hearings.

"We have a simply terrible problem with zoning violations" in the area, Mrs. Panek reported. "We didn't have a big flap with the ranch owners" of the open space the Tam Task Force decided should become federal open space preserve. "They supported the idea of inclusion in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area," she said.

The county helped publish the master plan study and lent staff aide on technical details.

BOLINAS — Following months of fact-gathering, the Bolinas Planning Group is "well on its way to writing a rough draft of a proposed master plan," according to spokesman Steve Matson.

"We'll propose specific zoning densities, a traffic circulation system and possibly a district" to regulate septic tanks on the Bolinas Mesa, Matson said.

One bone of contention is whether an annual growth limit will be imposed, or the county idea of merely setting a maximum population by the year 1990 will be followed. "If all the growth came in a couple of years, it would be disastrous," the Bolinas planner said.

The problem of arranging trades or conglomerations of the 1,600 tiny mesa lots into buildable parcels may "require formation of some sort of "administrative agency to clean up he mess," Matson explained. He doubted redevelopment agency proceedings would work, because any developer would want to build immediately rather than space the building out over many years.

The Bolinas study deals with 550 to 600 homes in the area west of Bolinas Lagoon and extending north to Point Reyes National Seashore, Matson said.

NORTHWEST MARIN — Diffuse and relatively undetailed local planning efforts are in progress in the communities of Point Reyes Station, in Inverness and elsewhere in the area. Dr. Michael Whitt, president of Inverness Association, reported that "we've got a number of subcommittees going, but no steering committee yet."

Most of the citizens are concerned about the danger of excessive population growth, heavy commercialization due to tourist trade to the seashore, and the need for local control rather than depending on the seemingly far-off Marin Civic Center in San Rafael.

INDIAN VALLEY — Residents and Rowland Darnell of the county planning staff have drafted specific plans which have been adopted, rezoning the area to preserve large "horse heaven" lots and restricting building on slopes.

County adoption of the entire Indian Valley specific master plan has been delayed by the need for an environmental impact report on the future Indian Valley Colleges, and the problem of deciding how wide and how civilized to make roads in the area. Residents generally want no curbs or gutters, and equestrian, hiking and bicycle paths alongside the pavement, Darnell said.

Basically, Indian Valley residents wanted, and won "everything left alone" status for their community; Darnell said, although it's on the fringes of fast-growing Novato.

BLACK POINT — On the other side of Novato, "we're getting started later than anybody — just since November," reported Joseph Y. Seminario, chairman of the Black Point Master Plan committee.

Like Bolinas, there is a nightmare of 1,200 tiny lots, that cannot be built on under present zoning and septic tank rules. The citizens are weighing the need for a redevelopment agency to combine land ownerships, but there are fears for longtime residents who built small cottages on about 200 of the lots and would be dispossessed.

Black Point citizens don't want the 2,300 new homes that the John Kenney firm wants to build on the Sartori ranch next door, which is in Novato city limits, Seminario said.

Black Point residents, according to their answers to a questionnaire, don't want urbanization — nor really any change from the status quo except to get rid of industrial zoning along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad land and the waterfront.

That rezoning is in progress at the county level, Darnell said.

The planning committee has interviewed Tam Task Force leaders to see how that community did its planning job. Financial support for the future master plan is coming from contributions by the Black Point Improvement Association and from homeowners.

"Anything we do must be passed on by two masters," Seminario warned. "The legal master is the county, and the de facto master is the City of Novato."

SAN GERONIMO VALLEY — The valley's ad hoc planning group has made a residents' survey and has quizzed commuters on planning desires of the valley's 2,900 to 3,000 population, to begin revamping the 1961 valley master plan prepared by county aides.

The San Geronimo Valley Homeowners Association, numbering about 40 to 60 persons, has declared itself satisfied with the old plan, but the rest of the valley wants better protection against subdivision and growth, according to Jean Berensmier of the ad hoc committee.

Three task forces are working on issues of housing and population, traffic and transit, open space and recreation, and commerce and industry (which nobody wants, Mrs. Berensmier said.)

All the community master planning efforts must win ultimate approval from the county planning commission and the board of supervisors.

The products of hours of "backyard planning" toil are assured sympathetic reception by the present supervisors, but conceivably might not be adopted due to political factors such as pressure from neighboring cities.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell is heartily in favor of the neighborhood planning concept, he said.

"It's not easy. Democracy's never easy, but it's the right thing to do," this planning to allow a neighborhood to chart its own future, he declared.

Bumper Is Stolen From Parked Car

The rear bumper of her 1955 Chevrolet was stolen while it was parked in the Safeway Store Parking lot on Jan. 27, Anna C. Bon of 135 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, told Larkspur police.

Police said it appeared the bumper was removed with a bolt cutter while Mrs. Bon went shopping for half an hour.

Hearing Set On Impact Of Development

The Fairfax Design Review Board last night set 8 p.m. March 15 in the Fairfax Women's Club for a public hearing on the environmental impact of the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development.

The board, however, postponed action on precise plans for the project until 8 p.m. March 8, saying the scope of the development is vast, according to Ernestine Healy, board secretary.

Planned are 128 units on 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Glen Drive. Planning commission approval of a tentative map for the project was ordered by a Marin Superior Court Judge last September after developers Robert D. Marshall and Denkmann and Co. filed suit, saying the city had illegally delayed approving the map.

The board next meets March 8.

Brothers Enter Plea On Narcotics Charges

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two brothers, one a San Rafael man, pleaded guilty this week to charges involving the distribution and sale of heroin in Marin County.

James Wade, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty Monday to one count of selling heroin. His attorney asked dismissal of four other counts of possessing the drug for sale. A ruling will be made on the request when Wade appears March 16 for sentencing in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

A motion to dismiss charges against the elder Wade's wife, Marie, will be ruled on March 30, when her husband is scheduled to appear for sentencing. U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams ordered Mrs. Wade's bail returned, according to the U.S. attorney's office.

The charges stemmed from the arrest June 6, 1972, of James Wade in connection with a $5,400 heroin sale to federal agents near the Cow Palace in Daly City.

After the arrest of James Wade, agents raided the Daly City home of John and Marie Wade and seized five ounces of high-grade heroin.

Agents said the older brother was supplying James and another brother, Jerry Ray Wade, 22, of Santa Venetia, with heroin that was sold in Marin County.

Jerry Wade has since been sent to state prison from Marin Superior Court in connection with heroin and bad check charges.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Lobbyist Denies Link In Son's Bid, Mailer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee chairman has denied there is a relationship between an $80,000a-year offer by a lobbyist to mail free newsletters for lawmakers and his son's bid for a lucrative contract with the Legislature.

The lobbyist is Kenneth A. Ross Jr., who promotes the interests of Santa Anita racetrack. He has set up an $80,000-a-year fund to mail free political newsletters for each of the state's 120 senators and assemblymen.

Santa Anita will pay for the mailings, which will be printed at the firm of the lobbyist's son, Kenneth A. Ross III.

The younger Ross, sales manager for Computer Mailings, Inc., is seeking the contracts for the state-financed mailers through the Rules Committees of both houses.

"There will be no, no, no relationship involved between the newsletter program and the political mailings, said Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, Assembly Rules Committee chairman.

Ross also denied that his father's offer would influence a decision on the contract for the informational mailers, declaring his firm was "independent" of his father and the track.

"We are not offering any deals except we feel we have a good outfit and we would like to do the work," the younger Ross said.

Ross said he anticipated the firm would put out three mailings a year for 25 lawmakers at a cost of $2,000 for each mailing, which are not supposed to be used for election campaigns.

This is the first year the Assembly has arranged for private contracts for the informational mailers. Previously they were printed through the state Printing Office.

KNOCK IDEA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative leaders are opposed to a plan giving legislators VIP status on airlines to exempt them from antihijacking searches.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, and Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, R-San Diego, both said Thursday they can "stand in line" with everyone else.

Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco added that whoever had sought the special status was "a damn fool."

Other legislators joined in opposing the VIP status that was brought to light earlier in the week by J. Floyd Andrews, president of Pacific Southwest Airlines, who said he was asked by some lawmen for a special card to speed-up their boarding.

CREDIT PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Women could not be denied credit solely because of their marital status or sex under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles.

"Women are often discriminated against because of their sex and are particularly in a vulnerable position in obtaining credit when they have undergone a divorce," Waxman said Thursday after he introduced his bill (AB312).

ALCOHOLISM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Tipplers would pay more for their favorite beverages to help finance the state's battle against alcoholism under a bill introduced by a non-drinking senator.

The measure (SB204) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, would impose a one-half cent per ounce tax on alcohol in beer, wine and hard liquor. The bill would raise an estimated $27.4 million annually, which would flow into state programs against alcoholism.

COLLEGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $1 million measure creating an "open college" system that could be attended by any California resident has been introduced in the Senate.

The bill (SB199), submitted Thursday by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was aimed at permitting persons who have some college education or a backlog of experience to work for a college degree, even though they don't have the time or money to attend a regular four-year institution.

Dymally said the open colleges could be established anywhere a group of people get together and decide they want to take a course. The legislation appropriates $1 million to begin the program and establish a headquarters.

PROJECTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at encouraging construction of more state flood projects was introduced Thursday by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter.

Way said his complex bill (SB202) would for the first time recognize the necessity for improvement of the environment in flood control projects and would shift some of the total costs from the state to the local level.

"In recent years," Way said in a statement, "the state has been reluctant to fund additional flood control projects in the absence of greater participation at the local level.

"The chief reason for this reluctance on the part of the state is that flood control benefits often accrue to land developers and speculators at the expense of local taxpayers."

Way declared the measure would limit the state's financial participation in a project to those benefits which accrue only to existing development. He said any increase in the cost of the project because it enhances land values would have to be borne by local areas.

INSURANCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Democratic assemblymen have started a drive to eliminate what they call a $20-million-a-year tax loophole for the insurance industry.

Assemblymen Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, and Howard L. Berman, D-Los Angeles, each proposed measures Thursday to eliminate property tax exemptions from insurance company home offices in California.

Sieroty, the author of similar but unsuccessful legislation in the past, said complete removal of the exemption would increase state revenues $20 million annually.

Sieroty's proposal, which was not formally introduced, would phase out the exemption over a five-year period, while Berman's (ACA22) would end it immediately.

Both measures are proposed constitutional amendments and require voter approval.

California Prisoners Of War Will Have Rehabilitation Help

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — For two years after California's prisoners of war return home, they will have at their beckoning the assistance of a long and carefully planned program designed to help them readjust to freedom.

Available will be military and civilian counseling, help in obtaining job training, employment leads and money to follow them up, and priority in nearly all dealings with the government bureaucracy.

Additional proposals are before the legislature to guarantee jobs for POWs and to exempt from state income taxes their prison-time accumulated wages.

At the center of the effort is a joint federal-state, military-civilian venture dubbed "Operation Homecoming."

"We've been given a lot of keys. If they work the way they're supposed to, they will open so damn many doors for these vets," said California director Herbert C. Lorenzen, a state employe heading the federally-funded program.

Quoting from a manual whose full contents have not been made public, Lorenzen cited benefits and aids to returning POWs that included up to $500 for travel in search of a job and up to $1,200 for moving once one is found.

The project relies heavily on 14 special counselors and their ability to meet the unknown needs of the state's 92 returning prisoners.

Recent lists show nearly 600 Americans classified as prisoners and about 1,300 as missing.

California, with seven of the 31 hospitals designated to accommodate POWs, will receive an estimated 20 to 25 per cent of the men. If many stay at the initial touch-down site of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield, northeast of San Francisco, the total could reach more than 50 per cent.

Other POW hospitals in California are Letterman in San Francisco, Oak Knoll and the Marine Corps Component hospitals in Oakland, San Diego Naval Hospital, March Air Force Base Hospital in Riverside and the Marine Corps Hospital at Camp Pendleton in Oceanside.

Each of the counselors was carefully screened to obtain "the 14 best people in the state," Lorenzen said. All are veterans, half the military retirees, all have counseling backgrounds and eight have attended special training in Washington, D.C.

They are supplid with research and analysis of what is known about POWs from this and other wars. But they will not act unless asked.

"Everything we do for the veteran will be triggered by him," Lorenzen said.

The counseling procedure begins with a visit by a Department of Defense representative when the man is medically ready.

Lorenzen said 75 per cent of the prisoners are officers, adding, "A large majority will be encouraged to remain in the service and continue their careers.

"But in order to afford the vet all the information to make a sound decision to get out or remain in, we may be called on to give him the other end of the specturm."

Obtainable under the counseling program will be a battery of aptitude tests, information on career possibilities, labor market conditions now and projections for the future, as well as second career opportunities for men about to retire.

In addition, Lorenzen promises the project can supply a "keep it moving" priority to aid former prisoners and their families in dealing with federal, state and private agencies.

He said "Operation Homecoming" can help a POW get into college or any type of vocational school, help refer him to a job or on-the-job training and expedite home or business loans.

"We can give a quick call to t e Veterans Administration and cut the time it takes to begin receiving educational benefits from six weeks to two weeks," he said.

In the Legislature, Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, has introduced a measure to exempt prisoners' earning while in captivity from state income tax.

Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, has introduced a resolution declaring it is the state's intention that all POWs receive jobs when they return.

The life of "Operation Homecoming" is two years, with a provision allowing its work to continue an extra two years.

Lorenzen said a returning prisoner can seek assistance under the program any time within the initial two years. After that, his case will be handled until "closed" and then spot checked for two more years.

A closed case, the director said, is when a man successfully completes two terms of schooling, is on a job for six or seven months, or when he regresses and requires further hospitalization.

Hughes Staffer Denies Report Of Heart Attack

LONDON (UPI) — A member of Howard Hughes' staff today issued a "categorical denial" of local newspaper reports that Hughes had suffered a serious heart attack and that two American doctors flew here to treat him.

Hughes, in his customary seclusion on the ninth floor of a luxury hotel overlooking Hyde Park, made no direct statement, nor did his spokesmen.

But Henry P. McNulty, vice president of a public relations firm employed by the Hughes Tool Company, said, "I have spoken by telephone to a member of Mr. Hughes' personal staff who issued a categorical denial" of the reports.

Today is Friday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1973 with 325 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, was born Feb. 9, 1773.

On this day in history:

In 1825, the U.S. House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams as president. No candidate in the December, 1824 election had received the necessary majority.

In 1900, 7,000 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day.

In 1950, Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy charged that the U.S. State Department was infested with Communists.

In 1971, 64 persons were killed when an earthquake shook Los Angeles.

A thought for the day: American poet Joaquin Miller said, "That man who lives for self alone lives for the meanest mortal known."

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, no reading.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hardened Coronary Arteries Cause Fourth Of All Deaths

Heart attack due to hardening of the coronary arteries is the cause of more than one-quarter of all deaths in the United States. Those most likely to die in this way (and at an earlier age) are overweight, inactive, heavy smokers, and have hypertension or an elevated blood cholesterol level. Cholesterol has received the most publicity, possible because it is associated with certain foods.

Most people have good intentions, and if possible, want to avoid a heart attack. It is well to remember that cholesterol is only one aspect of the problem. Preventive measures also include a reduction in weight, increase in physical exercise, abstincence from smoking, and taking medicine to lower an elevated blook pressure. In addition, a special diet to lower the cholesterol level may be unpalatable advice, but it may help.

CHOLESTEROL IS ONE of several fatty molecules that infiltrate the walls of the arteries, leading to a thickening of the lining membrane. Bile from the liver is rich in this substance and accounts for at least 60 per cent of the cholesterol found in the gastrointestinal tract. The remainder comes from the foods we eat. Clofibrate, one of the drugs used to lower the cholesterol level, prevents or lessens the absorption of cholesterol from the intestine.

For many years, physicians have wondered whether lowering the cholesterol level in the blood would lessen the risk of a heart attack. Several studies of these types have been done on individuals with angina pectoris and among those recovering from a coronary. These people were selected because there was no doubt that they had coronary heart disease. Clofibrate was used because it is the most promising drug and can be used safely over a number of years.

THE RESULTS of a British study were somewhat disappointing. Ten per cent of those on clofibrate died from a heart attack; it was 13 per cent among those who did not use the drug. A more significant difference was seen in an American study involving younger men. There were three times as many fatalities among those who did not take clofibrate. Oddly, it made very little difference whether the drug lowered the cholesterol level.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

ABDOMINAL FAT

B.M. writes: How do I get rid of jellylike fat in the abdominal area? My stomach muscles were cut at the time of my hysterectomy. I'm solid everywhere else. Would a diet and-or exercise help?

REPLY

Both will help, assuming that your protruding abdomen is not a large hernia. We are sending our leaflets on low-caloric diet and abdominal exercises, even tho you neglected to send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BLOOD DISEASE

N.S. writes: If a man marries a woman whose sister has a son with hemophilia, what are the chances that any son of the man mentioned will have this bleeding disease?

REPLY

The answer to this questions would require a study of the family tree. Since one daughter has passed on the trait to her son, there is reason to suspect that her sister could do the same.

SPANKING

M. G. writes: Why would a 3-year-old girl's face turn blue when she is spanked?

REPLY

SOUTHPAW

D. S. writes: Recently while visiting a friend, I was asked to feed her 15-month-old child. The tot started eating with her left hand so I took the spoon and put it in her right hand. Both parents jumped me, saying this would give the child a complex. Does changing from left to right hand cause such a dire result?

REPLY

Some authorities hold to this theory. Children (yours, not others) should be encouraged — not forced — to use the right hand.

8 Drunken Drivers Sentenced

Eight persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on drunken driving charges.

Drunken driving is defined legally as having a blood alcohol level of .10, roughly the equivalent of five beers, glasses of wine or weak mixed drinks in an hour. The body burns up about one drink each hour.

Joan Elizabeth Davidson, 25 of The Boardwalk, Larkspur, arrested Jan. 7 on Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $200 fine, two years of probation and participation in a school about drunken drivers.

Henry Anthony Scheving, 44, of El Cerrito, arrested Dec. 21 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail suspended to a $250 fine, two years of probation and participation in a school about drunken driving.

Frank Junior Floyd, 41, of Vallejo, arrested Feb. 3 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine and two years probation.

Albert Bernad Gray, 45, of 55 Liberty Street, Petaluma, arrested Jan. 11 on Highway 101, given 60 days in jail, suspended to five days in jail, a $250 fine and two years probation.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Lobbyist Denies Link In Son's Bid, Mailer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee chairman has denied there is a relationship between an $80,000a-year offer by a lobbyist to mail free newsletters for lawmakers and his son's bid for a lucrative contract with the Legislature.

The lobbyist is Kenneth A. Ross Jr., who promotes the interests of Santa Anita racetrack. He has set up an $80,000-a-year fund to mail free political newsletters for each of the state's 120 senators and assemblymen.

Santa Anita will pay for the mailings, which will be printed at the firm of the lobbyist's son, Kenneth A. Ross III.

The younger Ross, sales manager for Computer Mailings, Inc., is seeking the contracts for the state-financed mailers through the Rules Committees of both houses.

"There will be no, no, no relationship involved between the newsletter program and the political mailings, said Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, Assembly Rules Committee chairman.

Ross also denied that his father's offer would influence a decision on the contract for the informational mailers, declaring his firm was "independent" of his father and the track.

"We are not offering any deals except we feel we have a good outfit and we would like to do the work," the younger Ross said.

Ross said he anticipated the firm would put out three mailings a year for 25 lawmakers at a cost of $2,000 for each mailing, which are not supposed to be used for election campaigns.

This is the first year the Assembly has arranged for private contracts for the informational mailers. Previously they were printed through the state Printing Office.

KNOCK IDEA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative leaders are opposed to a plan giving legislators VIP status on airlines to exempt them from antihijacking searches.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, and Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, R-San Diego, both said Thursday they can "stand in line" with everyone else.

Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco added that whoever had sought the special status was "a damn fool."

Other legislators joined in opposing the VIP status that was brought to light earlier in the week by J. Floyd Andrews, president of Pacific Southwest Airlines, who said he was asked by some lawmen for a special card to speed-up their boarding.

CREDIT PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Women could not be denied credit solely because of their marital status or sex under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles.

"Women are often discriminated against because of their sex and are particularly in a vulnerable position in obtaining credit when they have undergone a divorce," Waxman said Thursday after he introduced his bill (AB312).

ALCOHOLISM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Tipplers would pay more for their favorite beverages to help finance the state's battle against alcoholism under a bill introduced by a non-drinking senator.

The measure (SB204) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, would impose a one-half cent per ounce tax on alcohol in beer, wine and hard liquor. The bill would raise an estimated $27.4 million annually, which would flow into state programs against alcoholism.

COLLEGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $1 million measure creating an "open college" system that could be attended by any California resident has been introduced in the Senate.

The bill (SB199), submitted Thursday by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was aimed at permitting persons who have some college education or a backlog of experience to work for a college degree, even though they don't have the time or money to attend a regular four-year institution.

Dymally said the open colleges could be established anywhere a group of people get together and decide they want to take a course. The legislation appropriates $1 million to begin the program and establish a headquarters.

PROJECTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at encouraging construction of more state flood projects was introduced Thursday by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter.

Way said his complex bill (SB202) would for the first time recognize the necessity for improvement of the environment in flood control projects and would shift some of the total costs from the state to the local level.

"In recent years," Way said in a statement, "the state has been reluctant to fund additional flood control projects in the absence of greater participation at the local level.

"The chief reason for this reluctance on the part of the state is that flood control benefits often accrue to land developers and speculators at the expense of local taxpayers."

Way declared the measure would limit the state's financial participation in a project to those benefits which accrue only to existing development. He said any increase in the cost of the project because it enhances land values would have to be borne by local areas.

INSURANCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Democratic assemblymen have started a drive to eliminate what they call a $20-million-a-year tax loophole for the insurance industry.

Assemblymen Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, and Howard L. Berman, D-Los Angeles, each proposed measures Thursday to eliminate property tax exemptions from insurance company home offices in California.

Sieroty, the author of similar but unsuccessful legislation in the past, said complete removal of the exemption would increase state revenues $20 million annually.

Sieroty's proposal, which was not formally introduced, would phase out the exemption over a five-year period, while Berman's (ACA22) would end it immediately.

Both measures are proposed constitutional amendments and require voter approval.

California Prisoners Of War Will Have Rehabilitation Help

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — For two years after California's prisoners of war return home, they will have at their beckoning the assistance of a long and carefully planned program designed to help them readjust to freedom.

Available will be military and civilian counseling, help in obtaining job training, employment leads and money to follow them up, and priority in nearly all dealings with the government bureaucracy.

Additional proposals are before the legislature to guarantee jobs for POWs and to exempt from state income taxes their prison-time accumulated wages.

"We've been given a lot of keys. If they work the way they're supposed to, they will open so damn many doors for these vets," said California director Herbert C. Lorenzen, a state employe heading the federally-funded program.

Quoting from a manual whose full contents have not been made public, Lorenzen cited benefits and aids to returning POWs that included up to $500 for travel in search of a job and up to $1,200 for moving once one is found.

The project relies heavily on 14 special counselors and their ability to meet the unknown needs of the state's 92 returning prisoners.

Recent lists show nearly 600 Americans classified as prisoners and about 1,300 as missing.

California, with seven of the 31 hospitals designated to accommodate POWs, will receive an estimated 20 to 25 per cent of the men. If many stay at the initial touch-down site of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield, northeast of San Francisco, the total could reach more than 50 per cent.

Other POW hospitals in California are Letterman in San Francisco, Oak Knoll and the Marine Corps Component hospitals in Oakland, San Diego Naval Hospital, March Air Force Base Hospital in Riverside and the Marine Corps Hospital at Camp Pendleton in Oceanside.

Each of the counselors was carefully screened to obtain "the 14 best people in the state," Lorenzen said. All are veterans, half the military retirees, all have counseling backgrounds and eight have attended special training in Washington, D.C.

They are supplid with research and analysis of what is known about POWs from this and other wars. But they will not act unless asked.

"Everything we do for the veteran will be triggered by him," Lorenzen said.

The counseling procedure begins with a visit by a Department of Defense representative when the man is medically ready.

Lorenzen said 75 per cent of the prisoners are officers, adding, "A large majority will be encouraged to remain in the service and continue their careers.

"But in order to afford the vet all the information to make a sound decision to get out or remain in, we may be called on to give him the other end of the specturm."

Obtainable under the counseling program will be a battery of aptitude tests, information on career possibilities, labor market conditions now and projections for the future, as well as second career opportunities for men about to retire.

In addition, Lorenzen promises the project can supply a "keep it moving" priority to aid former prisoners and their families in dealing with federal, state and private agencies.

He said "Operation Homecoming" can help a POW get into college or any type of vocational school, help refer him to a job or on-the-job training and expedite home or business loans.

"We can give a quick call to t e Veterans Administration and cut the time it takes to begin receiving educational benefits from six weeks to two weeks," he said.

In the Legislature, Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, has introduced a measure to exempt prisoners' earning while in captivity from state income tax.

Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, has introduced a resolution declaring it is the state's intention that all POWs receive jobs when they return.

The life of "Operation Homecoming" is two years, with a provision allowing its work to continue an extra two years.

Lorenzen said a returning prisoner can seek assistance under the program any time within the initial two years. After that, his case will be handled until "closed" and then spot checked for two more years.

A closed case, the director said, is when a man successfully completes two terms of schooling, is on a job for six or seven months, or when he regresses and requires further hospitalization.

Hughes Staffer Denies Report Of Heart Attack

LONDON (UPI) — A member of Howard Hughes' staff today issued a "categorical denial" of local newspaper reports that Hughes had suffered a serious heart attack and that two American doctors flew here to treat him.

Hughes, in his customary seclusion on the ninth floor of a luxury hotel overlooking Hyde Park, made no direct statement, nor did his spokesmen.

But Henry P. McNulty, vice president of a public relations firm employed by the Hughes Tool Company, said, "I have spoken by telephone to a member of Mr. Hughes' personal staff who issued a categorical denial" of the reports.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1973 with 325 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, was born Feb. 9, 1773.

On this day in history:

In 1825, the U.S. House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams as president. No candidate in the December, 1824 election had received the necessary majority.

In 1900, 7,000 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day.

In 1950, Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy charged that the U.S. State Department was infested with Communists.

In 1971, 64 persons were killed when an earthquake shook Los Angeles.

A thought for the day: American poet Joaquin Miller said, "That man who lives for self alone lives for the meanest mortal known."

Nitrogen dioxide, no reading.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hardened Coronary Arteries Cause Fourth Of All Deaths

Heart attack due to hardening of the coronary arteries is the cause of more than one-quarter of all deaths in the United States. Those most likely to die in this way (and at an earlier age) are overweight, inactive, heavy smokers, and have hypertension or an elevated blood cholesterol level. Cholesterol has received the most publicity, possible because it is associated with certain foods.

Most people have good intentions, and if possible, want to avoid a heart attack. It is well to remember that cholesterol is only one aspect of the problem. Preventive measures also include a reduction in weight, increase in physical exercise, abstincence from smoking, and taking medicine to lower an elevated blook pressure. In addition, a special diet to lower the cholesterol level may be unpalatable advice, but it may help.

CHOLESTEROL IS ONE of several fatty molecules that infiltrate the walls of the arteries, leading to a thickening of the lining membrane. Bile from the liver is rich in this substance and accounts for at least 60 per cent of the cholesterol found in the gastrointestinal tract. The remainder comes from the foods we eat. Clofibrate, one of the drugs used to lower the cholesterol level, prevents or lessens the absorption of cholesterol from the intestine.

For many years, physicians have wondered whether lowering the cholesterol level in the blood would lessen the risk of a heart attack. Several studies of these types have been done on individuals with angina pectoris and among those recovering from a coronary. These people were selected because there was no doubt that they had coronary heart disease. Clofibrate was used because it is the most promising drug and can be used safely over a number of years.

THE RESULTS of a British study were somewhat disappointing. Ten per cent of those on clofibrate died from a heart attack; it was 13 per cent among those who did not use the drug. A more significant difference was seen in an American study involving younger men. There were three times as many fatalities among those who did not take clofibrate. Oddly, it made very little difference whether the drug lowered the cholesterol level.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

ABDOMINAL FAT

B.M. writes: How do I get rid of jellylike fat in the abdominal area? My stomach muscles were cut at the time of my hysterectomy. I'm solid everywhere else. Would a diet and-or exercise help?

REPLY

Both will help, assuming that your protruding abdomen is not a large hernia. We are sending our leaflets on low-caloric diet and abdominal exercises, even tho you neglected to send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BLOOD DISEASE

N.S. writes: If a man marries a woman whose sister has a son with hemophilia, what are the chances that any son of the man mentioned will have this bleeding disease?

REPLY

The answer to this questions would require a study of the family tree. Since one daughter has passed on the trait to her son, there is reason to suspect that her sister could do the same.

SPANKING

M. G. writes: Why would a 3-year-old girl's face turn blue when she is spanked?

REPLY

D. S. writes: Recently while visiting a friend, I was asked to feed her 15-month-old child. The tot started eating with her left hand so I took the spoon and put it in her right hand. Both parents jumped me, saying this would give the child a complex. Does changing from left to right hand cause such a dire result?

REPLY

Some authorities hold to this theory. Children (yours, not others) should be encouraged — not forced — to use the right hand.

8 Drunken Drivers Sentenced

Eight persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on drunken driving charges.

The Governor's Mansion Leaks

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Louisiana governor's mansion, with its Greek columns and expanse of tree-studded lawn, was built 10 years ago to reflect the splendor of the antebellum Deep South. Now, Gov. Edwin Edwards says the roof leaks.

"The roof is leaking in nine different places. The air conditioning is shot. The thermostats are all goofed up," Edwards said Thursday.

He said the columns in front of the two-storey mansion are cracking, doors need replacing, new gutters must be installed, and a brick wall alongside the house is crumbling.

"It's unbelievable," Edwards said. He said the house, built for $1 million, needed at least $150,000 in major repairs.

Mills Will Fight For Press Freedoms

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the "public will be the loser" if freedom of the press guarantees do not include protection of news sources.

Mills, speaking to the Arkansas Broadcasters Association Thursday, said he was sponsoring two bills to protect reporters from having to identify confidential sources. "I am one who realizes if reasonable protection of sources is not offered, then such sources will disappear and the public will be the loser," said Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Lava Making A New Threat

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — A new stream of lava from Helgafjell volcano brought a fresh threat to the abandoned island of Heimaey today slightly more than 24 hours after another lava flow halted only 100 yards short of the harbor.

Workers used bulldozers to erect huge walls of ashes from previous eruptions in an attempt to keep the new stream of lava from the town.

Salvage headquarters said Helgafjell, which first erupted with a roar more than two weeks ago, is now emitting lava streams in three directions—north, west and east.

The Governor's Mansion Leaks

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Louisiana governor's mansion, with its Greek columns and expanse of tree-studded lawn, was built 10 years ago to reflect the splendor of the antebellum Deep South. Now, Gov. Edwin Edwards says the roof leaks.

"The roof is leaking in nine different places. The air conditioning is shot. The thermostats are all goofed up," Edwards said Thursday.

He said the columns in front of the two-storey mansion are cracking, doors need replacing, new gutters must be installed, and a brick wall alongside the house is crumbling.

"It's unbelievable," Edwards said. He said the house, built for $1 million, needed at least $150,000 in major repairs.

Mills Will Fight For Press Freedoms

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the "public will be the loser" if freedom of the press guarantees do not include protection of news sources.

Mills, speaking to the Arkansas Broadcasters Association Thursday, said he was sponsoring two bills to protect reporters from having to identify confidential sources. "I am one who realizes if reasonable protection of sources is not offered, then such sources will disappear and the public will be the loser," said Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

County Assessed Value Doubled Over 10 Years

Marin County's assessed property valuation more than doubled in the past 10 years, according to the January regional report of the San Francisco Bay Area Council.

Assessed value of tangible property subject to local taxation in Marin rose from $332,812,000 in 1963 to $730,480,000 in 1972, an increase of 119.5 per cent. The rate of increase was the highest of the nine counties in the Bay Area.

The percentages of increase for the other counties are as follows:

Napa 119 per cent, San Mateo 108.3 per cent, Santa Clara 100.9 per cent, Solano 98.7 per cent, Sonoma 96.6 per cent, Alameda 88.9 per cent, Contra Costa 80 per cent, and San Francisco 48.4 per cent.

Piano Concert Set Thursday

Sonoma State College student Anna Carlson will present a piano concert Thursday at noon in Ives Hall.

Miss Carlson, an expressive arts major, arranges her own music. She will present songs from 1917 to 1920.

Lava Making A New Threat

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — A new stream of lava from Helgafjell volcano brought a fresh threat to the abandoned island of Heimaey today slightly more than 24 hours after another lava flow halted only 100 yards short of the harbor.

Workers used bulldozers to erect huge walls of ashes from previous eruptions in an attempt to keep the new stream of lava from the town.

Salvage headquarters said Helgafjell, which first erupted with a roar more than two weeks ago, is now emitting lava streams in three directions—north, west and east.

Auto Industry Aids Motor City

A wrecker's ball swings daily in downtown Detroit as site clearance begins on 32 acres along the Detroit River. The automobile industry and many of its suppliers are putting up the initial capital for what is hailed as a big step in the rejuvenation of the Motor City.

The Riverfront Project aims to replace a collection of warehouses, an empty flour mill and an assortment of garages and parking lots with a towering array of shining apartments and commercial structures.

First phase of the project is to include a circular, 70-story hotel and four octagonal 39-story office buildings. Assuming successful completion of that phase, work would then begin on additional office towers, apartment complexes, a sweeping glass-enclosed concourse, and possibly a rail-guided personal transit system.

Not only would it place the city on par with those metropolitan centers of the world with claims to economic and aesthetic vibrance, it could also serve to refute the auto industry's charged neglect of the people and the city of Detroit.

The Riverfront Project has been the child of the auto industry from the start. Ford Motor Co. board chairman Henry Ford II is given credit for conceiving the idea of rebuilding a major chunk of unproductive real estate in downtown Detroit.

He turned the concept over to a subsidiary, Ford Motor Land Development Corp., which checked out a number of sites, selected the riverfront area, and called upon the services of noted architect John Portman. The massive plan soon evolved.

Ford himself appeared before the Detroit Common Council, the first member of his famous family to do so, and announced details of what is estimated to be a $500-million program.

Within a year all the land involvement had been acquired, site clearance had begun, and announcements of economic support were flowing in.

Needed as a sort of down payment is $35 million. Once that is raised, major institutional funding is expected to be made available. General Motors matched Ford's $6 million investment in a Christmas Eve announcement. Days later American Motors provided a proportionate amount and within two weeks well over a dozen firms, all but two automotive suppliers, had raised the amount to $26 million.

Included are such companies as the Budd Co., the Timken Co., Federal-Mogul, National Steel Corp., Uniroyal, Firestone, Goodyear, Goodrich, General Tire, Eaton Corp. and Kelsey-Hayes.

The broad-based support for the project may remove some feeling that the auto industry often turns its back on the needs of Detroit —the city that symbolizes that industry in this country.

In recent decades Detroit has experienced typical big-city problems. Its school system is bankrupt and may have to close in March rather than June for lack of funds. The municipal hospital network perennially operates in the red. The crime rate in some categories sets national records. Unemployment has not been below the national average since 1956, and frequently has doubled the average.

Because of all this, large numbers of the middle-class citizens have been fleeing Detroit for the suburbs, and commercial and industrial enterprises have been doing the same.

None of Detroit's problems is unique. But since Detroit is big only because of the automobile industry, its people feel they have the right to look to the auto industry for some sort of assist in facing these problems.

While a 32-acre project on the riverfront may not diminish the crime rate or find a use for the remaining hundreds of acres of unused urban-renewal land, or solve the riddle of what to do with nearly 10,000 vacant private homes, it is possibly, nonetheless, a start toward these solutions, and the auto industry is doing it.

Baseball Can't Afford Strike

Baseball can ill afford another strike but it seems the laborers dissatisfaction with management has reared its head again.

Yesterday Joe Cronin and Chub Feeney, American and National League presidents respectively, told all major league clubs not to open spring training camps until agreement is reached with the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Many of the clubs immediately cancelled plans for early spring starts. Spring training officially begins March 1, but teams send pitchers and catchers and some of the non-roster players a week or two earlier.

Among those teams calling off early starts were the world champ A's and Giants. Compounding the Giants' troubles is the inability of Jerry Donovan, boss Horace Stoneham's right-hand man, to get all the players under contract. Bobby Bonds and Tito Fuentes have already publicly voiced their displeasure with the offered contracts, and more grumbling can be heard in the background.

Hassling over such things as pension plans and minimum wages, the players, behind the leadership of Marvin Miller, last year struck for 13 days. The action disrupted spring training and caused a fiasco of the early days of the season.

Although issuing orders to hold off opening camps until agreement is reached with the Player Association, Feeney and Cronin's joint statement had a twinge of optimism in it. Settlement is expected to be reached soon, say the presidents.

With interest in baseball losing out to pro football the past few years, another strike will lose too many fans for baseball. Unlike most strikes where the observer picks the hero and villain between management and labor, there will be only one villain and no hero in another baseball strike. The villain and loser will be baseball itself.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of America's great pastime, Gary Hughes, former baseball coach at Marin Catholic High School, is no longer a part-time scout with the Giants. Hughes, now a sporting goods salesman, has given up his six-year job with the Giants to take a part-time scouting position with the New York Yankees, and he will be working under Don Lee, the Yanks' head scout for the western states. More responsibility and more money, says Hughes.

REDWOOD HIGH SCHOOL runners Brian Tracy, Pete Sweeney and Mike Killeen will be trying to qualify for the Saturday night finals in the high school mile event of the Oakland Indoor track and field meet tomorrow in the Coliseum Arena. It will be the trio's first try at an indoor mile in which there are 11 laps instead of the customary four of an outdoor track.

TO PLAYERS

Baseball Owners Offer Settlement

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a dramatic, history-making proposal, the major league baseball owners have made a bid to reach a three-year settlement with the players that would enable spring training to open on time.

On the heels of a directive by the league presidents instructing all major league clubs not to open spring training prior to March 1 until a settlement is reached, the owners made a proposal which would enable the players to bring their salary disputes to arbitration for the first time.

With the owners' new package on the table, the prospects for a settlement—perhaps as soon as the next few days—are considered good.

The owners made their new offer Thursday at their fourth meeting with the representatives of the Major League Players Association in the last nine days.

The action by league presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League ordering that the camps not be opened prior to March 1st without a settlement sounded a bit drastic.

But the presidents added, "No policy has been adopted at this time concerning the official opening of spring training camps on March 1."

That was the key phrase because there's no legal ramifications in refusing to open the league camps before March 1st. That's when the camps are scheduled to open according to the contracts.

In actual practice, most teams open camp—mainly for pitchers and catchers—before March 1st but until that date, it's not official.

If a settlement isn't reached by March 1st and the owners then refuse to open the camps, it would be a serious situation. The players could claim a "lockout" since the individual players have contracts with the teams and it could lead to all kinds of litigations.

However, at this point, there seems to be a good chance that the negotiations for a threeyear basic contract will be wrapped up long before March 1st.

Feeney said in a statement, "I can report we had a meeting at which we put on the table a comprehensive offer which involves arbitration and that is something the players have been seeking."

Marvin Miller, Executive Director of the Major League Players Association, said, "We will give it consideration."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, added, "We sincerely hope this offer proves to be the instrument that brings us to agreement. This is the first proposal in the history of baseball in which salary arbitration has been put on the table."

The questions of "free agency" (modifying the reserve clause) and arbitration of salary disputes had been considered two of the thorniest issues dividing the two sides.

The players compromised on the free agency question on Jan. 5th when they proposed that it be set aside for a year for study while the rest of the issues are decided immediately. However, the owners would like to delay action on the reserve clause for the three-year length of the contract instead of only one year.

The owners' concession on the arbitration issue removes a stumbling block in the negotiations. The players have wanted arbitration to settle salary disputes but the owners had opposed it in the past.

East All-Stars Upset West Five

By TOM THOMPSON

The East scored an upset of sorts last night, drubbing the West, 114-97, in the third annual East-West College All-Star Basketball Classic at Terra Linda High School.

About 850 fans watched the game matching some of the nation's top ex-collegiate players currently in the Army.

The West was favored to make it three victories in a row this year, but was dealt a serious blow when high scoring Jere Shockey sprained his ankle yesterday afternoon. Shockey had been averaging about 20 points a game, according to Army coach Hal Fischer.

East's Paul Andrews also damaged the West's fortunes, scoring 26 points, topping the game's scorers for the second year in a row. Andrews shot an astounding 12 of 14 from the floor, or 86 per cent. Tommy Long tied for game honors, scoring 26 for the West.

The East came out of a see-saw first quarter with a six-point bulge, and never relinquished the lead. After falling behind by 10 midway through the second quarter, the West couldn't get any closer as the East continued to build its lead.

The Easterners went ahead by 21 early in the second half, saw the lead dwindle to 10 again, then proceeded to rattle off 10 straight points to make the score 91-70 with 8:10 left to play.

In a preliminary game, Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team recorded its lowest defensive total of the year in smothering Terra Linda, 63-24. Gary Johnson scored 19 points and Greg Bullian 14 for the Wildcats, who lead the Marin County Athletic League at 11-0.

Giants' Spring Camp Plans In Question

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Giants hold their last pre-spring training baseball workout at Candlestick Park today without knowing when they can plan on heading for Arizona.

Major league club owners, including the Giants Horace C. Stoneham, have informed players that the opening of spring camps has been at least temporarily delayed. The Giants were scheduled to greet pitchers and catchers Feb. 19 at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Several Giants players living in this area have been working out at Candlestick over the past few weeks. Today's session was the last scheduled and was not cancelled when word of the possible spring training lockout broke Thursday.

Hart, 31, has been trying to regain his third base job for the past three seasons since undergoing shoulder surgery. Last year, he hit .323 at Phoenix and then batted .304 in 24 games with the Giants at the end of the campaign.

The 26-year-old Sadek has spent the last three of his six pro seasons in the Giants farm system. He'll be a candidate for the backup catcher's job.

In a trade yesterday involving minor league players, the Giants sent pitcher Lee (Skip) Pitlock from their Phoenix farm team to the Chicago White Sox and received pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and infielder Glenn Redmon, who both played for Tucson of the Pacific Coast League last year.

Carpenters Triumph In Double Overtime

Jerry Molinari scored 17 points last night to help overcome a 19-point effort by John Shaw and lead George and Charles Carpentry to a 50-49 double-overtime victory over Hub City in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league.

In other games, Larry Mowell scored 20 points as Marin Supply whipped Jolly Roger, 42-34; the All-Catholic All-Stars defeated the Washouts, 51-42; and Ritter's Critters and The Seasons won by forfeit over McPhail's and Head Start, respectively.

Drake Cagers Visit Marin 'Cats Tonight

First Place On Line In Prep Clash

Drake High School will visit Marin Catholic tonight at 8 o'clock in a crucial Marin County Athletic League basketball game, and who wins will be determined chiefly by whose type of game is being played.

If the league-leading Pirates (7-2) can run with the freedom they've enjoyed most of the year, they can expect to win, but if the patient Wildcats (6-3) can slow down the tempo, an upset may be at hand.

In other games tonight, San Rafael visits Terra Linda, Novato travels to San Marin, and Redwood meets Tamalpais at College of Marin, all at 8 o'clock.

Marin Catholic has won five games in a row, while Drake has taken its last four and seven of its last eight. The similarity ends there.

The 'Cats are a ball-control oriented team. They took only 12 shots in the second half in beating Novato Tuesday, 43-27. They are averaging only 45 points a game, least in the league, but are giving up just 43, the best. Drake, by contrast, scores 69 per outing.

The Pirates have the guns. Center John Channell is the MCAL's fourth-leading scorer at 16.1 and a top rebounder as well. Forward Eddie Joe Chavez is averaging 14.3, and forward Don Asay and guard Rick Herbert are averaging 30 points between them since both became starters four games ago.

Yet, Marin Catholic coach Dave Gonsalves seemed most worried about the man who doesn't score, senior playmaking guard Dan Howard. "I coached him when he was a freshman on the (undefeated) Class C team at Marin Catholic," he said. "I'd like to have him now."

Gonsalves may not, but he has some compensating treasures, like sophomore forward Mike Mahoney, who is shooting 55 per cent from the floor in league play. Mahoney's 11.8 average accounts for more than a quarter of the Wildcats' scoring.

Redwood (6-3) will be hoping for a Marin Catholic victory, which will knot the race among three teams at 7-3 if the Giants beat Tam (2-7). Redwood then will seek to dispose of Marin Catholic in a game at Redwood Wednesday.

Novato (4-5) and San Marin (4-5) both were contenders until midseason, but the Hornets have lost four in a row and the Mustangs have dropped two straight.

San Rafael (3-6) broke a six-game losing streak Tuesday and now goes against slumping Terra Linda (4-5), loser of two in a row. The six-team race at midseason became a three-team affair in just a week, as Novato, San Marin and Terra Linda each dropped a pair and fell from contention.

NICKLAUS IN FIRST PLACE

'Names' Among Leaders In Hope Golf Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — With so many young players on the PGA tour these days, especially on the winter California circuit, it seems strange to see such old familiar names as Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer, Billy Casper and Doug Sanders up there among the leaders.

It's not strange, though, to find Jack Nicklaus at the head of the pack. That's exactly where he is after two rounds of the 90-hole $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Jack, who blitzed Indian Wells with an opening round 64 Wednesday, shot "only" a 70 at tougher Tamarisk in the second round. That put his 36-hole score at 10 under par 134.

Nicklaus neither lost nor gained ground on the field, from the first to second rounds. He was two ahead after 18 and was still two ahead after 36. Only now the players closest to him are veterans Brewer, Casper and Sanders and Palmer and youngster Allen Miller at 137.

East All-Stars Upset West Five

By TOM THOMPSON

The East scored an upset of sorts last night, drubbing the West, 114-97, in the third annual East-West College All-Star Basketball Classic at Terra Linda High School.

About 850 fans watched the game matching some of the nation's top ex-collegiate players currently in the Army.

The West was favored to make it three victories in a row this year, but was dealt a serious blow when high scoring Jere Shockey sprained his ankle yesterday afternoon. Shockey had been averaging about 20 points a game, according to Army coach Hal Fischer.

East's Paul Andrews also damaged the West's fortunes, scoring 26 points, topping the game's scorers for the second year in a row. Andrews shot an astounding 12 of 14 from the floor, or 86 per cent. Tommy Long tied for game honors, scoring 26 for the West.

The East came out of a see-saw first quarter with a six-point bulge, and never relinquished the lead. After falling behind by 10 midway through the second quarter, the West couldn't get any closer as the East continued to build its lead.

The Easterners went ahead by 21 early in the second half, saw the lead dwindle to 10 again, then proceeded to rattle off 10 straight points to make the score 91-70 with 8:10 left to play.

In a preliminary game, Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team recorded its lowest defensive total of the year in smothering Terra Linda, 63-24. Gary Johnson scored 19 points and Greg Bullian 14 for the Wildcats, who lead the Marin County Athletic League at 11-0.

Drake Cagers Visit Marin 'Cats Tonight

First Place On Line In Prep Clash

Drake High School will visit Marin Catholic tonight at 8 o'clock in a crucial Marin County Athletic League basketball game, and who wins will be determined chiefly by whose type of game is being played.

If the league-leading Pirates (7-2) can run with the freedom they've enjoyed most of the year, they can expect to win, but if the patient Wildcats (6-3) can slow down the tempo, an upset may be at hand.

In other games tonight, San Rafael visits Terra Linda, Novato travels to San Marin, and Redwood meets Tamalpais at College of Marin, all at 8 o'clock.

Marin Catholic has won five games in a row, while Drake has taken its last four and seven of its last eight. The similarity ends there.

The 'Cats are a ball-control oriented team. They took only 12 shots in the second half in beating Novato Tuesday, 43-27. They are averaging only 45 points a game, least in the league, but are giving up just 43, the best. Drake, by contrast, scores 69 per outing.

The Pirates have the guns. Center John Channell is the MCAL's fourth-leading scorer at 16.1 and a top rebounder as well. Forward Eddie Joe Chavez is averaging 14.3, and forward Don Asay and guard Rick Herbert are averaging 30 points between them since both became starters four games ago.

Yet, Marin Catholic coach Dave Gonsalves seemed most worried about the man who doesn't score, senior playmaking guard Dan Howard. "I coached him when he was a freshman on the (undefeated) Class C team at Marin Catholic," he said. "I'd like to have him now."

Gonsalves may not, but he has some compensating treasures, like sophomore forward Mike Mahoney, who is shooting 55 per cent from the floor in league play. Mahoney's 11.8 average accounts for more than a quarter of the Wildcats' scoring.

Redwood (6-3) will be hoping for a Marin Catholic victory, which will knot the race among three teams at 7-3 if the Giants beat Tam (2-7). Redwood then will seek to dispose of Marin Catholic in a game at Redwood Wednesday.

Novato (4-5) and San Marin (4-5) both were contenders until midseason, but the Hornets have lost four in a row and the Mustangs have dropped two straight.

San Rafael (3-6) broke a six-game losing streak Tuesday and now goes against slumping Terra Linda (4-5), loser of two in a row. The six-team race at midseason became a three-team affair in just a week, as Novato, San Marin and Terra Linda each dropped a pair and fell from contention.

NICKLAUS IN FIRST PLACE

'Names' Among Leaders In Hope Golf Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — With so many young players on the PGA tour these days, especially on the winter California circuit, it seems strange to see such old familiar names as Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer, Billy Casper and Doug Sanders up there among the leaders.

It's not strange, though, to find Jack Nicklaus at the head of the pack. That's exactly where he is after two rounds of the 90-hole $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Jack, who blitzed Indian Wells with an opening round 64 Wednesday, shot "only" a 70 at tougher Tamarisk in the second round. That put his 36-hole score at 10 under par 134.

Nicklaus neither lost nor gained ground on the field, from the first to second rounds. He was two ahead after 18 and was still two ahead after 36. Only now the players closest to him are veterans Brewer, Casper and Sanders and Palmer and youngster Allen Miller at 137.

Baseball Owners Offer Settlement

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a dramatic, history-making proposal, the major league baseball owners have made a bid to reach a three-year settlement with the players that would enable spring training to open on time.

On the heels of a directive by the league presidents instructing all major league clubs not to open spring training prior to March 1 until a settlement is reached, the owners made a proposal which would enable the players to bring their salary disputes to arbitration for the first time.

With the owners' new package on the table, the prospects for a settlement—perhaps as soon as the next few days—are considered good.

The owners made their new offer Thursday at their fourth meeting with the representatives of the Major League Players Association in the last nine days.

The action by league presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League ordering that the camps not be opened prior to March 1st without a settlement sounded a bit drastic.

But the presidents added, "No policy has been adopted at this time concerning the official opening of spring training camps on March 1."

That was the key phrase because there's no legal ramifications in refusing to open the league camps before March 1st. That's when the camps are scheduled to open according to the contracts.

In actual practice, most teams open camp—mainly for pitchers and catchers—before March 1st but until that date, it's not official.

If a settlement isn't reached by March 1st and the owners then refuse to open the camps, it would be a serious situation. The players could claim a "lockout" since the individual players have contracts with the teams and it could lead to all kinds of litigations.

However, at this point, there seems to be a good chance that the negotiations for a threeyear basic contract will be wrapped up long before March 1st.

Feeney said in a statement, "I can report we had a meeting at which we put on the table a comprehensive offer which involves arbitration and that is something the players have been seeking."

Marvin Miller, Executive Director of the Major League Players Association, said, "We will give it consideration."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, added, "We sincerely hope this offer proves to be the instrument that brings us to agreement. This is the first proposal in the history of baseball in which salary arbitration has been put on the table."

The questions of "free agency" (modifying the reserve clause) and arbitration of salary disputes had been considered two of the thorniest issues dividing the two sides.

The players compromised on the free agency question on Jan. 5th when they proposed that it be set aside for a year for study while the rest of the issues are decided immediately. However, the owners would like to delay action on the reserve clause for the three-year length of the contract instead of only one year.

The owners' concession on the arbitration issue removes a stumbling block in the negotiations. The players have wanted arbitration to settle salary disputes but the owners had opposed it in the past.

Giants' Spring Camp Plans In Question

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Giants hold their last pre-spring training baseball workout at Candlestick Park today without knowing when they can plan on heading for Arizona.

Major league club owners, including the Giants Horace C. Stoneham, have informed players that the opening of spring camps has been at least temporarily delayed. The Giants were scheduled to greet pitchers and catchers Feb. 19 at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Several Giants players living in this area have been working out at Candlestick over the past few weeks. Today's session was the last scheduled and was not cancelled when word of the possible spring training lockout broke Thursday.

Hart, 31, has been trying to regain his third base job for the past three seasons since undergoing shoulder surgery. Last year, he hit .323 at Phoenix and then batted .304 in 24 games with the Giants at the end of the campaign.

The 26-year-old Sadek has spent the last three of his six pro seasons in the Giants farm system. He'll be a candidate for the backup catcher's job.

In a trade yesterday involving minor league players, the Giants sent pitcher Lee (Skip) Pitlock from their Phoenix farm team to the Chicago White Sox and received pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and infielder Glenn Redmon, who both played for Tucson of the Pacific Coast League last year.

Giants pitcher Jim Barr, the team's player representative, was released from St. Luke's Hospital here Thursday after a brief stay caused by a mild attack of appendicitis.

Carpenters Triumph In Double Overtime

Jerry Molinari scored 17 points last night to help overcome a 19-point effort by John Shaw and lead George and Charles Carpentry to a 50-49 double-overtime victory over Hub City in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league.

In other games, Larry Mowell scored 20 points as Marin Supply whipped Jolly Roger, 42-34; the All-Catholic All-Stars defeated the Washouts, 51-42; and Ritter's Critters and The Seasons won by forfeit over McPhail's and Head Start, respectively.

Finley Accepts Cronin's Order

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Charles O. Finley, sometime maverick owner of the world champion Oakland A's, yesterday calmly accepted American League president Joe Cronin's directive not to open spring training camp until an agreement is reached with the Players Association.

In revealing that he would abide by the advisory, Finley said, "The statement (by Cronin) speaks for itself. We have no further comment on it." He also said first baseman Mike Hegan has signed his 1972 contract and that former Milwaukee Brewer Billy Conigliaro may soon join the team.

Contract terms for the smooth-fielding Hegan were not disclosed, but factors surrounding the Conigliaro case were released. The outfielder asked Milwaukee yesterday to remove his name from the voluntary retired list.

Conigliaro jumped the team last June, saying he would never return to baseball. However, he sent a letter to the Brewer management applying for reinstatement so that he could sign a contract with the Oakland A's.

The A's received the negotiating rights to Conigliaro in a waiver deal and the Brewers received outfielder Ollie Brown from Oakland last July.

Brewer general manager Jim Wilson confirmed Conigliaro's request for reinstatement. Wilson said he is waiting for Conigliaro's letter to arrive before a settlement is made.

Conigliaro said he couldn't turn down a chance to play for the world champions.

Football

BALTIMORE — Baltimore general manager Joe Thomas traded defensive tackle Fred Miller to the Washington Redskins today for a future draft pick, leaving the Colts with only one ten-year veteran on the squad, tackle Chuck Hinton.

Miller, 32, the Colts' defensive captain and a starter his entire career, is the eighth veteran to be dealt to other clubs by Thomas in the last three weeks.

Miller, 6-3, 250 pounds, is regarded as one of the best defensive tackles in the game, an expert at playing against the run. He started every game in 1971 despite off-season surgery on both knees.

Thomas earlier sent quarterback John Unitas, running backs Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich, safety Jerry Logan, center Bill Curry, defensive lineman Billy Newsome nd offensive lineman Dan Sullivan to other National Football League teams.

Tennis

MIAMI — Margaret Smith Court scored her 56th straight victory last night to move into tonight's quarter-finals of the $30,000 Barnett Banks Tennis Classic at the Jockey Club. She defeated fellow Australian Kerry Harris, 6-4, 6-3.

Earlier, Rosemary Casals of Sausalito pounded Janet Newberry, 6-2, 7-5, in a great display of all-round shot making.

'Hardship' Draft Set By NBA On April 16

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association announced Thursday that once again undergraduates will be eligible for the draft under the league's "hardship" rules.

The draft will be held April 16th and the deadline for players applying for hardship status is March 30th.

For the first time hardship cases were eligible for the draft last year, along with seniors. Bob Mcadoo, rookie star with the Buffalo Braves, was the only member of the class of 1972 who made the grade in the NBA this season.

No discussion was held by the board of governors on merger planned with the American Basketball Association, instead, the agenda centered on the 1973 playoff pool.

A record $750,000 will be distributed among the clubs in the following manner:

. Highest won-lost percentage $25,000; highest won-lost percentage in each conference $20,000; other teams qualifying in the playoffs $12,500; conference semi-final winners $34,000 (losers get $30,000); conference finals: winners $43,500; losers $33,500; championship series: winner $100,000; loser $65,000.

Sonoma State Visits Davis Five Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Far Western Conference's leading scorers meet tonight as Sonoma State visits University of California at Davis in a game crucial to both teams in the tight basketball race.

Steve Tiedeman of the surprising Sonoma Cossacks leads FWC scorers with a 22.4-point average through seven conference games. The Cossacks, winless the last two seasons in the FWC, stand 5-1 now in a tie for first with Chico State.

Gary Fox has a 22-point average for the Davis Aggies, now 4-2 and alone in third place.

Chico State hosts Humboldt State, 1-5, and Sacramento State, 2-4, is at San Francisco State, 1-5, in other conference games tonight. Nonconference opponent Stanislaus State visits Hayward State, 3-3.

Dave Moore is Chico's leading FWC scorer, with 16 points per game, and leads conference rebounders. Reserve Arlandos Lee had the highest single-game point total so far in the FWC this year with 29 points against Sacramento last weekend and shared Player-of-the-Week honors with Bill Belander of Sonoma.

Seals Change Goalies But Still Lose

Combined AP & UPI

Marv Edwards took a turn in the nets to spell Gilles Meloche Thursday night. Edwards faced 32 shots and four of them got by him for a 4-0 victory by the Buffalo Sabres that handed the Seals their seventh straight loss.

The win put the Sabres back in fourth place in the East Division of the National Hockey League and dropped the Seals farther out of sight in the basement of the West.

Sabre goalie Dave Dryden picked up his third shutout of the season. He didn't have too difficult of an evening, turning back 24 California shots.

"I had a couple of guys who weren't skating at all. . . Maybe they were going at half speed," Glover said, refusing to use names. "But when they do that, nothing fits together."

Two California shots hit the post of the Sabres goal in the opening period but as Glover said "unfortunately, the post only counts in horseshores."

Today the Seals are licking their wounds on an off day before playing against the Blues in St. Louis Saturday and at Atlanta Sunday. Then it's home for six games in 14 days.

Score by periods:

Buffalo	2	0	2—4

First period — 1. Buffalo Wyrozub 3 (Pratt, Luce) 7:27; 2. Buffalo Rombough 2 (Harris, Lorentz) 9:19. Penalties — Atkinson (13:25), Pratt (19:26).

Third period — 3. Buffalo Robert 31 (Perreault, Ramsay) 2:23; 4. Buffalo Robert 32 (Ramsay, Hillman) 11:24. Penalties — Horton (15:26).

Shots on goal by:

California	7	10	7—24

the most ground with matching six under 66s at Tamarisk. Miller had a 67 at the same layout, Casper got a 68 and Brewer a 70.

Nicklaus, who won seven titles while playing in only 19 tournaments last year, is in his third event of 1973. He was second in the Los Angeles Open and won the Crosby in sudden death.

Jack said he wasn't unhappy with his second round 70 but noted "it could have been better if I made a few more putts." He said he didn't start to play well until he got to the back side. But by then, he wasn't in shape for a good round.

Nicklaus' longest birdie putt came on the first hole when "I wedged it up to 30 feet and tapped it in."

Palmer seemed the most excited of the others making a run at the lead, and who could blame him. Arnie hasn't had much luck putting for more than a year now, and he hasn't won a tourney title in 17 months. So when he dropped a few putts Thursday it seemed just like old times.

"For a change I made a few," said the man who has won the Hope four times since 1960. "This is really a simple game. If you make some putts, you score. I played very well in the first round (71) but I couldn't get the ball in the hole. But that's been a problem now for some time."

Casper, who now has shot two 68s, said his first round play was better but that he was happy about the second 68 because he really didn't have that many chances for birds.

"I made the ones I had a shot at," said Billy, third leading money winner of all time behind Nicklaus and Palmer. "I didn't have that many chances."

John Schlee, who snapped an eight-year slump last Sunday by winning the Hawaiian Open, checked in with a 68 at La Quinta and was all alone at 138, six under par and four strokes behind Nicklaus.

Orville Moody and Jim Wiechers followed at 139, while defending champ Bob Rosburg was at 143 and Lee Trevino at 144. Napa's Ron Cerrudo was at 146.

They play five rounds in the Hope, the first four rounds on four different courses, so there is a long way to go in the chase for the top prize of $32,000. The cut will be made after Saturday's fourth round to the low 70 and ties who will continue the struggle over Bermuda Dunes on Sunday.

The weather for the first round was cloudy but warm and 52 players in the starting field of 144 got in under par after Thursday's second round, played in 80 degree heat on a cloudless and nearly windless day. There were still 45 players under par for 36 holes.

Frisch Injured In Car Accident

ELKTON, Md. (UPI) — Baseball great Frankie Frisch, "The Fordham Flash," and a Hall of Famer was listed in very serious condition today after an auto crash near here.

Officials at Union Hospital said Frisch, a member of the celebrated "Gashouse Gang" of the St. Louis Cardinals four decades ago, was in the intensive care unit with internal injuries and multiple fractures.

Maryland State Police said his car went out of control on Interstate 95 after blowing a tire and struck an embankment. He was alone and apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, troopers said.

Frisch, 75, one of baseball's great second basemen, lives in Bradford, R.I. He compiled a lifetime batting average of .316, playing in the National League from 1919-1937 with the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, where he was player-manager from 1933-37, and manager only in 1938.

Warriors Find A Good Elixir

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Rest, contend Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee, is the ultimate elixir.

With four days off after playing eight games in 10 days, the Golden State Warriors bounced like Mexican beans Thursday night in defeating the Portland Trail Blazers 123-111.

Thurmond scored 39 points and Lee 21, both personal season highs, in giving the Warriors their second straight win. Golden State trounced Seattle by 22 points in their previous outing Saturday.

"We've got to start playing better basketball with the playoffs coming up," said Lee who also played an outstanding defensive game by keeping Portland's Sidney Wicks in check with 19 points.

Lee said his right foot, weakened by two injuries this season, is feeling better and so are his spirits.

"I get cortisone shots and they have helped," he said. "When I play a lot of games in a row, it (the right foot) bothers me."

"We didn't play well until the last two minutes of the third quarter," Thurmond said. "We were pitiful until then."

Golden State went on an 18-6 binge to open the fourth period and broke from an 88-88 tie into a commanding 106-94 advantage. Rick Barry, who rested the entire second period, tallied six points and Thurmond eight during the spurt.

Barry finished with 26 points. Portland's Geoff Petrie bucketed 42 points to take game scoring honors.

The Warriors played without Joe Ellis and Fritz Williams who are recovering from injuries suffered in a loss to Kansas City last Thursday.

Golden State now heads for the shores of Lake Michigan to engage the Milwaukee Bucks on nationwide television Saturday and play the following afternoon against the Bulls in Chicago.

49ers Hike Reserve Seat Ticket Prices

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have raised the price of reserved seats for their home National Football League games by $1 to $8.50.

The increase announced yesterday will apply to all but about 2,000 of Candlestick Park's 61,214 seats.

General admission will remain at $5.50, but mezzanine boxes will go up by $2 to $12, and the season ticket package will be up $1.50 to $76.50 for the home schedule of nine games, including two exhibitions.

"Our cost has gone up 39 per cent since 1970," said Lou Spadia, 49er president. He said the players' payroll was $650,000 higher than in 1970 and the cost of operating the park had gone up $103,000 in one season to $280,000 last year.

"Eight other teams in the NFL have announced price increases already," Spadia said, "and several others are expected to do so soon."

Finley Accepts Cronin's Order

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Charles O. Finley, sometime maverick owner of the world champion Oakland A's, yesterday calmly accepted American League president Joe Cronin's directive not to open spring training camp until an agreement is reached with the Players Association.

In revealing that he would abide by the advisory, Finley said, "The statement (by Cronin) speaks for itself. We have no further comment on it." He also said first baseman Mike Hegan has signed his 1972 contract and that former Milwaukee Brewer Billy Conigliaro may soon join the team.

Contract terms for the smooth-fielding Hegan were not disclosed, but factors surrounding the Conigliaro case were released. The outfielder asked Milwaukee yesterday to remove his name from the voluntary retired list.

Conigliaro jumped the team last June, saying he would never return to baseball. However, he sent a letter to the Brewer management applying for reinstatement so that he could sign a contract with the Oakland A's.

The A's received the negotiating rights to Conigliaro in a waiver deal and the Brewers received outfielder Ollie Brown from Oakland last July.

Brewer general manager Jim Wilson confirmed Conigliaro's request for reinstatement. Wilson said he is waiting for Conigliaro's letter to arrive before a settlement is made.

Conigliaro said he couldn't turn down a chance to play for the world champions.

Football

BALTIMORE — Baltimore general manager Joe Thomas traded defensive tackle Fred Miller to the Washington Redskins today for a future draft pick, leaving the Colts with only one ten-year veteran on the squad, tackle Chuck Hinton.

Miller, 32, the Colts' defensive captain and a starter his entire career, is the eighth veteran to be dealt to other clubs by Thomas in the last three weeks.

Miller, 6-3, 250 pounds, is regarded as one of the best defensive tackles in the game, an expert at playing against the run. He started every game in 1971 despite off-season surgery on both knees.

Thomas earlier sent quarterback John Unitas, running backs Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich, safety Jerry Logan, center Bill Curry, defensive lineman Billy Newsome nd offensive lineman Dan Sullivan to other National Football League teams.

Tennis

MIAMI — Margaret Smith Court scored her 56th straight victory last night to move into tonight's quarter-finals of the $30,000 Barnett Banks Tennis Classic at the Jockey Club. She defeated fellow Australian Kerry Harris, 6-4, 6-3.

Earlier, Rosemary Casals of Sausalito pounded Janet Newberry, 6-2, 7-5, in a great display of all-round shot making.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. —The executive board of the International Olympic Committee yesterday rejected a personal appeal by the United States to reverse the result of the controversial Olympic basketball title game in Munich last September in which the Soviet Union defeated the United States 51-50.

'Hardship' Draft Set By NBA On April 16

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association announced Thursday that once again undergraduates will be eligible for the draft under the league's "hardship" rules.

The draft will be held April 16th and the deadline for players applying for hardship status is March 30th.

For the first time hardship cases were eligible for the draft last year, along with seniors. Bob Mcadoo, rookie star with the Buffalo Braves, was the only member of the class of 1972 who made the grade in the NBA this season.

No discussion was held by the board of governors on merger planned with the American Basketball Association, instead, the agenda centered on the 1973 playoff pool.

A record $750,000 will be distributed among the clubs in the following manner:

. Highest won-lost percentage $25,000; highest won-lost percentage in each conference $20,000; other teams qualifying in the playoffs $12,500; conference semi-final winners $34,000 (losers get $30,000); conference finals: winners $43,500; losers $33,500; championship series: winner $100,000; loser $65,000.

Sonoma State Visits Davis Five Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Far Western Conference's leading scorers meet tonight as Sonoma State visits University of California at Davis in a game crucial to both teams in the tight basketball race.

Steve Tiedeman of the surprising Sonoma Cossacks leads FWC scorers with a 22.4-point average through seven conference games. The Cossacks, winless the last two seasons in the FWC, stand 5-1 now in a tie for first with Chico State.

Gary Fox has a 22-point average for the Davis Aggies, now 4-2 and alone in third place.

Chico State hosts Humboldt State, 1-5, and Sacramento State, 2-4, is at San Francisco State, 1-5, in other conference games tonight. Nonconference opponent Stanislaus State visits Hayward State, 3-3.

Dave Moore is Chico's leading FWC scorer, with 16 points per game, and leads conference rebounders. Reserve Arlandos Lee had the highest single-game point total so far in the FWC this year with 29 points against Sacramento last weekend and shared Player-of-the-Week honors with Bill Belander of Sonoma.

Seals Change Goalies But Still Lose

Combined AP & UPI

Marv Edwards took a turn in the nets to spell Gilles Meloche Thursday night. Edwards faced 32 shots and four of them got by him for a 4-0 victory by the Buffalo Sabres that handed the Seals their seventh straight loss.

The win put the Sabres back in fourth place in the East Division of the National Hockey League and dropped the Seals farther out of sight in the basement of the West.

Sabre goalie Dave Dryden picked up his third shutout of the season. He didn't have too difficult of an evening, turning back 24 California shots.

"I had a couple of guys who weren't skating at all... Maybe they were going at half speed," Glover said, refusing to use names. "But when they do that, nothing fits together."

Two California shots hit the post of the Sabres goal in the opening period but as Glover said "unfortunately, the post only counts in horseshores."

Today the Seals are licking their wounds on an off day before playing against the Blues in St. Louis Saturday and at Atlanta Sunday. Then it's home for six games in 14 days.

Score by periods:

Big Names Among Hope Leaders

the most ground with matching six under 66s at Tamarisk. Miller had a 67 at the same layout, Casper got a 68 and Brewer a 70.

Nicklaus, who won seven titles while playing in only 19 tournaments last year, is in his third event of 1973. He was second in the Los Angeles Open and won the Crosby in sudden death.

Jack said he wasn't unhappy with his second round 70 but noted "it could have been better if I made a few more putts." He said he didn't start to play well until he got to the back side. But by then, he wasn't in shape for a good round.

Nicklaus' longest birdie putt came on the first hole when "I wedged it up to 30 feet and tapped it in."

Palmer seemed the most excited of the others making a run at the lead, and who could blame him. Arnie hasn't had much luck putting for more than a year now, and he hasn't won a tourney title in 17 months. So when he dropped a few putts Thursday it seemed just like old times.

"For a change I made a few," said the man who has won the Hope four times since 1960. "This is really a simple game. If you make some putts, you score. I played very well in the first round (71) but I couldn't get the ball in the hole. But that's been a problem now for some time."

Casper, who now has shot two 68s, said his first round play was better but that he was happy about the second 68 because he really didn't have that many chances for birds.

"I made the ones I had a shot at," said Billy, third leading money winner of all time behind Nicklaus and Palmer. "I didn't have that many chances."

John Schlee, who snapped an eight-year slump last Sunday by winning the Hawaiian Open, checked in with a 68 at La Quinta and was all alone at 138, six under par and four strokes behind Nicklaus.

Orville Moody and Jim Wiechers followed at 139, while defending champ Bob Rosburg was at 143 and Lee Trevino at 144. Napa's Ron Cerrudo was at 146.

They play five rounds in the Hope, the first four rounds on four different courses, so there is a long way to go in the chase for the top prize of $32,000. The cut will be made after Saturday's fourth round to the low 70 and ties who will continue the struggle over Bermuda Dunes on Sunday.

The weather for the first round was cloudy but warm and 52 players in the starting field of 144 got in under par after Thursday's second round, played in 80 degree heat on a cloudless and nearly windless day. There were still 45 players under par for 36 holes.

Frisch Injured In Car Accident

ELKTON, Md. (UPI) — Baseball great Frankie Frisch, "The Fordham Flash," and a Hall of Famer was listed in very serious condition today after an auto crash near here.

Officials at Union Hospital said Frisch, a member of the celebrated "Gashouse Gang" of the St. Louis Cardinals four decades ago, was in the intensive care unit with internal injuries and multiple fractures.

Maryland State Police said his car went out of control on Interstate 95 after blowing a tire and struck an embankment. He was alone and apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, troopers said.

Frisch, 75, one of baseball's great second basemen, lives in Bradford, R.I. He compiled a lifetime batting average of .316, playing in the National League from 1919-1937 with the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, where he was player-manager from 1933-37, and manager only in 1938.

Warriors Find A Good Elixir

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Rest, contend Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee, is the ultimate elixir.

With four days off after playing eight games in 10 days, the Golden State Warriors bounced like Mexican beans Thursday night in defeating the Portland Trail Blazers 123-111.

Thurmond scored 39 points and Lee 21, both personal season highs, in giving the Warriors their second straight win. Golden State trounced Seattle by 22 points in their previous outing Saturday.

"We've got to start playing better basketball with the playoffs coming up," said Lee who also played an outstanding defensive game by keeping Portland's Sidney Wicks in check with 19 points.

Lee said his right foot, weakened by two injuries this season, is feeling better and so are his spirits.

"I get cortisone shots and they have helped," he said. "When I play a lot of games in a row, it (the right foot) bothers me."

"We didn't play well until the last two minutes of the third quarter," Thurmond said. "We were pitiful until then."

Golden State went on an 18-6 binge to open the fourth period and broke from an 88-88 tie into a commanding 106-94 advantage. Rick Barry, who rested the entire second period, tallied six points and Thurmond eight during the spurt.

Barry finished with 26 points. Portland's Geoff Petrie bucketed 42 points to take game scoring honors.

The Warriors played without Joe Ellis and Fritz Williams who are recovering from injuries suffered in a loss to Kansas City last Thursday.

Golden State now heads for the shores of Lake Michigan to engage the Milwaukee Bucks on nationwide television Saturday and play the following afternoon against the Bulls in Chicago.

49ers Hike Reserve Seat Ticket Prices

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have raised the price of reserved seats for their home National Football League games by $1 to $8.50.

The increase announced yesterday will apply to all but about 2,000 of Candlestick Park's 61,214 seats.

General admission will remain at $5.50, but mezzanine boxes will go up by $2 to $12, and the season ticket package will be up $1.50 to $76.50 for the home schedule of nine games, including two exhibitions.

"Our cost has gone up 39 per cent since 1970," said Lou Spadia, 49er president. He said the players' payroll was $650,000 higher than in 1970 and the cost of operating the park had gone up $103,000 in one season to $280,000 last year.

"Eight other teams in the NFL have announced price increases already," Spadia said, "and several others are expected to do so soon."

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

A Week's Time Of Office Work

I've had the Department of Fish and Game office at Yountville to work in this past week. With the rains and winds, I guess I didn't miss much in Marin County.

Here's the general fish and game news on a statewide scale:

The California Fish and Game Commission will be asked to outlaw the "selling of" or "possession of" blank fishing and hunting licenses at their meeting today in San Diego.

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game is requesting the commission to publish notice of its intention of adopting regulations requiring that hunting and fishing licenses contain complete information about the applicant before they are validated. Fish and game wardens have been finding blank licenses in the possession of hunters and fishermen. There is evidence of deliberate attempts to afford several persons the opportunity to fish or hunt for the price of one license.

The addition to the California Administrative Code would require completion of the application with the following information: the true name, residence address, year of birth, height, color of eyes and hair, weight and sex.

NO GENERAL COOT depredation order will be issued in California this year. Depredation permits may be issued on individual applications, the DFG reminds landowners. In cases where damage has been sustained from coots, landowners or tenants may apply for permits from the Department of Fish and Game or the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Permits where necessary will be issued by the fisheries and wildlife offices in Sacramento. Coots are particularly troublesome this time of year because they feed heavily on young wheat and pasturage.

A limited number of copies of a new Department of Fish and Game publication called, "Ecological Studies of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Estuary," is available to interested persons. A result of 10 years of intensive study of the Delta, the report summarizes knowledge of the principle fish and wildlife resources of the estuary, their ecological relationships and their environmental requirements. John B. Skinner, senior fisheries biologist with the DFG, compiled the 94-page report. Single copies may be obtained without charge by writing the Anadromous Fisheries Branch, Department of Fish and Game, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, 95814.

Striped bass angling was better during the year than in many years. Ocean sports anglers landed an estimated 230,000 salmon, second only to 1971's record 255,000 and the catch included a record 200,000 kings. Commercial troll landings of salmon were at the lowest level since 1957, however.

Steelhead runs in the upper Sacramento River system during the fall of the year were about 50 per cent better than those of the previous year, and restoration of runs in the San Joaquin River system had progressed to the point that some spawning area closures could be lifted. It was another record year for spring run kings on the Trinity.

FISH SCREENING programs begun in 1967 and involving eight major diversions and the expenditure of $4 million will be completed early this year. The largest in the program, the $2.5 million Glenn-Colusa Irrigation District screen, which will save at least 10 million salmon and steelhead fingerlings annually, was completed in April.

Arrests for fish and game violations during the 12-month period through November were up nearly 10 per cent to 16,330. Among other activities, wardens broke up a ring of abalone poachers and won out-of-court settlements totaling $21,000 in ocean pollution cases.

IN THE HUNTER safety training program, a record 62,038 persons received instruction on how to handle and use firearms safely. A grand total of 633,614 students now have been trained in hunter safety since the inception of the program 19 years ago.

During the year 729 sportsmen and other interested persons were certified as qualified instructors, bringing to 3,412 the number of volunteers serving the program.

HUNTER SUCCESS was mixed. Waterfowl populations were again at high levels, and hunters used public areas at a record rate, averaging about half a bird per hunter more than the year before. However, drought conditions limited success with upland game, and deer tag returns indicated a slight decrease in the deer take.

Reestablishment of the California bighorn sheep in the northeast moved forward when the sheep transplanted from British Columbia produced four lambs, two of which survived.

A count of sea otters produced the highest number (1,060) to date, and surveys of California brown pelicans indicated increased nesting success.

LATE NOTE: Brice Pittman caught a 163-pound sturgeon at the "birdcage" off Loch Lomond harbor last Monday. That's quite a fish.

Steelers Dismiss Sumner

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Assistant coach Charley Sumner has been fired by the Pittsburgh Steelers, it was reported today.

No announcement was made by the National Football League club of the dismissal, and club officials were not available for comment.

Coach Chuck Noll left on a 10-day vacation in Florida after notifying Sumner of his dismissal, and Sumner was reported to be in St. Louis for a job interview with Don Coryell, recently appointed coach of the Cardinals.

Sumner, a graduate of William and Mary College, coached the Steeler linebackers last year. Prior to that, he coached the defensive backfield, including linebackers. His responsibility was lessened a year ago when Noll hired Bud Carson and placed him in charge of the secondary.

Sumner, a native of Radford, Va., played with the Chicago Bears and Minnesota Vikings and started his coaching career with the Oakland Raiders in 1963.

FLYWEIGHT CHAMP KEEPS BOXING TITLE

BANGKOK (UPI) — World flyweight champion Venice Bor Kor Saw of Thailand defeated challenger Erbito Salavaria of the Philippines on a unanimous 15-round decision tonight at the indoor Kittikachorn Stadium.

The bout was extremely one-sided, with the champion never relinquishing the initiative which he maintained from the opening bell right up to the finish.

Santa Venetia Wins Girls' Gymnastics

Some 55 girls from six junior high and middle schools in Marin competed in the meet, designed to give inexperienced gymnasts a taste of competition before judges. No individual championships were at stake. The next meet will be at Vallecito Junior High in San Rafael Thursday, and will involve vaulting.

Atlanta's Woes With Defense

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If the best defense is a good offense, why then are the Atlanta Hawks only slightly better than a breakeven ball club?

They have a high-scoring aggregation built around "Super Lou" Hudson and "Pistol Pete" Maravich, a couple of shooters par excellence. But Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons hasn't figured out yet whom to build his defense around. And it's killing the Hawks.

Thursday night was a good example. Hudson canned 38 points and Maravich 37 in a 132-point output by the Hawks. But Atlanta lost 136-132 to the Cleveland Cavaliers in overtime.

"We've got to get some players to play defense," wailed Fitzsimmons. "We don't seem to have any pride in our defense. We have great individual offensive talent in Hudson and Maravich, and that's why we score so much. But how are we going to win when we give up so many points?

"I don't want to take anything away from Cleveland. They simply outplayed us and got the clutch baskets when they needed them."

The clutch baskets in the overtime were bucketed by Barry Clemens, who took eight shots and scored six of the Cavaliers 11 points.

Clemens' jumper brought Cleveland to within two points of the Hawks and, after Austin Carr tied the score, Clemens' layup put the Cavaliers ahead 132-130. Two free throws by Clemens with four seconds left gave Cleveland another boost and Carr added two more charity points at the buzzer. Carr was the Cavaliers' high man with 38 points.

The lead changed hands 24 times in the closely-fought contest, which saw Atlanta hit 59 per cent of its floor shots and Cleveland 55 per cent.

The Hawks led 103-97 early in the fourth quarter but had to depend on Hudson's basket with 43 seconds left to tie the score at 124-124 at the end of regulation play.

The loss dropped the Hawks five and one-half games behind Baltimore in the National Basketball Association's Central Division standings. Cleveland remains on the bottom of the division, 14 and one-half games off the pace.

In the two other NBA games Thursday night, Golden State defeated Portland 123-111 and Phoenix beat Seattle 125-112.

Charlie Scott's 28 points led a balanced Phoenix attack which capitalized on cold shooting by Seattle to down the SuperSonics easily and snap a two-game losing streak for the Suns.

Winnipeg Protects Slender West Lead

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Winnipeg Jets, led by Bobby Hull, are zealously protecting the top spot in the World Hockey Association's Western Division that they have held for virtually all of the season.

In danger of having their lead narrowed to a single point over Houston after dropping a 5-2 decision to the Aeros Wednesday night, the Jets rebounded for a 3-1 triumph at Houston Thursday night to boost their first-place advantage once again to five points.

As a bonus for Winnipeg, the third-place Minnesota Fighting Saints fell eight points off the pace by losing at Los Angeles, 3-1.

In other WHA action Thursday night, the New York Raiders edged the Ottawa Nationals, 3-2, and the Chicago Cougars beat the Quebec Nordiques, 5-2.

Hull scored the winning goal for Winnipeg, his 29th of the season, at 12:52 of the final period after Danny Johnson had given the Jets a 1-0 lead midway through the second session.

Gary Veneruzzo scored his 34th and 35th goals of the season in the third period as Los Angeles ran up its fifth consecutive victory by beating Minnesota.

Gene Peacosh scored a power play goal at 14:09 of the final period to lift the Raiders over Ottawa and Rick Morris scored the first two goals of the game as Chicago beat Quebec for its seventh victory in the last 11 games.

New Mexico Cagers Get Reinstatement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A meeting behind a judge's closed doors Thursday led to the immediate reinstatement of New Mexico State University (NMSU) basketball players John Williamson and Roland "Tree" Grant.

Despite a court injunction Feb. 2 against a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) ban on the two, for allegedly taking excessive financial aid, they were not allowed to play.

The injunction came after Richard G. Phillips, attorney for the two, filed a $2.5 million suit against the NCAA seeking their reinstatement.

When they were not reinstated, Phillips asked that the NCAA be held in contempt of Common Pleas Court. Called before the court, NCAA attorney W. Charles Hogg Jr., Phillips and Judge Herbert Levin met in his chambers for 3 ½ hours.

Hogg later emerged to say that Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary, had sent the following telegram to Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, the president of NMSU in Las Cruces:

"As you know, on Feb. 2, 1973, the NCAA was ordered by the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia ... to not further prohibit Grant and Williamson from participating in intercollegiate athletics. As we informed your counsel last Friday, the NCAA intends to fully comply with the court's order so long as it remains in effect. We are advised by counsel that they are uncertain whether the order is now in effect. However, until the situation is clarified and with next Wednesday's hearing, the position of the NCAA remains the same: that Grant and Williamson are not prohibited by the NCAA from participating in athletics in any NCAA event and advice verbal or written to the contrary remains suspended until further notice."

Thomas, whose school had balked at letting the players participate when the injunction was first issued, said later that Williamson and Grant were reinstated on orders from Byers.

Both players attended the hearing. Grant, 20, is from Philadelphia and Williamson, 20, is from New Haven, Conn.

Dallas Aides: 1 Quits, Another Is Dismissed

DALLAS (UPI) — One Dallas Cowboy assistant coach quit and another was fired Thursday in the midst of a reorganization by Coach Tom Landry.

"In Bobby's case, his job was just eliminated," said Landry. "We're realigning our staff and we decided to eliminate that spot. We plan to have seven coaches next season, though the ones we have might be in different capacities than they now hold."

Renfro hopes to go into private business in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and Franklin is seeking employment with another team.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

A Week's Time Of Office Work

I've had the Department of Fish and Game office at Yountville to work in this past week. With the rains and winds, I guess I didn't miss much in Marin County.

Here's the general fish and game news on a statewide scale:

The California Fish and Game Commission will be asked to outlaw the "selling of" or "possession of" blank fishing and hunting licenses at their meeting today in San Diego.

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game is requesting the commission to publish notice of its intention of adopting regulations requiring that hunting and fishing licenses contain complete information about the applicant before they are validated. Fish and game wardens have been finding blank licenses in the possession of hunters and fishermen. There is evidence of deliberate attempts to afford several persons the opportunity to fish or hunt for the price of one license.

The addition to the California Administrative Code would require completion of the application with the following information: the true name, residence address, year of birth, height, color of eyes and hair, weight and sex.

NO GENERAL COOT depredation order will be issued in California this year. Depredation permits may be issued on individual applications, the DFG reminds landowners. In cases where damage has been sustained from coots, landowners or tenants may apply for permits from the Department of Fish and Game or the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Permits where necessary will be issued by the fisheries and wildlife offices in Sacramento. Coots are particularly troublesome this time of year because they feed heavily on young wheat and pasturage.

A limited number of copies of a new Department of Fish and Game publication called, "Ecological Studies of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Estuary," is available to interested persons. A result of 10 years of intensive study of the Delta, the report summarizes knowledge of the principle fish and wildlife resources of the estuary, their ecological relationships and their environmental requirements. John B. Skinner, senior fisheries biologist with the DFG, compiled the 94-page report. Single copies may be obtained without charge by writing the Anadromous Fisheries Branch, Department of Fish and Game, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, 95814.

Striped bass angling was better during the year than in many years. Ocean sports anglers landed an estimated 230,000 salmon, second only to 1971's record 255,000 and the catch included a record 200,000 kings. Commercial troll landings of salmon were at the lowest level since 1957, however.

Steelhead runs in the upper Sacramento River system during the fall of the year were about 50 per cent better than those of the previous year, and restoration of runs in the San Joaquin River system had progressed to the point that some spawning area closures could be lifted. It was another record year for spring run kings on the Trinity.

FISH SCREENING programs begun in 1967 and involving eight major diversions and the expenditure of $4 million will be completed early this year. The largest in the program, the $2.5 million Glenn-Colusa Irrigation District screen, which will save at least 10 million salmon and steelhead fingerlings annually, was completed in April.

Arrests for fish and game violations during the 12-month period through November were up nearly 10 per cent to 16,330. Among other activities, wardens broke up a ring of abalone poachers and won out-of-court settlements totaling $21,000 in ocean pollution cases.

IN THE HUNTER safety training program, a record 62,038 persons received instruction on how to handle and use firearms safely. A grand total of 633,614 students now have been trained in hunter safety since the inception of the program 19 years ago.

During the year 729 sportsmen and other interested persons were certified as qualified instructors, bringing to 3,412 the number of volunteers serving the program.

HUNTER SUCCESS was mixed. Waterfowl populations were again at high levels, and hunters used public areas at a record rate, averaging about half a bird per hunter more than the year before. However, drought conditions limited success with upland game, and deer tag returns indicated a slight decrease in the deer take.

Reestablishment of the California bighorn sheep in the northeast moved forward when the sheep transplanted from British Columbia produced four lambs, two of which survived.

A count of sea otters produced the highest number (1,060) to date, and surveys of California brown pelicans indicated increased nesting success.

LATE NOTE: Brice Pittman caught a 163-pound sturgeon at the "birdcage" off Loch Lomond harbor last Monday. That's quite a fish.

Steelers Dismiss Sumner

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Assistant coach Charley Sumner has been fired by the Pittsburgh Steelers, it was reported today.

No announcement was made by the National Football League club of the dismissal, and club officials were not available for comment.

Coach Chuck Noll left on a 10-day vacation in Florida after notifying Sumner of his dismissal, and Sumner was reported to be in St. Louis for a job interview with Don Coryell, recently appointed coach of the Cardinals.

Sumner, a graduate of William and Mary College, coached the Steeler linebackers last year. Prior to that, he coached the defensive backfield, including linebackers. His responsibility was lessened a year ago when Noll hired Bud Carson and placed him in charge of the secondary.

Sumner, a native of Radford, Va., played with the Chicago Bears and Minnesota Vikings and started his coaching career with the Oakland Raiders in 1963.

However, until the situation is clarified and with next Wednesday's hearing, the position of the NCAA remains the same: that Grant and Williamson are not prohibited by the NCAA from participating in athletics in any NCAA event and advice verbal or written to the contrary remains suspended until further notice."

Thomas, whose school had balked at letting the players participate when the injunction was first issued, said later that Williamson and Grant were reinstated on orders from Byers.

Both players attended the hearing. Grant, 20, is from Philadelphia and Williamson, 20, is from New Haven, Conn.

Dallas Aides: 1 Quits, Another Is Dismissed

"In Bobby's case, his job was just eliminated," said Landry. "We're realigning our staff and we decided to eliminate that spot. We plan to have seven coaches next season, though the ones we have might be in different capacities than they now hold."

Renfro hopes to go into private business in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and Franklin is seeking employment with another team.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Tease for two! You'll have to use gray matter to figure out which names on today's list were people born this day.

1. Mia Farrow or Barbra Streisand looked at the calendar today, realizing she is now 27. This thin girl of stage, screen, and television is the real-life daughter of actress Maureen O'Sullian and once was married to Frank Sinatra. She now is attached to Andre Previn.

2. Mike Wallace or Roger Mudd is 45 today. He's a familiar face of nightly news from CBS, covering the Washington scene as a capitol correspondent or substituting for anchorman Walter Conkite, as well as holding down that slot on weekends.

3. Ronald Colman or Warner Baxter was that debonair Hollywood film star of the 1930s and 40s, who dazzled the ladies with his smile and well trimmed mustache. He starred in "If I Were King," "Talk of the Town," and "Tale of Two Cities."

4. Zachary Taylor or William Henry Harrison was the ninth president of the United States. The son of a wealthy Virginia plantation owner, he studied medicine for a time in college, then joined the U.S. Army. He won election as the Whig candidate in 1840, running on the slogan, "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too." He lived 68 years.

ANSWERS

1. Mia Farrow; 2. Roger Mudd; 3. Ronald Colman; 4. William Henry Harrison.

Science Is Fine, But Too Much In Bidding Is Confusing

One of the troubles with scientific bidding is that your partner may become confused. Another hazard is that an opponent may become confused. The most important moral of today's hand, however, has to do with medals. When they're getting ready to pin a medal on you, just smile modestly. Even a single word may queer the whole business.

FOUR HEARTS

North bid four hearts to show strong spade support and mild interest in a slam. North could not have a tremendous heart suit for he had opened with one no-trump.

South went past game by showing the clubs, and North had a chance to show the ace of diamonds. This was enough to coax South into a slam.

West opened the jack of diamonds and declarer took the ace of diamonds and the top hearts to get rid of a diamond. Then he led a low club from dummy.

FINE DEFENSE

East began a fine defense by discarding a heart instead of ruffing the club. South won with the king of clubs, led a trump to dummy's king and returned another low club.

East threw another heart, and South won with the ace of clubs. If East had ruffed either club, South would draw just one round of trumps, cash the top clubs and then crossruff.

REFUSES RUFF

After East refused to ruff a club with one of his worthless trumps, South was doomed. When declarer gave up the third round of clubs to West, back came a trump. This left only one trump in dummy, and South eventually lost a second club trick.

West was beginning to congratulate East on his magnificent restraint when East registered a complaint. "All this fancy bidding is very confusing," he growled. "I thought the contract was six no-trump. I wish I had known in time to ruff one of those clubs!"

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠ - K J 8
♥ - A K 7
♦ - A Q 4 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

This is a difficult hand to bid because you have fine strength in high cards but terrible distribution. You must mark time until you find out more about your partner's hand.

Porsche Audi Dealership Will Open March 1 In Mill Valley

A Porsche Audi dealership, the first in Marin County, will open on March 1 at Strawberry Town and Country Village in Mill Valley, where Mill Valley Volkswagen is now located.

To be called Felton Porsche Audi, it will be owned by Leon C. Felton, who operates both the Mill Valley Volkswagen and Felton's Volkswagen in San Rafael.

The appointment of Felton as the Porsche Audi dealer was announced by R. W. Hansen, president of Porsche Audi West, the northern Califonria, northern Nevada and Utah distributor for Porsche sports cars and Audi luxury sedans.

Felton opened his San Rafael Volkswagen agency in 1954, followed by the Mill Valley dealership a year later. Mill Valley Volkswagen will discontinue operations when he opens the Porsche Audi facility on March 1.

Thomas Teel, who joined the Felton organization as sales manager of Mill Valley Volkswagen in 1970, will be general manager of Felton Porsche Audi. He has been in the automobile business for seven years.

A NEW CABINET-MAKING firm called Kitchen Cabinets has opened at 60 Belvedere Street in San Rafael, with custom work on kitchen and bookcase cabinets as its specialty.

Owner of the business is Henry Kelman, 22, of San Anselmo, who has about four years of experience in cabinet making. He formerly worked for Craft Industries in San Leandro. Kelman is using plastic laminate in his remodeling work.

He leased 1,160 square feet of space at 60 Belvedere Street through the William Hoey Company of San Rafael.

CUSTOM PHOTO SERVICE, a new photo processing firm, will open at 48 Mark Drive in Northgate Industrial Park by the end of the month.

Owner Richard E. Changnon of San Francisco leased 1,160 square feet of space, also through William Hoey Company. Changnon, who has 20 years of experience in photography, operated a photo shop in San Anselmo about six years ago and has been free-lancing since then. His son, Charles, is helping him in the new business.

In another William Hoey lease, Digital Telephone Systems Inc. at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, got additional warehouse space at 134 Paul Drive. The company has office space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard and at 4460 Redwood Highway, all in Northgate Industrial Park.

GEM AUTO SALES, a San Rafael used car sales firm at 1530 Fourth Street, has expanded into adjoining property, almost doubling its space.

Owners Richard and Joan McDonald of San Rafael, who have operated Gem Auto Sales for 14 years, took over the building and lot at 1532 Fourth Street, formerly occupied by Fun World motor home sales, which folded last year.

Helping Mr. and Mrs. McDonald is salesman Robert Nelson, who has been with the firm for six years. "The expansion permits better display and a wider selection for our customers," said Mrs. McDonald.

LYN BOBO and Marvin Steele have joined Beacock & Maxson, Realtors, as associates in the new offices in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Bob, a resident of Tiburon, was formerly with Lewis Realty in Mill Valley. Steele, who was associated with a real estate firm in San Francisco, plans to move his home to Marin County.

THE BROTHERS tavern at 8 Locust Avenue in Mill Valley is being sold by Louis E. Locati of Tiburon to George Leonetti, Larkspur builder who formerly worked at Franchini's Chateau restaurant.

Helping Leonetti operate the Brothers will be Mario Ferrari of San Rafael, who worked at San Rafael Joe's and for the last 10 years at the Chateau. Ferrari said the new owner plans to remodel the Brothers tavern and institute a cocktail hour from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. five days a week.

Locati, who owned the tavern since 1950, said he plans to enter another field, probably retail sales.

A FREE INVESTMENT workshop in two parts will be presented by and at the San Rafael office of Dean Witter & Co. on Thursday evenings, Feb. 15 and 22, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Dean Witter Associate Vice President Gary Bauer will discuss stocks, bonds, mutual funds, current market conditions and computer assistance to research. Bauer said reservations are advisable.

JIM PICCI, Novato realtor, has been appointed Marin area representative of the Stone Institute of Marketing Management of Santa Cruz. The institute specializes in management techniques and sales training for real estate companies.

As representative of the Institute, Picchi will conduct classes on "The Professional Approach to Selling Real Estate" based on a book and eight casettes of the same title.

STARTING A BUSINESS? — A free one-day workshop for prospective business owners and managers will be presented by the U.S. Small Business Administration in San Francisco on Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The workshop will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room 15018 of the Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. Advance registration is necessary.

Two Factors Aid Market's Recovery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices, maintaining momentum which developed late Thursday, moved higher today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there might have been some bargain hunting among glamors, bluechips and oils. They also said some investors have been encouraged by banks holding the prime rate at 6 per cent and congressional action to put off the Penn Central Railroad strike.

Institutions were participating in much of the buying as indicated by a large number of block trades.

Pan American World Airways was the most active issue, up ⅛ at 8 ⅞ on 543,400 shares, including a block of 461,000 shares at 8 ¾.

Prices also moved higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Rapid American warrants headed the active list, unchanged at 6 ⅜ on 135,700 traded.

INVESTING

Sunbeam Touted Highly

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My wife and I will retire in 15 years. Now that our children are on their own we are able to put $50 a month away toward retirement. In addition, we are putting $25 monthly into a mutual fund which has built up to $1,500. We have $4,000 in the bank and another fund worth $3,000. We also have $10,000 in life insurance and put $15 monthly into a variable annuity. How do you suggest we invest the $50 each month? — J.R.

A. With another decade and a half ahead prior to retirement you are in a good position to build your capital through a conservative stock investment. The Monthly Investment Plan available for securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange is ideal for your purpose. This plan is offered by brokerage firms which are members of NYSE.

Sunbeam Corp. (NYSE) appears well-suited to your needs. This manufacturer of small applicances has a compound annual average growth rate of 8 per cent over the past five years. For the first half of fiscal 1973 to end March 31, earnings advanced 13 per cent year to year. Full year results are estimated at $1.85 per share — a record high — for a current multiple of 17 times earnings.

The company has recently expanded and modernized its plant capacity and is in an excellent position to fill the void left by several firms which have withdrawn from the industry.

Foreign sales have been expanding at a 15 per cent to 20 per cent rate, a somewhat faster pace than domestic revenues. Sunbeam, through acquisitions, has diversified into commercial and industrial products which account for about 20 per cent of income. These factors are expected to accelerate the company's growth rate in the years just ahead.

Porsche Audi Dealership Will Open March 1 In Mill Valley

A Porsche Audi dealership, the first in Marin County, will open on March 1 at Strawberry Town and Country Village in Mill Valley, where Mill Valley Volkswagen is now located.

To be called Felton Porsche Audi, it will be owned by Leon C. Felton, who operates both the Mill Valley Volkswagen and Felton's Volkswagen in San Rafael.

The appointment of Felton as the Porsche Audi dealer was announced by R. W. Hansen, president of Porsche Audi West, the northern Califonria, northern Nevada and Utah distributor for Porsche sports cars and Audi luxury sedans.

Felton opened his San Rafael Volkswagen agency in 1954, followed by the Mill Valley dealership a year later. Mill Valley Volkswagen will discontinue operations when he opens the Porsche Audi facility on March 1.

Thomas Teel, who joined the Felton organization as sales manager of Mill Valley Volkswagen in 1970, will be general manager of Felton Porsche Audi. He has been in the automobile business for seven years.

A NEW CABINET-MAKING firm called Kitchen Cabinets has opened at 60 Belvedere Street in San Rafael, with custom work on kitchen and bookcase cabinets as its specialty.

Owner of the business is Henry Kelman, 22, of San Anselmo, who has about four years of experience in cabinet making. He formerly worked for Craft Industries in San Leandro. Kelman is using plastic laminate in his remodeling work.

He leased 1,160 square feet of space at 60 Belvedere Street through the William Hoey Company of San Rafael.

CUSTOM PHOTO SERVICE, a new photo processing firm, will open at 48 Mark Drive in Northgate Industrial Park by the end of the month.

Owner Richard E. Changnon of San Francisco leased 1,160 square feet of space, also through William Hoey Company. Changnon, who has 20 years of experience in photography, operated a photo shop in San Anselmo about six years ago and has been free-lancing since then. His son, Charles, is helping him in the new business.

In another William Hoey lease, Digital Telephone Systems Inc. at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, got additional warehouse space at 134 Paul Drive. The company has office space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard and at 4460 Redwood Highway, all in Northgate Industrial Park.

GEM AUTO SALES, a San Rafael used car sales firm at 1530 Fourth Street, has expanded into adjoining property, almost doubling its space.

Owners Richard and Joan McDonald of San Rafael, who have operated Gem Auto Sales for 14 years, took over the building and lot at 1532 Fourth Street, formerly occupied by Fun World motor home sales, which folded last year.

Helping Mr. and Mrs. McDonald is salesman Robert Nelson, who has been with the firm for six years. "The expansion permits better display and a wider selection for our customers," said Mrs. McDonald.

LYN BOBO and Marvin Steele have joined Beacock & Maxson, Realtors, as associates in the new offices in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Bob, a resident of Tiburon, was formerly with Lewis Realty in Mill Valley. Steele, who was associated with a real estate firm in San Francisco, plans to move his home to Marin County.

THE BROTHERS tavern at 8 Locust Avenue in Mill Valley is being sold by Louis E. Locati of Tiburon to George Leonetti, Larkspur builder who formerly worked at Franchini's Chateau restaurant.

Helping Leonetti operate the Brothers will be Mario Ferrari of San Rafael, who worked at San Rafael Joe's and for the last 10 years at the Chateau. Ferrari said the new owner plans to remodel the Brothers tavern and institute a cocktail hour from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. five days a week.

Locati, who owned the tavern since 1950, said he plans to enter another field, probably retail sales.

A FREE INVESTMENT workshop in two parts will be presented by and at the San Rafael office of Dean Witter & Co. on Thursday evenings, Feb. 15 and 22, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Dean Witter Associate Vice President Gary Bauer will discuss stocks, bonds, mutual funds, current market conditions and computer assistance to research. Bauer said reservations are advisable.

JIM PICCI, Novato realtor, has been appointed Marin area representative of the Stone Institute of Marketing Management of Santa Cruz. The institute specializes in management techniques and sales training for real estate companies.

As representative of the Institute, Picchi will conduct classes on "The Professional Approach to Selling Real Estate" based on a book and eight casettes of the same title.

STARTING A BUSINESS? — A free one-day workshop for prospective business owners and managers will be presented by the U.S. Small Business Administration in San Francisco on Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The workshop will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room 15018 of the Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. Advance registration is necessary.

Two Factors Aid Market's Recovery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices, maintaining momentum which developed late Thursday, moved higher today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there might have been some bargain hunting among glamors, bluechips and oils. They also said some investors have been encouraged by banks holding the prime rate at 6 per cent and congressional action to put off the Penn Central Railroad strike.

Institutions were participating in much of the buying as indicated by a large number of block trades.

Pan American World Airways was the most active issue, up ⅛ at 8 ⅞ on 543,400 shares, including a block of 461,000 shares at 8 ¾.

Prices also moved higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Rapid American warrants headed the active list, unchanged at 6 ⅜ on 135,700 traded.

INVESTING

Sunbeam Touted Highly

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My wife and I will retire in 15 years. Now that our children are on their own we are able to put $50 a month away toward retirement. In addition, we are putting $25 monthly into a mutual fund which has built up to $1,500. We have $4,000 in the bank and another fund worth $3,000. We also have $10,000 in life insurance and put $15 monthly into a variable annuity. How do you suggest we invest the $50 each month? — J.R.

A. With another decade and a half ahead prior to retirement you are in a good position to build your capital through a conservative stock investment. The Monthly Investment Plan available for securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange is ideal for your purpose. This plan is offered by brokerage firms which are members of NYSE.

Sunbeam Corp. (NYSE) appears well-suited to your needs. This manufacturer of small applicances has a compound annual average growth rate of 8 per cent over the past five years. For the first half of fiscal 1973 to end March 31, earnings advanced 13 per cent year to year. Full year results are estimated at $1.85 per share — a record high — for a current multiple of 17 times earnings.

The company has recently expanded and modernized its plant capacity and is in an excellent position to fill the void left by several firms which have withdrawn from the industry.

Foreign sales have been expanding at a 15 per cent to 20 per cent rate, a somewhat faster pace than domestic revenues. Sunbeam, through acquisitions, has diversified into commercial and industrial products which account for about 20 per cent of income. These factors are expected to accelerate the company's growth rate in the years just ahead.

Doyle Drive Merits Higher Priority

Highway construction priorities are sometimes strange. The California Division of Highways, seeking to make roads safer, sometimes spends millions for corrections against what appear to be accident hazards in areas with little history of actual accidents. Yet, again, sometimes a veritable death strip goes for years uncorrected.

Such a death strip is the Doyle Drive connection to the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

SINCE 1966, there have been more than 400 accidents on this short stretch of heavily traveled road. Nineteen of them have been head-on collisions. Seventeen persons have died in these accidents — two in a crash on Jan. 24 of this year.

Yet the Division of Highways has placed correction of this death strip low on its list of priorities. Widening and placing a divider were down for construction in the 1976-77 fiscal year at the earliest.

This has not been because nobody called the division's attention to the situation. The Redwood Empire Association has been agitating steadily for stepping up Doyle Drive in the highway priority list. But as recently as last November, REA was told that there was no possibility of any work being undertaken before fiscal 1976-77.

REA did not give up. It solicited support for speedy state action to save lives on Doyle Drive. By the time of the Jan. 24 double fatality, it had received resolutions of endorsement from a long list of public bodies and organizations, including the Marin County Board of Supervisors, San Rafael City Council, Corte Madera Town Council, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, and Marin County Labor Council.

REA'S CAMPAIGN plus publicity on the Jan. 24 fatalities have finally stirred legislators into action. Both Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and state Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, have introduced bills to require immediate reconstruction of the Doyle Drive death strip.

The job is estimated to cost $13 million. Certainly that amount can be found in the state's highway funds. Certainly there are other projects less urgent that this one, delay of which would not have such cost in human lives.

Marin 'Y' Gets Results

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin this week kicked off its annual sustaining membership drive, so this is a good time to take a look at what it is doing.

Those who haven't been watching may be in for a surprise. There's a new look in the Marin "Y." And it's a good look.

Some figures help tell the story. The number of "Y" groups in the county increased from 95 at the end of 1971 to 227 at the close of 1972, a 140 per cent gain. In the same period, enrollment in these groups grew from 804 to 2,309, an increase of 300 per cent. And total attendance at their sessions also increased 300 per cent, from 9,455 during 1971 to 37,532 during 1972.

But the best statistic is this: The budget was increased by only 35 per cent.

Wakefield Wants Judges Answerable To People

By RUS WALTON

Floyd Wakefield's at it again.

Wakefield is a Republican assemblyman from Downey. In case you have forgotten, he's the guy who authored Proposition 21 — the anti-busing amendment.

Now Wakefield is turning his attention to the courts — to the State Supreme Court and the district courts of appeal, to be specific.

He has introduced Assembly Constitutional Amendment 7. It would require all justices of those courts to stand before the voters at the general elections of November 1974.

His amendment provides that the justices stand for re-election every six years rather than be appointed for 12 years. Interim vacancies would be filled by gubernatorial appointment.

Under Wakefield's proposal, supreme court justices would be elected on a statewide basis and justices for the courts of appeal would be elected by district.

Of the seven candidates for the supreme court, the one receiving the higherst vote would become chief justice. In the district courts of appeal, the high vote-getter would be presiding justice.

WAKEFIELD FIGURES that as long as the justices are going to act like legislators, they should run for election, like the legislators.

"Our present court system has gone far beyond the point of interpreting the laws as outlined in our constitution.

"The function of the judiciary is to interpret the laws — and not to pass judicial legislation."

Oiyez! Oiyez! Smite 'em, Floyd, hip and thigh!

"Liberals tell us that the courts are only applying the law of the land. What law? Their own? It was never the intent of our founding fathers, or our Constitution, to permit the courts to usurp our legislative process."

Hear, hear!

WAKEFIELD KNOWS his amendment won't get far in the Assembly. He is already preparing an initiative petition campaign to get his amendment on the ballot in June, 1974. His most recent petition (Proposition 21) got 62 per cent of the vote.

As to the criticism that electing judges might open the courts to partisan politics, Wakefield doesn't buy it.

"Just because a voter is registered to one party or the other doesn't change his views on law and justice. The overwhelming support of the death penalty initiative — 67 per cent — shows that. Folks from both parties voted for that one," he sayd.

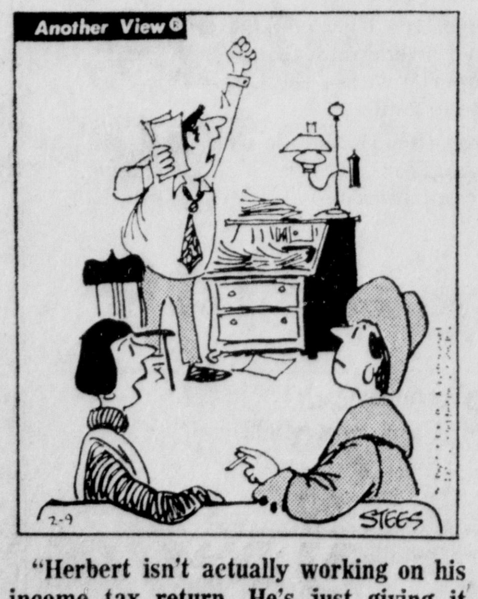
One thing's for sure. We can't be much worse off than we are now.

Look at Chief Justice Donald Wright. Here he is asking the State Bar Association to check the credentials of Justice William P. Clark, the fellow Governor Reagan has nominated to the State Supreme Court.

The courts belong to the people — not the lawyers. Certainly not to those lawyers who last year endorsed pot and pimps and prostitution.

I think Floyd Wakefield's got something. Let the people elect their judges. Whose courts are they, anyway?

Sic 'em, Floyd!



"Herbert isn't actually working on his income tax return. He's just giving it some thought."

'Victory' May Prove Costly To Corte Madera

The question now comes to my mind, "What did Mr. Weingarth win and for whom?" True, he achieved the marvelous distinction of having his picture on the I-J's front page, for whatever that is worth to him. But what victory for the other people of Corte Madera? Has he graded and paved the primrose path to bankruptcy for our town? Do not we all have to foot the bills for court costs, lawyers, consultations and meetings? There is also the possibility of inverse condemnation and the mandatory purchase of the Madera del Presidio lands by the Town of Corte Madera. Do we really need this, so that the rats and skunks can flourish there, and Mr. Weingarth will not need to suffer the shock of gazing upon the dwellings of his unsufferable fellow man from his back porch? Or do these dissident forces wish to have the previous zoning reinstated and approximately 300 single family houses and their attendant streets literally cover these lovely meadows edge to edge?

These seem to be the alternatives to me — mandatory purchase by the town; reversion to single family dwelling zoning and sprawl; or the planned unit development with open space. Perhaps Mr. Weingarth has a further alternative. If so, I think it would behoove him to place it before all members of the town in great haste.

On Page 15 of the same I-J, there is reported the first of the big lawsuits by a property owner against our town, alleging inverse condemnation, confiscation without compensation, etc. While this action is in behalf of another property, it sets the scene for what we can expect in days to come.

So, Corte Maderans, attune yourselves to this new wind blowing here, and loosen your pocketbooks. Forget about all those lovely projects, such as flood control, tennis courts and parks. We will be far too busy paying Mr. Weingarth's fiddler while he and his cronies dance . . .

Cause For Rejoicing In HAFB Use Votes

In your coverage of the Jan. 23 decision made by the board of supervisors to disallow commercial jet aviation at Hamilton Air Force Base, I feel that you dealt particularly unfairly with the position taken by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni.

It is my somewhat naive belief that an elected official should reflect the will of his constituency and not that of small, special-interest groups. Mr. Arrigoni stated in the course of the hearing that during his recent hard-fought campaign for re-election, 90 per cent of the people throughout the Ross Valley area were against the joint use proposal. In consequence of this fact, he did not support joint use during his campaign.

Messrs. Baptiste and Giacomini also voted the will of the people in their districts. Mr. Giacomini, because one of his campaign planks was opposition to joint use. He won. Mr. Baptiste, because as long as a year ago he knew what the North Marin area wanted and voted accordingly.

When a man lives up to his campaign promises and listens to the voices of his constituents, it should be a cause for rejoicing, not castigation. Or does the I-J feel differently?

Moratoriums, Zoning Abridge Property Right

Your paper is to be commended for the comprehensive coverage of the events in our fair county. Especially, let me give you "Bouquets" for your editorial of Feb. 2, titled 'Unfair Taxation Under Moratorium'. It is time someone spoke up to defend the property rights of the average citizen.

Too frequently we hear of a governmental body in our county restricting, condemning or abridging the property rights of the individual without proper compensation. Most of the time it is with the excuse that it is for the public good, but nearly always it is for a self-serving purpose, and equally frequently with a violation of equitable property rights.

These violations are being advocated by the so-called land planning consulting firms, that profess to know what is best for the people, but do not have the wisdom or experience to properly evaluate this quality of knowledge. They advocate that the municipality acquire an individual's property using the police power of zoning change. This leaves the abused property owner without effective recourse for the confiscation of his land. The California courts have not as yet honored an appeal in favor of the property owner. Therefore, they suggest that this is a good way for a municipality to acquire coveted property without paying for it.

Not only is this sleazy excuse being practised against the large landholder and the unpopular corporation, but it is increasingly being used against the "little guy", the taxpayer — you and I.

The obvious danger of this practice is the gradual and insidious erosion of our constitutional property rights, the right to hold property free and clear from the abuse of the all-powerful state or governmental body. Every citizen should give long and careful consideration before advocating the confiscation of the other man's property without proper compensation.

Agitation For Amnesty Calls On Unapplicable Precedents

WASHINGTON — The antiwar movement is meeting the threat of unemployment in its ranks by turning its efforts now to obtaining amnesty for those Americans who fled from military service.

Dozens of shaky precedents are dragged out of history to prove that amnesty is just, and indeed demanded, by what was done after earlier wars. Mr. Nixon, the villain a few weeks ago for ordering bombing of Hanoi-Haiphong, now is the villain because he believes the draft-dodgers and deserters should be treated precisely according to the law.

IT IS PERHAPS inevitable, but also appalling, that the agitation for amnesty reaches a new peak just as the first American prisoners are heading home from captivity in North Vietnam.

Inevitable, because some politicians, including both George McGovern and Mr. Nixon himself 13 months ago, spoke of the prisoners' release as a barrier that would have to be passed before amnesty was granted (or considered, in the President's case). Appalling, because — well, if you don't understand that part, there is little point in explaining it.

The most common comparison made by those plumbing the history books is between Abraham Lincoln's attitude toward southern soldiers after the Civil War and Mr. Nixon's attitude today. It is absurd.

Lincoln was concerned with half a nation split away, with soldiers who had made a choice to fight for one side or the other, sometimes against their own brothers. He was not dealing with draft-dodgers and deserters, as Mr. Nixon is. (In the Civil War, the punishment for desertion was death or, in the Army of Northern Virginia, imprisonment at hard labor, regular flogging, and being branded with a capital "D" in the palm of the left hand.)

NO ONE WHO COMES home to face the law he so knowingly broke during the Vietnamese war will have to fear any such punishment. In fact, of nearly 5,000 draft-evasion indictments in fiscal 1972, only one-third of the defendants were convicted and sentenced. Among deserters convicted by court martial, 44 per cent got off with no imprisonment at all, and only 6 per cent got 13 months or more. Compare that with what happened to approximately 46,000 young Americans who did their unpleasant duty during the recent war.

That, of course, is a fact of which the exiles are more aware than most people. The amnesty movement would have you believe that those who fled are moral heroes who had the courage and foresight to run away from an illegal war — heroes, plus an admitted few who had committed crimes and found flight with the others a form of socailly protective camouflage.

But nowhere in the propaganda do you find any acknowledgment that just maybe a high percentage of them ran away because they were afraid of the danger and drudgery of doing their duty.

To hint at such a thing in the better circles is to slander these modern heroes. After all, it was they who had the fortitude to endure the rigors of life among the girls of Stockholm and to rough it in Toronto, when with less moral fiber they might have taken the easy way — boot camp, combat training, digging holes to sleep in in the rain, perhaps losing their legs to a trip mine.

AND SINCE — if — they are such heroes, then that suggests a form of service, a test, by which they might prove themselves appropriately eligible for amnesty. Mr. Nixon rejects the idea of a "junket in the Peace Corps" as penance, and the exiles themselves reject the idea that they have done anything wrong at all.

In which case, it might be instructive to allow them all to return today, and fly them out to Clark Field to be in the welcoming committee when their fellow Americans arrive there from their cells in North Vietnam. Those few who were able to look the homecoming prisoners in the eye might be future candidates for forgiveness, which is a step beyond amnesty proper — and much, much farther away.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Public Broadcasting Chairman Victim Of Uninformed Attacks

WASHINGTON — Now is the time for somebody to come to the defense of Thomas B. Curtis, the new and badgered chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Or at least to set the record straight. Nothing more would be needed to clear the air over public TV.

Here is a widely esteemed 18-year congressman from Missouri who is now vice president and general counsel of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The moment he was elected to head the instrument Congress created to develop educational radio and television — even before he had said anything, proposed anything, done anything — he was clobbered.

He was clobbered instantly, totally and inaccurately, mostly by critics of the Nixon administration, by many in the media who assume that nearly every administration move is a censorship plot, and by those in television who assume that nothing could be better than the status quo.

THE PRINCIPAL accusations aimed at Curtis before he could catch his breath — together with the facts which call them into question —are these:

ACCUSATION— Nixon made Curtis chairman of the CPB to enable the White House to "take over" public broadcasting.

FACT — The President cannot make anybody chairman of the CPB and didn't make Curtis chairman. Curtis was unanimously elected by the 15 board members of the corporation, eight of whom were appointed by Lyndon Johnson.

ACCUSATION — The White House wants to turn publicly financed, noncommercial TV into a propaganda arm of the administration and expects to use Curtis to that end.

FACT — Unproved, I believe untrue and certainly unattainable. Tom Curtis can't be "used" by anybody. He is in nobody's pocket and never has been, as his colleagues in Congress know. One of his central objectives today is to make sure that public radio and television shall not be allowed to become a propaganda tool of this administration or any future administration. You can count on him for that.

ACCUSATION — The White House is out to "destroy" public television and hopes the new chairman will help.

FACT — The administration could hardly set out to destroy public television and at the same time expect to make it into a partisan propaganda arm. It wants to do neither — and isn't. During the first Nixon term, federal appropriations for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting rose from $5 million in 1969 to $35 million in 1972. The White House is asking Congress to increase this to $45 million for the new fiscal year and to $60 million for the next.

ACCUSATION — The critics assert that Chairman Curtis aims to wipe out public affairs programming, opposes controversial programs, and wants only bland stuff.

FACT — They don't know the man Curtis. He has been a center of controversy throughout his whole political career, in Congress and out. He likes controversy; he believes in it; he sees it as a vital part of noncommercial television, a needed impetus to public awareness. He is an economic conservative and a civil libertarian, and if his critics would take time to get acquainted with him, they would find him a valuable ally of public broadcasting.

DURING THIS EARLY period of attack-first-and-get-the-facts-afterward, the aim seemed to be to immobilize the new chairman before he could do anything. But Curtis can't be immobilized easily, and it is my conviction that in due time public television viewers will find him a boon and the public TV station directors and most producers will find him an asset.

Naturally he wants fairness and balance in controversial programs and in news commentary. He'll get it. The status quo isn't to be sacred. He would like to see more nationally produced programs, not less.

He would like to see the local board members of the 223 public TV stations become more active in shaping programs for local audiences. He would like to see public TV producing more that is different from commercial TV.

I suspect Tom Curtis will be around awhile — and busy.

Doyle Drive Merits Higher Priority

Highway construction priorities are sometimes strange. The California Division of Highways, seeking to make roads safer, sometimes spends millions for corrections against what appear to be accident hazards in areas with little history of actual accidents. Yet, again, sometimes a veritable death strip goes for years uncorrected.

Such a death strip is the Doyle Drive connection to the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

SINCE 1966, there have been more than 400 accidents on this short stretch of heavily traveled road. Nineteen of them have been head-on collisions. Seventeen persons have died in these accidents — two in a crash on Jan. 24 of this year.

Yet the Division of Highways has placed correction of this death strip low on its list of priorities. Widening and placing a divider were down for construction in the 1976-77 fiscal year at the earliest.

This has not been because nobody called the division's attention to the situation. The Redwood Empire Association has been agitating steadily for stepping up Doyle Drive in the highway priority list. But as recently as last November, REA was told that there was no possibility of any work being undertaken before fiscal 1976-77.

REA did not give up. It solicited support for speedy state action to save lives on Doyle Drive. By the time of the Jan. 24 double fatality, it had received resolutions of endorsement from a long list of public bodies and organizations, including the Marin County Board of Supervisors, San Rafael City Council, Corte Madera Town Council, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, and Marin County Labor Council.

REA'S CAMPAIGN plus publicity on the Jan. 24 fatalities have finally stirred legislators into action. Both Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and state Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, have introduced bills to require immediate reconstruction of the Doyle Drive death strip.

The job is estimated to cost $13 million. Certainly that amount can be found in the state's highway funds. Certainly there are other projects less urgent that this one, delay of which would not have such cost in human lives.

Marin 'Y' Gets Results

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin this week kicked off its annual sustaining membership drive, so this is a good time to take a look at what it is doing.

Those who haven't been watching may be in for a surprise. There's a new look in the Marin "Y." And it's a good look.

Some figures help tell the story. The number of "Y" groups in the county increased from 95 at the end of 1971 to 227 at the close of 1972, a 140 per cent gain. In the same period, enrollment in these groups grew from 804 to 2,309, an increase of 300 per cent. And total attendance at their sessions also increased 300 per cent, from 9,455 during 1971 to 37,532 during 1972.

But the best statistic is this: The budget was increased by only 35 per cent.

THE PRINCIPAL accusations aimed at Curtis before he could catch his breath — together with the facts which call them into question —are these:

ACCUSATION— Nixon made Curtis chairman of the CPB to enable the White House to "take over" public broadcasting.

FACT — The President cannot make anybody chairman of the CPB and didn't make Curtis chairman. Curtis was unanimously elected by the 15 board members of the corporation, eight of whom were appointed by Lyndon Johnson.

ACCUSATION — The White House wants to turn publicly financed, noncommercial TV into a propaganda arm of the administration and expects to use Curtis to that end.

FACT — Unproved, I believe untrue and certainly unattainable. Tom Curtis can't be "used" by anybody. He is in nobody's pocket and never has been, as his colleagues in Congress know. One of his central objectives today is to make sure that public radio and television shall not be allowed to become a propaganda tool of this administration or any future administration. You can count on him for that.

ACCUSATION — The White House is out to "destroy" public television and hopes the new chairman will help.

FACT — The administration could hardly set out to destroy public television and at the same time expect to make it into a partisan propaganda arm. It wants to do neither — and isn't. During the first Nixon term, federal appropriations for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting rose from $5 million in 1969 to $35 million in 1972. The White House is asking Congress to increase this to $45 million for the new fiscal year and to $60 million for the next.

ACCUSATION — The critics assert that Chairman Curtis aims to wipe out public affairs programming, opposes controversial programs, and wants only bland stuff.

FACT — They don't know the man Curtis. He has been a center of controversy throughout his whole political career, in Congress and out. He likes controversy; he believes in it; he sees it as a vital part of noncommercial television, a needed impetus to public awareness. He is an economic conservative and a civil libertarian, and if his critics would take time to get acquainted with him, they would find him a valuable ally of public broadcasting.

DURING THIS EARLY period of attack-first-and-get-the-facts-afterward, the aim seemed to be to immobilize the new chairman before he could do anything. But Curtis can't be immobilized easily, and it is my conviction that in due time public television viewers will find him a boon and the public TV station directors and most producers will find him an asset.

Naturally he wants fairness and balance in controversial programs and in news commentary. He'll get it. The status quo isn't to be sacred. He would like to see more nationally produced programs, not less.

He would like to see the local board members of the 223 public TV stations become more active in shaping programs for local audiences. He would like to see public TV producing more that is different from commercial TV.

I suspect Tom Curtis will be around awhile — and busy.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Heath's Global View Contrasts With Myopia In Brasilia

Sunday Sir Edward Heath, prime minister of Great Britain, appeared on the "Meet the Press" television program. We heard an accent that was strictly British yet charmingly his own.

There was a cultured gentleman with a total lack of snobbery — pleasant, open and frank with a mind razor-sharp — instant answers to the questions, which mostly involved global matters.

As I listened, I thought of the gents in the throne room. Three of them have had an opportunity to be aware of the problems involved in the county area they have jurisdiction over, but they are not to any great degree, although two of them have had four years in which to be informed and the third one has had two.

THE THREE-COLUMN story in the I-J on Tuesday is a glaring example of their lack of control. It was headed, "Two Agencies Could Be On Open Space Collision Course."

Suppose we run through them again as well as some of an I-J story about the parks and recreation plans, which appeared just a short week before. And bear in mind that Pierre Joske, parks and recreation director, was designated by the board of supervisors as general manager and staff head for the recently voted regional park district — not Werner von Gundell.

From the collision course story: "A showdown between two powerful county commissions loomed yesterday as Marin planners renewed their efforts to link open space acquisition with the controversial countywide general plan.

"Planning Director Werner von Gundell, whose proposal has been twice rebuffed by the county parks and recreation commission, won unanimous support from the planning commission. . .in recommending that cities which have adopted the countywide plan be given priority in allocation of open space money." They also endorsed a shopping list of lands for acquisition this year with funds from the regional parks kitty.

NOW, BRIEFLY, from the Marin Parks and Recreation Department story of Jan. 31: It also presented a shopping list of open space lands it would like to acquire this year for the new regional park district. The tab would be $3.5 million, admitting that to do this would require long-range financing as there is only $700,000 in this year's budget for such acquisition.

The document they presented indicated six areas which have been considered of county-wide importance by Joske and his staff plus a special committee of the parks and recreation commission.

Faintly, it seems to me that we elected some supervisors to conduct the business of the unincorporated areas of the county and such contractual services as required to assist the cities of the county. But I do not recall ever seeing the name of Werner von Gundell on any of the ballots.

I think it was the impression of the majority of the voters and taxpayers that those supervisors would involve themselves in the operation of county government — like, say, being ex-officio members of the county committees and commissions they set up; not so much involvement in out-of-county jawbone groups. Right? Right!

Impressionist To Exhibit Paintings

Impressionist oil paintings by Kal Kiss will be exhibited through March 5 at the San Rafael City Library.

Kiss, who fled his native Hungary during the 1956 uprising, has studied art in Europe and Canada and is now studying under Jean Henry of San Francisco.

Dymally Will Speak At Mental Health Gathering

Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, will speak at the annual dinner of the Marin Association for Mental Health Feb. 21 at 6:30 p.m. at the Dock restaurant in Tiburon.

Dymally is replacing Dan Moore as guest speaker. Moore, manager of educational programs for the Los Angeles Times and a member of Dr. Wilson Riles's task force on Early Childhood Education, is unable to attend due to illness.

New officers and directors of the association will be introduced at the meeting. New president is Arcima F. Taylor Jr., and other officers are H. Bruce Miniberg, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Dickson Jr., secretary, and Etta Allen, treasurer.

Dymally, a former teacher, will discuss SB 1302, his bill funding early childhood educational programs.

Hearing Set In Car Case

Preliminary hearing for a 23-year-old San Rafael man, charged with trying to steal a sports car in Sausalito, has been set for Wednesday in Marin Superior Court.

Damage estimated at $650 was done to the car's ignition system, officers said.

Paintings Shown

Oil paintings by artists Carole Scheideman and Inge Travers are on exhibit this month at Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association in San Anselmo.

Innocent Pleas To Hash Count

A 25-year-old Tiburon man, who allegedly received a package of hashish from India, and two friends have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to felony drug charges.

Steven Richard Flynn was arrested Feb. 3 moments after accepting a package containing hashish from Bombay. He is charged with having the substance for sale.

Also arrested in the premises at 1808entro West were George Jeffrey Dias, 24, Flynn's roommate, and Leigh Sanders Copley, 26, of Sebastopol. Both are charged with possessing marijuana.

A preliminary hearing on the charges is to be scheduled Wednesday.

Tiburon police said the foreign package, containing about $500 worth of the contraband drug, was intercepted by postal inspectors in New York.

Younger Seeks Mandatory Prison Time For Armed Heroin Offenders

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger yesterday proposed a mandatory prison sentence for heroin peddlers and persons convicted of felonies in which they were armed.

"No one guilty of these crimes should expect anything less" than a mandatory sentence, Younger said in a prepared statement.

Younger said his proposal has been drafted into the form of legislation by his staff and will be introduced this week by Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding.

The attorney general said efforts must continue to eliminate causes of crime and rehabilitate serious offenders but "while we try, we must be realistic."

"While we wonder what made a man a ruthless violent criminal," he said, "let's isolate him and make sure he isn't killing innocent people while we wonder."

Younger said 500 first-degree robbers were not sent to prison last year because the "Penal Code gives a judge discretion to grant probation to armed robbers when he finds 'unusual circumstances.'

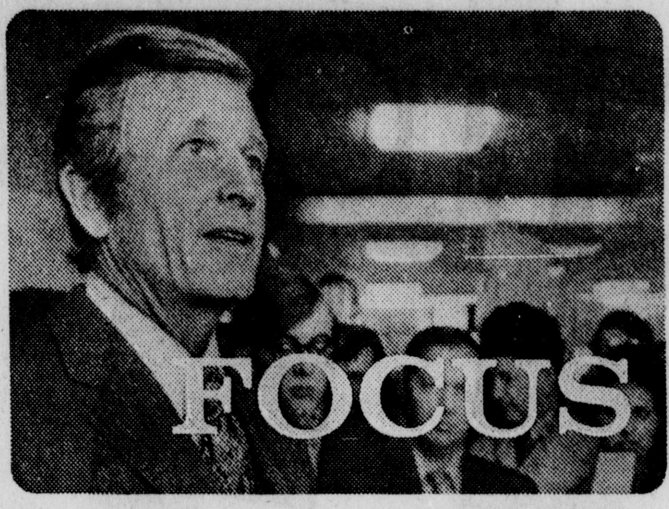
"Given the present situation — where the execution of robbery victims has become commonplace, when an estimated 50 to 75 per cent of violent crime is committed by a narcotic addict trying to finance a habit — the time has come to stop making the lawabiding citizen pay the full price for our experiments," he said.

Younger said more armed robbers are killing their victims and major felonies committed in California per 100,000 population more than doubled from 1960 to 1971. He said the robbery rate rose from 96 to 234 per 100,000 in 1971 and the burglary rate increase from 831 to 1,940 per 100,000 during the same year.

"More and more peddlers of narcotics are found to be armed with deadly weapons," he said.

Art Exhibit

Works by artist Madelaine Fu will be exhibited Feb. 16 through Feb. 28 at the Sherman Clay Music Shop in San Rafael.



Newsword Adventure

The title "mayor" comes down to us from medieval England, where it was spelled "mer," "maier," and other ways. It seems to come originally from the Latin adjective "major," meaning "greater." Most Western countries and countries which have been influenced by Western governments, have mayors. They can be either elected or appointed. In most non-English-speaking countries, a mayor's duties are largely ceremonial. A number of U.S. cities will be electing mayors this year.

DOUBLE, DOUBLE . . . BOIL AND BUBBLE

With a triumphant grin, Bobby Reininga (right) gives another stir to the enormous pot of "stone soup" cooked and eaten today by youngsters at San Pedro School and San Rafael. Looking on are teacher Barbara Wander (background) and Angie Pera (left), Ted Bennett and Steve Nelson. The cooking project came about after the children read a fable about a hungry young man who conned an old lady into making soup from a stone — he persuaded her to add carrots, onions, chicken, soup bones and other goodies to the water and stone in the pot as the children also did.

Walker Witness Lie Is Charged

By LARRY MOWELL

A Venceremos member who has advocated killing police perjured herself in defense of an ex-convict on trial in Marin Superior Court on a charge of beating a Sausalito policeman, the prosecutor charged yesterday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman made the charge against Sandra Kahn, wife of a Stanford University professor, with the jury out of the courtroom, then persuaded Judge Henry J. Broderick to jail the defendant, 27-year-old Tommie Lee Walker, in lieu of higher bail.

"I believe the defense has put on a witness who has perjured herself. I think we can prove it in this case," Herman told te judge.

Mrs. Kahn, a surprise defense witness Tuesday, testified she and her daughter were looking at houseboats Sept. 28 when he saw Officer Robert Klein hit Walker with his club before Walker beat the officer.

After her testimony, Mrs. Kahn disappeared, despite a court order to keep in touch with the public defender's office in case she were needed further. Defense and prosecution investigators have been unable to find her.

Walker, who has three convictions for beating guards while in prison, is charged with felony assault on Klein and a hitchhiker, John Randolph, 27, of Mill Valley in the 3000 block of Bridgeway.

His defense has been that Randolph kicked him and Klein hit him in the hand with a club before he fought back in each instance, but if the jury doesn't believe that, he faces an almost certain return to prison because of his three prior convictions.

Mrs. Kahn testified she did not know Walker before the incident and, when asked what groups she belonged to, did not mention Venceremos, a Maoist organization advocating violent revolution, Herman said.

The prosecutor promised to call an undercover agent who infiltrated the group to testify not only that she attended meetings, but during one said a man who killed a San Francisco policeman and wounded another last year "had his hatred in the right place. He just should have been more careful. He should have been a sniper up on a roof."

Herman said he will also show that Mrs. Kahn has known Walker since 1971. A letter from her seized at Folsom Prison Wednesday read, "When I got back here, I met a good friend of yours, Tommie Walker," Herman said. The letter to inmate Ray Carringer was dated September, 1971, he said.

Four letters were taken from Carringer's cell by guards. The inmate is a mutual friend of Walker and Mrs. Kahn, Herman said. She was reportedly visiting him when his cell was searched, Herman said.

Herman's claims led Broderick to raise the bail for Walker, who was free in lieu of $2,000 to $10,000. Walker remained in jail this morning awaiting reopening of his trial at 2 p.m. today.

Deputy Public Defender Edward Briggs Jr. objected to the bail. He argued that Walker had made all court appearances and said "There is no likelihood he won't make the rest, but the judge replied, "Up to today, he had a hole card. Today he doesn't have it anymore."

Walker may have thought the doubt raised by Mrs. Bahn's testimony would win him acquittal, he said. "My thoughts led me to the conclusion that it might be a good time to get out of town," the judge said.

With the bail question out of the way, Herman sought a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Kahn, but the judge declined, at least until he has heard testimony.

The judge then recalled the jury and told them "There may be something of newsworthy nature in what happened out of your presence today." He again ordered them to ignore any publicity given the eight-dy-old trial.

U.S. Dollar Continues To Take Severe Beating On World Marts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The U.S. dollar was dumped on world money markets in record numbers today amid fears that the value of the weakened American currency would drop with forced revaluation upward of such strong currencies as the German mark and the Japanese yen.

In West Germany, the Central Bank intervened to buy $1.7 billion in the first 2-½ hours of trading, equaling the record set yesterday in a full day of frantic selling.

The Bank of Japan also stepped into the market and bought $240 million to preserve the official exchange rate.

Germany, which has purchased $6 billion in just over a week, and Japan, are buying dollars in order to keep the official exchange rate intact. If they do not buy, their own currencies, the mark and the yen, will rise in relative value, making their exports more expensive to buy and thus hurting their overseas markets.

Currency dealers in Frankfurt said the dollar was pinned to the floor from opening hour, forcing the Central Bank to buy all that were offered at a price of 3.15 marks each.

"It appears everyone assumes something might happen over the weekend which would justify selling dollars on a large scale now," a market source in Brussels said.

The dollar opened in Brussels at 43.40 francs, its lowest rate in six months, and weakened still further during the morning.

Nervous dealers in London drove the price of the dollar down there, too, while gold rose.

In Paris, the dollar fell on the free part of France's two tiered market, opening at 4.9925 francs, down from Monday's closing of 5.0010.

Much of the hectic selling was spurred by fears from speculators, banks and businesses owning or controlling dollars that official support for the dollar might end today.

Release Of First Prisoners Sunday

142 Americans Due To Receive Freedom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — North Vietnam will release about 115 American prisoners of war in Hanoi and the Viet Cong will free 27 other POWs in South Vietnam Sunday night, the Defense Department said today.

Some of them could be back in the United States by the middle of next week.

A Pentagon spokesman said word of the impending release of the estimated 142 prisoners, which apparently would represent about one-fourth of all those listed as American POWs in Indochina, was relayed to U.S. officials today at a meeting of the four-party Joint Military Commission in Saigon.

The spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said some of those to be freed in North Vietnam would be sick or wounded. Once the POWs are released, they will be flown aboard Air Force ambulance planes to Clark Air Base in the Philippines, he said.

"Probably the minimum time in which a person can transit the (POW) reception center at Clark and be back in the United States is about three or four days," Friedheim said, meaning some men could be on home soil by about Thursday.

The release will include 27 captives held in South Vietnam, Friedheim said, and one-fourth of those held in North Vietnam. He said this would mean approximately 115 should be released in the North.

Friedheim said Viet Cong officials at the four-party commission had cleared a U.S. survey team to go to Quan Loi, a village about 65 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border, to survey the South Vietnam release site.

He said the North Vietnamese would allow an 18-man reception team to land in Hanoi three hours in advance of the release there to prepare for the handover of the POWs in North Vietnam.

The top U.S. representative on the four-party commission, Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, advised Washington he expected to work out precise details of the release times at a Saturday meeting of the commission, Friedheim said.

But the release could come by midnight Sunday, Washington time, which would be midday Monday in Vietnam.

Friedheim said so far the Communists have not provided the names of those they will set free. But he said the North Vietnamese have said among those freed in Hanoi "will be some sick and wounded."

The Communists have identified 456 U.S. servicemen as prisoners in North Vietnam, 99 servicemen and 32 civilians as POWs in South Vietnam, and seven servicemen and three civilians as captives in Laos.

Friedheim said he did not know whether any of the Laotian captives would be among those freed in the first group in Hanoi.

Asked if any civilians would be among the 27 freed in South Vietnam, Friedheim replied: "I think it is probable there will be some civilians in that group. But we do not know specific names yet."

If the Communists follow provisions of the cease-fire agreement which require women to be among those freed first, the group set free in South Vietnam should also include Monika Schwinn, 30, a West German captured April 27, 1969. She is the only woman listed by the Communists as a surviving POW.

In preparing for the repatriation, the Defense Department has giveN considerable attention to problems the former POWs will face adjusting to freedom, new responsibilities and a fast-paced life. Much

Exchange Of Viet POWs Set

SAIGON (UPI) — Official sources said today the long-awaited release of Vietnam War prisoners will begin Monday (Sunday night EST) despite constant violations of the cease-fire by both sides and a series of incidents including the stoning of North Vietnamese members of the Joint Military Commission (JMC).

Saigon military sources said more than 3,000 Vietnamese would be freed this weekend, some of them after a decade of imprisonment. The sources said Saigon would free 1,000 Communist POWs each at Quan Loi, a rubber plantation center just outside the provincial capital of An Loc, and at Dong Ha, just below the Demilitarized Zone above Quang Tri City.

Seven hundred South Vietnamese POWs and 27 Americans will be freed at Quan Loi. Another 320 South Vietnamese prisoners will be released somewhere in Pleiku province in the Central Highlands, the sources said.

It is not known what means the Communists will use. In the past, without air cover of their own, the trickle of prisoners released over the years have come out on foot, on bicycles, on oxcarts, in jeeps and trucks, or by various combinations of these.

The South Vietnamese military sources said the details of the prisoner exchange had been worked out in a subcommittee of the JMC.

In the meantime heavy fighting continued in Laos with support of the American fighter-bombers and B52s which had been used against targets in North and South Vietnam. No U.S. planes were being used in Cambodia where Phnom Penh dispatches reported govern-

Action Rescinded On Consumer Idea

By JEFF GREER

The Marin County Human Rights Commission rescinded its sponsorship of a controversial consumer protection proposal by a 3-2 vote last night. (Another commission story, page 9.)

The decision came at a meeting at which the county counsel's stand on application of the Ralph M. Brown Act to commission meetings was clarified and an earlier permissive opinion by an assistant counsel was overturned.

Chairman Ernest J. Gray declared he did not see how the "overloaded" Human Rights Department staff could operate the pilot program it drafted. But he promised the commission's support to a similar program by any other agency.

Human rights commissioners unanimously approved a resolution endorsing the consumer program at a December dinner meeting. Then, after the human rights executive director, Gerald J. Hood, submitted it to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, three commissioners had second thoughts.

The change of mind came to light after a Jan. 25 commission meeting that had been billed as a session of the commission's three-member executive committee.

Commissioner Joaquin P. Gallardo joined the executive committee — Gray, Rev. J. Barton Sarjeant and June Weden, during discussion of the consumer program.

As a result, questions were raised as to the meeting's propriety under the Brown Act, which governs meetings of public bodies.

Gray reacted to the claim that the four-person meeting constituted a quorum of the seven-member commission by inviting Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. to explain the Brown Act at last night's meeting. The item was not on the prepared agenda.

Last year, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino had declared that the Brown Act's requirement that commission meetings be publicly announced could be circumvented if less than a quorum met and those officials were subsequently joined by one or more others claiming to be present "unofficially."

That opinion was shot down by Silvestri, who warned: "However, when that 'unofficial' member begins to participate in discussions in such e way as to be deliberating, the

I-J's Dietz Honored For Patrick Series

David Dietz, Independent-Journal reporter and assistant city editor, today received honorable mention in the best series of articles category in the annual California Newspaper Publishers Association competition.

The award, the number two honor, was made at an awards luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, during the CNPA convention.

The prize was for a series of four articles on the William Penn Patrick empire published in the I-J last Aug. 29 to Sept. 1.

In the comprehensive articles, Dietz described Patrick's virtual overnight rise to riches and how his vast empire came into existence.

One of the articles was based on a rare interview Dietz had with the 42-year-old Patrick, who started his empire with the San Rafael-based Holiday Magic cosmetics firm.

Dietz also described the blizzard of suits and countersuits that engulf the Patrick empire, built on what many state officials say is an illegal pyramid principle.

First place for the best series of articles went to the Santa Monica Evening Outlook for its stories on abortion.

President Approves Help For Homes, Businesses

President Nixon yesterday declared Marin County a disaster area and directed the federal Small Business Administration to process low-interest loans to hundreds of troubled homeonwers.

The President's declaration came exactly one month after heavy rains began washing Marin, causing an estimated $2 million damage to private property and $900,000 to public facilities over a week-long period.

According to an SBA spokesman, the agency will set up temporary offices — possibly in Marin — to handle applications for federal loans at 1 per cent interest.

The spokesman said loan repayments could be extended up to 30 years with a "forgiveness" on the first $5,000, meaning no repayment needed if the rest of the loan is repaid on a timely basis.

Besides Marin County, the President's declaration covers Solano and San Luis Obispo Counties, Santa Barbara and South San Francisco.

The declaration, urged by William Mailliard, Marin's representative in Congress, offers aid to some 359 homeowners in hard-hit areas of Marin.

Those areas include low-lying neighborhoods in Novato, where heavy rains combined with high tides to cause extensive flooding and mass evacuations.

Residents of Tamalpais Valley's Marinview subdivision also are eligible for loans to cover damage by mudslides which raised havoc in portions of the community.

Frank E. Kirby, County Emergency Services coordinator, said today the President's action also paves the way for

Part Of Plane Falls On House

OAKLAND (UPI) — A piece of an aircraft engine cowling smashed through the patio roof of an Oakland home Thursday.

Mrs. Harry E. Darr said she heard a crash while doing housework and found a two-foot square pice of aluminum in her patio.

Investigators for the Federal Aviation Administration said they had not found the plane the engine part came from.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Auto Hikes Seen

DETROIT (UPI) — Buyers of 1973 model cars can expect to face at least one more round of price increases if they wait very much longer, according to Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend.

Townsend said yesterday a price hike should come "as soon as possible" for the 1973 automobiles, though he refused to say when.

The automakers say they have received no price hikes to cover added costs of labor and materials since Jan. 1, 1972, but they've held back on increasing prices since President Nixon's Phase III economic plan because of administration warnings about "people who get out of line."

Guard On Standby

Kneip emphasized he was "not committing" the guardsmen into the town, built near where Gen. George Armstrong Custer camped years ago.

Custer County Sheriff Ernest Pepin requested all available officers in South Dakota to come to Custer. The city of Sioux Falls sent 20 police officers — all volunteers — to the southwestern South Dakota town of 1,600 in the Black Hills.

Sioux Falls City officials said reserve officers would be employed there until the regulars return.

Arms Impasse

VIENNA (UPI) — The North Atlantic allies stood fast yesterday against a new Soviet attempt to change the Western-sponsored format for talks on mutual cuts in troops and weapons in central Europe.

Allies rejected a Soviet suggestion that would exclude Hungary and the Soviet troops stationed there from the proposed cuts and said they also would resist moves to include Italy in the reduction zone.

Western officials said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations continue to argue in favor of confining troop cuts to central Europe and that those nations in central Europe or with troops stationed there participate as full members in the talks.

A Service Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service says it is tired of being blamed when airlines are slow in delivering mail and will try to negotiate guaranteed, scheduled space on planes.

"We cannot continue to takethe blame for the failure and deficiencies of the airlines in the transportation of mail," Postmaster General E. T. Klassen said in a statement yesterday.

Seat Belt Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Faced with growing pressure from Congress, the federal government will issue safety standards shortly which could put seat belts on 20 million children who travel to school by bus.

The standards, to be issued "within the next three weeks," will require manufacturers of new school buses to equip the buses with restraint systems.

The National Highway Transportation Safety Agency will recommend the seat belt as one way to meet the standards.

Stennis Improved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis continued today to show gradual improvement from gunshot wounds and has been moved back into a private room from the intensive care unit of Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The 71-year-old Mississippian still was listed in very serious condition, which the Army facility says is equivalent to critical at civilian hospitals.

E. German Pact

BERLIN (UPI) — Britain extended diplomatic recognition to East Germany today, becoming the first of the three Western allied occupation powers to do so, the East German news service ADN reported.

ADN said Britain and East Germany agreed to take up diplomatic relations at the ambassadorial level effective today.

The United States and France, the other two Western occupation powers, have announced readiness to recognize East Germany but have not yet done so.

Supply Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Heating oil shortages in much of New England and the Middle West this winter may be followed by tight supplies of gasoline this summer, oil executives warn.

Officials of two major oil producers told a government hearing yesterday that the industry has put so much of its refining effort into heating oil that gasoline production has fallen behind schedule.

The oil men testified at a hearing of the Cost-of-Living Council, which is looking into heating oil price increases which 25 oil companies imposed in January just a few days after the President replaced wage-price controls with Phase III voluntary guidelines.

New Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen and security forces battled again yesterday in new Northern Ireland violence that left one policeman dead and brought a government warning of a "ruthless" crackdown against bombers and snipers.

A policeman was shot dead at Donaghmore, 40 miles from Belfast, in one battle and in another, troops fought snipers for two hours across the border dividing north and south.

To Assist Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has decided to let a Ralph Nader-backed consumer group assist in its study of the safety of hundreds of food additives, from cinnamon to garlic.

James Turner, a lawyer for the Consumer Action Group for Improved Food & Drugs, and co-author with Nader of "The Chemical Feast," called the development a "breakthrough."

Senate Picks Six-Member Team For In-Depth Watergate Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six lawyer-senators have been picked to share with a former judge the chore of running the Senate's in-depth investigation of the Watergate bugging and related political espionage last year.

The six men—three Republicans and three Democrats—were named by their party leadership Thursday to a special committee given broad powers to subpoena witnesses and records as it probes the bizarre break-in at Democratic national headquarters in Washington.

The special panel will be chaired by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., a former state supreme court judge before coming to the Senate 18 years ago.

Picked for Ervin's committee were Republicans Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, Edward J. Gurney of Florida and Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, along with Democrats Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico and Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia.

There were no official reasons given for the selection of the six men. But all are lawyers and generally regarded as noncontroversial. As one leading Democrat put it: "We had to be careful and not pick people who would make this thing look like a witchhunt."

It was learned, too, that Republicans carefully avoided asking senators up for reelection in 1974—since the probe will focus on alleged Republican espionage in the last election and reported links to the White House.

But Baker, tapped to be the ranking GOP member on the Ervin committee, told a news conference he was committed to a "full, fair, thorough, nonpolitical, nonpartisan" investigation.

"I want the chips to fall where they will...," he said. "We'll row our own boat."

To Lead Court

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Judge Manfred Lacks of Poland was elected president of the International Court of Justice yesterday. He will replace President Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan, who is to retire. Judge Fouad Ammoun of Lebanon was reelected vice president.

Death Count At Eight From Alameda Holocaust

ALAMEDA (UPI) — A Navy jet fighter experienced radio trouble before it swept into its deadly dive into a three-story apartment house, a Navy investigating officer said today.

The A7 Corsair smashed into the building Wednesday night and turned it into a pile of blazing rubble.

Disaster crews yesterday recovered the bodies of eight persons, including those of three children and apparently that of the pilot, Lt. Robert L. Ward, Lemoore Naval Air Station, Calif. Authorities said that 14 other residents of the apartment were unaccounted for. The search continued today.

The Navy investigator said that the last transmission from Ward came just 10 minutes before the crash, showing that he was experiencing radio trouble.

The officer said that the plane was at 28,000 feet and traveling over 400 miles per hour when it made a slow turn to return to Lemoore near Fresno.

The attack bomber, he said, suddenly went into a dive and "might have broken the sound barrier just before impact." He explained that many area residents reported hearing explosions and these might have been sonic booms.

Ward and another pilot were on a training flight to Sacramento. Navy officials said the two planes were in formation when Ward's craft began losing altitude.

The crash also ruined two other apartment buildings and a house. Residents from these escaped to safety.

Norman Estes, an assistant to the Alameda fire chief, said the aviation gasoline explosion produced such intense heat many bodies probably were incinerated and may never be found.

"It's a crematorium," Estes said.

Twenty of the building's 41 tenants escaped the building before it crumbled.

The largest piece of the 20-ton jet found was a one-foot square of gleaming aluminum. Authorities said the jet crashed into the basement where it exploded in a ball of lethal flame.

A Bath Stops The Traffic

MIAMI SHORES, Fla. (UPI) — A pretty blonde walked into the North Side Car Wash on busy Biscayne Boulevard Thursday, stripped off her clothes and began washing herself under the sudsy spray.

When police arrived, there was a massive traffic jam around the car wash and over 100 people were milling around —some taking pictures—as the woman stood in the suds spray washing herself.

The woman, identified as Joann Almont of Flint, Mich., was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and indecent exposure. Police said Miss Almont's explanation was: "I needed a bath."

Jobs Go Unwanted

SABINA, Ohio (UPI) — The filing deadline for the May 1 city primary election passed this week, with no one, not even incumbents, filing for four council seats, the treasurer's office or a position on the public affairs board.

County Antipoverty Agency In Jeopardy

Community Action Marin, which has been attempting to pump new life into the county's antipoverty program, may be forced to shut down next month under President Nixon's proposed new budget.

Executive Director Alfred R. Conklin III said today a nationwide campaign will begin soon to urge Congress to restore antipoverty funds not included in Nixon's proposed federal budget of $268 billion for next year.

Meanwhile, officials at the San Francisco Office of Economic Opportunity, parent agency to Community Action Marin, said funding to the local agency will be allocated through March 31 on a monthly basis "for phasing out."

Conklin, who took over the directorship last June after controversy nearly killed the agency (then called the Economic Opportunity Council), said his agency would strive to keep going if federal funding stops.

He said one course of action discussed Wednesday by the agency's board of directors was to seek outside funding from private foundations and groups.

"Everything is up in the air right now," he said, adding the county's Head Start preschool program, one of his agency's programs, may continue to be funded through next year under grants from the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

About a dozen local agencies which Community Action Marin was to help fund this year with $100,000 will not be funded under the president's budget.

The threat to Community Action Marin is a result of President Nixon's move to abolish the federal Office of Economic Opportunity and place some of its functions under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

No provision is made, however, for continuing OEO's community action program — under which the local agency receives funding.

A spokesman for OEO in San Francisco said local antipoverty agencies across the country will have to fend for themselves in the future.

Since such agencies are public nonfprofit corporations, they may be able to get grants from HEW or the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as well as from private sources, he said.

The executive director said his board agreed to join in the nationwide campaign to restore funding by mounting a letter writing campaign to congressmen and urging others to do the same.

There were these other developments in the shaky truce Friday:

— The first North Vietnamese delegates to the JMC arrived at the provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot, in the southern Central Highlands, and were stoned by a waiting crowd. At least one North Vietnamese and a South Vietnamese military policeman providing security for the Communist delegates were injured.

— A Foreign Ministry spokesman said South Vietnam has filed letters of protest with ICCS delegates from Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland complaining of 1,846 cease-fire violations by the Communists between 8 a.m. Jan. 28 and 6 p.m. Tuesday. The letters asked the ICCS to "use its prestige to stop immediately all acts of violation. . ."

— Sources said the United States has protested to the ICCS about difficulties South Korean troops are having in withdrawing from South Vietnam as a result of Communists "firing on the road, bridges that have been blown up."

— The South Vietnamese command reported 156 truce violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today and another 27 violations in the six hours until noon today. The 24 hour total was the highest since Feb. 2. The command also reported that government troops entered five hamlets and took them their first food in a week.

Lighter Put To $500,000 Worth Of Drugs

The Sonoma County Sheriff's Department this week destroyed more than $500,000 worth of drugs confiscated last year.

Sheriff Donald Striepeke said the drugs burned included 285 pounds of marijuana, 51 grams of heroin, 88 grams of cocaine, 1,741 grams of hashish and 4,924 grams of LSD.

Striepeke said the drugs amounted to about half the amount seized in 1972 and was no longer needed for evidence. He said along with the drugs, narcotics officers recovered $40,000 in stolen property.

Bank Gives In To Pressure On Prime Rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — The First National City Bank said Thursday it would give in to "government pressure" and keep its prime interest rate at 6 per cent.

FNCB had used a floating formula to determine the prime rate, the interest rate charged corporate borrowers with the highest credit ratings.

"This action is the direct result of government pressure, in effect," the bank's spokesman said. "The base rate, which previously was determined by the free market, is now being administered by government authorities."

Judge Orders Deductions From Payrolls

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma Superior Court Judge Lincoln F. Mahan ruled yesterday that the City of Petaluma must provide payroll deductions for employees who belong to the Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees.

The organization argued that Petaluma discriminated against members because dues were routinely deducted for other employee groups. City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer contended that deductions should be a matter for wage and benefit negotiations this spring.

Organization Gen. Mgr George Pavlick said, "It's regrettable that the taxpayers of Petaluma were forced to pay the legal costs of the city's attempt to defend a position that had already been decided by courts over a decade ago."

Mahan's ruling indicated that the city must treat all organizations equally

Planners To Eye Big Development

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a master plan for major development on the Cheda Farms property on the northeast side of South Novato Boulevard, west of the crossroads development, at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

The plan by Allan Associates Inc. calls for 208 townhouses and 204 apartments on 50 acres.

Commissioners also will consider a master plan by Robert Roberts for the Novato Boulevard apartments, 74 units on the south side of Novato Boulevard, opposite Our Lady of Loretto Church.

POWS

information has come from men who escaped or were released previously.

Dr. William N. Miller, a Navy psychologist who specializes in POW problems, has found that the man who adapts to prison camp life "has had to learn behavior that allows him to get by in a prison situation but may not be very acceptable here in our environment."

One common form of adaption, Miller said in a film for POW wives, is for a man to fill the idle hours and block out unpleasant conditions by reliving happy events from his past second-by-second or by planning for the future in extremely meticulous detail.

"So long as they are immersed in that," he said, "there is no misery of the present. But there is a drawback to it. The prisoner is starting to become one of the world's great professional time killers.

"A number of men realize if they can dream up a fantasy world so exciting or so real...there is no misery of the past or hopelessness of the future. Combined with other time-killing activities (this) can make days, or months, or even decades go by at the snap of a finger."

"When a man is told release is imminent — as may be happening for some even now — he tends to disbelieve the news," Miller said.

"Too many false hopes have been dashed for him to believe it is coming," he said. "Therefore he is not prepared for release. He is not prepared for freedom."

Miller said for this reason many men will feel "total bewilderment" at first when they are set free. He said Project Homecoming was designed to "cushion the shock of the release as much as possible."

21-Year-Old Is Booked On Robbery Probe

Robert William Lane, 21, of 8 Stetson Lane, Kentfield, was booked into Marin County Jail at 4:15 p.m. yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of robbery.

Officers said Lane was trapped in his car by clerks from the United Market at 515 Third Street after he allegedly took a wallet and $53 cash from a woman customer in the market. The wallet belongong to Marie Louise Augusto of 18 Frances Street, San Rafael, was found in the glove compartment of his car, police said.

Lane was held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Air 'Cleared' For Ceremony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air pollution nearly forced curtailment of President Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20, District of Columbia officials have disclosed.

A brisk wind two days before the inaugural ceremonies ended the pollution alert, which was on the verge of being changed to a pollution hazard for elderly and ill persons and children.

"In the middle of our crisis," D.C. environmental chief James P. Alexander told a briefing Thursday, "I couldn't help but think it would have been great if it happened, so we could tell the nation: 'This is what air pollution means in this country.' "

Park Board Cuts Fees For Needy

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a plan to allow a 50 per cent reduction in fees to families on county assistance.

The proposal, introduced by Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation, must be approved by the county social services department.

If it is, the recreation department will institute the plan on a six-month trial basis.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

IMPROVEMENTS — Heard reports on tennis court project at Vallecito Junior High in Terra Linda, the Albert Park plan to build two baseball diamonds and the Santa Margarita Valley tennis court resurfacing project.

GLENWOOD — Agreed to pursue a plan for a cooperative project with San Rafael City Schools, Glenwood PTA and other youth service groups to upgrade the Glenwood School play area.

DOGS — Heard a report by Commissioner Norma Wall that many dogs have been running loose in Sun Valley Park. Mrs. Wall urged citizens to report to the parks and recreation department and Humane Society any dogs seen in the area.

SPRING — Heard a report that the spring recreation program will begin during the week of March 26 and continue to June 8.

GAMES — Approved requests by Marin Catholic High School for baseball games at Albert Park on March 22 and 23.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. March 8 at city hall.

governmental agencies — such as the Bolinas Public Utility District — to secure loans for damage repair.

The Bolinas District's water supply system was washed out by the heavy rains and the tiny seaside community has been using an emergency system since.

Kirby urged homeowners in cities to contact their local city halls for further information on the disaster loans or the Small Business Administration office in San Francisco. County government will aid residents of the unincorporated areas of Marin.

The Presidential proclamation ends weeks of governmental redtape which started unreeling last month when the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared a state of local emergency and asked Gov Reagan for assistance.

Reagan declared Marin and San Luis Obispo Counties to be emergency areas and offered state assistance. The governor also made the formal request to president Nixon.

SBA officials were reluctant today to estimate when homeowners and businessmen could expect approval of loan applications.

One official said he hoped it would be within 10 days to a month, depending on when the local assistance office is opened.

Oakland Mayor Is Challenged

OAKLAND (AP) — City Councilman John Sutter is challenging Mayor John Reading on two fronts: the mayor's job and his position on the city election ballot.

Sutter announced Wednesday he is a candidate for mayor. Reading announced earlier he would seek reelection.

Sutter also filed a suit asking the Superior Court to end the city practice of listing incumbents first on the ballot, followed in alphabetical order by challengers.

CONSUMER

Brown Act comes into play and that member should leave to prevent existence of a quorum."

Said Silvestri, "That seems to be a good, commonsense interpretation based on our philosophy of always resolving doubts in favor of public notice. The minute you have four commissioners present, you have a meeting and the Brown Act applies."

Last night's vote on the consumer program found Gray, Gallardo and Sarjeant lined up against the proposal as they had been at the Jan. 25 "committee" meeting.

Mrs. Weden was joined by Commissioner Leland S. Bright in defending the program. Commissioner Lily Whittle did not speak or vote; Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Gray praised Hood and his aides for drafting the consumer proposal, but argued that the department's "duty lies in the area of discrimination. The proposal, even on a pilot basis, involves an overwhelming task" for the staff to add to its other duties. To do so "would be a disservice to the people we're supposed to serve as well as the consumers," Gray added.

"I do not believe the Better Business Bureau is the best place for consumer affairs," Gray added. "It exists to police the business community. It's unfortunate we can't get enough staff."

"Our other programs should have priority," Gallardo said.

Bright countered that "Here's an area the supervisors are interested in. We can do a service to people who believe they're being ripped off" and the consumer plan could dovetail with the department's work against housing and employment discrimination, he said.

Sarjeant objected that the "unanimous" resolution in December represented only five commissioners present at the dinner.

Commissioner Whittle left last night's meeting midway through the discussion without saying a word on the issue.

Hood reported that he had already asked postponement of the supervisors discussion of the pilot program, slated for Tuesday. He said he now would ask the county administrator's office to remove the issue from the agenda.

Novato Council To Review Plan

The Novato City Council will consider reclassification of some employees and continue review of the city's 1972 general plan at 7 p.m. Monday at the Novato Library.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has recommended a reclassification plan based on a study by the Marin County Personnel Office. Employees have hired attorney Richard Breiner of San Rafael to represent them before the council.

The council also is scheduled to consider a $400,000 claim filed by Jean Ostlind over city refusal to permit a Taco Bell restaurant at Novato Square.

Board Member Gives Resignation

Waldie Hecht, chairman of the Mill Valley Library Board, resigned from the board last night, citing personal reasons for her leaving. Her resignation will become effective immediately.

Mrs. Hecht has served two terms on the library board and three one-year terms as chairman, being first elected in 1969.

Nixon Flies On New Jet

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Nixon's pilot says the newest presidential airliner "is like a new car — you feel a tightness, and with every motion you get a response."

The pilot, Col. Ralph Albertazzie, said yesterday that older planes like the one just replaced have "a slight looseness to them."

The new presidential plane, the latest model Boeing 707, was placed in official service for the first time yesterday to fly the President from Washington to California. It replaced an earlier model 707.

Aides said when Albertazzie left Washington he placed the aircraft on a computer-aided flight system called "inertial navigation." The craft was automatically guided to the runway at El Toto Marine Air Station, 2,333 miles away, aides explained.

Wife of Justice Files For Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cathleen Douglas, 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has applied for a job as an assistnat U.S. attorney.

Mrs. Douglas, a May graduate of American University Law School, passed the District of Columbia bar examination in December and applied for the job about a month ago.

Executive Asst. U.S. Atty. Henry F. Greene, who interviewed Mrs. Douglas, said of her application:

"We're going to handle it like we handle anyone else, and we don't know what our conclusion will be yet."

Reagans Tax Freeze Plan Is Attacked By Democrats

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to freeze state taxes — a permanent form of his "squeeze and cut and trim" philosophy — ran into sharp attack from Democrats in the state Legislature today.

It drew cuatious response from some Republican leaders.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who hopes to succeed Reagan as governor, labeled it a "scheme" which could have "catastrophic impact" on criticical state services.

Reagan, who plans to retire as governor in 1974, said he would go directly to the people to get his "revenue control and tax reduction program" written into the state constitution if the legislature turned him down.

"Freedom itself is in danger" unless government's share of the taxpayer's paycheck is reduced, Reagan said.

As expected, Reagan announced yesterday that he was proposing a permanent 10 per cent state income tax cut. He also unveiled a three-point plan for using the state's current $852 million budget surplus. It includes a 20 per cent income tax rebate next year and postponing a sales tax increase from June until January.

His most far-reaching proposal was a complicated long range plan for a gradually lowered ceiling on all state tax levies. The state's total tax take — computed as a percentage of gross personal income — would be frozen at this year's level and then trimmed bit by bit each year.

The goal is to cut state taxes from the current 8½ cents on each dollar Californians earn to about 7 cents over a 15-year period, Reagan said in a televised "report to the people."

Despite the ceiling, the plan would provide enough new money each year to pay for normal growth in state government caused by inflation and population increase, Reagan said.

If nothing is done, he added, the current state income of $9.8 billion will grow to $47 billion in 15 years. His plan would limit revenue growth — and spending — to about $27 billion by 1989-90.

"That amounts to a reduction in your total state taxes of almost 20 per cent over a 15-year period," he said.

GOP lawmakers were receptive but still cautious. The two GOP leaders in the Senate, Fred W. Marler Jr. of Redding and John L. Harmer of Glendale, said, "we must be extremely careful to preserve the ability of government to respond to the needs of the people."

Under Reagan's plan, future governors could launch major new spending programs only if the voters first approved new taxes to pay for them or by eliminating existing programs.

The plan itself also will require approval of the voters. The legislature can put the plan on the ballot by a two-thirds vote but Reagan needs Democratic support to do it.

Failing in the legislature, Reagan would have to collect the signatures of 521,000 eligible voters to put the measure on the ballot at a special statewide election.

The vote could come as early as September, Reagan aides said.

The permanent income tax cut — including the revenue control provisions — would be part of the constitutional amendment.

In addition to the $245 million-a-year permanent income tax cut and revenue ceiling, Reagan's plan for using up a current $852 million state budget surplus includes the following:

A onetime 20 per cent income tax rebate on 1973 earnings, costing an estimated $415 million. That would be a windfall of $40 for a family of four with an income of $15,000 a year.

A delay from this June to next January of a scheduled one cent increase in the state sales tax, from five to six cents on the dollar in most of the state, using up $368 million. This would save the same family $32. This sales tax hike was sought by Reagan last year to increase state support of local schools and reduce property taxes.

Use of the remaining $69 million for construction projects such as shoring up the 103-year-old state Capitol, declared an earthquake hazard by the state architect.

The rebate and sales tax delay requires legislation, but Moretti, who worked closely with Reagan in achieving welfare and tax reform the past two years, split sharply with the governor on his revenue control proposal.

"The governor is now admitting to the people that despite his rhetoric of 'cut, squeeze and trim,' he has failed to reduce the state budget and would now lead us all down the path of mediocrity, inadequacy and even misery," Moretti said.

"This new tax program has all of the disadvantages contained in the recently defeated Watson Tax Initiative and is in direct conflict with the governor's pre-election opposition to the proposal," Moretti said.

He claimed the Reagan plan went "entirely in the opposite direction" of the tax reforms they worked on together last year.

"It will have the effect of maintaining all of the tax advantages currently enjoyed by the privileged few in our society," Moretti added.

Marler and Harmer, the Senate GOP floor leader and caucus chairman, issued a joint statement calling the Reagan plan an "exciting and innovative concept" but, they added, "the subject of revenue control and tax reduction are so complex that extensive legislative hearings should be held to discover areas which might become problems if the plan is adopted."

Said Harmer, "This package of tax proposals will, for the first time, provide the public with muscle power to hold the line on state taxes."

Congress Orders Strike Of Penn Central Delayed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Penn Central trainmen went back to work under congressional order early today, ending for at least 90 days a strike of the nation's largest railroad.

President Nixon signed the back-to-work measure at 6 a.m. EST about 13 hours after Congress rammed through the legislation, according to Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

But even before Nixon put his signature on the bill, union and management began restoring service. Both sides in the dispute predicted that commuter and shipping services in the populous northeast would be near normal this morning.

After Congress approved the order Thursday evening, the bill was flown to the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon went for a 12-day visit.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the trains would begin running again "as soon as the men can report."

Orchid Society President To Talk

Dr. Lawrence L. Vance, president of the American Orchid Society, will speak at a public meeting sponsored by the Marin Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Caroline Livermore Room of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Vance, a member of the board of directors of the Orchid Digest Corporation and department head of the business department at the University of California at Berkeley, will discuss the Seventh World Orchid Congress. He will show slides of prize-winning orchids.

FIREMEN DOUSE NOVATO BLAZE

Firemen spray the attic of a home at 2005 Leese Lane. Flames erupted there shortly after 8 p.m. yesterday. Occupant of the house, Cindy Gramlich, was at home when the fire started near an entrance to the kitchen, but she escaped unharmed. Cause of the blaze is undetermined. Firemen estimated damage at $5,500. (Independent-Journal photo)

Relocation Fuss Could End Happily For Family

One family out of two facing eviction to make way for a city parking lot in San Rafael may be allowed to remain as tenants of the city, it appeared today amid brightening prospects for relocation aid to both families.

San Rafael officials have mentioned the possibility of allowing the George V. Kearnes family of 1313 Fifth Avenue to remain in its rented home as tenants when the city acquires the parcel opposite city hall on May 1, Kearnes said yesterday.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser declined to confirm or deny the report.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, who earlier said he believed the families were not eligible for relocation aid since the city's contract for purchase of the parcel is for uninhabited land, yesterday said a review of the state Uniform Relocation Act appears to throw a different light on the matter. Robbins said, "It would appear that the law would apply if the property was occupied within the last 180 days."

Robbins will issue an opinion on city liability in the matter at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

City Councilman John A. Miskimen said the law "probably extends to the current situation" since the city indirectly forced the eviction of the two families by stipulating the parcel be uninhabited.

Also Councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan has said that the cost of any relocation payments due the two families may be added onto the $145,000 purchase price of the parcel.

Steven B. Sachs, chairman of the San Rafael Town Meeting Association, has claimed that the city's contract for purchase of the parcel from landowner Nicholas Janakes was drawn up so as to preclude any benefits to the two families living in rented homes on the land.

The state relocation act essentially says that if the city acquires a parcel with people living on it, the residents may be eligible for relocation payments under state law, according to Sachs. The law also says that a displaced resident must ask for relocation aid — which amounts to a maximum of $500 in moving expenses and $4,000 in rental assistance over four years — in order to obtain it.

Kearnes says he has asked the city for such aid. The Bertha Floyd family of 1317 Fifth Avenue was unavailable yesterday for comment.

Kearnes, a former San Rafael public works employee unable to work because of a disability, said he is being represented in the matter by Lowell W. Sykes, a Marin Legal Aid Society attorney. "We want whatever aid is coming to us," he said. J. Bielser has mentioned "another arrangement" coupled with possible aid, in lieu of relocating his family, he said.

"I have the feeling the city will become my landlord" following city acquisition of the parcel, Kearnes said.

At issue is a 21,700-square-foot parcel at Fifth Avenue and D Street which the city council two weeks ago announced will be acquired for conversion into a parking lot and possible eventual use as the site of a new public safety facility. Construction of the lot will require demolition of the Floyd residence only, with the Kearnes home being torn down only if fire facilities should be located there.

A New Traffic Pattern For Golden Gate Revealed

Up to two lanes on the San Francisco approach to the Golden Gate Bridge will be closed periodically to provide a buffer between northbound and southbound traffic.

The new system will go into effect Wednesday after the morning rush hour. One center lane will be closed between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.; and two lanes will be closed between 7 p.m. and 4:30 a.m.

The heavy demand of traffic will not permit any lanes to be closed during peak traffic hours, according to the plan announced today by San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras at a meeting of the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

He stressed that most serious accidents on the approach, known as "blood alley," occur in the evening hours.

The system of buffer lanes will not be used on weekends or holidays, however, when several major accidents occurred in the past.

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the bridge district, estimates the cost of the buffer system at $500 to $1,000 per month.

Under a contract between the district and state, 61 per cent of the cost will be paid by the state and the rest by the district.

Plans to widen the approach from six 10-foot to eight 12-foot lanes, with a concrete median barrier, have been stalled for years by San Francisco's "freeway revolt." The state now plans to do the $14 million project in 1977, but legislation has been introduced in Sacramento to do the job in the next fiscal year.

Girl Critical From Accident

A 4-year-old Petaluma girl was critically injured when a car ran over her at 2:45 p.m. yesterday in front of her home.

Kristeen L. Bartow, 1712 Weaverly Drive, underwent emergency surgery at Hillcrest Hospital for internal injuries and was reported in critical condition.

Police said the girl was sitting on the curb playing when a car driven by Arnold H. Volker, 68, of 172 Cleveland Lane, Petaluma, backed over her.

A NEW SYSTEM — The letter "O" wins hands up in this vowel exercise in a Scituate, Mass., classroom. The children in the class are embarking on a new program to read and write.

WORKS OUT FRUSTRATIONS

A Teacher Repackages Alphabet

By KENNETH G. GEHRET
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

SCITUATE, Mass. — Like many teachers through the years, Pleasant Rowland was dissatisfied with the materials available to her. But unlike most who have felt that way, Miss Rowland decided to do something about the situation.

She wrote a preprimer program and had it published.

Before arriving at this solution, the attractive young woman had taught for 5½ years in different parts of the United States. Although she knew her way around kindergarten and first and second grades, the youngest pupils were her favorites. But she felt "frustrated with the textbooks. With Sesame Street and other exposures, the kids were ready for sounds and letters. They could handle a reading program if it was properly prepared."

Her experience indicated that "Somewhere between kindergarten and first grade the alphabet got lost. Nobody really, truly taught it."

So, after dropping out of the classroom for two years of TV reporting, Miss Rowland set down to work out her teaching frustrations on a series of 24 books entitled, "Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen."

With a few exceptions, each book is devoted to a single letter and only one sound is assigned to that letter, to avoid confusing the youngsters at the outset. The author-educator is now working on the rest of the 44 sounds in the alphabet as part of a first-grade program.

"The usual preprimer has words in it," she comments.

"That's premature. This series is broken down into digestible, picturable units. Each book retains the previous letters through a controlled vocabulary."

The series is currently used by an estimated 200,000 pupils across the country, including youngsters in the two kindergartens in this coastal town of Scituate.

Prior to the Christmas vacation, these children were busily learning their first vowel, the short "O." "Olive," the teacher said "which letter does that begin with?" And the enthusiastic tots held up individual cards bearing the letter "O" rather than the other one each held, inscribed with "C".

"C" was the first letter learned. Now, the teacher was including some "C" words, to reinforce what was learned earlier.

The class was working as a unit. This is recommended for the first six letters. After that, individualization shows up as children move ahead at their own speed in a way and to the extent the teacher can manage. High-school students are in each room two afternoons a week, expanding the opportunity for individual attention.

Helen O'Connor, reading chairman for the Scituate district, explains that the local schools tried to put together their own program but acknowledges that "you can't expect every teacher to be proficient that way."

"Beginning to Read, Write, and Listen" gets around that problem, Mrs. O'Connor points out, by providing material that strengthens a teacher's instruction.

Jacqueline White, the school principal, was impressed with "Beginning" as a "cohesive program that hit all the elements of interest to us." She also liked the fact that Miss Rowland had been a kindergarten teacher herself.

Mrs. White appraises the program as "setting up a better learning situation" and making possible "learning in a delightful way." Miss Rowland describes her books as a "total language-arts approach; reading, writing, and speaking are integrated."

Eight More File Papers For School Board Seats

Five more incumbents and three newcomers have filed nomination papers 'as candidates for school board seats, according to the Marin County Elections Office.

Thomas Neal McNamara seeks reelection to the Dixie School District board; Jane S. Durr to the Fairfax board; Richard C. Sloan to the Lagunitas board; Harold A. Drady to the Nicasio board, and Charles V. Patterson to the Reed board.

In addition, newcomer Marilyn Marioni filed for a Lagunitas seat, Michael D. Sanford for a Bolinas-Stinson seat and Oliver L. Harle for a San Anselmo seat.

Mrs. Durr first was appointed to the Fairfax board in 1967, and in 1969 was elected for a full term which will end June 30.

Mrs. Durr lives at 470 Cascade Drive with her husband, M.H. Durr, and five children.

She is a native of Cincinnati, was graduated from the University of Cincinnati, and worked in biophysics research.

She has been active in Fairfax planning committees and parent-teacher organizations.

Sloan, elected to the Lagunitas board, last year after running unsuccessfully for the board in 1971 and for the Marin Junior College board in 1969, is 38, and a carpenter.

He is a former San Quentin correctional officer and Marin County juvenile probation officer and an Army intelligence officer from 1961 to 1963. He was graduated from the University of California.

Sloan is the father of two preschool age children. He has been active in the Marin Democratic Central Committee, Marin Alternative and various political campaigns.

Nicasio incumbent Drady, 33, is a California Highway Patrol officer. He was elected to a short term on the board in 1971.

Drady and his wife, Katherine, have three children.

He was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo.

Patterson, elected to the Reed board last year, is an attorney with offices in Tiburon, and lives at 20 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, with his wife, Judith, and three children.

Patterson, 41, was grduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and received his law degree at Hastings College.

Patterson first was appointed to the Reed board in January 1969, but ran fourth in a six-way race for three seats in June 1969, then was appointed to the seat last June when one victor, James B. Richwagen, resigned.

McNamara, 42, has served on the Dixie board since 1965.

He is a native of Washington, D.C., received his bachelor's degree from Duke University and a doctorate in law from George Washington University. He served in the Korean War and is a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve.

He is an attorney with Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro in San Francisco. He is also legal adviser to the Marin Foundation of Friends of Arequipa, and is a former secretary of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association.

He and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, and their three children live at 2200 Lucas Valley Road.

Sanford, running for election the first time on the Bolinas-Stinson Beach board, lives at 2000 Panoramic Highway, Stinson Beach, with his wife and two children.

Sanford, 38, is a native of Cambridge, Mass., and was graduated from St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., and received his law degree from the University of California in Berkeley. He is studying for a doctorate in sociology at Berkeley.

He is special counsel for the state's Joint Legislative Committee on Reform of the California Constitution.

San Anselmo candidate Harle, 51, is president of the Wade Thomas School Parents Club, and is a chemist with Chevron Research Co. in Richmond. He, is wife, Nancy, and two chi3dren live at 21 Echo Court.

His school board candidacy is his first try for elective office, although he applied for appointment to the San Anselmo Planning Commission last year.

Born in Port Arthur, Tex., Harle was educated in Texas and received his doctorate in chemistry at the University of California in Berekeley. He served as an electronics technician in the Navy during World War II.

Mrs. Marioni, 37, a first-time candidate for the Lagunitas board, lives in Forest Knolls with her husband, Thomas, who directs a San Francisco art museum and their three children.

She is a classroom volunteer as a parent. She has lived in the district two and one-half years.

She was born in New Jersey and was educated at Columbia University and Fairleigh-Dickinson University in New Jersey.

Mrs. Marioni said she is a candidate because she wants to see the existing wide choice of educational programs continue in the Lagunitas district, and because she's concerned "for the rights of children."

She said she wants open space preserved for the students, seeks a lower teacher-student ratio and would like to see more communication between youngsters in the various programs offered within the district.

History Texts Take Over The Divine Origin Duties

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The struggle over what California school children should be told about man's origin shifted today to history textbooks after the state Board of Education closed the door on attempts to put divine creation theories in science books.

The board narrowly rejected a motion Thursday requiring a "generalized" theory of creation to go along with references to Charles Darwin's theory of evolution in science,texts.

The action reaffirmed the board' earlier decisions to include only a "downgraded" evolution theory in science books and place creationist theories such as the biblical story of Adam and Eve in history texts.

However, Eugene Ragle of Roseville, a leader of the procreation forces, told the board to "gird yourself for a fight" in putting creationist theories in history books.

"It will likely never happen," Ragle declared after the motion to insert a reference to the theory of creation in science books, was rejected.

"Mainly because there is an overbearing disregard by certain vocal elements from requiring creation theories in any sort of textbook," he said.

Later, Ragle told newsmen he already had received letters from social science teachers who said they would organize to oppose putting creation theories in history books.

The board has wrestled for three years with the issue of whether roughly three million students in grades one through eight should be told the biblical story of Adam and Eve or the Darwinian theory in science books.

In December the board decided to use the Darwinian theory but to reduce it from purported fact to simple speculation and leave creationist theories for history books.

The motion Thursday, put before the board by Dr. John R. Ford of San Diego, another procreationist on the 10-member panel, was defeated on a 5-2 vote. It needed six votes to pass.

Ford's motion proposed requiring science books to "provide examples of unresolved questions in science as a means of stimulating inquiry, including a theory of creation." A similar motion was defeated last month by the board.

Member Clay N. Mitchell of South Laguna agreed, declaring the two theories about man's origin "should ride level as equals."

"We would be giving children two things as they grow up," Mitchell declared.

Speech, Film On Anti-Semitism Are Announced

A speech and film on anti-Semitism in Russia will be featured Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. in Darwin Hall at Sonoma State College.

Dr. Mary Arnold of the Russian department will speak on "Anti-Semitism in Russia: Then and Now." Her talk will be followed at 8 p.m. with the movie, "The Fixer," starring Alan Bates, Dirk Bogarde and Hugh Griffith.

The film, directed by John Frankheimer, deals with Jews in Czarist Russia. The program is jointly sponsored by the College Model United Nations program and United Nations Association of Sonoma County.

12 Are Rescued From Hotel Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Firemen rescued 12 persons trapped in the upper floors of a transient hotel during a four-alarm fire early today.

Aided by firemen, the occupants climbed down aerial ladders after fire swept through the third and fourth floors of the Casa Loma Hotel at Fell and Fillmore Streets.

At one point flames shot 40 feet into the air.

A strong odor of gasoline indicated the fire was set by an arsonist, Fire Chief Ernest Banchero said.

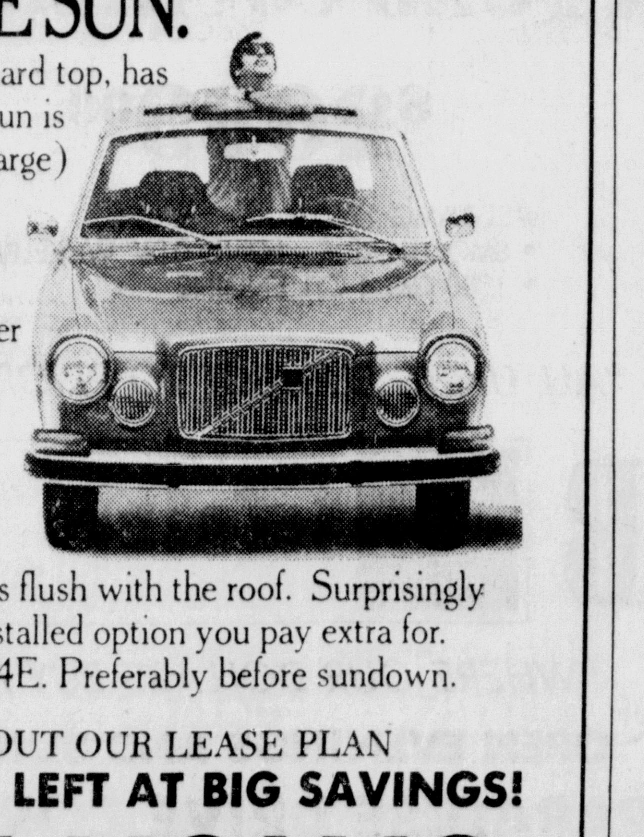
THE VOLVO 164E BRINGS YOU A SURPRISING NEW OPTION. THE SUN.



Volvo, long famous for its hard top, has finally cut a hole in it. So the sun is now available (for an extra charge) to those who worship it.

To do so, reach up and turn the sunroof's handle. It slides back on metal rails to let in over three square feet of sun. A wind deflector keeps the sunroof from turning into a wind tunnel. And when the sun goes down our sunroof goes up so that it closes flush with the roof. Surprisingly enough, it's the only factory-installed option you pay extra for. Come in and see the Volvo 164E. Preferably before sundown.

Sleepy Hollow Youth Will Get Eagle Pin

CRAIG MARQUIS
A Scouting Honor

A 16-year-old Sleepy Hollow youth, who helped plan and install a sprinkling system for his church as part of his eagle scout project, will receive the highest rank in scouting at court of honor at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Sleepy Hollow Club House.

Craig Marquis, a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 50, has completed requirements for the eagle rank after five years as a boy scout, including service as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader and presently assistant senior patrol leader. He also is a member of Order of the Arrow.

Craig, president of his sophomore class last semester at Drake High School, is active in athletics and was named "most valuable lineman" on the freshman and junior varsity football teams. He also competes in water polo and track.

He helped plan and install a sprinkler system for the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church and planted 25 seedling trees on the church grounds.

His hobbies include swimming, camping, fishing, hunting, oil painting, hiking and in the past year, the building of fiberglass kayaks.

Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Marquis of 30 Van Hooten Court. With his father recently stricken with multiple sclerosis, Craig has had to assume many duties at home while completing his eagle scout requirements.

First Mine Phase Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four U.S. minesweepers have nearly completed the first step in clearing mines from North Vietnam's seven ports, the Pentagon has reported.

The ships are working to clear an anchorage area in the Gulf of Tonkin 40 miles southeast of Haipong to be used by the task force of ships that will sweep the mine fields, Pentagon spokesman Maj. Gen. Daniel James said Wednesday.

He said there have been no detonations and no mines sighted since the sweep began Tuesday.

Heart Fund Goal Set At $75,000

The 1973 Heart Fund Campaign opened this week in Marin County aiming for a goal of $75,000, according to Dr. Paul C. Ogden, president of the Marin County Heart Association.

The month-long campaign will continue through Heart Sunday, Feb. 25, with a door-to-door campaign by about 2,500 volunteers. They also will distribute literature on heart attack warning signs and emergency procedures.

A total of 25 per cent of the money collected in Marin will go toward national research projects, 12.5 per cent will be earmarked for statewide grants and fellowships and the balance will remain in Marin for professional and lay education projects and community services, Ogden said.

Homosexuals Are Labeled A Minority

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night added homosexuals to other "minorities" the commission seeks to protect under its draft "affirmative action" ordinance against hiring discrimination. (Another commission story, page 1.)

The addition was urged by three audience members who identified themselves as members of the gay community — and was adopted by a 4-2 vote after the main body of the ordinance was approved 6-0 by the commissioners.

The commission's two women members opposed the inclusion of "sexual orientation." Commissioner Judy Weden objected that "being black or a woman is a natural thing — you were born that way — but being homosexual isn't natural."

Commissioner Lily Whittle voiced no opinion, but voted with Mrs. Weden. Commissioner Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Richard Gayer and Larry Littlejohn of San Francisco and a third speaker who identified himself as Dorwin B. Jones of Mill Valley charged that most fair employment laws gave no protection to the homosexual or the disabled.

"Employment is the most basic human right; it should be based on ability to do a job rather than sexual orientation," Littlejohn declared. "We're tired of leading a double life," Jones added.

In addition to favoring a ban on hiring discrimination on a basis of "sexual orientation," the commission adopted an explanation that the phrase meant "choice of human adult sexual partners according to gender."

The affirmative action ordinance draft, adopted last night after months of preparation, will be presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for hearing and possible adoption.

Commissioners also recommended that the county ordinance creating the Human Rights Department be amended to add homosexual discrimination to the ills the office is supposed to fight.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

GRIEVANCES — Received a report from Robert L. Hollis, grievance counselor, that he had received 202 complaints during 1972, including 71 over housing and 65 over employment. He gave commissioners a summary of typical cases and their solutions.

POVERTY WAR — Voted 4-0, with commissioner Leland S. Bright abstaining, for a resolution supporting continuing funding of the Marin Community Action program, faced with dismantling because of President Richard M. Nixon's cutoff of the budget for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

BUDGET — Heard from Director Gerald J. Hood that he needed program priority direction from the commission so he can prepare a program budget for 1973-74, an innovation in Marin County government.

'High' Gunman Hits Novato Liquor Store

A man who "appeared to be high on something" robbed a Novato liquor store last night and escaped with about $165.

Frank R. Silva told police he was behind the counter of Warden's Liquor store, 878 Grant Avenue, at about 8:20 p.m. when a man entered the store and asked for a fifth of bourbon.

Silva said he put a bottle of liquor into a bag and went to the cash register. He turned, he said, and saw the man was holding a revolver.

"Sorry brother, I need it," the man told him. At the bandit's instruction, Silva put the cash from the register into the same bag as the bourbon.

He described the holdup man, who was sought today, as white, between 25 and 30 years old, about 6 feet, 1 inch tall with a medium-to-thin build. He said the man had medium length curly brown hair and three or four days' growth of beard. He also told police the bandit appeared to be drugged or drunk.

Tennis Agreement Meeting Scheduled

The San Anselmo School District board last night agreed to meet with the city council at 8 p.m. Tuesday in city hall to reach accord on joint funding of tennis courts at Red Hill School.

The city asked the meeting after the board rejected an agreement drafted on the matter. The board said the agreement unfairly required the school system to pay for repairs, pay the city half the value of the courts should either side withdraw from the agreement and mentioned unlisted out-of-pocket expenses as well as the $8,000 in matching funding.

A subsequent issue is whether or not the board will use the $8,000 for the courts or funnel the money into something else, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott, who said a majority of the board still wants to proceed.

Elliott said he expects a decision on the matter will be reached in city hall on Tuesday.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

SPECIAL EDUCATION — Saw a slide show on the district's special education program, established six years ago.

PERSONNEL — Employed supervisor Zoltan Kraynic for $2.40 an hour and secretary Bess Niemcewicz for $546 a month. The board accepted the resignation of secretary Valerie Rogers, who is moving.

BIDS — Called for bids on 500 surplus student desks.

CONSULTANT — Hired Daniel Pope at no more than $600 for consultant work on the employee annuity program.

MANAGEMENT — Declared eight staff posts to be management positions, as required by state law.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement whereby the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center will pay $400 a month for use of classrooms at Yolansdale School.

NO ACTION — Took no action on proposals regarding teacher assignment and transfer, reducing district staff, liability insurance for district employees or sabbatical leave for two teachers.

EARLY CHILDHOOD — Said the board will discuss early childhood education at the next regular meeting on Feb. 22.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Tuesday in city hall for a joint meeting with the city council.

Musical Thieves Are Broken Up

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (UPI) — It was, police said, truly a band of thieves.

Police annonced Wednesday they have broken up a gang of thieves who formed a samba band with musical instruments they stole.

Bandleader Osmar da Silva Marques, 31, police said, told them he formed the band to play during the annual carnival and allowed only thieves to join it because they could obtain instruments easier.

"It's a shame," police said Marques told them. "We were just starting to get tuned in."

Thief Hides In Bar, Loots Cash Boxes

A burglar who apparently hid inside the 881 Club until after closing time, stole $1,240 in cash from the bar at 881 Fourth Street yesterday, San Rafael police said today.

The thief pried open cash boxes in the bar and card room, then unlocked a rear door to escape, police said.

A Military Showdown In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Army troops occupied radio and television stations in the Uruguayan capital today and the Navy blockaded its port in a military showdown over the administration of President Juan Maria Bordaberry.

The Air Force sided with the Army in the revolt, but the Navy apparently remained loyal to Bordaberry.

There were no reports of shooting. Bordaberry, who had spent the night in his office, went to his home early this morning but returned to the presidential palace five hours later.

The Army and Air Force broadcast demands for the dismissal of Bordaberry's newly appointed defense minister, Gen. Antonio Francese, on the stations the Army occupied.

At the port, armed sailors commandeered automobiles and buses and barricaded themselves inside the area, and a naval statement said its commanders supported Bordaberry in the crisis.

The Navy's destroyer Artigas left its anchorage in the port at midmorning and dropped anchor in the bay, facing the city with its guns.

No Joy As Planners Up Sonoma Density

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission last night approved an amended master plan for the Sonoma State College area and satisfied few persons.

County Planning Director George Kovatch said the commission increased density around the campus from the proposed 10-acre minimum to a three-quarter-acre minimum, leaving both open space advocates and landowners unhappy.

Longtime property owners and land developers argued against the 10-acre minimum, saying it removed their right to develop and provided neither compensation nor tax relief.

The open space plan had been promoted by Sonoma State College officials and the Rohnert Park City Council. They argued the original plan would bring over-urbanization to the area unless density was decreased.

A Rohnert Park City Council resolution of intention to buy land or development rights to preserve open space was presented, but carried little weight. Kovatch said the commission doubted the financial ability of the city to buy land without considerable help from the county, state and federal governments.

Kovatch said the approved plan increased density as requested by landowners, but would not assure the right to develop since Rohnert Park has indicated it will not extend utility lines to serve the eastern edge of the city. Poor percolation would not allow individual septic tanks if land were subdivided into three-quarter acre parcels, he claimed.

"I don't think anyone was pleased with the plan —'the open space people, land owners and not even the commissions," Lovatch said.

The amended plan will be forwarded to the board of supervisors for further consideration.

'Helper' Attacks Marin Woman

Sheriff's deputies said the woman was in a Mill Valley tavern about 9:30 p.m. when a man left the tavern, taking her purse. Another man, who had been playing pool with the thief earlier, told the woman he would help her find it.

She told officers she got into his car, and he drove her into the hills of Marin City, threatened her with a gun and raped her.

The woman did not report the incident until Wednesday, deputies said.

Larkspur Students Score Well In Tests

The Larkspur School District board was told last night that first, second and third graders in its schools scored higher in state-mandated reading tests than the average Marin County student.

Supt. Milton S. Cohen credited the high scores to the district's practice of "slip sessions" when reading teachers instruct only half a class at a time and to students' intensive use of four libraries.

The Larkspur School District Board Also:

PRINCIPAL — Approved screening procedures for hiring a principal to replace Catherine W. Burch, principal of Neil Cummings School, who retires in June.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Appointed Robert Reynolds, Neil Cummins teacher, as principal of summer session, and set its dates as June 20 to July 20.

STUDY — Approved Craig Curley, seventh grade student at Henry C. Hall School, spending half a day a week at the Audubon Canyon Ranch to pursue his nature study work.

COMMUNITY — Decided to hold a series of "input meetings" at district schools so people can say what they do and don't like about the schools and make suggestions.

Stricter Zoning Approved For East Cotati Avenue

A plan for stricter zoning control on East Cotati Avenue was approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

The commission recommended that East Cotati Avenue from Arthur Street to the railroad tracks be zoned for restricted-commercial use. The designation would permit high density residential development and place strict requirements on commercial uses.

Requirements for businesses would include a 30-foot setback and rear lot parking so the street will not look like a gaudy commercial strip.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said other zones on the street would remain unchanged.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

GARAGE — Approved plans by Patrick Corrigan for an automotive repair garage at 7890 Redwood Highway.

GENERAL PLAN — Set a public hearing for Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. on proposed amendments to the city's general plan.

IMPROVEMENTS —Granted the request of Louise Santero and Lawrence Forno to waive requirements for curbs, gutters and sidewalks until other properties on Old Redwood Highway and Valaparaiso Avenue are developed.

Group Opposes Open Space Tie To General Plan

People for Parks and Open Space, a Marin environmental group, voted last night to oppose the linking of open space acquisition with the county general plan.

A spokesman for the group said that voters last year endorsed Measure A, which provided for a regional open space district, and that any steps to acquire open space should be undertaken through this body as a separate entity, not linked to the general plan.

The organization, however, does support the general plan in all other respects and urges all cities to adopt it as soon as possible, according to Karin Urquhart, secretary.

A general membership meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 22 in the planning commission chambers at the Marin County Civic Center.

County Is Asked To Pay Cat Care

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Kern County is being dunned for $124 by a rural woman for the feeding and care of a cat family.

Mrs. Jack Rummel of Lebec sent in the bill, explaining that she had been carrying for two adult cats and five kittens dumped in her yard last November.

She said she wrote the Humane Society and Animal Control Department in both Bakersfield and Taft, but got no response.

Her request for $2 per day for room and board for the felines was turned over to the county health department by the board of supervisors.

A Sweet Tune For Gamblers

The Gaming Control Board reported Thursday that the state's legal gamblers won $731.1 million during the year—an all-time high and an increase of 15.4 per cent over 1971.

Las Vexs casinos grossed $476.1 million, up 19.2 per cent, while Reno-North Lake Tahoe took in $138.3, up 4.1 per cent, and South Lake Tahoe resorts won $91.3 million, up 13.4 per cent.

Plea Denied To Set Up An Institute

A plan or an institute to accommodate 100 persons was rejected last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

The Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities had requested permission to convert old Sonoma State Collete classrooms on College View Drive into a training center.

Nick Zydycrn said the organization specializes in training people to survive and cope happily with the pressures of life. He said the center operates other branches and accepts wards of the state as well as private clients. He said the organization hoped to renovate the old building and to accommodate 100 students and teachers.

Secretary Sandra Nelson said the commission was not satisfied with explanations of activities at the institute and rejected the use permit applications.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Heard plans by Spivock Co. to rezone 129 acres on Golf Course Drive to permit apartments, single homes, a seven-acre school site and 3.5-acre park site. A hearing on the environmental impact of the plan was set for March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

MEDICAL — Approved plans by Maurice Fredericks for a medical office building on Arlen Drive.

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by Qantas Development Corp. for four-plexes on Country Club Drive.

HEARING — Set a hearing for Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. on plans by Morrison Homes to rezone 288 acres south of East Cotati Avenue to residential and commercial zones.

Gnoss Field Business Boost Eyed

With joint civilian-military use at Hamilton Air Force Base in limbo, Novato Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday looked toward boosting business at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

John A. Trumbull, chairman of the chamber's airport committee, raised the possibility of expanding small plane taxi service at Gnoss.

The service, provided at a customer's convenience, is "competitive" with the cost of San Francisco-Oakland helicopters, which fly from Waldo Point.

Directors asked the airport committee to investigate boosting air taxi service.

Directors also opposed creation of a Marin County consumer agency as proposed by the Marin County Human Rights Commission. They said its services would duplicate existing services.

Oregon Approves Equal Rights Law

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon became the 25th state to ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution Thursday.

The proposed 27th amendment, which needs ratification by 38 states, was approved 50 to 9 by the Oregon House of Representatives. It passed the state Senate 23 to 6 last week.

Sewer Plant Impact Hearing Rules Drawn

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night announced the format for a public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning expansion of the district's Smith Ranch Road sewage plant.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Marin County Board of Supervisors chambers in the Civic Center, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

Board members decided to begin the public hearing with a brief summary of the report, then consider letters from other agencies on the matter, letters from the public, verbal comments from the public and comments from board members, followed by a question-and-answer session, she said.

The report, prepared by district engineer J. Warren Nute, details proposed expansion of the plant to increase its capacity from the present 2.25 million gallons of waste treated each day to about three million. Copies of the report are available at the district plant on Smith Ranch Road and at the Marin County Library in the Civic Centers, she said.

The board last night asked citizens to read the report and submit written comments to district staff before the public hearing, she said.

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board also:

TRUCK — Authorized expenditure of $2,900 for a pickup truck.

RESPONSIBILITIES — Said board members uncertain of their functions may consult the state health and safety code section on sanitary districts to determine their powers and responsibilites.

REAPIRS — Told employees to go ahead with repairs to their cars for damage done by a detour on Smith Ranch Road created by Contempo Mobile Home Park. The board said it will file a claim against the firm to receive reimbursement for employees. Autos traveling the road have become covered with tar and need front wheel alignments, Mrs. O'Kane said.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the civic center.

Truce Broken, Cong Charges

PARIS (UPI) — Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, accused South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu today of deliberately violating the cease-fire accord and of massing armed forces to attack Communist positions.

"I must announce before world public opinion the violations committed by Thieu since the cease-fire was applied," she said.

"He is presently concentrating forces, airplanes and tanks to attack positions controlled by our Provisional Revolutionary Government.

"His forces are trying to encroach on territory we hold — and they have been opening fire on counter demonstrations celebrating peace."

Madame Binh made the charges while talking to newsmen after signing a convention with Ugandan Ambassador Paul Mubaka on mutual recognition of the Viet Cong and the Uganda Government.

Mme. Binh paused on the sidewalk outside the Ugandan Embassy close to the historic St. Philippe du Roule church in midtown Paris to challenge Thieu about claims he made in Saigon Thursday that the Viet Cong were delaying peace in Vietnam.

"From all one can see it is Thieu's intention not to apply the Paris agreement," she said.

She said the Viet Cong insisted on full compliance with the accord, including the holding of new elections. She criticized Thieu for saying that various difficulties may make it impossible to stage early elections.

"The United States must be held fully responsible for what is going on, since it is responsible for Thieu," she said.

She charged that the Thieu government failed to comply with the cease-fire accords which called for the release of political prisoners into the hands of opposing sides.

"The so-called liberation of prisoners by Saigon without control makes one wonder whether they are being really released. They may risk physical liquidation."

Earlier today, Viet Cong officials said they expected the forthcoming international conference on Vietnam to have "capital importance" in speeding up their political talks with Saigon.

Saigon's negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, said Monday that preparations for high-level talks might be wrapped up by next Wednesday.

But the low-level negotiations have continued while the Viet Cong demand total freedom of movement if the new talks take place in Saigon.

The political meetings, as called for by the peace agreement, will plan general elections for South Vietnam.

The 12-nation conference on Vietnam is scheduled for Feb. 26 in Paris.

Cold, Wet Kill Escaper

A 30-year-old convict died today in San Quentin Prison hospital, apparently from exposure to wet, below-freezing weather after he fled a Mendocino County conservation camp.

Patrick Timothy Martin, a lifer from Los Angeles County, was transferred to San Quentin yesterday from the Garberville Community Hospital because of better facilities at the prison hospital, Lee DeBord, prison information officer, said.

He said Martin had been diagnosed as suffering from pneumonia, frost bite on his feet, legs and hands and extreme exposure and shock.

The convict escaped from the Eel River Conservation Camp Jan. 31, DeBord said, and was found Monday, lying unconscious against a tree stump in mountains near the camp.

An autopsy was to be performed to determine if Martin died as a result of the five days in the out-of-doors.

The felon was sent to state prison in August 1969 after a conviction for first degree robbery. He was serving a five years-to-life sentence.

Enlargement Of Station Approved

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved plans for enlarging the Penngrove Fire Station.

The board also granted a variance so construction at the rear of the building can extend to the rear lot line.

Bus Union Asks Power To Strike

Bus drivers of the Golden Gate Bridge District have been asked by their union to empower the union to call a strike if negotiations with the district reach an impasse.

Asked if a strike appeared likely, a district spokesman said "no impasse has been reached."

But William E. Riker, the district's industrial relations advisor, adknowledged to the Independent-Journal that an impasse could be reached late next week, when he is scheduled to meet with the union's negotiating committee.

District drivers rejected a new wage package last month. According to an agreement between the district and Amalgamated Transit Union, a strike would require 48 hours notice.

Riker reported that the union has sent ballots to the 245 drivers, asking them to indicate whether they are willing to give the negotiating committee the power to call a strike. The ballots are due next Wednesday, he said.

Riker said management and the union have been unable to agree on changes in working rules which the district said could cost some $200,000 a year.

Strikes by public employees are illegal under California law but, nevertheless, have occurred.

Conservancy Director Will Leave Post

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Huey D. Johnson, western regional director for the Nature Conservancy, has announced his decision to leave the organization.

Johnson, a resident of Mill Valley, said he will head a newly created urban land conservation organization, the Trust for Public Land.

Formerly a wildlife manager and marketing executive, Johnson has been western regional director for the past nine years.

He said the new organization hopes to find ways to satisfy the need for open space within cities. The trust plans to train professionals in urban land acquisition methods, he said.

Sketches Are Shown Of Greenbrae Plans

A developer who plans to build 270 condominiums on 27 acres next to Marin Catholic High School last night showed sketches of the project to the Greenbrae Property Owners Association annual meeting.

Association secretary Naida Walter reported Goodwin B. Steinberg of San Jose said he intends to preserve as much of the living marsh there as possible. Also planned is a 22-suite medical building.

Mrs. Walter said Russell M. Ridge, College of Marin biology teacher, spoke in opposition to the development, citing lack of preservation of mudflats for growth of water and land life.

Some 60 members decided the association should "take a position of interest" in the development, said Mrs. Walter, keeping "a close watch on its environmental impact and a final density decision."

The association will be represented when the project comes before the Marin County Planning Commission on Feb. 26.

The association switched the monthly board meeting to the second Thursday in each month, at 8 p.m. in the offices of Grubb and Ellis, 575 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae.

Other new officers are: Mildred Coy, corresponding secretary; Naida Wlter, recording secretary; Edward Littman, treasurer; Peter B. Brekhus, assistant treasurer; Samuel Serrano, maintenance and landscaping; Charles L. Gould, architectural review; Steward N. Boxer, membership.

The next board meeting will be on March 8.

Clausen Hits Impounding Of Housing Funds

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-Sixth District, has attacked the Nixon administration for impounding federal housing funds.

In a sharply worded letter to the President, Clausen said no American should be asked to postpone or forego his opportunity or dream of obtaining decent housing — so long as high-ranking government officials continue to have chauffered limousines.

"If anyone added up all the money spent on parties thrown by U.S. embassies abroad, on inaugurals every four years, on salaries we pay for high-sounding titles, on subsidies for not producing anything, and on cost overruns for military hardware, the results would make the nation's housing outlays pale by comparison," the congressman declared.

Candidate Declared Ineligible

One candidate who filed for election to the San Rafael Board of Education April 17 has been disqualified, City Clerk Marion A. Grady announced today.

William J. Campagna, 24, of 206 Marin Street, has been ruled ineligible because his petition of candidacy contained only three valid signatures, she said.

Seven of the 10 signatures on the petition were printed or represented citizens who are not registered voters, she said.

Campagna, an employee of the California Youth Authority who works in the offices of the state department of rehabilitation in San Francisco, was unavailable for comment today.

Campagna's disqualification leaves eight candidates in the race for two seats. The eight are Marie J. Sessi, Clarence W. Koop, Joan Lisetor, Lewis S. Pollock, Suzanne L. Beittel, Gale B. Fisher, student Jeff D. Yarbrough III and incumbent Paul K. McMullen.

Gas Tax Funds

State gas tax revenues can be used to repair local roads damaged by the Golden Gate Bridge district's bus fleet. The Independent-Journal erred Wednesday in saying revenues could only be used on main thoroughfares.

Cranston Asks Ban On Timber Exports

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — In an effort to bring down skyrocketing lumber prices, Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Robert Packwood, R-Ore., Thursday asked President Nixon to ban timber exports to Japan.

In a statement released from Cranston's San Francisco office, the senators noted the cost of a four-bedroom house has gone up $1,200 the past 13 months, including $700 in the past month alone, because of soaring lumber prices.

Cranston said large exports of logs to meet Japan's housing needs "have been a major factor in driving up prices here at home." He noted some 45 million log feet of American timber have been committed to Japan for the first three months of 1973, four times more than the amount purchased during a corresponding period last year.

"Japan is currently consuming more than one third of the total timber production of California and the Pacific Northwest and the pace of their buying is accelerating," said Cranston.

Cranston revealed the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs is investigating "runaway inflation in the lumber industry." Both Cranston and Packwood are members of that committee.

Packwood and Cranston have drafted a bill calling for an extended embargo on the export of U.S. timber. Hearings on the bill begin in April.

Meanwhile, the senators asked the President to impose a six-month embargo on logs and "such lesser period as may be necessary for lumber and plywood" in an effort "to calm the present crisis atmosphere."

They asked that the temporary export embargo apply to processed lumber as well as uncut logs "to avoid a possibly critical shortage in certain types of lumber already in low supply."

Marin Schools Rank High In State Tests

Marin County school districts generally ranked well toward the top statewide in the state testing program during the 1970-71 school year.

The complete district-by-district report, which has been well over a year in the process of tabulation and analysis, was presented to the State Board of Education yesterday afternoon in Sacramento by Wilson C. Riles, state superintendent of public instruction.

School districts were ranked statewide on a scale from 1 (lowest) to 99 (highest) on tests given in reading in first, second, third, sixth and 12th grades and in language, spelling and mathematics in sixth and 12th grades.

Ross School repeated its performance of the previous year by ranking 99 — the highest possible — in three categories. Ross pupils hit the top in second grade reading and in sixth grade reading and mathematics. And Ross was within the top 10 per cent of the state of all tests.

Bolinas-Stinson School District also made the top rating of 99 in third grade reading, as did tiny Laguna School District in sixth grade mathematics. The showing of these two districts on other tests was spotty, however.

Ranking in the top 10 per cent on all tests, besides Ross, were Dixie Elementary School District and San Rafael High School District.

San Rafael Elementary district was within the top 10 per cent in all except second grade readin. where it barely missed, ranking 89. Larkspur School District was in the top 10 per cent in all except first grade reading; and San Anselmo, in all except sixth grade language and mathematics.

Besides ranking 99 in third grade reading, Bolinas-Stinson made the top 10 per cent in sixth grade reading. Kentfield was in the "top 10" in all sixth grade tests; Mill Valley, in third grade reading and all sixth grade tests; Reed, in first, second and sixth grade reading.

Lagunitas ranked within the top 10 per cent in second grade reading; Lincoln, in sixth grade language; Nicasio, in sixth grade reading.

Performance in most Marin districts was very similar to that of the preceding year, but there were a few exceptions.

San Rafael High School District seniors of 1971 ranked ahead of those of the previous year by attaining the top 10 per cent in all tests. In 1970, the district placed in that category only in language.

Tamalpais High School District, which had placed in the top 10 per cent in language and mathematics in 1970, failed to make that ranking in any of the 1971 tests of its seniors.

Sausalito pupils showed notable gains in both first and sixth grades, although performance of the district as a whole remained below the state average.

Bolinas-Stinson presented a confusing picture. In 1969-70, its first graders ranked 42 in reading; its '70-'71 first grade ranked 1 — the very lowest. Second grade reading rank fell from 89 to 13, but that in third grade rose from 87 to 99.

At the sixth grade level, however, Bolinas-Stinson rose from 68 the previous year to 98 in reading, from 34 to 84 in language, from 42 to 49 in spelling, and from 18 to 64 in mathematics.

Rankings of such tiny districts as Laguna, Lincoln and Union are listed "interpret with caution" by the state because of the great effect of one or two especially bright or slow pupils on the class rank.

Here are the rankings of Marin County school districts on the tests, with 99 representing the highest possible, 50 the state median, and 1 the lowest possible:

Bolinas-Stinson — First grade reading 1; second grade reading 13; third grade reading 99; sixth grade: reading 98, language 84, spelling 49, mathematics 64.

Cinnabar Schools Rate High

Cinnabar School District made the best overall showing in the 1970-71 California state testing program of any of the nine elementary school districts in the Southern Sonoma area.

The district-by-district statewide report on the program, well over a year in preparation, was presented to the State Board of Education yesterday.

Two Rock School District was close behind Cinnabar in overall ranking. Lowest of the nine districts was Waugh, a small district with only 79 pupils in the '70-'71 school year.

Cinnabar pupils ranked in the top 10 per cent statewide in sixth grade language and spelling, as did Two Rock pupils in sixth grade language, spelling and mathematics. Dunham and Old Adobe school districts were both within the top 10 per cent in sixth grade mathematics.

Petaluma High School District ranked well above the state median in tests given seniors, but fell short of the top 10 per cent.

Here are the rankings of Southern Sonoma area school districts on the tests, with 99 representing the highest possible, 50 the state median, and 1 the lowest possible:

Cinnabar — First grade reading 77; second grade reading 71; third grade reading 68; sixth grade: reading 87, language 97, spelling 97, mathematics 87.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

LeTonneau In East Corte Madera Qualifies As A Labor Of Love

They look for and appreciate good food, and generally are willing to pay for it at the going rates, but most American dining outers prefer to eat it at restaurants that are not too stylish.

These are the ones in the great "middle range." They are attractive places, but they avoid snob appeal, and by and large treat everyone with the same consideration. They vary in theme, decor and meal specialties, but one thing they do have in common — an ability to make their patrons comfortable.

This is quite a trick, considering that those same patrons also vary widely in temperament, disposition, tastes and other characteristics. A good restaurateur must be something of a psychologist to do it. Ever notice that the best restaurant men are usually quiet people?

Paradise Drive in East Corte Madera is still off the beaten path for some Marin residents and certainly a lot of out-of-towners. But that doesn't seem to make LeTonneau in the Paradise Shopping Center any less popular as one of the comfortable dineries.

It offers surprisingly good food (mostly continental dishes), for which you can credit chef and co-owner Bernard Epstein, who puts in more hard hours at his job every day than some men do in a week; and surprisingly good bar drinks, for which credit his partners Angelo Camilleri and John Napoli.

I guess you'd call them psychologists in their work. They may not boast any MDs or PhDs after their names, but they qualify in my book.

And the place is really nice inside with its accentuated wine decor. Like I say, when you see evidences of a labor of love, your chances of satisfaction are high.

ETHEL BARRIE
Celebrates ninth year

VALENTINE'S DAY next Wednesday, Feb. 14, is the time set by Ethel Barrie for her famous anniversary South Sea show this year at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate. It marks completion of her ninth year in business here.

As before there will be music, entertainers and some fast moving hula dancers from Hawaii. The affair is always worth attending. The action takes place on a special platform in the dining area (visible from both rooms). First show will be at 7:45 p.m. and the second at 9:30. No advance reservations are taken, so you should arrange to be there in ample time before whatever show you select, as the tables fill rapidly.

DON'T FORGET the Mayflower Inn's grand opening of its new extension at 1533 Fourth Street, San Rafael tomorrow night. You'll be entertained by bagpipers, barber shop quartet, musical comedy and a Dixieland band, which have been programmed by owners Barry Oldham and Ron Patnaude.

DURING ITS FIRST anniversary celebration through Feb. 24, the Fujiyama Restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile is offering a special combination dinner at $6.50. It features several of the house favorites through appetizers, soup, salad, sashimi, tempura and beef or chicken teriyaki.

THE MAIN DINING ROOM at New Joe's No. 2 at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera is now being opened every day for lunches. Look for continued improvements here in the fair weather season, including some attractive sights from the dining room windows across the Edgewater courtyard area.

AT GLEN ELLEN in Sonoma County's Valley of the Moon there are two comparatively new restaurants which should interest you.

One of these is called the Three Nations and is located in the Glen Ellen Hotel at 13756 Arnold Drive. It's operated by George and Hannelore Siebert, who offer middle European cuisine — sauerbraten, bratwurst, Hungarian and Szediner goulash with Bohemian dumplings and similar fare. Lunches and dinners are served daily except Mondays. There are European and California wines and imported and domestic beers, some on tap.

ANOTHER is the Water Wheel Restaurant, located in a 120-year-old building at 14301 Arnold Drive that originally was a flour mill and sawmill. Later it became a distillery and winery. The original grist wheel is still there and so is the still.

Monte and Linda Hooper operate it, closing on Mondays and Tuesdays. There are also some 20 or more shops of artisans and craftsmen in the same building — potters, silversmiths, metalworkers and leaded glass workers, along with antiques and a museum.

Lunches and dinner are served, with prawns, fish, several chicken and beef dishes and other entrees cooked in wines and special sauces. There is a wine bar where Sonoma and Napa Valley wines are served, along with wine cocktails. Banquet facilities are quite large.

EL VERANO INN which opened last fall in Sonoma is temporarily closed for the winter season, during which time some additional remodeling will be done. The inn is expected to reopen by Easter and will then serve lunches, dinners (continental food), picnics and outdoor barbecues. There are also hotel accommodations, a dance hall and a full year-round liquor license.

BERNARD CONNOLLY, who opened Bernard's in Boyes Springs, first as a restaurant, bar and lounge, has now discontinued serving meals. Bar and lounge are open seven days a week.

AND IN THE CITY of Sonoma, the Franciscan at 755 West Napa Street has closed again. This time it appears there will be no reopening — at least at that location, which is said to be destined for conversion into a large shopping center.

IF YOU DO DECIDE to dine up Sonoma way, remember that the Au Relais Restaurant is no longer on Arnold Drive. Harry Marsden moved it to 691 Broadway downtown last March.

He now has a bar and cocktail lounge and a full on sale general liquor license. Lunches are served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and dinners after that to 10 p.m. And he is now open on Mondays. His only day of closing is Tuesday.

THE LITTLE GERMANY RESTAURANT in Petaluma has moved from its location of several years at 148 Kentucky Street, which it occupied jointly with the Petaluma Delicatessen.

Restaurant owner Walter Jeltsch is remodeling at 122 Washington Street and should be ready for an opening before the end of the month. He plans hours from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfasts, lunches and dinners Wednesdays through Sundays. He will also offer take-out food and delicatessen specialties.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Willi Schluter at Petaluma Delicatessen is now serving lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. She has an a la carte menu with hot sausage and other German, home-cooked specialties.

THE CATTLEMAN'S RESTAURANT ORGANIZATION which has places in both Petaluma and Santa Rosa is building still another one on Highway 80 to Sacramento near the Dixon exit. It will be about the same size as the Petaluma restaurant and should be open in another six weeks or so.

PETER CLUTE of San Anselmo, at his Magic Cellar Saloon, 630 Clay Street, San Francisco, is featuring a program honoring Carter the Great, famous magician who made headlines at the turn of the century. It will start at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Highlights of the evening include a recreation of Carter's classic "Maiden of Nuremburg" by the Great Svengari and his company; a showing of the motion picture "Lion's Bride" made by Carter in India and Africa, and the Strutters with their music of the 30s and 40s and tap dancing.

Make advance reservations.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

You Never Know What You Can Deduct; Major Booklet Available

The Internal Revenue Code allows individuals to take a deduction for ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred (1) for the production and collection of income; (2) for the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of income; or (3) in connection with the determination, collection or refund of any tax.

You never know what you can deduct until you try.

An elementary school teacher was allowed to deduct most of her traveling expenses while traveling in foreign countries on a sabbatical leave.

She visited schools and families, studied teaching techniques and took pictures that she later used in her school.

The trip, which she made alone, was undertaken primarily to improve and maintain her skills in her employment.

Many teachers do manage to deduct all or part of their foreign travel on Sabbatical leave. This is a question of fact in each case and also of bookeeping.

If the teacher thoroughly documents the reasons for taking the trip, what they did, what they spent and they do, in fact, have a tax deductible reason for making the trip, it is usually allowed.

The expense of commuting is not deductible.

If you haul tools, etc., in your car in commuting for your convenience, the cost is nondeductible. However, if you cannot store the tools, etc., at the place you work, or if you work at different locations every day, and also you would not have used your car except for hauling tools, etc., which are too bulky or heavy to be carried otherwise, the expense may be partly deductible.

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fisherman. Costs of these are deductible.

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession; membership dues in professional societies; union dues; small tools and supplies; employment agency fees.

Also physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job; moving expenses for a new job; traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer; entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer; school teachers' sabbatical leave expenses, (sometimes); use of your home in your work; attorneys' and accountants' fees on tax matters.

Also automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer; education expenses; these and many more items are deductible if you know the rules.

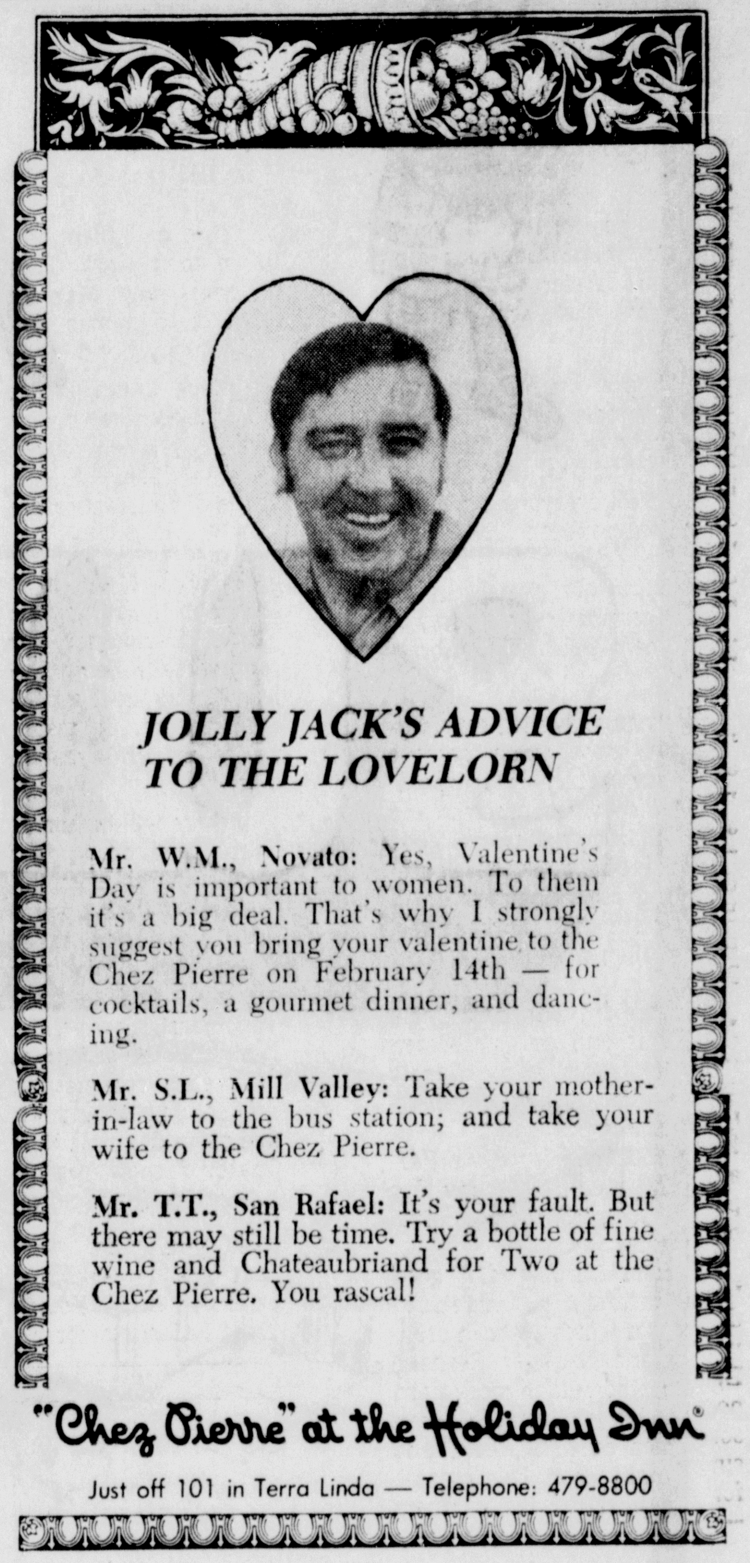
Get a copy of the Internal Revenue Service Publication "Your Federal Income Tax 1973 Edition", sold by the Internal Revenue Service for 75 cents. In it you will find answers to most of your questions.

Woman Miner Out Of Work

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (UPI) — A woman engineer who defied a myth that women underground are bad luck and caused a strike by miners tunneling through the Rocky Mountains says she is trading her hardhat for a backpack.

"I've been laid off as of March 1," said Janet Bonnema, 33. "I'm going to backpack through Africa. I went and got my cholera shot and I have to find a raincoat. I'm going to do nothing and everything."

Miss Bonnema said Wednesday she and four co-workers were laid off by the Colorado Highway Department because of President Nixon's budget cuts in federal highway construction funds.



JOLLY JACK'S ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Mr. W.M., Novato: Yes, Valentine's Day is important to women. To them it's a big deal. That's why I strongly suggest you bring your valentine to the Chez Pierre on February 14th — for cocktails, a gourmet dinner, and dancing.

Mr. S.L., Mill Valley: Take your mother-in-law to the bus station; and take your wife to the Chez Pierre.

Mr. T.T., San Rafael: It's your fault. But there may still be time. Try a bottle of fine wine and Chateaubriand for Two at the Chez Pierre. You rascal!

DR. ANN Lodge, a clinician and child psychologist, director of the Infant Development Research Laboratory, conducts tests on three to five day old infants to spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information. The tests then follow up the children's first three years.

FOR RETARDED

Brain Study Offers Hope

By KAREN PETERSON

Based within the Sonoma State Hospital complex in Eldridge, the Brain Behavior Research Center is developing and redeveloping techniques that will not only benefit its recipients but society as a whole.

This team of researchers is concerned with retardation — and specifically, early detection and early intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants.

The five-year-old program, probably the only total program of its kind in the United States, uses a series of tests to detect retardation as well as to give researchers an idea of the potential presence of development and learning capacities of the child.

DR. MARILYN Marcus, director of developmental research at Sonoma State Hospital, said the program is unique and all-encompassing, adding that the work could have long range economic benefits for society as well as provide some important data in areas such as alcoholism and aging. But Dr. Marcus said that the federal government will soon end these possible future strides by cutting off funds.

The center, she said, is composed of "an interdisciplinary team of researchers, physicians, biochemists and physiological and developmental psychologists who apply their skills to the problem of development — and maldevelopment, if it occurs."

Dr. Marcus believes it is time to do something constructive for the mentally handicapped child. They are as different as normals are in their capacity to learn, she said, but there are no tests to assess these capacities. "We can't tell their strong or weak points.

"They can learn some things, but they have to be taught."

Tests for normal children are not designed for retardates, she continued. The idea is to assess on an individual basis and get a comparison of where they are weak and where they are strong, Dr. Marcus said.

"It would then be possible to upgrade the weak areas, and if this were not possible then we could compensate by teaching in the areas where they are already strong," she explained.

The tests at the center spotlight development patterns and the brain's capacity to work with incoming information, using the normal child as a comparison.

WORKING IN conjunction with Children's Hospital in San Francisco and Dr. Ann Lodge, director of Infant Development Research Laboratory at the hospital, tests are conducted on three to five-day-old infants and followed up for the first three years of the children's lives.

With the mother's permission and the doctor's recommendation, infants with high risk conditions such as possible central nervous system or brain damage, respiratory distress or those born prematurely are exposed to two tests: electrophysiological (brain waves) and developmental —behavioral.

The developmental test provides a profile of the baby's development in such areas as motivation, interest, exploration and motor development. With the aid of the tests, researchers can gauge the stage of development and thus provide a picture of the baby's strengths and weaknesses.

This picture gives researchers an idea of the presence of development, said Dr. Marcus, and a look at early patterns can also mean early intervention if certain serious delays are detected.

Testing the brain's capacity to work with information, appraising or assessing what comes in and how the child responds to such a stimulus, is done through the evoked potentials technique.

A refinement of the electroencephalagram, which can be used with infants, retardates or handicapped youngsters, the evoked response, said Dr. Lodge, shows a great deal of promise for "assessing visual and hearing defects as well as brain competence to assess incoming information."

USING A screen-shielded room to block any electricity other than the brain's from entering, electrodes are pasted to the active part of the brain (auditory on the vertex, visual on the back of the head) and monitored through a computer which isolates and codes the responses to given stimuli.

The stimuli consist of plain red flashes of light, checkered patterns or sounds. For a normal child, there is a different response to the various stimuli; in the retarded, there is considerably less.

The evoked responses also use a self-stimulation method in which the child can make a noise happen by pulling the trigger of a small popgun. The severely retarded child will not show recognition that he caused the stimulus.

The evoked responses can also be used to detect handicaps which are not necessarily related to retardation.

The use of light and sound can detect peripheral sensory loss and hearing and seeing loss, explained Dr. Lodge. This defect can be shown right at birth. Early detection of deafness in an infant can aid in future treatment.

The test can also detect problems in perception that are not related to vision. Diagnosed as having a form of blindness, some children are not able to perceive things appropriately and therefore unable to learn to read or respond to visual information in the environment, the doctor said.

Studying the effects of alcoholism is another factor being explored by the use of the evoked response. The tests are also currently being used in conjunction with pharmacological treatments on retardates. The data from the tests are used to monitor how problems can be alleviated with a changed chemical environment.

The research team also hopes to study the effects of various treatments on children with Downs Syndrome (mongolism).

The mongoloid child, who formerly died of chronic respiratory problems at an early age, has been saved through antibiotics and some are now showing signs of early senility in later life. Through studies, the researchers hope to put this to use in the study of the aging process in normal individuals.

FOR THE future, Dr. Marcus stressed the need for longitudinal research with these techniques that show development from childhood to adulthood.

Dr. Lodge is a clinician and a child psychologist by training, a combination, said Dr. Marcus, that is necessary to isolate and diagnose individuals. A large group is fine for identifying trends, she said, but it is necessary to continue research in order to develop individualized treatment.

To Dr. Marcus and Dr. Lodge, the meaningful task is getting the children out into the community and using environmental stimulation when they are young. Getting them out is not only humane, they said, but will alleviate the horrendous costs of institutionalization.

The new state attitude about returning retarded children to the community has allowed society to start to feel what it really means to be retarded, they said. Their only complaint with this new program is the lack of training centers and assessments of the children. "There have to be back-up facilities to help parents," said Dr. Marcus.

THE BRAIN Behavior Research Center at Sonoma State Hospital is directed by Dr. Marilyn Marcus, who explains that the team there is seeking early detection and intervention of possible retardation in newborn infants. She said that the work could also provide important data in areas such as alcoholism and the aging process.

Sausalitans Helping To Bring Big Sisters Program To Marin

By BETTY FROST

Through the efforts of two young women from Sausalito, the Big Sisters program is coming to Marin County.

Mrs. Thomas Terry and Diane Barber are the co-coordinators for the new Marin County Chapter and have been working for three months to get the groundwork done, which will result in the first matching of Big and Little Sisters this week.

Jan Terry has been active in the Bay Area Big Sisters organization for four years. Since her marriage to Thomas Terry, an attorney, a year ago, she has lived in Sausalito. She is secretary of the Bay Area Big Sisters, which with the activation of the Marin chapter, will have five chapters. The others are located in San Francisco, San Mateo County, Santa Clara County and the East Bay.

Diane Barber who has lived in Sausalito for three years, is a professional social service worker, and is the director of supervisors at Homewood Terrace in San Francisco, an agency providing care for disturbed children. Miss Barber is a member of the board of directors of the Bay Area Big Sisters and brings professional expertise to the formation of the Marin chapter.

The greatest need for the program in the county, as Mrs. Terry sees it, is to bring help to girls in families where the mother is bringing up her children alone. The mother must work to support the family, and has little time and little money for the extras that a Big Sister can provide.

Girls from the ages of 6 to 16 are eligible for the program. Originally the volunteers had to be over 21, however, the organization found many 18 and 19-year-old girls who were mature enough to be accepted.

"Because we want the relationship to go on forever, we put a lot of thought into matching the Big and Little Sisters," Mrs. Terry said.

Referrals for children who would benefit by the program are made by counselors, teachers, or the Marin County Department of Public Social Services. Sometimes requests come from within the family, with concerned grandparents a frequent source.

Big Sisters often hear of the program by word of mouth and they are from all walks of life. Big sisters now serving in the Bay Area include women executives, secretaries, nurses, stewardesses, pottery makers and women with homes and children of their own.

Since it is so important not to disappoint these children, who often live in a world of adults who don't keep promises, the Big Sister must make a commitment of one year, and must see her Little Sister at least twice a month.

A careful screening process is the first step in matching the girls and the adults. The person making the referral gets permission from both the parent and the child for an interview. The Big Sister representative interviews the child and the mother individually at the family residence. The interview is filed until a match with a Big Sister of similar interests is made.

THE POTENTIAL Big Sisters are also processed. First they attend an orientation meeting, then they are interviewed. The screening committee meets to match the Big and Little Sisters on the basis of mutual interests; compatability, location and the age of the child.

Once the match has been made, the Big Sister organization calls the child and the volunteer once every three months to see how they are progressing.

The Big Sisters also attend rap sessions where they share both their happy experiences and their problems. The Bay Area Big Sisters have a professional advisory board composed of physicians, attorneys, psychologists, social workers and business executives. The service of this board are available in case of emergencies.

The program is also covered by insurance, and a note signed by the mother permitting medical treatment if needed is carried by the Big Sister on all excursions.

"We hope to widen the girl's horizons and to offer her a wide experience," Jan Terry said, stressing that the outings for Little Sisters need not be expensive. Some activities, like sewing instruction, and hiking, can offer much to a child at little cost to the Big Sister. The fledgling Marin organization is hoping for help in compiling the recreational resources of the county, according to Mrs. Terry.

Besides the Big Sisters themselves, a supportive organization is also needed, with volunteers who would help with interviewing, typing, mailing, phone committee work, and donations to help defray costs of printing and mailing.

Mrs. Terry will discuss the Big Sister program with Women's Clubs, church groups or Parent-Teachers Associations by appointment.

The Marin Big Sister telephone number, too recent to be listed in the current telephone directory, is 332-0822.

HELEN HELP US!

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 60-year-old woman living under false pretenses. Everyone thinks my "husband" and I were married a year ago. We pretended we were but never had the ceremony, because of Social Security payments. I need my "single" money.

I also need this man's companionship. All my legal papers, insurance, etc. are in my name, not his, and when I die, my children will surely know I have been as they say, "living in sin."

Also, we would like to take a short cruise, but how can we ever go through customs, living as man and wife, but with different names? — PAYING THE PENALTY

DEAR PTP:

You'd be surprised how many elders share your problem. The non-marriage isn't just a "youth trip" these days, but reasons change with age. As you say, you and your "husband" can't afford to get married. Also, many older persons avoid ineritance hassles by simply living together.

What to do? First, check with Social Security, pension funds, etc. and determine just how much you'll lose by getting married. It may be less than you think.

Next? Well, you're both over 21 and free to choose the way of life which suits you best. Few people, customs men included, will be overly concerned about your true marital status. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you get many letters from women who are pregnant and distressed, I would like to pass on to you some information:

"Birthright" is a pro-life organization designed to aid the woman who is faced with an unplanned pregnancy. It is nonprofit, non-sectarian, and offers help to all women regardless of race, religion, social status or marital status. "Birthright" has offices in every state and in Canada, and can be found by calling Information.

Some of the services "Birthright" offers are medical aid, legal aid, shelter housing, maternity and baby clothes and, most of all, compassionate friendship. — A BIRTHRIGHT DIRECTOR

PERSONAL TO "FRIEND OF THE FAMILY:" You say, "Please print this; maybe it will bring a family back together." More likely it would make the split permanent! If gossipy criticism on a nationwide hookup is "friendship," deliver me to my enemies! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My in-laws aren't bad — they just refuse to believe we're grown up. After five years of marriage, they're still constantly asking us, "Did you pay your bills?" "Did you fix the car?" Or they're telling us what we should do.

We can't move away, and I can't snap at them, but I dread going to their place because it always means arguments between my husband and me when we get home.

How do I get it across that we can manage our own lives? — WANTS TO LIKE THEM

DEAR WANTS:

Your husband could get the message across to his parents quite easily — if he isn't still locked into "family management." It's mostly a matter of ignoring the questions you consider your business until the elders realize it's none of theirs. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of the Independent-Journal.

Newsletter Carries Tips For Centers

Day Care Newsletter, a new monthly publication of information about children and child care, is available free to persons engaged in the child care business and licensed by the Department of Public Social Services.

In the February edition the newsletter gives advance notice about dates and times of applicable television programs and free and inexpensive lectures and educational opportunities available to area residents. Information about new day care centers, tax deductions and tips on child care are also included.

Copies of the newsletter are also available to the public through the county libraries.

The newsletter is published by the Marin County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee, a subcommittee of the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee.

The committee is composed of providers, agencies and consumers of day care, who are seeking to improve the quality of child care services in Marin County, according to the chairman, Genie Gabel of San Rafael. At its meeting Monday the committee endorsed the establishment of the Redwood High School Child Center as a step in that direction, she said.

The committee has public meetings on the second Monday of each month at Sir Francis Drake High School.

ON BEING BLACK

Fallen Rights Leader Was 'A Good Guy'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

In connection with Black History Week, Feb. 11-17, I asked youngsters in two separate age groups who Martin Luther King Jr. was. In the marvelous jargon of youth, their answers:

From the 5- and 6-year-olds:

Gillian: "He was this black man who said everybody could have a drink of water."

Timothy: The king of England."

Jerry: "He said all the people should be able to sit down on the bus or everybody had to get off."

Leslie: "Oh, he's that guy that eats the margarine on television and gets a crown on his head."

Sidney: "He went out on a porch and someone was hiding and they shot him. He was a minister — that's like a priest."

Shawn: "My mother said he was a good guy."

Carrie: "He's a man who liked black people."

Bradley: "Was he a mountain climber? A black man who climbed to the top of a mountain?"

Cindy: "He got shot lots of times and pretty soon they killed him."

Merele: "The President?"

Jennifer: "The (name of the) school my cousin goes to."

Damian: "He walked a long way holding hands with lots of people because he wanted everybody to be friends."

FROM THE 10-year-old 5th graders:

Greg: "He was a heavy dude. He really helped black people. He made it so they could sit anywhere on the buses and eat at Woolworth's."

Carolyn: "He was a brave man. My mother said it took a lot of courage to do what he did. He didn't just talk, he was always right there. He died for what he believed in."

Larry: "He didn't believe in shooting and killing people like some of the militants. But then they killed him."

Page: "I saw a movie about him. It was terrible the way they treated the black people... knocking them down with water hoses and putting big dogs on them. I cried because it was a real movie, not just a pretend story on television."

Lisa: "He was a preacher. We don't go to church, but even my father listened to his record and said he was a great man."

Shannon: "He was against white people hating black people, but he was also against black people hating white people. He was against hate. People should never forget him."

David: "He was a black man who believed everyone should be treated just the same. I can't understand why anyone would kill a person for that."

Gary: "They blasted him because he was a boss (good, great) person. Our world is kind of backwards... the good people always end up getting killed."

Jennifer: "He believed in love. So do I."

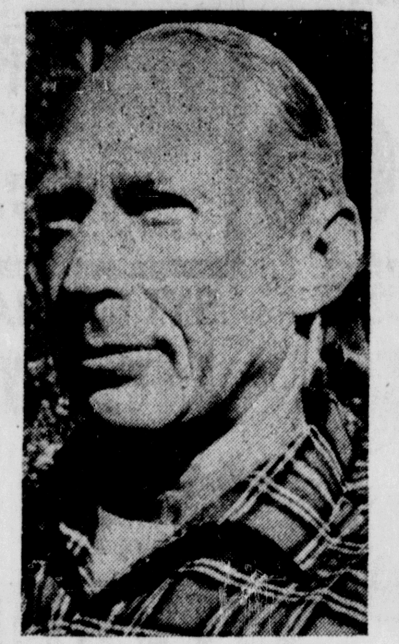
World Voyager To Talk Monday

By DAVID DIETZ



CAPT. IRVING JOHNSON
Life of adventure

"Having adventure — that's my business and life," said Capt. Irving Johnson with a nod of satisfaction.

In 49 years spent largely at sea, the blue-eyed, balding Johnson has led sort of a fasten-your-seat-belt existence — seven trips around the world; harrowing, storm-buffeted rides atop the mast of a square-rigger and, as his biography notes dramatically, "sleepless nights among headhunters and cannibals."

The cannibals didn't get Johnson, nor has the sea managed to tame him. And on Monday night at 8:15 o'clock, the doughty sailor with the large, expressive hands and the colorful stories will appear at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building to narrate his new, 90-minute color film, "Yankee Sails Inland," as part of the Explorama series.

It's the story of the trip of Johnson's 50-foot ketch, Yankee, from the Mediterranean to the Baltic via the inland waterways of France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Denmark. The voyage took three years.

Johnson, who has written eight books on his exploits and contributed to National Geographic Magazine, filmed visits to such cities as Paris, Seville and Arles. Along the way, the Yankee made anxious voyages through darkened inland tunnels, several of them five miles-long.

But the trip pales by comparison with earlier adventures — even before Johnson, now 67, took to the sea as a youth of 17.

Born on a farm in Hadley, Mass., Johnson, a former corn-raising champion, bored with landlubbers' home-spun tales yearned for a life of excitement.

"By God, I said to myself, I'm going to have something more to tell about than that," Johnson remembered yesterday on a visit to the Independent-Journal. And a life at sea, he had concluded, "did seem like more excitement than growing corn."

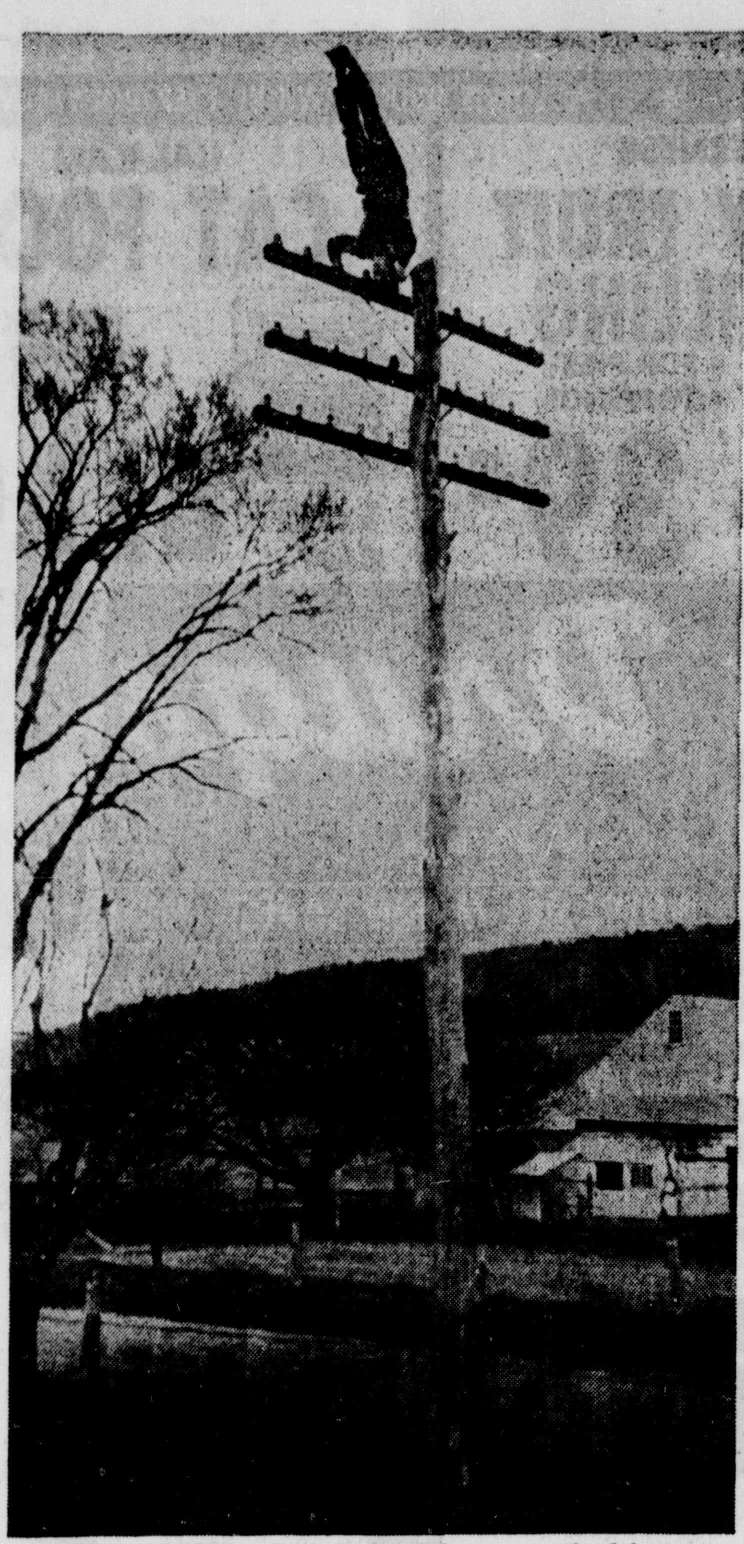
Johnson, after summers aboard yachts and winters working on steamers, began planning what his biography calls the "sailor's supreme voyage" — a trip around storm-lashed Cape Horn in a square-rigger. Preparing for harrowing moments aloft in the mast, he took to climbing utility poles around his farm and standing on his head on the cross members high above ground.

The bizarre practice sessions drew astonished stares from neighbors and impatient scoldings from his parents. "You should have seen the rumpus!" he exlaimed. "And my mother, oh boy . . ."

Johnson made the cape trip aboard the 345-foot Peking, bound from Hamburg to Chile with a cargo of nitrates. Books of similar journeys, according to Johnson, hadn't prepared him for the experience in he slightest way.

"Dana and Conrad didn't come close to telling me about THIS thing," Johnson said, peering intently as if placing himself back on the deck of the buffeted Peking. "The waves were 40 feet high. It was against the wind around the worst place on earth."

Nevertheless Johnson got aloft and took films of the fury — copies of which are in the British Museum. The movies are considered documentaries of the age of sail.



SAILOR ALOFT — Capt. Irving Johnson practiced for an early Cape Horn voyage in a square-rigger by climbing utility poles near his Massachusetts home and standing on his head. The seafarer's latest film, "Yankee Sails Inland," will be shown in Marin Monday.

More was to come. While sailing Sir Thomas Lipton's America's Cup challenger, Shamrock V, back to England in the following year, Johnson and the crew ran flush into a hurricane.

"Boy, that's when I wished I had been home in bed," he said. "You could see the bow move separately from the stern . . . but the reason she survived was that her bottom was one whole piece of wood."

When he married his wife, Electa, in 1932, Johnson thought the excitement was over. But he found her just as perserverving and adventurous. "Gee," he said, "what a gal!"

The pair has been sailing the world since, charting five new islands north of New Guinea, climbing unexplored volcanos in the Solomon Islands, avoiding island headhunters and diving for whales and sharks.

"The thing is," he said, rolling his ham-like fists for emphasis, "to make the elements push you around the world. As far as we're concerned, the world is getting bigger. We're learning about more places we've never been."

Airing Is Set Of Rock Tapes

"The Best of the Lion's Share" — tapes of performances by rock artists at the club over the last month — will be aired on KTIM FM at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The potpourri broadcast includes performances by Jerry Garcia, Vince Guaraldi, Charles Lloyd, Clover and Alice Stewart, according to Clint C. Weyrauch, FM program director.

An Excess Number Of City Councilmen

MANILA (UPI) —The Commission on Elections has voided the proclamation of two "excess" councilmen.

Authorities said Datu Guisarao Langoyo and Sultan Radia Tocalo had been proclaimed by the local board of canvassers as the seventh and eighth winning candidates for councilor in Bubong town in the 1971 elections,

Grand Jury Condemns County's Purchasing System In Report

Marin County's Grand Jury has condemned the county's decentralized purchasing system. The jury called it "inefficient and inferior to centralized procurement."

The interim report released yesterday by the jury's County Offices Committee recommended combining all purchasing to reap "an untold variety of benefits to the county and the taxpayer."

County Purchasing Agent Doug Edelen reacted favorably to the suggestion, but said he cannot comply without a second buyer on his staff.

However, Edelen doubted the value of two other jury suggestions: create a file on each purchase and turn over all petty cash accounts to the purchasing department.

It would be inconvenient for departments now running their own petty cash funds to trek to the purchasing department in the basement for cash, he said.

The change in filing practice isn't worth the money it would cost in extra clerical help, Edelen said.

However, the jury report said its suggestions would, among other things, insure better control of spending, increase savings from quantity buying and assure good business relationships.

Some county departments, notably fire and public works, now do much of their own buying, Edelen said.

The report was drafted by Alexander C. Thomas of Sleepy Hollow, a retired analyst and former Navy purchasing officer, according to committee-chairman Rachel P. Conner of Greenbrae.

"We approved it on the fact that Mr. Thomas has some skill in this area," she said. Thomas could not be reached for comment.

THEY'RE DOING FLIPS AND OTHER TRICKS

Who says today's children shun the more vigorous activities and sports? A nationwide surge of interest in tumbling and gymnastics believes such claims. And it's a trend that is being felt strongly in Marin. Indicative of this wave of interest in cartwheels and handsprings are the some 100 youngsters being taught tumbling by Gerrie Kreuzer — at the YWCA, the Lad and Lassie Nursery School, the Marin Learning Center, and at her own Coffrini Sisters Theater School which she operates with her sister Rosemary. Here intermediate student Lenore Coffrini performs a "flip-flop." You'll read about some of the kids who practice long hours on flips and saults in this week's Marin Magazine.

Circus Set Next Month At Auditorium

A circus will be sponsored March 8 and 9 for the benefit of charity by the Marin County Association of Firemen, the association announced yesterday.

Association Spokesman George Kellner said George Matthews Great London Circus will perform at 4 p.m. and at 8 p.m. both days at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at Civic Center. A percentage of the gate will go to the association which will subsequently determine its best charitable use, he said.

A telephone solicitation campaign to sell tickets will be conducted shortly by the association, according to Kellner.

He said precautions are being taken to prevent abuses such as arose in similar phone campaigns by other groups in the past, when those called were left with the impression that one law enforcement agency or another was pressuring for contributions. The teams of callers will be supervised by the association, he said.

Firemen Get Battalion Status

Tiburon's 25 volunteer firemen have been divided into three battalions, each of which will work together and train together, Chief Franklin J. Buscher reported.

Buscher said the reorganization, announced at Wednesday's meeting, will "improve communications in the department and make for a more efficient operation. It will also improve the department's training program because the chance to train together as part of a unit will be more effective, he said.

The chief said he intends to appoint three volunteer lieutenants for each battalion. The department's regular, paid fire-fighting force is already divided into three units.

Guilty Plea To Drunken Driving

A bus driver, who took a group of tourists on a wild ride to Muir Woods National Monument, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith said he would sentence 43-year-old Dale Blair Sholund of San Francisco on March 16.

The California Highway Patrol arrested Sholund at the monument Dec. 30 after passengers who left the bus in Tamalpais Valley complained about his driving.

They said he was drinking during a luncheon stop in Tiburon.

A driver for the Gray Line Inc. for six months before the incident, he was immediately fired, according to the company.

FAMILY

"North Country" — A documentary view of the modern pioneer on America's last frontier. A magnificent blending of scenery, rare wildlife and courageous people. Outdoor adventure to fascinate the whole family. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"What's Up Doc?" — A kooky girl chasing an eccentric young man and three men chasing their identical suitcases makes this whacky, slapstick farce a diverting comedy for all.

"World's Greatest Athlete" — Disney comedy about a desperate college athletic coach recruiting a many-muscled jungle boy to enter the NCAA track and field competition. Very entertaining.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Big Foot" — A group of weekend trailbike riders in the northwest are attacked by a huge creature and one of the girls is kidnapped. The efforts to rescue her is the main plot of this tale. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers celebrating New Year's Eve is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

"War Between Men and Women" — Comedy based on James Thurber's writings tells of a cartoonist who is anti-women, children and dogs who falls in love and marries a divorcee who has both. Sophisticated frankness with sex at the core of the film, it is still not salacious.

"Young Winston" — Stages in the development of the personal and public life of Churchill are detailed brilliantly bringing history to life in a tremendously exciting fashion.

BORDERLINE

(Most courses say Adults Only)

"Bless the Beasts and Children" — Six misfit boys at a summer camp band together when they are rejected by their peers. Their psychotic supervisor takes them to see penned up buffalo being shot by hunters. The boys release the animals and pay a tragic price for their deed. Foul language, sadism.

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind young man tries the experiment of living on his own for two months in a swinging neighborhood in San Francisco. His encounter with a zany "hippie" type girl and their sexual involvement really has his domineering mother making as many adjustments as he does.

"Fellini's Roma" — An impressionistic view of Rome through film director's eyes shows his fascination with decadence, past and present. Film tends to be over-long with a change midway from subtitles to poor English dubbing. Much cursing and nudity.

"Frenzy" — Hitchcock's latest drama follows the efforts of the law to uncover the person who raped and strangled two women in London. Very suspenseful. Nudity and cursing.

"Getaway" — Fast paced action film about an ex-con who masterminds a bank robbery but is surrounded by folks whose greed is matched only by their cold-bloodedness. Director depicts all violence in explicit detail. Women are presented as so much sexual currency. In this instance crime pays very well.

"Man in the Wilderness" — The survival of an injured fur trapper abandoned in the savage northwest territory in 1820 makes for grim drama. His struggle spurred by his desire for revenge is devastating to observe. Much violence.

"Slaughter House Five" — An unusual satiric production based on Kurt Vonnegert Jr.'s novel tells a story of a man who is not fixed in any time slot and moves easily from present to past to future. His family think he has become unhinged. Nudity and cursing.

ADULTS ONLY

"Across 110th St." — Exploitation film about some black hoods disguised as police who steal $300,000 from a Mafia ring and kill police doing it. The chase of the avenging mob and the police uses guns, cars, steam press, broken glass, castration and a 20-story plunge. Brutal excessive violence, language is raw.

"Avanti" — Title means "come in" in Italian. A young married man flies to Italy to pick up the body of his father killed in an auto accident. The daughter of the dead man's mistress is there for the same reason. The young people decide to continue the same arrangements their parents had made. Nudity, cursing.

"Deliverance" — Four men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense, very extreme, cursing.

"Fritz, The Cat" — Tasteless animated feature follows the escapades of a swinging 60's cat in cartoon.

"Oh! Calcutta" — Kenneth Tyman's erotic stage review is photographed during an actual performance, has poor visual quality by being shown on large screen.

"Superfly" — Life of a black drug pusher is shown in repulsive detail. Since everyone else in film is even more crooked than the seller of cocaine he is made to appear a "hero" and adds to film's gross immorality.

Amnesty Advocate Speaks Up

By RICKY ROSENTHAL
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — "My family has been touched by torture in Greece today. In 1967 when the government was overthrown, it was a shock to all of us. . . We found ourselves with a military dictatorship."

Dr. Amelia (Amy) Augustus confessed this in an interview. Since 1971 she has been executive director of the New York section of Amnesty International, a London-based organization which seeks the relief and release of "prisoners of conscience." These people have a history of nonviolence.

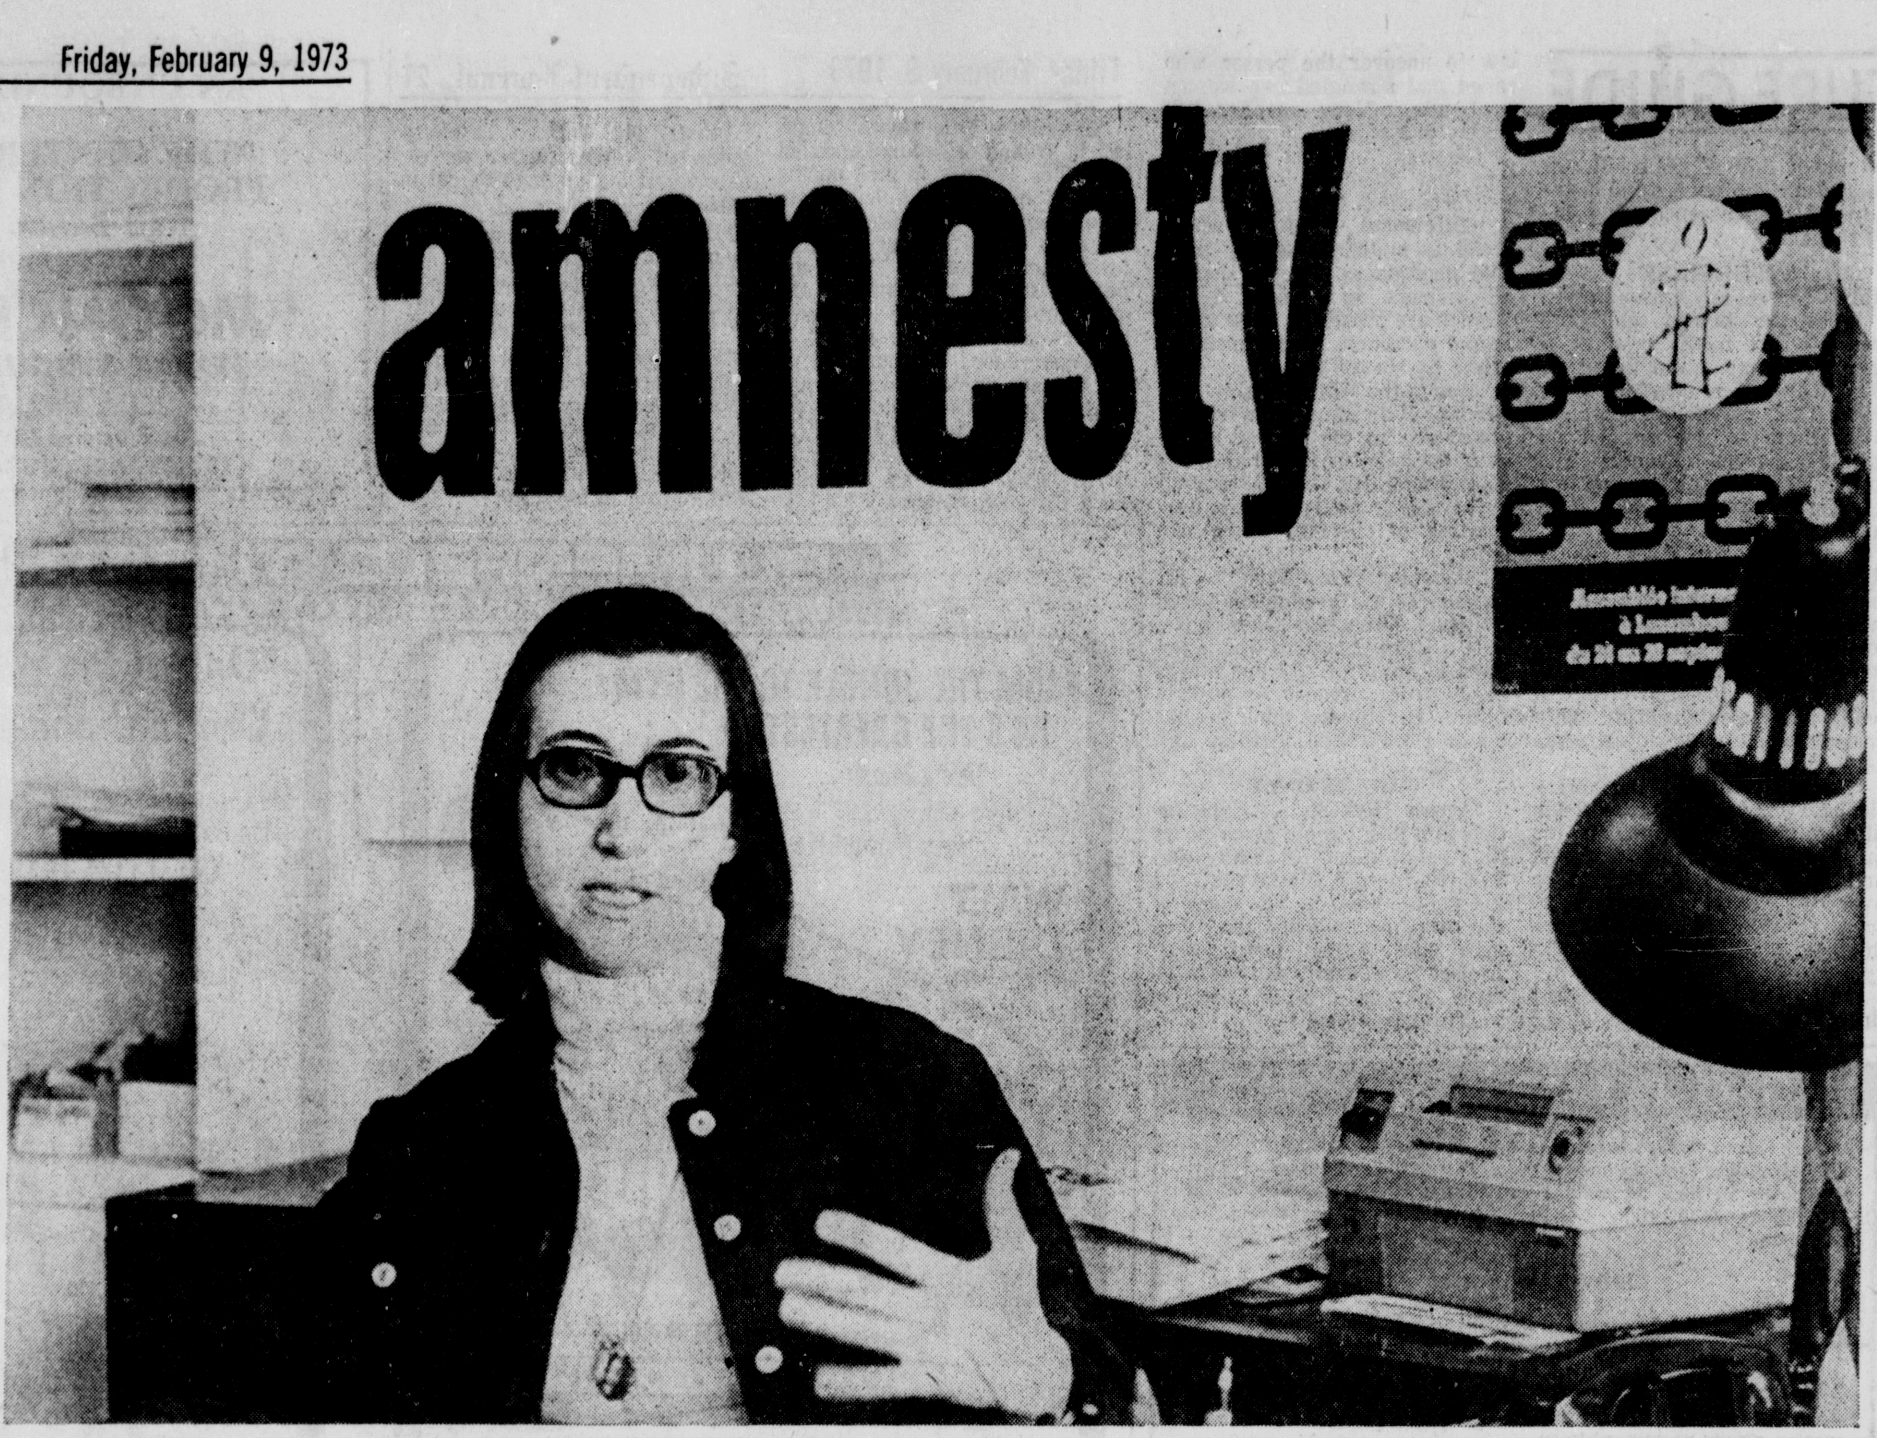
Amnesty International has proclaimed 1973 "Anti-Torture Year." Dr. Augustus's office in New York is part of a many-pronged program to bring to public notice what is termed the "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

"This is one of the grotesque aspects of our work," she said here at the United Nations. Her organization has consultative status at the U.N., and she is its representative. Amnesty bases its work on the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Since August 1972 when Amnesty submitted over 300 carefully sifted petitions on behalf of imprisoned Greeks to the Human Rights Division of the United Nations, Amy Augustus has felt afraid. She says that the present Greek government has slipped people into her press launching of the anti-torture campaign here, and they have recorded her remarks and photographed her. She says she has been the victim of hours of phone calls from a woman whom she terms "peculiar," but who might represent the views of the Greek government.

Dr. Augustus is not given to fear easily. She just happens to be a friend of actress Melina Mercouri, a prominent Greek in exile.

Miss Mercouri says: "Amelia is 50 per cent of my work." Miss Mercouri has a history of fierce opposition to the current Greek government. Actress Mercouri was appearing on Broadway in 1967 when the military coup took place.



GIVES HER VIEWS — Dr. Amelia Augustus, whose base is in New York, discusses the objectives of her organization — Amnesty International — which seeks the release of "prisoners of conscience." She is working on what she believes is an "epidemic of torture" going on in many countries.

An 18-page list of writers and journalists experiencing various kinds of repression has just crossed Dr. Augustus's desk. This will be highlighted during the year, too. On it, for example, is an Indonesian woman who wrote for a pro-Sukarno newspaper (Sukarno was a former president of Indonesia.) She has been a prisoner in Jakarta since 1965. Prof. Telford Taylor of Columbia Law School now is seeking to go to that country in behalf of Amnesty. This is one method of intervention.

Mrs. Annasoltan Kekilova, a poet in the Soviet Union, is another example. She has been incarcerated in a psychiatric hospital for writing letters of complaint about conditions in a region of the Soviet Union. Amnesty is trying now to mobilize the World Congress of Psychiatrists. They would like a statement condemning such methods of punishing dissent.

Mrs. Sevgo Soysal, wife of a Turkish novelist, is imprisoned allegedly for using harsh words against the armed forces. Amnesty sent observers to her trial in Turkey. All these are "prisoners of conscience."

Active cases in Amnesty files range the world from Bangladesh to Brazil. There are cases in Malawi, Cuba, and Czechoslovakia, which they do not care to publicize.

Dr. Augustus, who once drove and tooled up Jaguars, has easily dispensed with such past opulence. The product of a well-to-do Philadelphia family ("I always go home to vote"), she labels herself "a fourth-grade failure, I flunked out." Attending a progressive school where she "sang, danced, and told jokes, but could not read or write, she was forced to admit her illiteracy to her mother, who switched her school immediately. As the new school taught French from Grade 1, "I became a double catastrophe," she recalled. "I was behind in two languages."

Overcompensation became the hallmark of young Amelia Augustus. Before graduating, she twice failed at the University of Delaware. She subsequently completed two masters' degrees, and a doctorate in international education. Her thesis was on how nations become modern.

Later she became a Fulbright scholar in Greece where she developed English-language curricula.

Her vocabulary today has turned away from teaching toward the guiding of an international citizens' lobby, which is what Amnesty International is.

Amnesty groups worldwide adopt prisoners. They use such old-fashioned methods as the protest letter. They are served by former diplomats and lawyers, who pressure behind the scenes. They write to prisoners and their families.

"Our aim in writing to prisoners," says Dr. Augustus, "is to make someone feel that an individual's action is not only important but crucial, so they don't want to give up."

Enters Plea To Felony Charge

A Stinson Beach resident, caught entering San Quentin Prison with a cube of hashish, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to felony possession of the substance.

Dyan Lee Harries, 26, of Stinson Beach, was ordered to return to court Feb. 20 for a preliminary hearing.

She was arrested Saturday after a search of her purse turned up the contraband. She was at the prison to visit an inmate, according to prison officials.

Ross Council Spends Some Federal Money

The Ross Town Council last night authorized the immediate spending of $8,900 of its federal revenue sharing money on projects ranging from a town recreation program to a fire department pickup truck.

On a 5-0 vote, the council ordered spending the money from the $9,847.87 already received. Councilman John H. Chase, who drew up the spending priority list, said the town expects to receive about $2,000 more.

The council budgeted $1,500 for its new parks and recreation program, $3,000 for a completely new fire alarm system for the whole town, $1,000 for a new radio receiver and microphone for the Ross police chief, $1,000 for a new radar unit and $2,400 towards a new fire department pickup truck. Another $1,500 may eventually be spent on new furniture and equipment for a planned town hall expansion project.

Earlier in the meeting, Robert A. Braghetta, chairman of the Ross Recreation Advisory Board, reported that his group would appoint a new director next week to launch the town recreation program. The post will be part time and pay a $5,000 annual salary.

The Ross Town Council Also:

POUND FEES — Introduced an ordinance to raise fees for impounded dogs to conform with county fees.

PERSONNEL — Introduced a personnel ordinance to give the town's three department heads (fire, police and streets) the power to suspend or dismiss employees and give aggrieved employees the right to appeal to the council. Hiring remains subject to council approval.

PARK HAZARDS — Introduced an ordinance forbidding rocket and balloon launching and flying of model airplanes in parks. The ordinance would also outlaw golf, archery and hardball except in designated areas.

HILLSIDE — Approved an application by Ludvik Limberger to build a house between Chestnut and Bridge roads on a slope exceeding 30 per cent.

SUBDIVISION — Voted to allow Mrs. F. M. Burtchaell to divide her property at 111 Redwood Drive into two parcels.

BOULEVARD — Voted unanimously to include Sir Francis Drake Boulevard the program of federal aid for urban road systems. The council had previously refused to do so but reversed itself so that nearby cities will have no trouble getting federal funds for road improvement. The council added the provision to its vote that the town keep complete control over roads in its area.

OFFICE PLANS — Authorized the department of public works to accept bids until March 6 for the building of additions to two offices in the town hall. Bids will be opened March 6 and awarded at the council's March 8 meeting.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Agreed to continue membership on the Marin City-County Planning Council.

Report Contains Many Pictures Of Shareowners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 1972 BankAmerica Corp. annual report contains more than the usual facts and figures. It has an eight-page photo album of some of its shareowners.

In all, 175,678 investors own Bank America's 68,953,305 outstanding shares. The annual report said that except for BankAmerica's family estate plan, nobody—not even an institutional investor — owns more than three-fourths of one per cent of the total outstanding shares.

The majority of the shareholders—69,571 —are women. The men total 42,440 and 49,388 are recorded as joint accounts.

A corporation spokesman said it is believed this marks the first time a major U.S. corporation has given so much attention to the individual share-owner in an annual report.

Taxpayers Slow To File Returns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's income tax payers haven't been in any hurry to file their returns this year although many are due for refunds, the state Franchise Tax Board reports.

A spokesman for the board said Thursday only about seven per cent of the 8.5 million taxpayers have filed returns.

He said the board had expected to receive a 25 per cent response by mid-February since 5.4 million persons are figured to receive refunds under the new payroll withholding system.

Scott, Streisand Lead The List

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George C. Scott and Barbra Streisand were named the favorite male and female movie stars of 1972 yesterday in a poll by Boxoffice Magazine, the film trade publication, of movie critics and theater owners.

Runnersup for the female favorite, in order, were Goldie Hawn, Liza Minelli, Ali MacGraw, Raquel Welch and Jane Fonda. Male runnersup were Clint Eastwood, Paul Newman, Marlon Brando, Steve McQueen, John Wayne and Gene Hackman.

Council Takes First Look At New Ross General Plan

By BECKY LARSEN

The Ross Town Council got its first glimpse last night of the town's new general plan which so far suggests no major change in the future face of Ross.

James M. Campbell, a Palo Alto based planning consultant, presented a progress report and map of three plan elements: Land use, conservation and open space.

He told the council that since Ross is already substantially developed he viewed his job as "protecting what you have rather than providing a guide for future massive development."

Most land uses would remain the same, Campbell said, including such classifications as low, medium and high density residential areas and commercial zones.

However, he did suggest that the town set up a new "limited development" area in the steep forested hills on the town's western boundary which runs from Kentfield to San Anselmo. He said this area might be rezoned to require five acres instead of one per home and said the town might enforce more building restrictions there.

"It's a rough forested area with difficult access," he said. "The slope makes it very vulnerable to damage by grading and cutting. So any development there would have to clear many hurdles nd should be allowed only if these hazards could be overcome."

He also suggested that the town set up two new public service zoning classifications. One would cover publicly owned buildings such as the town hall and public schools. The other would cover privately owned buildings which had quasi-public uses, such as churches and private schools.

Campbell said that to comply with the state requirement for an open space element in the plan he was designating no new town green space but was simply relabeling land already open. These lands include the town common area, Natalie Coffin Greene Park and private green spots such as country clubs and forest preserves.

To provide a required conservation element, he said he was labeling the floodway channel of Corte Madera Creek as an area to be protected from future obstruction.

After the report, Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the council would probably hold a public hearing on the plan in May and then adopt it in June. Campbell still has several other state required elements to add to the plan including: Seismic safety, safety, housing, circulation, scenic and noise elements.

Allen said the council would also try to hold some Saturday public work sessions on the plan in coming months.

Campbell said the town might consider adding Kent Woodlands and Kentfield to the plan, since they lie in the Ross sphere of influence.

The state requires adoption of the plan by June 30.

Breakfast Meet

The Novato City Council and the Novato Sanitary District board will hold a breakfast meeting at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday at Sambo's restaurant, Novato, to discuss coordination between the city and the district.

Redwood Grove To Be Preserve

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 160-acre Owen R. Cheatham Redwood Grove in Humboldt County will be established as a teaching and research preserve.

The move is contained in agreements reached by the Nature Conservancy, University of California and California State University, Humboldt, it was announced Thursday.

The Grove will be leased to UC on a five-year renewable basis for inclusion in its natural land and water reserves system. It will be managed by UC and the state university.

Georgia Pacific Corp. gave the grove to the Nature Conservancy in 1969. It is a pristine stand of 300-foot trees ranging in age from 500 to 1,000 years.

Classes in beginning and intermediate German for adults will be held each Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oliver Hartzell School in San Rafael.

PRESENTING the Pacific Stereo Pick~a~Holiday Combined Super Special February SALE

February has Lincoln's Birthday, a holiday for some people; Washington's Birthday, a premature holiday this year; Valentine's Day; and the day our inventory is counted for tax purposes, which isn't a holiday at all but IS an excellent reason for having all the sales we possibly can in February.

So that's what we're doing. You're the people who have to reduce our inventory for us, and obviously you're not going to cooperate unless we make the merchandise and the prices so overwhelmingly attractive that you have very good reason to buy yourself some new stereo gear right now.

You can see for yourself that we do have a fine array of the very best known stereo components at very low prices. How, you may ask, is it possible to have so many sales? Well, there are some advantages to being big, despite the people who so rudely poke fun at our size. Manufacturers sometimes give us good deals just because we order so MUCH stuff, and then we have more flexibility to give you good deals. And being big, we can organize our distribution more efficiently and keep costs down in lots of ways. (We can even afford to make our stores comfortable places with really good listening rooms.) When you're big, you can have big sales. And what's so bad about that?

But it's hard to offer REALLY low sale prices all the time, so you'll notice that many are good for only one week and some for just one day. In other cases, the sale price is only for a specified quantity, and when they're gone that's it. So when you see something you want coming up, you should plan on grabbing it fast.

A Harman-Kardon Receiver in a $177 System

This is your last chance to save so much on a Harman-Kardon system, not because their popular 230A receiver is being discontinued, but because starting next month Harman-Kardon receivers will be strictly fair traded. That should be all the more reason to grab this system at its rockbottom $177 price. The 230A is a fine AM/FM stereo receiver rated at 17 RMS watts with both channels driven. It's made in the Harman-Kardon tradition of attractive Black Nocturne styling, and it provides clean wideband sonic transparency. It has provisions for two pairs of speakers, tape monitor facilities, and a loudness switch to compensate for the bass you would otherwise lose at low listening levels. The walnut case is optional.

The BSR automatic record player is a fine value at $49.45, including a base and a Shure M75 magnetic diamond cartridge. The 310 is an extremely reliable performer with a cueing lever that makes it awfully hard to scratch your records.

Quadraflex Model 11's are excellent small shelf speaker systems which perform very well, especially where space is limited. Their six-inch extended range speakers do a remarkable job of smooth sound reproduction. Model 11's make ideal extension speakers if you decide to add bigger ones later. Their regular price is $49.90 a pair.

In effect, you're only paying $17 for the record player, cartridge and speakers in this system. Normally, the cartridge alone would sell for more than that, so you should probably take advantage of our $177 system price while you can. We definitely can't do it again after this month.

Full manufacturers' warranties are included

To purchase these separately, you would pay:

Harman-Kardon 230A	$159.95
BSR 310 with base and cartridge	49.95
Quadraflex 11's (pair)	49.90
TOTAL	$259.80

$177

SAVE $82.80

A Well-Matched $588 System, Well-priced to Save You $126

The Sherwood S7200 AM/FM stereo receiver carries on the long Sherwood tradition of providing a very high quality tuner section, plenty of power and a full range of features for a most reasonable price, $299.95 in this case. FM sensitivity is an excellent 1.8 microvolts, and ceramic filters account in part for the very good selectivity. The 7200's direct-coupled amplifier section puts out 64 RMS watts of power from 20 to 20,000 Hz. Controls include FM muting, a high filter, a front panel tape dubbing jack, tape monitoring and a loudness contour. There's also a front panel switch for four-channel sound if you care to add a quadapter. The walnut case is included.

Dual's 1218 record player is very close to their highly rated 1229 in terms of features and design sophistication. You get fine performance, a variable pitch control, the gentlest imaginable treatment of your records, and a gyroscopically-balanced tonearm that can accommodate the lightest-tracking cartridges available. We include the fine Stanton 500E elliptical cartridge and a base, a combination that sells for $165.90.

The Bose 501 speaker systems sell for $248 a pair, about half the cost of the famous Bose 901 systems. Without faltering a bit, their designer invited comparison of these modestly-priced speakers with anything at all (other than the 901) and further claimed they'd sound better. Judge for yourself, of course. These direct/reflecting two-way systems use a ten-inch bass speaker and two angled 3½-inch treble speakers to create an uncanny sound stage in your listening room.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's 5-year warranty

To purchase these separately, you would pay:

Sherwood S7200	$299.95
Dual 1218 with base & cartridge	165.95
Bose 501 (pair)	248.00
TOTAL	$713.90

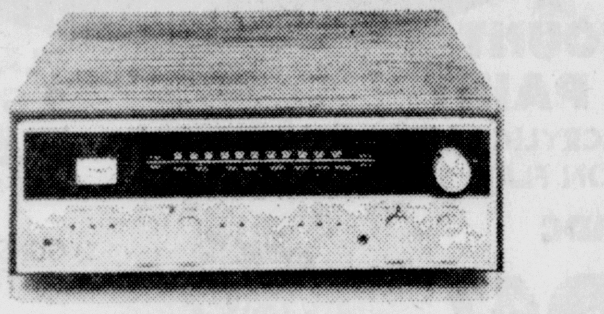
SAVE $125.90

This Week Only, $100 Off on a Current Model Spectrosonic Receiver

The Spectrosonic 210-4 is an AM/FM stereo receiver with a direct coupled amplifier section that delivers over 60 RMS watts at any frequency from 20 to 20,000 Hz. (It can put out 90 RMS watts at 1 kHz, where power is usually rated.) It also has an advanced tuner section that can cope with all the strong signals and complicated reception problems of a metropolitan area. And like all Spectrosonic receivers, the 210-4 was specifically designed for conversion to four-channel sound with a convenient front panel switch for a quadapter. FM muting, a loudness contour, a high filter, and front panel tape dubbing jacks are some of the other convenience features that help to make the 210-4 a fine value at $299.95. The walnut case is optional.



As to how good a deal our sale price is, you might recall that we had a Spectrosonic receiver sale recently in which the 40 RMS watt model, the 110-4, was offered for $199.95. You can probably see why our $199 sale price on the 210-4 is limited to just one week.

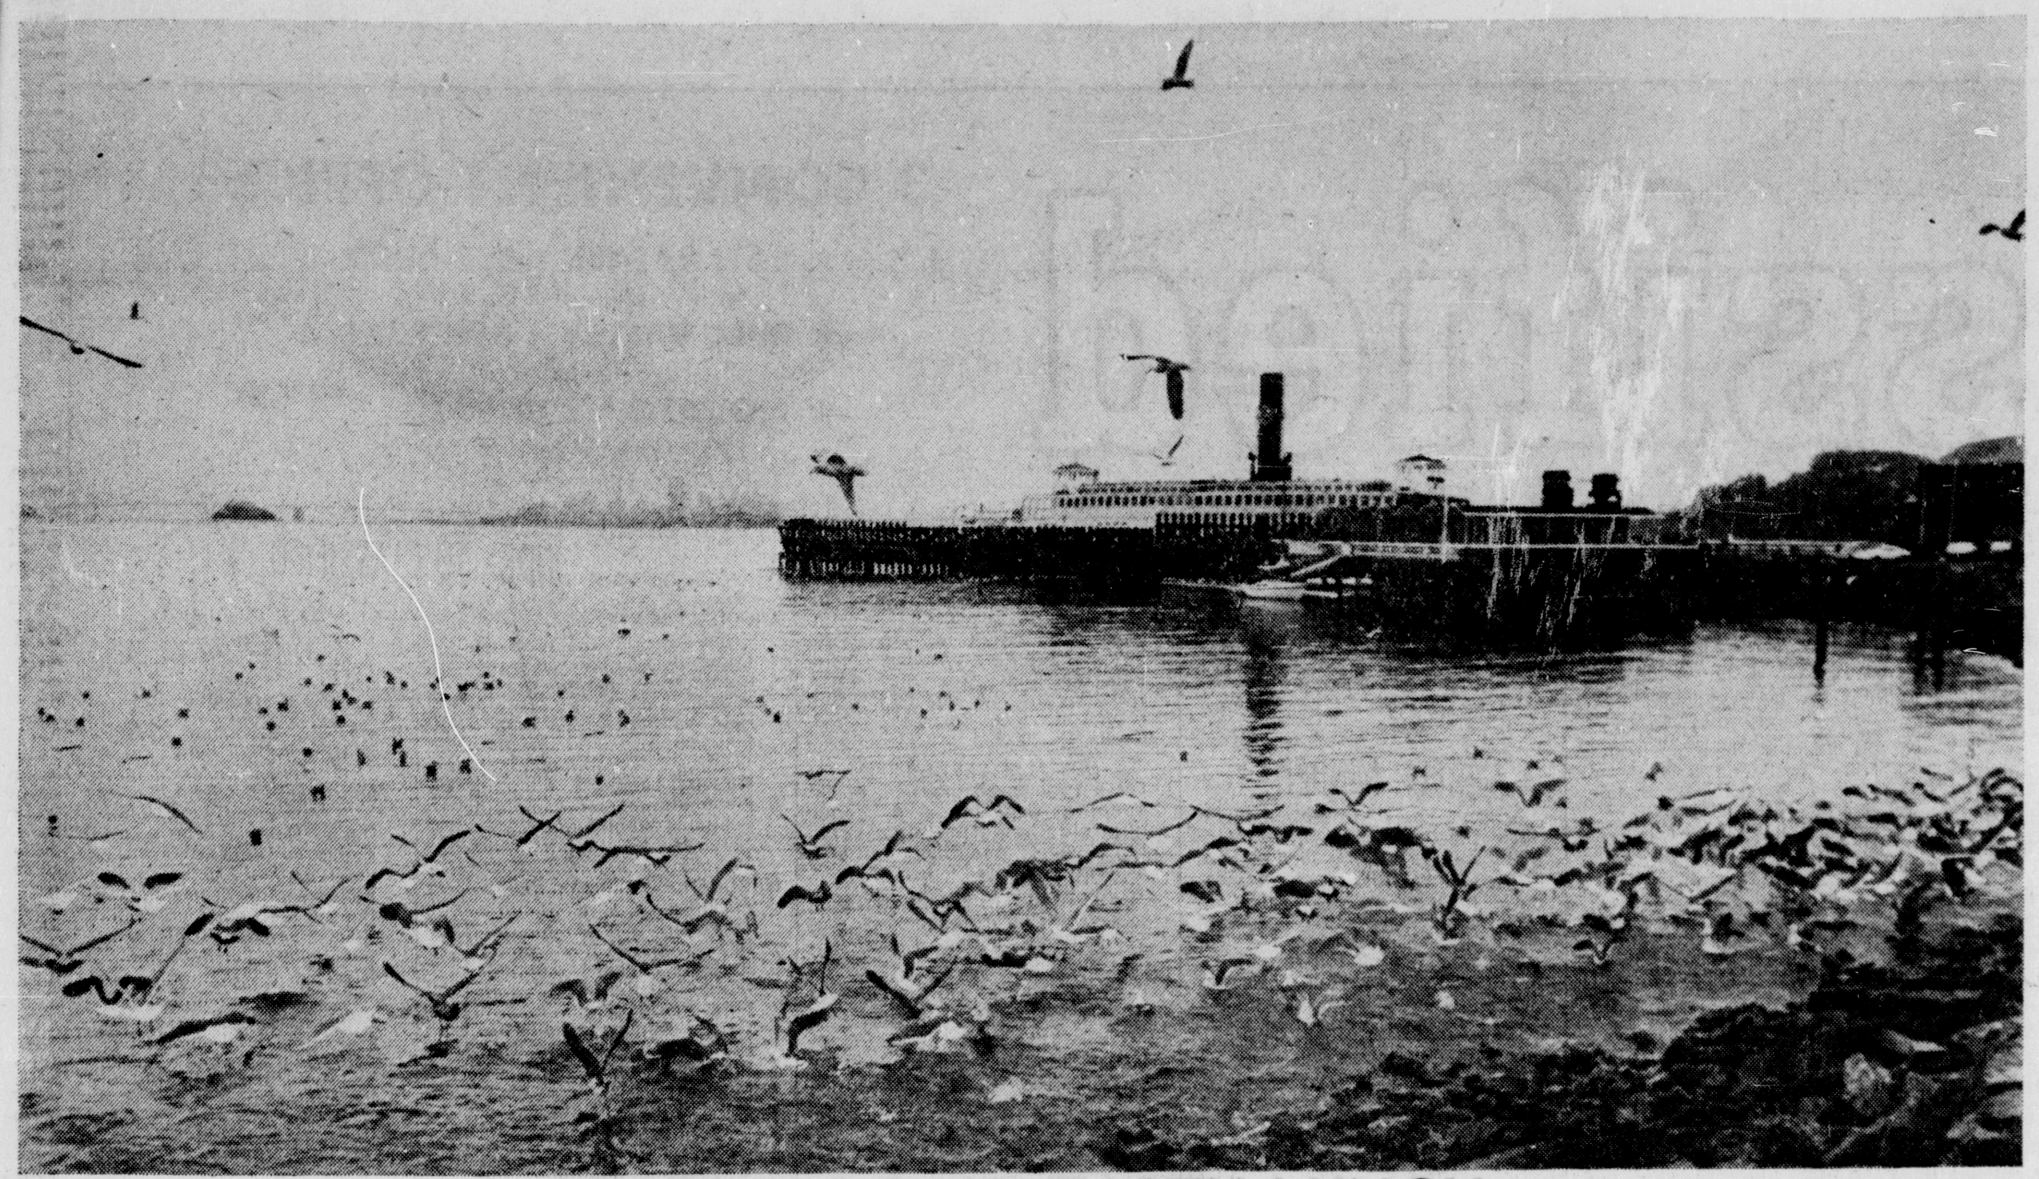
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY



SEAGULLS FIND TASTY LUNCH

The menu for the day apparently was fresh herring eggs as dozens of seagulls gathered yesterday along the rocky shore of Sausalito under cloudy skies. Deposit of the herring eggs on rocks and pilings provided an occasion for the gulls to enjoy an especially tasty lunch. In the background can be seen the Sausalito Yacht Club and the former ferry Berkeley, now the Trade Fair.

BOLINAS, BLACK POINT

Little Lots A Plague To Planners

By JEFF GREER

(Second of two articles)

Bolinas and Black Point would seem to have little in common — except that they are both in Marin County and both on the water. But both face a planning nightmare.

Bolinas on the west and Black Point on the far northeast of Marin are cursed with a hangover from turn-of-the-century speculators' days. The Bolinas Mesa and Black Point are covered with literally hundreds of lots only 20 or 25 feet wide and 100 feet deep, prettily drawn on a land salesman's map as fronting on grid-patterned, nonexistent streets.

Hundreds of persons bought the individual lots between 1900 and the Depression of the 1930s. Most never were built on — but the postage stamp lots sit there like ogres thwarting the efforts of community residents who want to plan their neighborhoods.

Bolinas and Black Point are but two of more than a dozen unincorporated areas where citizens are more or less actively engaged in "backyard planning," with the blessing of county officials. Each area has its own problems, some unique, some in common with other areas.

Strawberry residents are worried about rows of apartment houses blotting out the open hillsides; Indian Valley neighbors want to save their bucolic "horse heaven" atmosphere; Tamalpais Valley homeowners are concerned about open space, heavy traffic on their roads and the upper Richardson Bay marshlands being hidden by commercial buildings.

Thumbnail sketches of the more prominent neighborhood planning campaigns follow:

STRAWBERRY — The community's new master plan is the most nearly completed of any in Marin. Strawberry residents in May approved plans prepared by J. Martin Rosse of Strawberry and the proposals now are being reviewed by county planning officials for integration into the future Countywide General Plan.

Rosse explained that the 5,700 Strawberry residents live in about 2,300 dwellings — half of them apartments. The community wants no more multiple residential projects, and wants all remaining land rezoned either to open space or single family residential with a density of three homes per acre, he said.

The area has gone through repeated annexation crises between neighboring Tiburon and Mill Valley, with another hearing expected this month before the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission to decide whether Strawberry lies within the "sphere of influence" of one city or another.

PARADISE — The county has asked residents of the unincorporated area north of the Tiburon Ridge to prepare a master plan dovetailing with the Strawberry plan, Rosse reported. Polly Smith, a resident of the area adjoining Corte Madera and a member of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, is helping organize the local planning effort.

Rosse noted that there have been proposals to develop up to 3,000 homes in the Paradise area.

The Strawberry area Community Council is to meet Feb. 12 and Feb. 26 to review proposals for a local planning panel. It would recommend what action the official county planning commission should take on rezonings and proposed future developments, Rosse said.

TAMALPAIS VALLEY — A copy of the area master plan prepared by the Tam Task Force has gone to all 3,200 homes in Tamalpais, Tennessee and Homestead valleys. The board of supervisors now is considering Supervisor Michael Wornum's proposal that a Tam Valley community review board be set up to recommend on future rezonings and developments. Such matters are now handled by the county zoning administrator countywide.

The master plan for Tam area housing and population growth, open space and recreation, traffic and transit and industrial and commercial development was prepared after task force members trekked door-to-door with a detailed questionnaire to learn the neighborhood opinions, according to Joan Panek. It still awaits official county hearings.

"We have a simply terrible problem with zoning violations" in the area, Mrs. Panek reported. "We didn't have a big flap with the ranch owners" of the open space the Tam Task Force decided should become federal open space preserve. "They supported the idea of inclusion in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area," she said.

The county helped publish the master plan study and lent staff aide on technical details.

BOLINAS — Following months of fact-gathering, the Bolinas Planning Group is "well on its way to writing a rough draft of a proposed master plan," according to spokesman Steve Matson.

"We'll propose specific zoning densities, a traffic circulation system and possibly a district" to regulate septic tanks on the Bolinas Mesa, Matson said.

One bone of contention is whether an annual growth limit will be imposed, or the county idea of merely setting a maximum population by the year 1990 will be followed. "If all the growth came in a couple of years, it would be disastrous," the Bolinas planner said.

The problem of arranging trades or conglomerations of the 1,600 tiny mesa lots into buildable parcels may "require formation of some sort of "administrative agency to clean up he mess," Matson explained. He doubted redevelopment agency proceedings would work, because any developer would want to build immediately rather than space the building out over many years.

The Bolinas study deals with 550 to 600 homes in the area west of Bolinas Lagoon and extending north to Point Reyes National Seashore, Matson said.

NORTHWEST MARIN — Diffuse and relatively undetailed local planning efforts are in progress in the communities of Point Reyes Station, in Inverness and elsewhere in the area. Dr. Michael Whitt, president of Inverness Association, reported that "we've got a number of subcommittees going, but no steering committee yet."

Most of the citizens are concerned about the danger of excessive population growth, heavy commercialization due to tourist trade to the seashore, and the need for local control rather than depending on the seemingly far-off Marin Civic Center in San Rafael.

INDIAN VALLEY — Residents and Rowland Darnell of the county planning staff have drafted specific plans which have been adopted, rezoning the area to preserve large "horse heaven" lots and restricting building on slopes.

County adoption of the entire Indian Valley specific master plan has been delayed by the need for an environmental impact report on the future Indian Valley Colleges, and the problem of deciding how wide and how civilized to make roads in the area. Residents generally want no curbs or gutters, and equestrian, hiking and bicycle paths alongside the pavement, Darnell said.

Basically, Indian Valley residents wanted, and won "everything left alone" status for their community; Darnell said, although it's on the fringes of fast-growing Novato.

BLACK POINT — On the other side of Novato, "we're getting started later than anybody — just since November," reported Joseph Y. Seminario, chairman of the Black Point Master Plan committee.

Like Bolinas, there is a nightmare of 1,200 tiny lots, that cannot be built on under present zoning and septic tank rules. The citizens are weighing the need for a redevelopment agency to combine land ownerships, but there are fears for longtime residents who built small cottages on about 200 of the lots and would be dispossessed.

Black Point citizens don't want the 2,300 new homes that the John Kenney firm wants to build on the Sartori ranch next door, which is in Novato city limits, Seminario said.

Black Point residents, according to their answers to a questionnaire, don't want urbanization — nor really any change from the status quo except to get rid of industrial zoning along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad land and the waterfront.

That rezoning is in progress at the county level, Darnell said.

The planning committee has interviewed Tam Task Force leaders to see how that community did its planning job. Financial support for the future master plan is coming from contributions by the Black Point Improvement Association and from homeowners.

The area studied takes in about 300 homes — all surrounded by Novato city limits.

"Anything we do must be passed on by two masters," Seminario warned. "The legal master is the county, and the de facto master is the City of Novato."

SAN GERONIMO VALLEY — The valley's ad hoc planning group has made a residents' survey and has quizzed commuters on planning desires of the valley's 2,900 to 3,000 population, to begin revamping the 1961 valley master plan prepared by county aides.

The San Geronimo Valley Homeowners Association, numbering about 40 to 60 persons, has declared itself satisfied with the old plan, but the rest of the valley wants better protection against subdivision and growth, according to Jean Berensmier of the ad hoc committee.

Three task forces are working on issues of housing and population, traffic and transit, open space and recreation, and commerce and industry (which nobody wants, Mrs. Berensmier said.)

All the community master planning efforts must win ultimate approval from the county planning commission and the board of supervisors.

The products of hours of "backyard planning" toil are assured sympathetic reception by the present supervisors, but conceivably might not be adopted due to political factors such as pressure from neighboring cities.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell is heartily in favor of the neighborhood planning concept, he said.

"It's not easy. Democracy's never easy, but it's the right thing to do," this planning to allow a neighborhood to chart its own future, he declared.

Bumper Is Stolen From Parked Car

The rear bumper of her 1955 Chevrolet was stolen while it was parked in the Safeway Store Parking lot on Jan. 27, Anna C. Bon of 135 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, told Larkspur police.

Police said it appeared the bumper was removed with a bolt cutter while Mrs. Bon went shopping for half an hour.

Hearing Set On Impact Of Development

The Fairfax Design Review Board last night set 8 p.m. March 15 in the Fairfax Women's Club for a public hearing on the environmental impact of the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development.

The board, however, postponed action on precise plans for the project until 8 p.m. March 8, saying the scope of the development is vast, according to Ernestine Healy, board secretary.

Planned are 128 units on 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Glen Drive. Planning commission approval of a tentative map for the project was ordered by a Marin Superior Court Judge last September after developers Robert D. Marshall and Denkmann and Co. filed suit, saying the city had illegally delayed approving the map.

The board next meets March 8.

Flutist To Perform Next Friday Night

Flutist Jeanie Chandler of Mill Valley will appear at 8 p.m. next Friday in the theater at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence, 501 Via Casitas, Greenbrae.

The I-J incorrectly announced in Wednesday's issue that she would appear tonight.

The concert is part of College of Marin's concert and lecture series and is open to the public.

Brothers Enter Plea On Narcotics Charges

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two brothers, one a San Rafael man, pleaded guilty this week to charges involving the distribution and sale of heroin in Marin County.

James Wade, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty Monday to one count of selling heroin. His attorney asked dismissal of four other counts of possessing the drug for sale. A ruling will be made on the request when Wade appears March 16 for sentencing in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

His older brother, John Wade, of Daly City, pleaded guilty Wednesday to one count of possessing heroin with intent to sell it.

A motion to dismiss charges against the elder Wade's wife, Marie, will be ruled on March 30, when her husband is scheduled to appear for sentencing. U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams ordered Mrs. Wade's bail returned, according to the U.S. attorney's office.

The charges stemmed from the arrest June 6, 1972, of James Wade in connection with a $5,400 heroin sale to federal agents near the Cow Palace in Daly City.

After the arrest of James Wade, agents raided the Daly City home of John and Marie Wade and seized five ounces of high-grade heroin.

Agents said the older brother was supplying James and another brother, Jerry Ray Wade, 22, of Santa Venetia, with heroin that was sold in Marin County.

Jerry Wade has since been sent to state prison from Marin Superior Court in connection with heroin and bad check charges.

Special Fairfax Project Receives Federal Assistance

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Fairfax Cooperative Project, in which three Marin school districts and one parochial school participate for special assistance in reading and mathematics, was approved for $65,731 in federal funds yesterday by the California State Board of Education.

The funding covers the period from last July 1 to next Aug. 31.

The project is operated by the Fairfax School District, with Mill Valley and Lagunitas School Districts and St. Rita's Parochial School also participating.

The state board also approved continued funding in the amount of $67,516 for an intensive reading and mathematics demonstration project at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato Unified School District. This project grew out of a reading clinic started at the school four years ago.

Also approved for Novato was a $5,000 "start-up grant" for a new project in accelerated learning for handicapped students. According to Novato Asst. Supt. Paul Mobley, the project is to acquire special materials for use of slow learners and pay teachers who will give them special assistance in the regular classrooms. Three teachers, to work with 50 students, are planned for its first year.

Parts Purchasers Accused Of Theft

Two young men who had come to buy some Volkswagen parts stole a shotgun, a rifle and ammunition from his garage on Monday, Robert D. McClanahan of 40 Rich Lane, Larkspur, told police.

McClanahan said one of the men distracted his attention while the other grabbed the weapons from a rack at the garage rear, then fled in their car.

Leeches Used To Fix Black Eyes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — John Bradley keeps leeches at his barber shop here, but nobody's giving him a black eye about it. In fact, many of his customers come to have black eyes repaired.

Bradley uses the bloodsucking little critters to drain the swollen membrane around bruised eyes, a service that has waned over the years. The 2 ½ to 3-inch long leeches are affixed to the customer's eye to draw out the swollen blood.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Lobbyist Denies Link In Son's Bid, Mailer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee chairman has denied there is a relationship between an $80,000a-year offer by a lobbyist to mail free newsletters for lawmakers and his son's bid for a lucrative contract with the Legislature.

The lobbyist is Kenneth A. Ross Jr., who promotes the interests of Santa Anita racetrack. He has set up an $80,000-a-year fund to mail free political newsletters for each of the state's 120 senators and assemblymen.

Santa Anita will pay for the mailings, which will be printed at the firm of the lobbyist's son, Kenneth A. Ross III.

The younger Ross, sales manager for Computer Mailings, Inc., is seeking the contracts for the state-financed mailers through the Rules Committees of both houses.

"There will be no, no, no relationship involved between the newsletter program and the political mailings, said Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, Assembly Rules Committee chairman.

Ross also denied that his father's offer would influence a decision on the contract for the informational mailers, declaring his firm was "independent" of his father and the track.

"We are not offering any deals except we feel we have a good outfit and we would like to do the work," the younger Ross said.

Ross said he anticipated the firm would put out three mailings a year for 25 lawmakers at a cost of $2,000 for each mailing, which are not supposed to be used for election campaigns.

This is the first year the Assembly has arranged for private contracts for the informational mailers. Previously they were printed through the state Printing Office.

KNOCK IDEA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative leaders are opposed to a plan giving legislators VIP status on airlines to exempt them from antihijacking searches.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, and Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, R-San Diego, both said Thursday they can "stand in line" with everyone else.

Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco added that whoever had sought the special status was "a damn fool."

Other legislators joined in opposing the VIP status that was brought to light earlier in the week by J. Floyd Andrews, president of Pacific Southwest Airlines, who said he was asked by some lawmen for a special card to speed-up their boarding.

CREDIT PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Women could not be denied credit solely because of their marital status or sex under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles.

"Women are often discriminated against because of their sex and are particularly in a vulnerable position in obtaining credit when they have undergone a divorce," Waxman said Thursday after he introduced his bill (AB312).

ALCOHOLISM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Tipplers would pay more for their favorite beverages to help finance the state's battle against alcoholism under a bill introduced by a non-drinking senator.

The measure (SB204) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, would impose a one-half cent per ounce tax on alcohol in beer, wine and hard liquor. The bill would raise an estimated $27.4 million annually, which would flow into state programs against alcoholism.

A similar bill by Gregorio was killed last year in a Senate committee.

COLLEGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $1 million measure creating an "open college" system that could be attended by any California resident has been introduced in the Senate.

The bill (SB199), submitted Thursday by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was aimed at permitting persons who have some college education or a backlog of experience to work for a college degree, even though they don't have the time or money to attend a regular four-year institution.

Dymally said the open colleges could be established anywhere a group of people get together and decide they want to take a course. The legislation appropriates $1 million to begin the program and establish a headquarters.

PROJECTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at encouraging construction of more state flood projects was introduced Thursday by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter.

Way said his complex bill (SB202) would for the first time recognize the necessity for improvement of the environment in flood control projects and would shift some of the total costs from the state to the local level.

"In recent years," Way said in a statement, "the state has been reluctant to fund additional flood control projects in the absence of greater participation at the local level.

"The chief reason for this reluctance on the part of the state is that flood control benefits often accrue to land developers and speculators at the expense of local taxpayers."

Way declared the measure would limit the state's financial participation in a project to those benefits which accrue only to existing development. He said any increase in the cost of the project because it enhances land values would have to be borne by local areas.

INSURANCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Democratic assemblymen have started a drive to eliminate what they call a $20-million-a-year tax loophole for the insurance industry.

Assemblymen Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, and Howard L. Berman, D-Los Angeles, each proposed measures Thursday to eliminate property tax exemptions from insurance company home offices in California.

Sieroty, the author of similar but unsuccessful legislation in the past, said complete removal of the exemption would increase state revenues $20 million annually.

Sieroty's proposal, which was not formally introduced, would phase out the exemption over a five-year period, while Berman's (ACA22) would end it immediately.

Both measures are proposed constitutional amendments and require voter approval.

California Prisoners Of War Will Have Rehabilitation Help

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — For two years after California's prisoners of war return home, they will have at their beckoning the assistance of a long and carefully planned program designed to help them readjust to freedom.

Available will be military and civilian counseling, help in obtaining job training, employment leads and money to follow them up, and priority in nearly all dealings with the government bureaucracy.

Additional proposals are before the legislature to guarantee jobs for POWs and to exempt from state income taxes their prison-time accumulated wages.

At the center of the effort is a joint federal-state, military-civilian venture dubbed "Operation Homecoming."

"We've been given a lot of keys. If they work the way they're supposed to, they will open so damn many doors for these vets," said California director Herbert C. Lorenzen, a state employe heading the federally-funded program.

Quoting from a manual whose full contents have not been made public, Lorenzen cited benefits and aids to returning POWs that included up to $500 for travel in search of a job and up to $1,200 for moving once one is found.

The project relies heavily on 14 special counselors and their ability to meet the unknown needs of the state's 92 returning prisoners.

Recent lists show nearly 600 Americans classified as prisoners and about 1,300 as missing.

California, with seven of the 31 hospitals designated to accommodate POWs, will receive an estimated 20 to 25 per cent of the men. If many stay at the initial touch-down site of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield, northeast of San Francisco, the total could reach more than 50 per cent.

Other POW hospitals in California are Letterman in San Francisco, Oak Knoll and the Marine Corps Component hospitals in Oakland, San Diego Naval Hospital, March Air Force Base Hospital in Riverside and the Marine Corps Hospital at Camp Pendleton in Oceanside.

Each of the counselors was carefully screened to obtain "the 14 best people in the state," Lorenzen said. All are veterans, half the military retirees, all have counseling backgrounds and eight have attended special training in Washington, D.C.

They are supplid with research and analysis of what is known about POWs from this and other wars. But they will not act unless asked.

"Everything we do for the veteran will be triggered by him," Lorenzen said.

The counseling procedure begins with a visit by a Department of Defense representative when the man is medically ready.

Lorenzen said 75 per cent of the prisoners are officers, adding, "A large majority will be encouraged to remain in the service and continue their careers.

"But in order to afford the vet all the information to make a sound decision to get out or remain in, we may be called on to give him the other end of the specturm."

Obtainable under the counseling program will be a battery of aptitude tests, information on career possibilities, labor market conditions now and projections for the future, as well as second career opportunities for men about to retire.

In addition, Lorenzen promises the project can supply a "keep it moving" priority to aid former prisoners and their families in dealing with federal, state and private agencies.

He said "Operation Homecoming" can help a POW get into college or any type of vocational school, help refer him to a job or on-the-job training and expedite home or business loans.

"We can give a quick call to t e Veterans Administration and cut the time it takes to begin receiving educational benefits from six weeks to two weeks," he said.

In the Legislature, Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, has introduced a measure to exempt prisoners' earning while in captivity from state income tax.

Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, has introduced a resolution declaring it is the state's intention that all POWs receive jobs when they return.

The life of "Operation Homecoming" is two years, with a provision allowing its work to continue an extra two years.

Lorenzen said a returning prisoner can seek assistance under the program any time within the initial two years. After that, his case will be handled until "closed" and then spot checked for two more years.

A closed case, the director said, is when a man successfully completes two terms of schooling, is on a job for six or seven months, or when he regresses and requires further hospitalization.

Hughes Staffer Denies Report Of Heart Attack

LONDON (UPI) — A member of Howard Hughes' staff today issued a "categorical denial" of local newspaper reports that Hughes had suffered a serious heart attack and that two American doctors flew here to treat him.

Hughes, in his customary seclusion on the ninth floor of a luxury hotel overlooking Hyde Park, made no direct statement, nor did his spokesmen.

But Henry P. McNulty, vice president of a public relations firm employed by the Hughes Tool Company, said, "I have spoken by telephone to a member of Mr. Hughes' personal staff who issued a categorical denial" of the reports.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1973 with 325 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, was born Feb. 9, 1773.

On this day in history:

In 1825, the U.S. House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams as president. No candidate in the December, 1824 election had received the necessary majority.

In 1900, 7,000 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day.

In 1950, Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy charged that the U.S. State Department was infested with Communists.

In 1971, 64 persons were killed when an earthquake shook Los Angeles.

A thought for the day: American poet Joaquin Miller said, "That man who lives for self alone lives for the meanest mortal known."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, no reading.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hardened Coronary Arteries Cause Fourth Of All Deaths

Heart attack due to hardening of the coronary arteries is the cause of more than one-quarter of all deaths in the United States. Those most likely to die in this way (and at an earlier age) are overweight, inactive, heavy smokers, and have hypertension or an elevated blood cholesterol level. Cholesterol has received the most publicity, possible because it is associated with certain foods.

Most people have good intentions, and if possible, want to avoid a heart attack. It is well to remember that cholesterol is only one aspect of the problem. Preventive measures also include a reduction in weight, increase in physical exercise, abstincence from smoking, and taking medicine to lower an elevated blook pressure. In addition, a special diet to lower the cholesterol level may be unpalatable advice, but it may help.

CHOLESTEROL IS ONE of several fatty molecules that infiltrate the walls of the arteries, leading to a thickening of the lining membrane. Bile from the liver is rich in this substance and accounts for at least 60 per cent of the cholesterol found in the gastrointestinal tract. The remainder comes from the foods we eat. Clofibrate, one of the drugs used to lower the cholesterol level, prevents or lessens the absorption of cholesterol from the intestine.

For many years, physicians have wondered whether lowering the cholesterol level in the blood would lessen the risk of a heart attack. Several studies of these types have been done on individuals with angina pectoris and among those recovering from a coronary. These people were selected because there was no doubt that they had coronary heart disease. Clofibrate was used because it is the most promising drug and can be used safely over a number of years.

THE RESULTS of a British study were somewhat disappointing. Ten per cent of those on clofibrate died from a heart attack; it was 13 per cent among those who did not use the drug. A more significant difference was seen in an American study involving younger men. There were three times as many fatalities among those who did not take clofibrate. Oddly, it made very little difference whether the drug lowered the cholesterol level.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

ABDOMINAL FAT

B.M. writes: How do I get rid of jellylike fat in the abdominal area? My stomach muscles were cut at the time of my hysterectomy. I'm solid everywhere else. Would a diet and-or exercise help?

REPLY

Both will help, assuming that your protruding abdomen is not a large hernia. We are sending our leaflets on low-caloric diet and abdominal exercises, even tho you neglected to send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BLOOD DISEASE

N.S. writes: If a man marries a woman whose sister has a son with hemophilia, what are the chances that any son of the man mentioned will have this bleeding disease?

REPLY

The answer to this questions would require a study of the family tree. Since one daughter has passed on the trait to her son, there is reason to suspect that her sister could do the same.

SPANKING

M. G. writes: Why would a 3-year-old girl's face turn blue when she is spanked?

REPLY

D. S. writes: Recently while visiting a friend, I was asked to feed her 15-month-old child. The tot started eating with her left hand so I took the spoon and put it in her right hand. Both parents jumped me, saying this would give the child a complex. Does changing from left to right hand cause such a dire result?

REPLY

Some authorities hold to this theory. Children (yours, not others) should be encouraged — not forced — to use the right hand.

8 Drunken Drivers Sentenced

Eight persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on drunken driving charges.

Drunken driving is defined legally as having a blood alcohol level of .10, roughly the equivalent of five beers, glasses of wine or weak mixed drinks in an hour. The body burns up about one drink each hour.

Sentenced Wednesday by Judge Peter Allen Smith were:

Joan Elizabeth Davidson, 25 of The Boardwalk, Larkspur, arrested Jan. 7 on Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $200 fine, two years of probation and participation in a school about drunken drivers.

Henry Anthony Scheving, 44, of El Cerrito, arrested Dec. 21 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail suspended to a $250 fine, two years of probation and participation in a school about drunken driving.

Frank Junior Floyd, 41, of Vallejo, arrested Feb. 3 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine and two years probation.

Albert Bernad Gray, 45, of 55 Liberty Street, Petaluma, arrested Jan. 11 on Highway 101, given 60 days in jail, suspended to five days in jail, a $250 fine and two years probation.

The Governor's Mansion Leaks

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Louisiana governor's mansion, with its Greek columns and expanse of tree-studded lawn, was built 10 years ago to reflect the splendor of the antebellum Deep South. Now, Gov. Edwin Edwards says the roof leaks.

"The roof is leaking in nine different places. The air conditioning is shot. The thermostats are all goofed up," Edwards said Thursday.

He said the columns in front of the two-storey mansion are cracking, doors need replacing, new gutters must be installed, and a brick wall alongside the house is crumbling.

"It's unbelievable," Edwards said. He said the house, built for $1 million, needed at least $150,000 in major repairs.

Mills Will Fight For Press Freedoms

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the "public will be the loser" if freedom of the press guarantees do not include protection of news sources.

Mills, speaking to the Arkansas Broadcasters Association Thursday, said he was sponsoring two bills to protect reporters from having to identify confidential sources. "I am one who realizes if reasonable protection of sources is not offered, then such sources will disappear and the public will be the loser," said Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Lava Making A New Threat

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — A new stream of lava from Helgafjell volcano brought a fresh threat to the abandoned island of Heimaey today slightly more than 24 hours after another lava flow halted only 100 yards short of the harbor.

Workers used bulldozers to erect huge walls of ashes from previous eruptions in an attempt to keep the new stream of lava from the town.

Salvage headquarters said Helgafjell, which first erupted with a roar more than two weeks ago, is now emitting lava streams in three directions—north, west and east.

Auto Industry Aids Motor City

By JAMES WARGO

REJUVENATION PLANS — Details of Detroit's 32-acre riverfront development plan are shown in this architectural model. The high-rise complex in the center will include a hotel and four office towers.

(Christian Science Monitor photo)

A wrecker's ball swings daily in downtown Detroit as site clearance begins on 32 acres along the Detroit River. The automobile industry and many of its suppliers are putting up the initial capital for what is hailed as a big step in the rejuvenation of the Motor City.

The Riverfront Project aims to replace a collection of warehouses, an empty flour mill and an assortment of garages and parking lots with a towering array of shining apartments and commercial structures.

First phase of the project is to include a circular, 70-story hotel and four octagonal 39-story office buildings. Assuming successful completion of that phase, work would then begin on additional office towers, apartment complexes, a sweeping glass-enclosed concourse, and possibly a rail-guided personal transit system.

Not only would it place the city on par with those metropolitan centers of the world with claims to economic and aesthetic vibrance, it could also serve to refute the auto industry's charged neglect of the people and the city of Detroit.

The Riverfront Project has been the child of the auto industry from the start. Ford Motor Co. board chairman Henry Ford II is given credit for conceiving the idea of rebuilding a major chunk of unproductive real estate in downtown Detroit.

He turned the concept over to a subsidiary, Ford Motor Land Development Corp., which checked out a number of sites, selected the riverfront area, and called upon the services of noted architect John Portman. The massive plan soon evolved.

Ford himself appeared before the Detroit Common Council, the first member of his famous family to do so, and announced details of what is estimated to be a $500-million program.

Within a year all the land involvement had been acquired, site clearance had begun, and announcements of economic support were flowing in.

Needed as a sort of down payment is $35 million. Once that is raised, major institutional funding is expected to be made available. General Motors matched Ford's $6 million investment in a Christmas Eve announcement. Days later American Motors provided a proportionate amount and within two weeks well over a dozen firms, all but two automotive suppliers, had raised the amount to $26 million.

Included are such companies as the Budd Co., the Timken Co., Federal-Mogul, National Steel Corp., Uniroyal, Firestone, Goodyear, Goodrich, General Tire, Eaton Corp. and Kelsey-Hayes.

The broad-based support for the project may remove some feeling that the auto industry often turns its back on the needs of Detroit —the city that symbolizes that industry in this country.

In recent decades Detroit has experienced typical big-city problems. Its school system is bankrupt and may have to close in March rather than June for lack of funds. The municipal hospital network perennially operates in the red. The crime rate in some categories sets national records. Unemployment has not been below the national average since 1956, and frequently has doubled the average.

Because of all this, large numbers of the middle-class citizens have been fleeing Detroit for the suburbs, and commercial and industrial enterprises have been doing the same.

None of Detroit's problems is unique. But since Detroit is big only because of the automobile industry, its people feel they have the right to look to the auto industry for some sort of assist in facing these problems.

While a 32-acre project on the riverfront may not diminish the crime rate or find a use for the remaining hundreds of acres of unused urban-renewal land, or solve the riddle of what to do with nearly 10,000 vacant private homes, it is possibly, nonetheless, a start toward these solutions, and the auto industry is doing it.

Baseball Can't Afford Strike

Baseball can ill afford another strike but it seems the laborers dissatisfaction with management has reared its head again.

Yesterday Joe Cronin and Chub Feeney, American and National League presidents respectively, told all major league clubs not to open spring training camps until agreement is reached with the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Many of the clubs immediately cancelled plans for early spring starts. Spring training officially begins March 1, but teams send pitchers and catchers and some of the non-roster players a week or two earlier.

Among those teams calling off early starts were the world champ A's and Giants. Compounding the Giants' troubles is the inability of Jerry Donovan, boss Horace Stoneham's right-hand man, to get all the players under contract. Bobby Bonds and Tito Fuentes have already publicly voiced their displeasure with the offered contracts, and more grumbling can be heard in the background.

Hassling over such things as pension plans and minimum wages, the players, behind the leadership of Marvin Miller, last year struck for 13 days. The action disrupted spring training and caused a fiasco of the early days of the season.

Although issuing orders to hold off opening camps until agreement is reached with the Player Association, Feeney and Cronin's joint statement had a twinge of optimism in it. Settlement is expected to be reached soon, say the presidents.

With interest in baseball losing out to pro football the past few years, another strike will lose too many fans for baseball. Unlike most strikes where the observer picks the hero and villain between management and labor, there will be only one villain and no hero in another baseball strike. The villain and loser will be baseball itself.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of America's great pastime, Gary Hughes, former baseball coach at Marin Catholic High School, is no longer a part-time scout with the Giants. Hughes, now a sporting goods salesman, has given up his six-year job with the Giants to take a part-time scouting position with the New York Yankees, and he will be working under Don Lee, the Yanks' head scout for the western states. More responsibility and more money, says Hughes.

REDWOOD HIGH SCHOOL runners Brian Tracy, Pete Sweeney and Mike Killeen will be trying to qualify for the Saturday night finals in the high school mile event of the Oakland Indoor track and field meet tomorrow in the Coliseum Arena. It will be the trio's first try at an indoor mile in which there are 11 laps instead of the customary four of an outdoor track.

TO PLAYERS

Baseball Owners Offer Settlement

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a dramatic, history-making proposal, the major league baseball owners have made a bid to reach a three-year settlement with the players that would enable spring training to open on time.

On the heels of a directive by the league presidents instructing all major league clubs not to open spring training prior to March 1 until a settlement is reached, the owners made a proposal which would enable the players to bring their salary disputes to arbitration for the first time.

With the owners' new package on the table, the prospects for a settlement—perhaps as soon as the next few days—are considered good.

The owners made their new offer Thursday at their fourth meeting with the representatives of the Major League Players Association in the last nine days.

The action by league presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League ordering that the camps not be opened prior to March 1st without a settlement sounded a bit drastic.

But the presidents added, "No policy has been adopted at this time concerning the official opening of spring training camps on March 1."

That was the key phrase because there's no legal ramifications in refusing to open the league camps before March 1st. That's when the camps are scheduled to open according to the contracts.

In actual practice, most teams open camp—mainly for pitchers and catchers—before March 1st but until that date, it's not official.

If a settlement isn't reached by March 1st and the owners then refuse to open the camps, it would be a serious situation. The players could claim a "lockout" since the individual players have contracts with the teams and it could lead to all kinds of litigations.

However, at this point, there seems to be a good chance that the negotiations for a threeyear basic contract will be wrapped up long before March 1st.

Feeney said in a statement, "I can report we had a meeting at which we put on the table a comprehensive offer which involves arbitration and that is something the players have been seeking."

Marvin Miller, Executive Director of the Major League Players Association, said, "We will give it consideration."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, added, "We sincerely hope this offer proves to be the instrument that brings us to agreement. This is the first proposal in the history of baseball in which salary arbitration has been put on the table."

The questions of "free agency" (modifying the reserve clause) and arbitration of salary disputes had been considered two of the thorniest issues dividing the two sides.

The players compromised on the free agency question on Jan. 5th when they proposed that it be set aside for a year for study while the rest of the issues are decided immediately. However, the owners would like to delay action on the reserve clause for the three-year length of the contract instead of only one year.

The owners' concession on the arbitration issue removes a stumbling block in the negotiations. The players have wanted arbitration to settle salary disputes but the owners had opposed it in the past.

East All-Stars Upset West Five

By TOM THOMPSON

The East scored an upset of sorts last night, drubbing the West, 114-97, in the third annual East-West College All-Star Basketball Classic at Terra Linda High School.

About 850 fans watched the game matching some of the nation's top ex-collegiate players currently in the Army.

The West was favored to make it three victories in a row this year, but was dealt a serious blow when high scoring Jere Shockey sprained his ankle yesterday afternoon. Shockey had been averaging about 20 points a game, according to Army coach Hal Fischer.

East's Paul Andrews also damaged the West's fortunes, scoring 26 points, topping the game's scorers for the second year in a row. Andrews shot an astounding 12 of 14 from the floor, or 86 per cent. Tommy Long tied for game honors, scoring 26 for the West.

The East came out of a seesaw first quarter with a six-point bulge, and never relinquished the lead. After falling behind by 10 midway through the second quarter, the West couldn't get any closer as the East continued to build its lead.

The Easterners went ahead by 21 early in the second half, saw the lead dwindle to 10 again, then proceeded to rattle off 10 straight points to make the score 91-70 with 8:10 left to play.

The game is geared yearly to help Fischer select his best players for the All-Army squad.

In a preliminary game, Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team recorded its lowest defensive total of the year in smothering Terra Linda, 63-24. Gary Johnson scored 19 points and Greg Bullian 14 for the Wildcats, who lead the Marin County Athletic League at 11-0.

Giants' Spring Camp Plans In Question

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Giants hold their last pre-spring training baseball workout at Candlestick Park today without knowing when they can plan on heading for Arizona.

Major league club owners, including the Giants Horace C. Stoneham, have informed players that the opening of spring camps has been at least temporarily delayed. The Giants were scheduled to greet pitchers and catchers Feb. 19 at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Several Giants players living in this area have been working out at Candlestick over the past few weeks. Today's session was the last scheduled and was not cancelled when word of the possible spring training lockout broke Thursday.

Hart, 31, has been trying to regain his third base job for the past three seasons since undergoing shoulder surgery. Last year, he hit .323 at Phoenix and then batted .304 in 24 games with the Giants at the end of the campaign.

The 26-year-old Sadek has spent the last three of his six pro seasons in the Giants farm system. He'll be a candidate for the backup catcher's job.

In a trade yesterday involving minor league players, the Giants sent pitcher Lee (Skip) Pitlock from their Phoenix farm team to the Chicago White Sox and received pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and infielder Glenn Redmon, who both played for Tucson of the Pacific Coast League last year.

Carpenters Triumph In Double Overtime

Jerry Molinari scored 17 points last night to help overcome a 19-point effort by John Shaw and lead George and Charles Carpentry to a 50-49 double-overtime victory over Hub City in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league.

In other games, Larry Mowell scored 20 points as Marin Supply whipped Jolly Roger, 42-34; the All-Catholic All-Stars defeated the Washouts, 51-42; and Ritter's Critters and The Seasons won by forfeit over McPhail's and Head Start, respectively.

Drake Cagers Visit Marin 'Cats Tonight

ij Sports

First Place On Line In Prep Clash

Drake High School will visit Marin Catholic tonight at 8 o'clock in a crucial Marin County Athletic League basketball game, and who wins will be determined chiefly by whose type of game is being played.

If the league-leading Pirates (7-2) can run with the freedom they've enjoyed most of the year, they can expect to win, but if the patient Wildcats (6-3) can slow down the tempo, an upset may be at hand.

In other games tonight, San Rafael visits Terra Linda, Novato travels to San Marin, and Redwood meets Tamalpais at College of Marin, all at 8 o'clock.

Marin Catholic has won five games in a row, while Drake has taken its last four and seven of its last eight. The similarity ends there.

The 'Cats are a ball-control oriented team. They took only 12 shots in the second half in beating Novato Tuesday, 43-27. They are averaging only 45 points a game, least in the league, but are giving up just 43, the best. Drake, by contrast, scores 69 per outing.

The Pirates have the guns. Center John Channell is the MCAL's fourth-leading scorer at 16.1 and a top rebounder as well. Forward Eddie Joe Chavez is averaging 14.3, and forward Don Asay and guard Rick Herbert are averaging 30 points between them since both became starters four games ago.

Yet, Marin Catholic coach Dave Gonsalves seemed most worried about the man who doesn't score, senior playmaking guard Dan Howard. "I coached him when he was a freshman on the (undefeated) Class C team at Marin Catholic," he said. "I'd like to have him now."

Gonsalves may not, but he has some compensating treasures, like sophomore forward Mike Mahoney, who is shooting 55 per cent from the floor in league play. Mahoney's 11.8 average accounts for more than a quarter of the Wildcats' scoring.

Redwood (6-3) will be hoping for a Marin Catholic victory, which will knot the race among three teams at 7-3 if the Giants beat Tam (2-7). Redwood then will seek to dispose of Marin Catholic in a game at Redwood Wednesday.

Novato (4-5) and San Marin (4-5) both were contenders until midseason, but the Hornets have lost four in a row and the Mustangs have dropped two straight.

San Rafael (3-6) broke a six-game losing streak Tuesday and now goes against slumping Terra Linda (4-5), loser of two in a row. The six-team race at midseason became a three-team affair in just a week, as Novato, San Marin and Terra Linda each dropped a pair and fell from contention.

NICKLAUS IN FIRST PLACE

'Names' Among Leaders In Hope Golf Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — With so many young players on the PGA tour these days, especially on the winter California circuit, it seems strange to see such old familiar names as Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer, Billy Casper and Doug Sanders up there among the leaders.

It's not strange, though, to find Jack Nicklaus at the head of the pack. That's exactly where he is after two rounds of the 90-hole $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Jack, who blitzed Indian Wells with an opening round 64 Wednesday, shot "only" a 70 at tougher Tamarisk in the second round. That put his 36-hole score at 10 under par 134.

Nicklaus neither lost nor gained ground on the field, from the first to second rounds. He was two ahead after 18 and was still two ahead after 36. Only now the players closest to him are veterans Brewer, Casper and Sanders and Palmer and youngster Allen Miller at 137.

Finley Accepts Cronin's Order

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Charles O. Finley, sometime maverick owner of the world champion Oakland A's, yesterday calmly accepted American League president Joe Cronin's directive not to open spring training camp until an agreement is reached with the Players Association.

In revealing that he would abide by the advisory, Finley said, "The statement (by Cronin) speaks for itself. We have no further comment on it." He also said first baseman Mike Hegan has signed his 1972 contract and that former Milwaukee Brewer Billy Conigliaro may soon join the team.

Contract terms for the smooth-fielding Hegan were not disclosed, but factors surrounding the Conigliaro case were released. The outfielder asked Milwaukee yesterday to remove his name from the voluntary retired list.

Conigliaro jumped the team last June, saying he would never return to baseball. However, he sent a letter to the Brewer management applying for reinstatement so that he could sign a contract with the Oakland A's.

The A's received the negotiating rights to Conigliaro in a waiver deal and the Brewers received outfielder Ollie Brown from Oakland last July.

Brewer general manager Jim Wilson confirmed Conigliaro's request for reinstatement. Wilson said he is waiting for Conigliaro's letter to arrive before a settlement is made.

Conigliaro said he couldn't turn down a chance to play for the world champions.

Football

BALTIMORE — Baltimore general manager Joe Thomas traded defensive tackle Fred Miller to the Washington Redskins today for a future draft pick, leaving the Colts with only one ten-year veteran on the squad, tackle Chuck Hinton.

Miller, 32, the Colts' defensive captain and a starter his entire career, is the eighth veteran to be dealt to other clubs by Thomas in the last three weeks.

Miller, 6-3, 250 pounds, is regarded as one of the best defensive tackles in the game, an expert at playing against the run. He started every game in 1971 despite off-season surgery on both knees.

Thomas earlier sent quarterback John Unitas, running backs Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich, safety Jerry Logan, center Bill Curry, defensive lineman Billy Newsome nd offensive lineman Dan Sullivan to other National Football League teams.

Tennis

MIAMI — Margaret Smith Court scored her 56th straight victory last night to move into tonight's quarter-finals of the $30,000 Barnett Banks Tennis Classic at the Jockey Club. She defeated fellow Australian Kerry Harris, 6-4, 6-3.

Earlier, Rosemary Casals of Sausalito pounded Janet Newberry, 6-2, 7-5, in a great display of all-round shot making.

'Hardship' Draft Set By NBA On April 16

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association announced Thursday that once again undergraduates will be eligible for the draft under the league's "hardship" rules.

The draft will be held April 16th and the deadline for players applying for hardship status is March 30th.

For the first time hardship cases were eligible for the draft last year, along with seniors. Bob Mcadoo, rookie star with the Buffalo Braves, was the only member of the class of 1972 who made the grade in the NBA this season.

No discussion was held by the board of governors on merger planned with the American Basketball Association, instead, the agenda centered on the 1973 playoff pool.

A record $750,000 will be distributed among the clubs in the following manner:

. Highest won-lost percentage $25,000; highest won-lost percentage in each conference $20,000; other teams qualifying in the playoffs $12,500; conference semi-final winners $34,000 (losers get $30,000); conference finals: winners $43,500; losers $33,500; championship series: winner $100,000; loser $65,000.

Sonoma State Visits Davis Five Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Far Western Conference's leading scorers meet tonight as Sonoma State visits University of California at Davis in a game crucial to both teams in the tight basketball race.

Steve Tiedeman of the surprising Sonoma Cossacks leads FWC scorers with a 22.4-point average through seven conference games. The Cossacks, winless the last two seasons in the FWC, stand 5-1 now in a tie for first with Chico State.

Gary Fox has a 22-point average for the Davis Aggies, now 4-2 and alone in third place.

Chico State hosts Humboldt State, 1-5, and Sacramento State, 2-4, is at San Francisco State, 1-5, in other conference games tonight. Nonconference opponent Stanislaus State visits Hayward State, 3-3.

Dave Moore is Chico's leading FWC scorer, with 16 points per game, and leads conference rebounders. Reserve Arlandos Lee had the highest single-game point total so far in the FWC this year with 29 points against Sacramento last weekend and shared Player-of-the-Week honors with Bill Belander of Sonoma.

Seals Change Goalies But Still Lose

Combined AP & UPI

Marv Edwards took a turn in the nets to spell Gilles Meloche Thursday night. Edwards faced 32 shots and four of them got by him for a 4-0 victory by the Buffalo Sabres that handed the Seals their seventh straight loss.

The win put the Sabres back in fourth place in the East Division of the National Hockey League and dropped the Seals farther out of sight in the basement of the West.

Sabre goalie Dave Dryden picked up his third shutout of the season. He didn't have too difficult of an evening, turning back 24 California shots.

Rene Robert scored twice for the Sabres in the final period after teammates Randy Wyrozub and rookie Doug Rombough got Buffalo's first two goals in the opening stanza.

"I had a couple of guys who weren't skating at all. . . Maybe they were going at half speed," Glover said, refusing to use names. "But when they do that, nothing fits together."

Two California shots hit the post of the Sabres goal in the opening period but as Glover said "unfortunately, the post only counts in horseshores."

Today the Seals are licking their wounds on an off day before playing against the Blues in St. Louis Saturday and at Atlanta Sunday. Then it's home for six games in 14 days.

Score by periods:

Buffalo	2	0	2—4

First period — 1. Buffalo Wyrozub 3 (Pratt, Luce) 7:27; 2. Buffalo Rombough 2 (Harris, Lorentz) 9:19. Penalties — Atkinson (13:25), Pratt (19:26).

Third period — 3. Buffalo Robert 31 (Perreault, Ramsay) 2:23; 4. Buffalo Robert 32 (Ramsay, Hillman) 11:24. Penalties — Horton (15:26).

the most ground with matching six under 66s at Tamarisk. Miller had a 67 at the same layout, Casper got a 68 and Brewer a 70.

Nicklaus, who won seven titles while playing in only 19 tournaments last year, is in his third event of 1973. He was second in the Los Angeles Open and won the Crosby in sudden death.

Jack said he wasn't unhappy with his second round 70 but noted "it could have been better if I made a few more putts." He said he didn't start to play well until he got to the back side. But by then, he wasn't in shape for a good round.

Nicklaus' longest birdie putt came on the first hole when "I wedged it up to 30 feet and tapped it in."

Palmer seemed the most excited of the others making a run at the lead, and who could blame him. Arnie hasn't had much luck putting for more than a year now, and he hasn't won a tourney title in 17 months. So when he dropped a few putts Thursday it seemed just like old times.

"For a change I made a few," said the man who has won the Hope four times since 1960. "This is really a simple game. If you make some putts, you score. I played very well in the first round (71) but I couldn't get the ball in the hole. But that's been a problem now for some time."

Casper, who now has shot two 68s, said his first round play was better but that he was happy about the second 68 because he really didn't have that many chances for birds.

"I made the ones I had a shot at," said Billy, third leading money winner of all time behind Nicklaus and Palmer. "I didn't have that many chances."

John Schlee, who snapped an eight-year slump last Sunday by winning the Hawaiian Open, checked in with a 68 at La Quinta and was all alone at 138, six under par and four strokes behind Nicklaus.

Orville Moody and Jim Wiechers followed at 139, while defending champ Bob Rosburg was at 143 and Lee Trevino at 144. Napa's Ron Cerrudo was at 146.

They play five rounds in the Hope, the first four rounds on four different courses, so there is a long way to go in the chase for the top prize of $32,000. The cut will be made after Saturday's fourth round to the low 70 and ties who will continue the struggle over Bermuda Dunes on Sunday.

The weather for the first round was cloudy but warm and 52 players in the starting field of 144 got in under par after Thursday's second round, played in 80 degree heat on a cloudless and nearly windless day. There were still 45 players under par for 36 holes.

Frisch Injured In Car Accident

ELKTON, Md. (UPI) — Baseball great Frankie Frisch, "The Fordham Flash," and a Hall of Famer was listed in very serious condition today after an auto crash near here.

Officials at Union Hospital said Frisch, a member of the celebrated "Gashouse Gang" of the St. Louis Cardinals four decades ago, was in the intensive care unit with internal injuries and multiple fractures.

Maryland State Police said his car went out of control on Interstate 95 after blowing a tire and struck an embankment. He was alone and apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, troopers said.

Frisch, 75, one of baseball's great second basemen, lives in Bradford, R.I. He compiled a lifetime batting average of .316, playing in the National League from 1919-1937 with the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, where he was player-manager from 1933-37, and manager only in 1938.

Warriors Find A Good Elixir

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — Rest, contend Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee, is the ultimate elixir.

With four days off after playing eight games in 10 days, the Golden State Warriors bounced like Mexican beans Thursday night in defeating the Portland Trail Blazers 123-111.

Thurmond scored 39 points and Lee 21, both personal season highs, in giving the Warriors their second straight win. Golden State trounced Seattle by 22 points in their previous outing Saturday.

"We've got to start playing better basketball with the playoffs coming up," said Lee who also played an outstanding defensive game by keeping Portland's Sidney Wicks in check with 19 points.

Lee said his right foot, weakened by two injuries this season, is feeling better and so are his spirits.

"I get cortisone shots and they have helped," he said. "When I play a lot of games in a row, it (the right foot) bothers me."

"We didn't play well until the last two minutes of the third quarter," Thurmond said. "We were pitiful until then."

Golden State went on an 18-6 binge to open the fourth period and broke from an 88-88 tie into a commanding 106-94 advantage. Rick Barry, who rested the entire second period, tallied six points and Thurmond eight during the spurt.

Barry finished with 26 points. Portland's Geoff Petrie bucketed 42 points to take game scoring honors.

The Warriors played without Joe Ellis and Fritz Williams who are recovering from injuries suffered in a loss to Kansas City last Thursday.

Golden State now heads for the shores of Lake Michigan to engage the Milwaukee Bucks on nationwide television Saturday and play the following afternoon against the Bulls in Chicago.

49ers Hike Reserve Seat Ticket Prices

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have raised the price of reserved seats for their home National Football League games by $1 to $8.50.

The increase announced yesterday will apply to all but about 2,000 of Candlestick Park's 61,214 seats.

General admission will remain at $5.50, but mezzanine boxes will go up by $2 to $12, and the season ticket package will be up $1.50 to $76.50 for the home schedule of nine games, including two exhibitions.

"Our cost has gone up 39 per cent since 1970," said Lou Spadia, 49er president. He said the players' payroll was $650,000 higher than in 1970 and the cost of operating the park had gone up $103,000 in one season to $280,000 last year.

"Eight other teams in the NFL have announced price increases already," Spadia said, "and several others are expected to do so soon."

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

A Week's Time Of Office Work

I've had the Department of Fish and Game office at Yountville to work in this past week. With the rains and winds, I guess I didn't miss much in Marin County.

Here's the general fish and game news on a statewide scale:

The California Fish and Game Commission will be asked to outlaw the "selling of" or "possession of" blank fishing and hunting licenses at their meeting today in San Diego.

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game is requesting the commission to publish notice of its intention of adopting regulations requiring that hunting and fishing licenses contain complete information about the applicant before they are validated. Fish and game wardens have been finding blank licenses in the possession of hunters and fishermen. There is evidence of deliberate attempts to afford several persons the opportunity to fish or hunt for the price of one license.

The addition to the California Administrative Code would require completion of the application with the following information: the true name, residence address, year of birth, height, color of eyes and hair, weight and sex.

NO GENERAL COOT depredation order will be issued in California this year. Depredation permits may be issued on individual applications, the DFG reminds landowners. In cases where damage has been sustained from coots, landowners or tenants may apply for permits from the Department of Fish and Game or the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Permits where necessary will be issued by the fisheries and wildlife offices in Sacramento. Coots are particularly troublesome this time of year because they feed heavily on young wheat and pasturage.

A limited number of copies of a new Department of Fish and Game publication called, "Ecological Studies of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Estuary," is available to interested persons. A result of 10 years of intensive study of the Delta, the report summarizes knowledge of the principle fish and wildlife resources of the estuary, their ecological relationships and their environmental requirements. John B. Skinner, senior fisheries biologist with the DFG, compiled the 94-page report. Single copies may be obtained without charge by writing the Anadromous Fisheries Branch, Department of Fish and Game, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, 95814.

HERE ARE SOME highlights from the annual report made by fish and game director Ray Arnett to the Fish and Game Commission:

Striped bass angling was better during the year than in many years. Ocean sports anglers landed an estimated 230,000 salmon, second only to 1971's record 255,000 and the catch included a record 200,000 kings. Commercial troll landings of salmon were at the lowest level since 1957, howeyer.

Steelhead runs in the upper Sacramento River system during the fall of the year were about 50 per cent better than those of the previous year, and restoration of runs in the San Joaquin River system had progressed to the point that some spawning area closures could be lifted. It was another record year for spring run kings on the Trinity.

FISH SCREENING programs begun in 1967 and involving eight major diversions and the expenditure of $4 million will be completed early this year. The largest in the program, the $2.5 million Glenn-Colusa Irrigation District screen, which will save at least 10 million salmon and steelhead fingerlings annually, was completed in April.

Arrests for fish and game violations during the 12-month period through November were up nearly 10 per cent to 16,330. Among other activities, wardens broke up a ring of abalone poachers and won out-of-court settlements totaling $21,000 in ocean pollution cases.

IN THE HUNTER safety training program, a record 62,038 persons received instruction on how to handle and use firearms safely. A grand total of 633,614 students now have been trained in hunter safety since the inception of the program 19 years ago.

During the year 729 sportsmen and other interested persons were certified as qualified instructors, bringing to 3,412 the number of volunteers serving the program.

HUNTER SUCCESS was mixed. Waterfowl populations were again at high levels, and hunters used public areas at a record rate, averaging about half a bird per hunter more than the year before. However, drought conditions limited success with upland game, and deer tag returns indicated a slight decrease in the deer take.

Reestablishment of the California bighorn sheep in the northeast moved forward when the sheep transplanted from British Columbia produced four lambs, two of which survived.

A count of sea otters produced the highest number (1,060) to date, and surveys of California brown pelicans indicated increased nesting success.

LATE NOTE: Brice Pittman caught a 163-pound sturgeon at the "birdcage" off Loch Lomond harbor last Monday. That's quite a fish.

Steelers Dismiss Sumner

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Assistant coach Charley Sumner has been fired by the Pittsburgh Steelers, it was reported today.

No announcement was made by the National Football League club of the dismissal, and club officials were not available for comment.

Coach Chuck Noll left on a 10-day vacation in Florida after notifying Sumner of his dismissal, and Sumner was reported to be in St. Louis for a job interview with Don Coryell, recently appointed coach of the Cardinals.

Sumner, a graduate of William and Mary College, coached the Steeler linebackers last year. Prior to that, he coached the defensive backfield, including linebackers. His responsibility was lessened a year ago when Noll hired Bud Carson and placed him in charge of the secondary.

Sumner, a native of Radford, Va., played with the Chicago Bears and Minnesota Vikings and started his coaching career with the Oakland Raiders in 1963.

NBA ROUNDUP

Atlanta's Woes With Defense

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If the best defense is a good offense, why then are the Atlanta Hawks only slightly better than a breakeven ball club?

They have a high-scoring aggregation built around "Super Lou" Hudson and "Pistol Pete" Maravich, a couple of shooters par excellence. But Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons hasn't figured out yet whom to build his defense around. And it's killing the Hawks.

Thursday night was a good example. Hudson canned 38 points and Maravich 37 in a 132-point output by the Hawks. But Atlanta lost 136-132 to the Cleveland Cavaliers in overtime.

"We've got to get some players to play defense," wailed Fitzsimmons. "We don't seem to have any pride in our defense. We have great individual offensive talent in Hudson and Maravich, and that's why we score so much. But how are we going to win when we give up so many points?

"I don't want to take anything away from Cleveland. They simply outplayed us and got the clutch baskets when they needed them."

The clutch baskets in the overtime were bucketed by Barry Clemens, who took eight shots and scored six of the Cavaliers 11 points.

Clemens' jumper brought Cleveland to within two points of the Hawks and, after Austin Carr tied the score, Clemens' layup put the Cavaliers ahead 132-130. Two free throws by Clemens with four seconds left gave Cleveland another boost and Carr added two more charity points at the buzzer. Carr was the Cavaliers' high man with 38 points.

The lead changed hands 24 times in the closely-fought contest, which saw Atlanta hit 59 per cent of its floor shots and Cleveland 55 per cent.

The Hawks led 103-97 early in the fourth quarter but had to depend on Hudson's basket with 43 seconds left to tie the score at 124-124 at the end of regulation play.

The loss dropped the Hawks five and one-half games behind Baltimore in the National Basketball Association's Central Division standings. Cleveland remains on the bottom of the division, 14 and one-half games off the pace.

In the two other NBA games Thursday night, Golden State defeated Portland 123-111 and Phoenix beat Seattle 125-112.

Charlie Scott's 28 points led a balanced Phoenix attack which capitalized on cold shooting by Seattle to down the SuperSonics easily and snap a two-game losing streak for the Suns.

WHA ROUNDUP

Winnipeg Protects Slender West Lead

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Winnipeg Jets, led by Bobby Hull, are zealously protecting the top spot in the World Hockey Association's Western Division that they have held for virtually all of the season.

In danger of having their lead narrowed to a single point over Houston after dropping a 5-2 decision to the Aeros Wednesday night, the Jets rebounded for a 3-1 triumph at Houston Thursday night to boost their first-place advantage once again to five points.

As a bonus for Winnipeg, the third-place Minnesota Fighting Saints fell eight points off the pace by losing at Los Angeles, 3-1.

In other WHA action Thursday night, the New York Raiders edged the Ottawa Nationals, 3-2, and the Chicago Cougars beat the Quebec Nordiques, 5-2.

Hull scored the winning goal for Winnipeg, his 29th of the season, at 12:52 of the final period after Danny Johnson had given the Jets a 1-0 lead midway through the second session.

Gary Veneruzzo scored his 34th and 35th goals of the season in the third period as Los Angeles ran up its fifth consecutive victory by beating Minnesota.

Gene Peacosh scored a power play goal at 14:09 of the final period to lift the Raiders over Ottawa and Rick Morris scored the first two goals of the game as Chicago beat Quebec for its seventh victory in the last 11 games.

FLYWEIGHT CHAMP KEEPS BOXING TITLE

BANGKOK (UPI) — World flyweight champion Venice Bor Kor Saw of Thailand defeated challenger Erbito Salavaria of the Philippines on a unanimous 15-round decision tonight at the indoor Kittikachorn Stadium.

The three officials judging the bout scored the fight 150-138, 150-136 and 150-140. UPI scored the fight 150-131.

The bout was extremely one-sided, with the champion never relinquishing the initiative which he maintained from the opening bell right up to the finish.

Santa Venetia Wins Girls' Gymnastics

Host Santa Venetia Middle School recorded eight points, two more than A. E. Kent School of Kentfield and Mill Valley Middle School, to win the Marin County junior high compulsory floor exercise "flag meet" yesterday.

Some 55 girls from six junior high and middle schools in Marin competed in the meet, designed to give inexperienced gymnasts a taste of competition before judges. No individual championships were at stake. The next meet will be at Vallecito Junior High in San Rafael Thursday, and will involve vaulting.

New Mexico Cagers Get Reinstatement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A meeting behind a judge's closed doors Thursday led to the immediate reinstatement of New Mexico State University (NMSU) basketball players John Williamson and Roland "Tree" Grant.

Despite a court injunction Feb. 2 against a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) ban on the two, for allegedly taking excessive financial aid, they were not allowed to play.

The injunction came after Richard G. Phillips, attorney for the two, filed a $2.5 million suit against the NCAA seeking their reinstatement.

When they were not reinstated, Phillips asked that the NCAA be held in contempt of Common Pleas Court. Called before the court, NCAA attorney W. Charles Hogg Jr., Phillips and Judge Herbert Levin met in his chambers for 3 ½ hours.

Hogg later emerged to say that Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary, had sent the following telegram to Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, the president of NMSU in Las Cruces:

"As you know, on Feb. 2, 1973, the NCAA was ordered by the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia ... to not further prohibit Grant and Williamson from participating in intercollegiate athletics. As we informed your counsel last Friday, the NCAA intends to fully comply with the court's order so long as it remains in effect. We are advised by counsel that they are uncertain whether the order is now in effect. However, until the situation is clarified and with next Wednesday's hearing, the position of the NCAA remains the same: that Grant and Williamson are not prohibited by the NCAA from participating in athletics in any NCAA event and advice verbal or written to the contrary remains suspended until further notice."

Thomas, whose school had balked at letting the players participate when the injunction was first issued, said later that Williamson and Grant were reinstated on orders from Byers.

Both players attended the hearing. Grant, 20, is from Philadelphia and Williamson, 20, is from New Haven, Conn.

Dallas Aides: 1 Quits, Another Is Dismissed

DALLAS (UPI) — One Dallas Cowboy assistant coach quit and another was fired Thursday in the midst of a reorganization by Coach Tom Landry.

Passing coach Ray Renfro decided to leave the team for personal reasons, and specialty team coach Bobby Franklin was fired.

"In Bobby's case, his job was just eliminated," said Landry. "We're realigning our staff and we decided to eliminate that spot. We plan to have seven coaches next season, though the ones we have might be in different capacities than they now hold."

Renfro hopes to go into private business in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and Franklin is seeking employment with another team.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Tease for two! You'll have to use gray matter to figure out which names on today's list were people born this day.

1. Mia Farrow or Barbra Streisand looked at the calendar today, realizing she is now 27. This thin girl of stage, screen, and television is the real-life daughter of actress Maureen O'Sullian and once was married to Frank Sinatra. She now is attached to Andre Previn.

2. Mike Wallace or Roger Mudd is 45 today. He's a familiar face of nightly news from CBS, covering the Washington scene as a capitol correspondent or substituting for anchorman Walter Conkite, as well as holding down that slot on weekends.

3. Ronald Colman or Warner Baxter was that debonair Hollywood film star of the 1930s and 40s, who dazzled the ladies with his smile and well trimmed mustache. He starred in "If I Were King," "Talk of the Town," and "Tale of Two Cities."

4. Zachary Taylor or William Henry Harrison was the ninth president of the United States. The son of a wealthy Virginia plantation owner, he studied medicine for a time in college, then joined the U.S. Army. He won election as the Whig candidate in 1840, running on the slogan, "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too." He lived 68 years.

ANSWERS

1. Mia Farrow; 2. Roger Mudd; 3. Ronald Colman; 4. William Henry Harrison.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Science Is Fine, But Too Much In Bidding Is Confusing

One of the troubles with scientific bidding is that your partner may become confused. Another hazard is that an opponent may become confused. The most important moral of today's hand, however, has to do with medals. When they're getting ready to pin a medal on you, just smile modestly. Even a single word may queer the whole business.

FOUR HEARTS

North bid four hearts to show strong spade support and mild interest in a slam. North could not have a tremendous heart suit for he had opened with one no-trump.

South went past game by showing the clubs, and North had a chance to show the ace of diamonds. This was enough to coax South into a slam.

West opened the jack of diamonds and declarer took the ace of diamonds and the top hearts to get rid of a diamond. Then he led a low club from dummy.

FINE DEFENSE

East began a fine defense by discarding a heart instead of ruffing the club. South won with the king of clubs, led a trump to dummy's king and returned another low club.

East threw another heart, and South won with the ace of clubs. If East had ruffed either club, South would draw just one round of trumps, cash the top clubs and then crossruff.

REFUSES RUFF

After East refused to ruff a club with one of his worthless trumps, South was doomed. When declarer gave up the third round of clubs to West, back came a trump. This left only one trump in dummy, and South eventually lost a second club trick.

West was beginning to congratulate East on his magnificent restraint when East registered a complaint. "All this fancy bidding is very confusing," he growled. "I thought the contract was six no-trump. I wish I had known in time to ruff one of those clubs!"

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K J 8
♥ - A K 7
♦ - A Q 4 3
♣ - 10 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. This is a difficult hand to bid because you have fine strength in high cards but terrible distribution. You must mark time until you find out more about your partner's hand.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

Porsche Audi Dealership Will Open March 1 In Mill Valley

A Porsche Audi dealership, the first in Marin County, will open on March 1 at Strawberry Town and Country Village in Mill Valley, where Mill Valley Volkswagen is now located.

To be called Felton Porsche Audi, it will be owned by Leon C. Felton, who operates both the Mill Valley Volkswagen and Felton's Volkswagen in San Rafael.

The appointment of Felton as the Porsche Audi dealer was announced by R. W. Hansen, president of Porsche Audi West, the northern Califonria, northern Nevada and Utah distributor for Porsche sports cars and Audi luxury sedans.

Felton opened his San Rafael Volkswagen agency in 1954, followed by the Mill Valley dealership a year later. Mill Valley Volkswagen will discontinue operations when he opens the Porsche Audi facility on March 1.

Thomas Teel, who joined the Felton organization as sales manager of Mill Valley Volkswagen in 1970, will be general manager of Felton Porsche Audi. He has been in the automobile business for seven years.

A NEW CABINET-MAKING firm called Kitchen Cabinets has opened at 60 Belvedere Street in San Rafael, with custom work on kitchen and bookcase cabinets as its specialty.

Owner of the business is Henry Kelman, 22, of San Anselmo, who has about four years of experience in cabinet making. He formerly worked for Craft Industries in San Leandro. Kelman is using plastic laminate in his remodeling work.

He leased 1,160 square feet of space at 60 Belvedere Street through the William Hoey Company of San Rafael.

CUSTOM PHOTO SERVICE, a new photo processing firm, will open at 48 Mark Drive in Northgate Industrial Park by the end of the month.

Owner Richard E. Changnon of San Francisco leased 1,160 square feet of space, also through William Hoey Company. Changnon, who has 20 years of experience in photography, operated a photo shop in San Anselmo about six years ago and has been free-lancing since then. His son, Charles, is helping him in the new business.

In another William Hoey lease, Digital Telephone Systems Inc. at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, got additional warehouse space at 134 Paul Drive. The company has office space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard and at 4460 Redwood Highway, all in Northgate Industrial Park.

GEM AUTO SALES, a San Rafael used car sales firm at 1530 Fourth Street, has expanded into adjoining property, almost doubling its space.

Owners Richard and Joan McDonald of San Rafael, who have operated Gem Auto Sales for 14 years, took over the building and lot at 1532 Fourth Street, formerly occupied by Fun World motor home sales, which folded last year.

Helping Mr. and Mrs. McDonald is salesman Robert Nelson, who has been with the firm for six years. "The expansion permits better display and a wider selection for our customers," said Mrs. McDonald.

LYN BOBO and Marvin Steele have joined Beacock & Maxson, Realtors, as associates in the new offices in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Bob, a resident of Tiburon, was formerly with Lewis Realty in Mill Valley. Steele, who was associated with a real estate firm in San Francisco, plans to move his home to Marin County.

THE BROTHERS tavern at 8 Locust Avenue in Mill Valley is being sold by Louis E. Locati of Tiburon to George Leonetti, Larkspur builder who formerly worked at Franchini's Chateau restaurant.

Helping Leonetti operate the Brothers will be Mario Ferrari of San Rafael, who worked at San Rafael Joe's and for the last 10 years at the Chateau. Ferrari said the new owner plans to remodel the Brothers tavern and institute a cocktail hour from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. five days a week.

Locati, who owned the tavern since 1950, said he plans to enter another field, probably retail sales.

A FREE INVESTMENT workshop in two parts will be presented by and at the San Rafael office of Dean Witter & Co. on Thursday evenings, Feb. 15 and 22, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Dean Witter Associate Vice President Gary Bauer will discuss stocks, bonds, mutual funds, current market conditions and computer assistance to research. Bauer said reservations are advisable.

JIM PICCI, Novato realtor, has been appointed Marin area representative of the Stone Institute of Marketing Management of Santa Cruz. The institute specializes in management techniques and sales training for real estate companies.

As representative of the Institute, Picchi will conduct classes on "The Professional Approach to Selling Real Estate" based on a book and eight casettes of the same title.

STARTING A BUSINESS? — A free one-day workshop for prospective business owners and managers will be presented by the U.S. Small Business Administration in San Francisco on Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The workshop will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room 15018 of the Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. Advance registration is necessary.

Two Factors Aid Market's Recovery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices, maintaining momentum which developed late Thursday, moved higher today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there might have been some bargain hunting among glamors, bluechips and oils. They also said some investors have been encouraged by banks holding the prime rate at 6 per cent and congressional action to put off the Penn Central Railroad strike.

Institutions were participating in much of the buying as indicated by a large number of block trades.

Pan American World Airways was the most active issue, up ⅛ at 8 ⅞ on 543,400 shares, including a block of 461,000 shares at 8 ¾.

Prices also moved higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Rapid American warrants headed the active list, unchanged at 6 ⅜ on 135,700 traded.

Ships Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Standard Oil Company of California has ordered four additional very large crude carriers (VLCC) in the 264,000-deadweight-ton class to be constructed by Mitsubishi Heavy Industries in Japan, for delivery in 1975.

INVESTING

Sunbeam Touted Highly

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My wife and I will retire in 15 years. Now that our children are on their own we are able to put $50 a month away toward retirement. In addition, we are putting $25 monthly into a mutual fund which has built up to $1,500. We have $4,000 in the bank and another fund worth $3,000. We also have $10,000 in life insurance and put $15 monthly into a variable annuity. How do you suggest we invest the $50 each month? — J.R.

A. With another decade and a half ahead prior to retirement you are in a good position to build your capital through a conservative stock investment. The Monthly Investment Plan available for securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange is ideal for your purpose. This plan is offered by brokerage firms which are members of NYSE.

Sunbeam Corp. (NYSE) appears well-suited to your needs. This manufacturer of small applicances has a compound annual average growth rate of 8 per cent over the past five years. For the first half of fiscal 1973 to end March 31, earnings advanced 13 per cent year to year. Full year results are estimated at $1.85 per share — a record high — for a current multiple of 17 times earnings.

The company has recently expanded and modernized its plant capacity and is in an excellent position to fill the void left by several firms which have withdrawn from the industry.

Foreign sales have been expanding at a 15 per cent to 20 per cent rate, a somewhat faster pace than domestic revenues. Sunbeam, through acquisitions, has diversified into commercial and industrial products which account for about 20 per cent of income. These factors are expected to accelerate the company's growth rate in the years just ahead.

Doyle Drive Merits Higher Priority

Highway construction priorities are sometimes strange. The California Division of Highways, seeking to make roads safer, sometimes spends millions for corrections against what appear to be accident hazards in areas with little history of actual accidents. Yet, again, sometimes a veritable death strip goes for years uncorrected.

Such a death strip is the Doyle Drive connection to the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

SINCE 1966, there have been more than 400 accidents on this short stretch of heavily traveled road. Nineteen of them have been head-on collisions. Seventeen persons have died in these accidents — two in a crash on Jan. 24 of this year.

Yet the Division of Highways has placed correction of this death strip low on its list of priorities. Widening and placing a divider were down for construction in the 1976-77 fiscal year at the earliest.

This has not been because nobody called the division's attention to the situation. The Redwood Empire Association has been agitating steadily for stepping up Doyle Drive in the highway priority list. But as recently as last November, REA was told that there was no possibility of any work being undertaken before fiscal 1976-77.

REA did not give up. It solicited support for speedy state action to save lives on Doyle Drive. By the time of the Jan. 24 double fatality, it had received resolutions of endorsement from a long list of public bodies and organizations, including the Marin County Board of Supervisors, San Rafael City Council, Corte Madera Town Council, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, and Marin County Labor Council.

REA'S CAMPAIGN plus publicity on the Jan. 24 fatalities have finally stirred legislators into action. Both Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and state Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, have introduced bills to require immediate reconstruction of the Doyle Drive death strip.

The job is estimated to cost $13 million. Certainly that amount can be found in the state's highway funds. Certainly there are other projects less urgent that this one, delay of which would not have such cost in human lives.

Marin 'Y' Gets Results

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin this week kicked off its annual sustaining membership drive, so this is a good time to take a look at what it is doing.

Those who haven't been watching may be in for a surprise. There's a new look in the Marin "Y." And it's a good look.

Some figures help tell the story. The number of "Y" groups in the county increased from 95 at the end of 1971 to 227 at the close of 1972, a 140 per cent gain. In the same period, enrollment in these groups grew from 804 to 2,309, an increase of 300 per cent. And total attendance at their sessions also increased 300 per cent, from 9,455 during 1971 to 37,532 during 1972.

But the best statistic is this: The budget was increased by only 35 per cent.

Here is proof that the "Y" is giving more for the dollar than ever before.

An organization that can get that kind of result really deserves support.

Wakefield Wants Judges Answerable To People

By RUS WALTON

Floyd Wakefield's at it again.

Wakefield is a Republican assemblyman from Downey. In case you have forgotten, he's the guy who authored Proposition 21 — the anti-busing amendment.

Now Wakefield is turning his attention to the courts — to the State Supreme Court and the district courts of appeal, to be specific.

He has introduced Assembly Constitutional Amendment 7. It would require all justices of those courts to stand before the voters at the general elections of November 1974.

His amendment provides that the justices stand for re-election every six years rather than be appointed for 12 years. Interim vacancies would be filled by gubernatorial appointment.

Under Wakefield's proposal, supreme court justices would be elected on a statewide basis and justices for the courts of appeal would be elected by district.

Of the seven candidates for the supreme court, the one receiving the highest vote would become chief justice. In the district courts of appeal, the high vote-getter would be presiding justice.

WAKEFIELD FIGURES that as long as the justices are going to act like legislators, they should run for election, like the legislators.

"Our present court system has gone far beyond the point of interpreting the laws as outlined in our constitution.

"The function of the judiciary is to interpret the laws — and not to pass judicial legislation."

Oiyez! Oiyez! Smite 'em, Floyd, hip and thigh!

"Liberals tell us that the courts are only applying the law of the land. What law? Their own? It was never the intent of our founding fathers, or our Constitution, to permit the courts to usurp our legislative process."

Hear, hear!

WAKEFIELD KNOWS his amendment won't get far in the Assembly. He is already preparing an initiative petition campaign to get his amendment on the ballot in June, 1974. His most recent petition (Proposition 21) got 62 per cent of the vote.

As to the criticism that electing judges might open the courts to partisan politics, Wakefield doesn't buy it.

"Just because a voter is registered to one party or the other doesn't change his views on law and justice. The overwhelming support of the death penalty initiative — 67 per cent — shows that. Folks from both parties voted for that one," he sayd.

One thing's for sure. We can't be much worse off than we are now.

Look at Chief Justice Donald Wright. Here he is asking the State Bar Association to check the credentials of Justice William P. Clark, the fellow Governor Reagan has nominated to the State Supreme Court.

The courts belong to the people — not the lawyers. Certainly not to those lawyers who last year endorsed pot and pimps and prostitution.

I think Floyd Wakefield's got something. Let the people elect their judges. Whose courts are they, anyway?

Sic 'em, Floyd!

'Victory' May Prove Costly To Corte Madera

The question now comes to my mind, "What did Mr. Weingarth win and for whom?" True, he achieved the marvelous distinction of having his picture on the I-J's front page, for whatever that is worth to him. But what victory for the other people of Corte Madera? Has he graded and paved the primrose path to bankruptcy for our town? Do not we all have to foot the bills for court costs, lawyers, consultations and meetings? There is also the possibility of inverse condemnation and the mandatory purchase of the Madera del Presidio lands by the Town of Corte Madera. Do we really need this, so that the rats and skunks can flourish there, and Mr. Weingarth will not need to suffer the shock of gazing upon the dwellings of his unsufferable fellow man from his back porch? Or do these dissident forces wish to have the previous zoning reinstated and approximately 300 single family houses and their attendant streets literally cover these lovely meadows edge to edge?

These seem to be the alternatives to me — mandatory purchase by the town; reversion to single family dwelling zoning and sprawl; or the planned unit development with open space. Perhaps Mr. Weingarth has a further alternative. If so, I think it would behoove him to place it before all members of the town in great haste.

On Page 15 of the same I-J, there is reported the first of the big lawsuits by a property owner against our town, alleging inverse condemnation, confiscation without compensation, etc. While this action is in behalf of another property, it sets the scene for what we can expect in days to come.

So, Corte Maderans, attune yourselves to this new wind blowing here, and loosen your pocketbooks. Forget about all those lovely projects, such as flood control, tennis courts and parks. We will be far too busy paying Mr. Weingarth's fiddler while he and his cronies dance . . .

Cause For Rejoicing In HAFB Use Votes

In your coverage of the Jan. 23 decision made by the board of supervisors to disallow commercial jet aviation at Hamilton Air Force Base, I feel that you dealt particularly unfairly with the position taken by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni.

It is my somewhat naive belief that an elected official should reflect the will of his constituency and not that of small, special-interest groups. Mr. Arrigoni stated in the course of the hearing that during his recent hard-fought campaign for re-election, 90 per cent of the people throughout the Ross Valley area were against the joint use proposal. In consequence of this fact, he did not support joint use during his campaign.

Messrs. Baptiste and Giacomini also voted the will of the people in their districts. Mr. Giacomini, because one of his campaign planks was opposition to joint use. He won. Mr. Baptiste, because as long as a year ago he knew what the North Marin area wanted and voted accordingly.

When a man lives up to his campaign promises and listens to the voices of his constituents, it should be a cause for rejoicing, not castigation. Or does the I-J feel differently?

Moratoriums, Zoning Abridge Property Right

Your paper is to be commended for the comprehensive coverage of the events in our fair county. Especially, let me give you "Bouquets" for your editorial of Feb. 2, titled 'Unfair Taxation Under Moratorium'. It is time someone spoke up to defend the property rights of the average citizen.

Too frequently we hear of a governmental body in our county restricting, condemning or abridging the property rights of the individual without proper compensation. Most of the time it is with the excuse that it is for the public good, but nearly always it is for a self-serving purpose, and equally frequently with a violation of equitable property rights.

These violations are being advocated by the so-called land planning consulting firms, that profess to know what is best for the people, but do not have the wisdom or experience to properly evaluate this quality of knowledge. They advocate that the municipality acquire an individual's property using the police power of zoning change. This leaves the abused property owner without effective recourse for the confiscation of his land. The California courts have not as yet honored an appeal in favor of the property owner. Therefore, they suggest that this is a good way for a municipality to acquire coveted property without paying for it.

Not only is this sleazy excuse being practised against the large landholder and the unpopular corporation, but it is increasingly being used against the "little guy", the taxpayer — you and I.

The obvious danger of this practice is the gradual and insidious erosion of our constitutional property rights, the right to hold property free and clear from the abuse of the all-powerful state or governmental body. Every citizen should give long and careful consideration before advocating the confiscation of the other man's property without proper compensation.

Agitation For Amnesty Calls On Unapplicable Precedents

WASHINGTON — The antiwar movement is meeting the threat of unemployment in its ranks by turning its efforts now to obtaining amnesty for those Americans who fled from military service.

Dozens of shaky precedents are dragged out of history to prove that amnesty is just, and indeed demanded, by what was done after earlier wars. Mr. Nixon, the villain a few weeks ago for ordering bombing of Hanoi-Haiphong, now is the villain because he believes the draft-dodgers and deserters should be treated precisely according to the law.

IT IS PERHAPS inevitable, but also appalling, that the agitation for amnesty reaches a new peak just as the first American prisoners are heading home from captivity in North Vietnam.

Inevitable, because some politicians, including both George McGovern and Mr. Nixon himself 13 months ago, spoke of the prisoners' release as a barrier that would have to be passed before amnesty was granted (or considered, in the President's case). Appalling, because — well, if you don't understand that part, there is little point in explaining it.

The most common comparison made by those plumbing the history books is between Abraham Lincoln's attitude toward southern soldiers after the Civil War and Mr. Nixon's attitude today. It is absurd.

Lincoln was concerned with half a nation split away, with soldiers who had made a choice to fight for one side or the other, sometimes against their own brothers. He was not dealing with draft-dodgers and deserters, as Mr. Nixon is. (In the Civil War, the punishment for desertion was death or, in the Army of Northern Virginia, imprisonment at hard labor, regular flogging, and being branded with a capital "D" in the palm of the left hand.)

NO ONE WHO COMES home to face the law he so knowingly broke during the Vietnamese war will have to fear any such punishment. In fact, of nearly 5,000 draft-evasion indictments in fiscal 1972, only one-third of the defendants were convicted and sentenced. Among deserters convicted by court martial, 44 per cent got off with no imprisonment at all, and only 6 per cent got 13 months or more. Compare that with what happened to approximately 46,000 young Americans who did their unpleasant duty during the recent war.

That, of course, is a fact of which the exiles are more aware than most people. The amnesty movement would have you believe that those who fled are moral heroes who had the courage and foresight to run away from an illegal war — heroes, plus an admitted few who had committed crimes and found flight with the others a form of socailly protective camouflage.

But nowhere in the propaganda do you find any acknowledgment that just maybe a high percentage of them ran away because they were afraid of the danger and drudgery of doing their duty.

To hint at such a thing in the better circles is to slander these modern heroes. After all, it was they who had the fortitude to endure the rigors of life among the girls of Stockholm and to rough it in Toronto, when with less moral fiber they might have taken the easy way — boot camp, combat training, digging holes to sleep in in the rain, perhaps losing their legs to a trip mine.

AND SINCE — if — they are such heroes, then that suggests a form of service, a test, by which they might prove themselves appropriately eligible for amnesty. Mr. Nixon rejects the idea of a "junket in the Peace Corps" as penance, and the exiles themselves reject the idea that they have done anything wrong at all.

In which case, it might be instructive to allow them all to return today, and fly them out to Clark Field to be in the welcoming committee when their fellow Americans arrive there from their cells in North Vietnam. Those few who were able to look the homecoming prisoners in the eye might be future candidates for forgiveness, which is a step beyond amnesty proper — and much, much farther away.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Public Broadcasting Chairman Victim Of Uninformed Attacks

WASHINGTON — Now is the time for somebody to come to the defense of Thomas B. Curtis, the new and badgered chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Or at least to set the record straight. Nothing more would be needed to clear the air over public TV.

Here is a widely esteemed 18-year congressman from Missouri who is now vice president and general counsel of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The moment he was elected to head the instrument Congress created to develop educational radio and television — even before he had said anything, proposed anything, done anything — he was clobbered.

He was clobbered instantly, totally and inaccurately, mostly by critics of the Nixon administration, by many in the media who assume that nearly every administration move is a censorship plot, and by those in television who assume that nothing could be better than the status quo.

THE PRINCIPAL accusations aimed at Curtis before he could catch his breath — together with the facts which call them into question —are these:

ACCUSATION— Nixon made Curtis chairman of the CPB to enable the White House to "take over" public broadcasting.

FACT — The President cannot make anybody chairman of the CPB and didn't make Curtis chairman. Curtis was unanimously elected by the 15 board members of the corporation, eight of whom were appointed by Lyndon Johnson.

ACCUSATION — The White House wants to turn publicly financed, noncommercial TV into a propaganda arm of the administration and expects to use Curtis to that end.

FACT — Unproved, I believe untrue and certainly unattainable. Tom Curtis can't be "used" by anybody. He is in nobody's pocket and never has been, as his colleagues in Congress know. One of his central objectives today is to make sure that public radio and television shall not be allowed to become a propaganda tool of this administration or any future administration. You can count on him for that.

ACCUSATION — The White House is out to "destroy" public television and hopes the new chairman will help.

FACT — The administration could hardly set out to destroy public television and at the same time expect to make it into a partisan propaganda arm. It wants to do neither — and isn't. During the first Nixon term, federal appropriations for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting rose from $5 million in 1969 to $35 million in 1972. The White House is asking Congress to increase this to $45 million for the new fiscal year and to $60 million for the next.

ACCUSATION — The critics assert that Chairman Curtis aims to wipe out public affairs programming, opposes controversial programs, and wants only bland stuff.

FACT — They don't know the man Curtis. He has been a center of controversy throughout his whole political career, in Congress and out. He likes controversy; he believes in it; he sees it as a vital part of noncommercial television, a needed impetus to public awareness. He is an economic conservative and a civil libertarian, and if his critics would take time to get acquainted with him, they would find him a valuable ally of public broadcasting.

DURING THIS EARLY period of attack-first-and-get-the-facts-afterward, the aim seemed to be to immobilize the new chairman before he could do anything. But Curtis can't be immobilized easily, and it is my conviction that in due time public television viewers will find him a boon and the public TV station directors and most producers will find him an asset.

Naturally he wants fairness and balance in controversial programs and in news commentary. He'll get it. The status quo isn't to be sacred. He would like to see more nationally produced programs, not less.

He would like to see the local board members of the 223 public TV stations become more active in shaping programs for local audiences. He would like to see public TV producing more that is different from commercial TV.

I suspect Tom Curtis will be around awhile — and busy.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Heath's Global View Contrasts With Myopia In Brasilia

Sunday Sir Edward Heath, prime minister of Great Britain, appeared on the "Meet the Press" television program. We heard an accent that was strictly British yet charmingly his own.

There was a cultured gentleman with a total lack of snobbery — pleasant, open and frank with a mind razor-sharp — instant answers to the questions, which mostly involved global matters.

As I listened, I thought of the gents in the throne room. Three of them have had an opportunity to be aware of the problems involved in the county area they have jurisdiction over, but they are not to any great degree, although two of them have had four years in which to be informed and the third one has had two.

THE THREE-COLUMN story in the I-J on Tuesday is a glaring example of their lack of control. It was headed, "Two Agencies Could Be On Open Space Collision Course."

Suppose we run through them again as well as some of an I-J story about the parks and recreation plans, which appeared just a short week before. And bear in mind that Pierre Joske, parks and recreation director, was designated by the board of supervisors as general manager and staff head for the recently voted regional park district — not Werner von Gundell.

From the collision course story: "A showdown between two powerful county commissions loomed yesterday as Marin planners renewed their efforts to link open space acquisition with the controversial countywide general plan.

"Planning Director Werner von Gundell, whose proposal has been twice rebuffed by the county parks and recreation commission, won unanimous support from the planning commission. . .in recommending that cities which have adopted the countywide plan be given priority in allocation of open space money." They also endorsed a shopping list of lands for acquisition this year with funds from the regional parks kitty.

NOW, BRIEFLY, from the Marin Parks and Recreation Department story of Jan. 31: It also presented a shopping list of open space lands it would like to acquire this year for the new regional park district. The tab would be $3.5 million, admitting that to do this would require long-range financing as there is only $700,000 in this year's budget for such acquisition.

The document they presented indicated six areas which have been considered of county-wide importance by Joske and his staff plus a special committee of the parks and recreation commission.

Faintly, it seems to me that we elected some supervisors to conduct the business of the unincorporated areas of the county and such contractual services as required to assist the cities of the county. But I do not recall ever seeing the name of Werner von Gundell on any of the ballots.

I think it was the impression of the majority of the voters and taxpayers that those supervisors would involve themselves in the operation of county government — like, say, being ex-officio members of the county committees and commissions they set up; not so much involvement in out-of-county jawbone groups. Right? Right!

Hearing Set In Car Case

Preliminary hearing for a 23-year-old San Rafael man, charged with trying to steal a sports car in Sausalito, has been set for Wednesday in Marin Superior Court.

Anthony Frederick Lindop was arrested Jan. 25 in the car of Robert S. Perring at his home, 178 Glen Drive, after Perring's neighbor summoned police.

Damage estimated at $650 was done to the car's ignition system, officers said.

Newsword Adventure

The title "mayor" comes down to us from medieval England, where it was spelled "mer," "maier," and other ways. It seems to come originally from the Latin adjective "major," meaning "greater." Most Western countries and countries which have been influenced by Western governments, have mayors. They can be either elected or appointed. In most non-English-speaking countries, a mayor's duties are largely ceremonial. A number of U.S. cities will be electing mayors this year.

Innocent Pleas To Hash Count

A 25-year-old Tiburon man, who allegedly received a package of hashish from India, and two friends have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to felony drug charges.

Steven Richard Flynn was arrested Feb. 3 moments after accepting a package containing hashish from Bombay. He is charged with having the substance for sale.

Also arrested in the premises at 1808entro West were George Jeffrey Dias, 24, Flynn's roommate, and Leigh Sanders Copley, 26, of Sebastopol. Both are charged with possessing marijuana.

A preliminary hearing on the charges is to be scheduled Wednesday.

Tiburon police said the foreign package, containing about $500 worth of the contraband drug, was intercepted by postal inspectors in New York.

Younger Seeks Mandatory Prison Time For Armed Heroin Offenders

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger yesterday proposed a mandatory prison sentence for heroin peddlers and persons convicted of felonies in which they were armed.

"No one guilty of these crimes should expect anything less" than a mandatory sentence, Younger said in a prepared statement.

Younger said his proposal has been drafted into the form of legislation by his staff and will be introduced this week by Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding.

The attorney general said efforts must continue to eliminate causes of crime and rehabilitate serious offenders but "while we try, we must be realistic."

"While we wonder what made a man a ruthless violent criminal," he said, "let's isolate him and make sure he isn't killing innocent people while we wonder."

Younger said 500 first-degree robbers were not sent to prison last year because the "Penal Code gives a judge discretion to grant probation to armed robbers when he finds 'unusual circumstances.'

"Given the present situation — where the execution of robbery victims has become commonplace, when an estimated 50 to 75 per cent of violent crime is committed by a narcotic addict trying to finance a habit — the time has come to stop making the lawabiding citizen pay the full price for our experiments," he said.

Younger said more armed robbers are killing their victims and major felonies committed in California per 100,000 population more than doubled from 1960 to 1971. He said the robbery rate rose from 96 to 234 per 100,000 in 1971 and the burglary rate increase from 831 to 1,940 per 100,000 during the same year.

"More and more peddlers of narcotics are found to be armed with deadly weapons," he said.
